THE COMMISSION AND STAFF ACTIVITIES

§ 01.1 The Commission. (a) The Commission is composed of three Commissioners appointed by the President, by and with the consent of the Senate, and removable by him. One member is designated by the President to be President of the Commission. The Commissioners, not more than two of whom may be adherents of the same political party, make final decisions on matters of policy, organization and administration within the Commission. They also serve, through the Liaison Officer for Personnel Management, as advisers to the President in personnel matters.

(b) The Commissioners in some cases act as a quasi-judicial body in reviewing and making final determinations on appeals of individuals and agencies from decisions made by officials of the Commission, and from certain decisions by officials of other agencies.

§ 01.2 Executive Director and Chief Examiner. The Executive Director and Chief Examiner is the chief technical and administrative official of the Commission. He has authority to take final action on matters covered by established policy and regulations. On other matters on which the Commissioners themselves make the final determination he reviews the recommendations prepared by the various divisions of the Commission and submits advisory opinions and recommendations. He represents the Commission in conferences and negotiations with representatives of other Government agencies, interpreting the regulations and policies of the Commission to officials and advising them in personnel policies and major personnel problems.

§ 01.3 Executive Assistant to the Commissioners. The Executive Assistant to the Commissioners presents to the Commission for action cases handled in the divisions; advises Members of Congress, Government officials and others on civil-service matters; performs special assignments at the direction of the Commission, and handles other administrative functions.

§ 01.4 Chief, Field Operations. The Chief, Field Operations, supervises the operations and procedures of the Commission's regional offices and coordinates their work with the divisions of the central office.

§ 01.5 Chief Law Officer. The Chief Law Officer advises the Commission, the Executive Director and Chief Examiner and division chiefs on legal questions pertinent to Commission policies and operations. He is responsible for drafting or reviewing drafts of legislation, Executive orders and regulations. He adjudicates appeals of veteran preference eligibles that are filed under the Veterans' Preference Act of 1944. He is responsible for the enforcement of the statutes and civil service rules relating to political activity of Federal and State employees. With respect to State employees he authorizes and is responsible for the investigation of complaints, the filing of charges, where the report of investigation so warrants, and the presentation of the Commission's side of the case before the hearing examiner when hearings are held. With respect to Federal employees he authorizes and is responsible for the investigation of complaints, the filing of proposed orders, where the report of investigation so warrants, and, in cases in which no hearing is held, recommending final decision to be made.

CROSS REFERENCE: For regulations relating to appeals of preference eligibles under the Veterans' Preference Act of 1944, see Part 22 of this chapter.

§ 01.6 Information Division. The Information Division furnishes to newspapers and magazines information regarding the Commission and the Federal civil service; prepares articles on these subjects for encyclopedias and other reference books; reviews manuscripts on these subjects which are submitted by publishing concerns or by individual writers; prepares informational booklets; prepares radio scripts and other public-address material, answers oral and written inquiries from the public regarding (a) the general activities of the Commission and (b) opportunities for employment in the Federal service; compiles the "Official Register of the United States".

§ 01.7 Veterans' Service Section. The Veterans' Service Section serves at the Commission's staff unit concerning policies and procedures with respect to the employment and reemployment of veterans; preferences granted veterans in Federal employment; legislation affecting the employment of veterans in the Federal service; and the maintenance of good public relations with veterans, veterans organizations, government agencies, legislative bodies and the public generally. Information may be obtained from and requests and submittals may be made to the Central Office in Washington or any one of its fourteen regional offices. These matters may be presented in any general written form.

§ 01.8 Board of Appeals and Review. (a) The Board of Appeals and Review in the Central Office of the Commission was created by official action of the Commission November 26, 1930. The Board has four members, one of whom, designated the Chairman, is the chief administrative officer of the Board. Only three members act on any one case. The Board has jurisdiction to entertain appeals on any matter adversely affecting eligibility, rights and/or interests arising under any law (except cases arising under sec. 12 (a) of the Hatch Act of August 2, 1939, as amended July 19, 1940, 53 Stat. 1147, 54 Stat. 767; 18 U. S. C. 61 e), rule or regulation administered by the Commission: Provided, That the matter previously has been finally acted upon and decided at the highest reviewing level in the division or office (departmental or field) having original jurisdiction. The Board, however, has jurisdiction to entertain appeals from the initial adverse action in ratings in postmaster examinations, adverse decisions on actual residence in postmaster and rural carrier examinations, findings by the Fourth Regional Branch Office in Washington, D. C., of unsuitability for Federal employment, adverse decisions on claims for benefits under the several retirement acts administered by the Commission, and appeals involving alleged discrimination because of race, creed, color or national origin.

(b) In those cases where the adverse action on appeal was taken by the Executive Director and Chief Examiner or by the Commissioners, and in appeals from the findings and recommendations of the Chief Law Officer or a regional director in cases arising under section 14 of the Veterans' Preference Act of 1944, the Board processes, analyzes, and submits the case with its recommendation to the Commissioners who make the final decision on the appeal.

(c) Laws, rules, regulations, matters of Commission policy, examination specifications, standards of rating, and standards of classification are not subject to appeal.

(d) Appeals are not required to be in any particular form and should be directed to the Chairman, Board of Appeals and Review, U. S. Civil Service Commission, Washington 25, D. C.

CROSS REFERENCE: For Rules of Practice in cases arising under section 12 (a) of the Hatch Act, see Part 23 of this chapter.

For regulations relating to appeals of preference eligibles under the Veterans' Preference Act of 1944, see Part 22 of this chapter.

OPERATING ACTIVITIES

§ 01.9 Examining and Placement Division—(a) Organization. Responsibility for the functions connected with recruitment, examining and certification for positions in the departmental service in Washington, D. C., and for certain field positions, when public announcement to that effect is made, is vested in the Chief of the Examining and Placement Division and his staff. The Chief of the Division is also responsible for recommending to the Commission necessary changes in policies and practices regarding recruitment, examining and certification.

The operating sections of the divisions with their responsibilities and functions are as follows:

(1) The Clerical Placement and Services Section. This section prepares and distributes publicity for examination announcements on a nation-wide basis, receives and reviews applications for such examinations (except those announced on behalf of Regional Offices or Boards of U. S. Civil Service Examiners in the field), rates machine-scored examinations, prepares and maintains lists of eligibles for all positions in the departmental service in Washington, D. C. (except those handled by Committees of Expert Examiners), issues certificates of eligibles therefrom and audits the agencies' selections from such certificates. It maintains an information center for public inquiries regarding civil service examinations and answers other questions regarding Federal employment. In addition the section arranges for examinations for admission to the United States Military and Naval Academies, when requested, as a courtesy to Members of Congress to aid them in making selections for appointments thereto and administers examinations for the foreign service of the State Department.

This section and the other sections of the division are subdivided into examining units which deal specifically with particular types of examinations. The responsibilities of examining units are as follows:

(i) Surveys agencies for anticipated needs for employees in the occupational fields with which the unit is concerned.

(ii) Plans recruiting programs in advance of needs.

(iii) Prepares standards for examinations for all positions in its field in the Federal service and noncompetitive standards for transfer, promotion and reinstatement and for positions under Schedule A and B where necessary. (Schedule A is a list of positions to which departments and agencies may make appointments without competitive examinations; Schedule B is a list of positions to which departments and agencies may make appointments as a result of noncompetitive examination.)

(iv) Passes on qualifications for Schedule A and B appointments in its occupational fields if necessary and advises for qualifications for transfer, promotion and reinstatement.

(v) Cooperates with the Commissioners of the District of Columbia in observing the agreement regarding filling of positions in the District of Columbia Government.

(vi) Determines qualifications necessary to fill positions for which no register is appropriate and prepares a certificate of eligibles for such positions.

(vii) Acts or recommends action on agency objections or passing over of veterans, based on qualifications.

(2) The Physical Science Placement Section. This section comprises the examining units having responsibilities similar to those set forth above, with respect to positions in the engineering and allied fields, the physics, chemistry and related occupational areas and in the industrial and skilled trades. The Postal Examining Unit of this section performs all the functions of the examination program from the announcement of the examination to the audit of certificate.

(3) The Social Science and Personnel Management Section. This section comprises the examination units having responsibilities with respect to positions in the fields of social services, economics, accounting and allied occupations and the various phases of administrative management. The section also maintains a Personnel Management Advisory Service for the benefit of the agencies.

(b) Delegations of authority—(1) To the division. With respect to the functions set forth above the Examining and Placement Division has over-all responsibility for the development of plans and programs and for the establishment of procedures and standards applying both to regional offices (including Boards of U. S. Civil Service Examiners) and the Central Office (including Committees of Expert Examiners). It has direct operating responsibility for the recruiting, examining and placement programs in the departmental service in Washington, D. C., except insofar as any functions connected with these activities have been delegated to Committees of Expert Examiners as explained below.

(2) By the division—(i) To Regional Offices. Development of assembled examination material for field examinations under the jurisdiction of the Regional Offices or Boards of U. S. Civil Service Examiners, in the absence of appropriate standardized examination material; preparation of examining standards (specifications) for field positions, in the absence of approved specifications; modification of examination specifications by agreement with representatives of the agency (in the absence of a specific prohibition).

(ii) To departments and agencies. Certain phases of the review of applications involving acceptability from the standpoint of legal requirements for Federal service, for example, proof of citizenship, proof that the requirement limiting the number of members of the same family who may be employed in the Federal service has been met, proof of military service and honorable discharge in case of five point war veterans; audit of declaration of appointees; determination of experience, training or educational qualification for transfer, reinstatement or promotions (under standards and with limitations prescribed by the Commission).

(iii) To committees of expert examiners. Where a Committee-type examination is involved, ratings of hand scored assembled or unassembled examination papers; securing of corroborative information regarding experience; handling of appeals on ratings of other than machine scored examinations; preparation and maintenance of registers of eligibles; certification of eligibles and audit of report on certificates (except actions on objections and passing over).

(iv) To the District of Columbia government by agreement between the District of Columbia Commissioners and the Civil Service Commission. Authority to effect appointments to lower grade positions in the District of Columbia Government in the absence of local eligibles on the Commission's registers (without audit of qualifications by the Commission).

(c) Method of securing and source of information. (1) For positions under the jurisdiction of the central office, whether Commission controlled or committee type, questions may be addressed in writing to the United States Civil Service Commission, Washington 25, D. C. Inquirers may call in person at the Information Office maintained by the Examining and Placement Division at 7th and F Street, N. W. Such inquiries may concern Civil Service examinations, that is, for what positions applicants may apply, how and where to file applications, what qualifications are required, etc.; requirements for veterans' preference, citizenship and age; ratings; employment opportunities in the Federal service during the periods preceding the establishment of appropriate registers for the majority of positions; types of written examinations, methods of rating, contents and form of questions, etc. The information available to the general public is restricted to that published in the examination announcement and the accompanying sample questions, if any, so that the secrecy of the examination materials may be preserved.

(2) Complaints should be in writing and should be addressed to the United States Civil Service Commission, Washington 25, D. C. Examples of types of complaints:

(i) Complaints regarding publicity given, admission to or conduct of central office examinations.

(ii) Complaints with regard to discrimination because of race, color or religious or political affiliations in connection with central office examinations.

(iii) During the period in which agencies are authorized to handle recruiting, examining and placement for positions under their jurisdiction pending establishment of a register appropriate to the particular position, complaints with regards to agency noncompliance with the policy and procedures established by the Commission for agency guidance, so far as positions in the departmental service are concerned.

(iv) Complaints of veterans with regard to agency action in passing over their names for positions in the departmental services. Such complaints may be presented by the veteran or his authorized agent either in writing, addressed to the United States Civil Service Commission, Washington 25, D. (3) Acceptance of delayed applications after the closing date. Persons entitled to five-point military preference under section 2 (4) of the Veterans' Preference Act of 1944, and citizens who served beyond the continental limits of the United States with a Federal agency or international organization in which the U. S. Government participates, may, under certain conditions, file delayed applications.

(4) Restoration to the list of eligibles of honorably discharged veterans under Executive Orders 9733 and 8937. Requests for restoration should be made to the office which maintained the list of eligibles. The address of this office can be obtained from the notice of rating which the applicant received.

(5) Requests for a review of examination rating. A request for a review of a rating received may be made to the office which assigned the original rating as shown on the notice of rating.

(6) Complaints on discrimination. Complaints involving alleged discrimination on the grounds of race, creed, color, or national origin may be made to the regional director.

(7) Reduction in force appeals. Appeals involving alleged violation of reduction in force regulations based on section 12 of the Veterans' Preference Act of 1944 may be made to the regional office of the Commission.

(8) Suitability appeals. Appeals from applicants rated ineligible because they were not found suitable for government employment should be addressed to the office which assigned the rating, as shown on the notice of rating.

(9) Appeals under section 14 of the Veterans' Preference Act. Appeals under section 14 of the Act may be filed with the regional office.

(10) Competitive status under Executive Order 9598 of August 17, 1945. Requests for the benefits of this order should be submitted individually by letter to the office of the Commission which authorized the basic appointment. Requests are ordinarily submitted by the current employing agency, but may be acted upon if submitted by the agency in which the employee received his basic appointment.

(11) Passing over preference eligibles. Records of the Commission's findings in determining the sufficiency of the reasons submitted by an agency for passing over a preference eligible are available at the office of the Commission which maintains the register. The records will be made available to the veteran eligible or his designated representative upon request as provided in section 8 of the Veterans' Preference Act.

(12) Restoration under section 8 of the Selective Service and Training Act. Whenever a misunderstanding occurs between a veteran and his former employing agency as to restoration rights, the case may be submitted by the veteran for final determination to the regional office.

(13) Requests for reinstatement. Requests should be submitted to the appointing officer of the office in which the vacancy is to be filled.

(14) Requests for transfer. Requests should be submitted to the appointing officer of the office in which the vacancy is to be filled.

ADVISORY COMMITTEES

§ 01.18 Federal Personnel Council. The Council of Personnel Administration was established in February, 1939, under Executive Order No. 7916, June 24, 1938. The Council was placed within the Commission under Executive Order No. 8467, July 1, 1940. The name of the Council was changed to Federal Personnel Council and its functions redefined by Executive Order 9830, February 24, 1947.

The Council is set up to improve Federal personnel administration through common understanding and effort, to meet the personnel needs of the service by developing standards and practices sufficiently uniform for the Government as a single employer and yet flexible enough to provide for the great differences in the character and conditions of work. The Council serves as a clearing house where directors of personnel develop plans and spread throughout the service information about practices, and where representatives of the Commission and of the Bureau of the Budget meet regularly with the personnel directors to consult with them and to discuss and interpret the policies, programs and procedures which are in the course of development.

The Council's work is carried on by members assisted by a small staff through weekly meetings of the entire Council and by standing and special committees. The actions of the Council are put into effect in various ways. Recommendations are made to the President and to the Civil Service Commission, Bureau of the Budget and other appropriate agencies. Much of the Council's work results in practical suggestions or agreements on improved personnel methods which are carried out by departments and agencies themselves. Field personnel councils have been authorized by the Commission and established under the supervision of the Commission's Regional Directors or their Representatives. The field councils are composed of officers responsible for personnel administration in their agency in the area designated by the regional director. They have the same object and function along similar lines as the Federal Personnel Council.

The Federal Personnel Council is located at 1626 K Street NW., Washington 25, D. C.

PUBLIC RECORDS

§ 01.19 Availability of official records. (a) Official records of the Commission are generally regarded as confidential except that upon request by any person decision will be made in each case as to the part of the record which may be disclosed or made available to him.

(1) Examination records. Under this heading are included application forms filed in connection therewith. When the Commission's work load will permit copies of applications or a résumé of the pertinent information desired will be furnished an applicant.

(2) Medical records. Medical information furnished to the Commission as "fully confidential" is not given out. Instead the inquirer is referred to the source of information.

Medical information not secured in confidence may be disclosed under the following circumstances:

(i) The name of the examining physician is not to be disclosed without his consent.

(ii) An applicant (or his authorized agent) may be informed of the reasons for the action taken on his medical certificate only to the extent necessary to enable him to correct defects or to seek medical advice or treatment. No information is given where it is of such a nature as to make it inadvisable to release it as, for example, in case of mental disability or other serious diseases, the knowledge of which might prove injurious to the physical health of the applicant. Occasionally information that should not be given to the applicant may upon his authorization be given in confidence to his attending physician or to a hospital as an aid in diagnosis or treatment. If the applicant is already aware of the contents of the medical certificate it is not regarded as confidential as far as he or his authorized agent is concerned.

(iii) Information derived from a medical certificate is not disclosed to individuals or organizations (legal firms, insurance companies, employment agencies, etc.) not concerned unless the applicant gives his consent, or unless the Commission finds that it is in the public interest to do so.

(iv) Information officially requested by a Federal agency other than the employing agency, such as the Veterans' Administration, may be furnished as confidential, except fully confidential material furnished for the use of the Commission only.

(v) Exact or photostatic copies of medical certificates are usually furnished in confidence to other Federal agencies when requested. They are not furnished to other inquirers or to the applicant himself except under unusual circumstances. In such cases there is furnished a statement of the defects found or a statement that the certificate discloses no defects. The selection of medical facts to be disclosed is made by a medical officer of the Commission.

(vi) Copies of medical surveys that have been obtained from the Veterans' Administration are by law confidential. The Veterans' Administration reserves the legal right to make decisions regarding the disclosure of information contained in its medical surveys to the veteran concerned. No information is furnished by the Commission except upon authorization in each individual case from the Veterans' Administration.

(vii) Information received from State hospitals is treated as fully confidential. Disclosure of information received from other hospitals or private institutions is governed by the condition under which the information was furnished to the Commission.

(viii) Medical statements from Selective Service Boards are required only when the Commission's medical director determines that the statement is necessary. Such statements are kept strictly confidential.

(3) Service records. Records comprised under this heading are the employment records of present and former Federal employees. Such records are disclosed only to the individuals themselves upon request and to proper agency officials as required in connection with application for or employment in the Federal service.

(4) Reports of investigations. (i) Complete information contained in investigative reports is made available to properly identified investigative representatives of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, the Treasury Department, the Office of Naval Intelligence, the Military Intelligence Service, the Provost Marshal General's office, the Post Office Inspection Service, the Immigration and Naturalization Service and the State Department. Such reports are made available with the understanding that the information contained therein will be treated with the same confidence as information developed by representatives of the agencies themselves and that sources of the Commission's information will not be revealed outside the investigative agency.

(ii) Regional Directors, Chiefs of regional investigation divisions, the Chief of the central office Investigations Division, and the Director of Personnel (with respect to requests relating to employees of the Commission) are authorized to permit inspection of reports by properly identified representatives of the above agencies.

(iii) Analytical memoranda and other memoranda indicating actions or decisions reached as the result of the report of investigation are removed from the files before they are made available. Upon request the representatives may be advised of the Commission's final decision.

(iv) Upon showing a legitimate need for information contained in investigative files representatives of other Federal agencies are furnished an oral summary of the facts developed by investigation. Upon request the representatives may be advised of the Commission's final decision.

(v) Regional Directors, Chiefs of regional investigation divisions, the Chief of the central office Investigations Division and the Director of Personnel (with respect to requests relating to employees of the Commission) or officials designated by them are authorized to furnish oral summaries.

(vi) Information regarding cases in which investigative or rating action is pending is not furnished to Federal agencies other than those to which complete investigative reports are available.

(vii) Information contained in bar and flag files is strictly a confidential matter with the Commission and is for the official use of the Commission only. It is the policy of the Commission not to give out publicly any information that a particular individual has a bar or flag record.

(5) Retirement records. (i) Disclosure of information from the files, records, reports and other papers and documents pertaining to a retirement claim is made to a claimant or to his duly authorized representative in matters concerning himself alone when such disclosure would not be injurious to the physical or mental health of the claimant or be regarded as a breach of confidence.

(ii) The name or address of a beneficiary designated by an employee or an annuitant will, during the life of the employee or annuitant, be furnished only to the designator when request therefor is made in writing over the signature of the designator.

(iii) Such information as may properly be disclosed to a claimant personally shall in the event of his death be disclosed upon proper request to the duly appointed representative of his estate or to such person as may be designated by such representative or to a duly designated beneficiary or to the claimant's next of kin.

(iv) Copies of documents or other records desired by or in behalf of parties to a suit may be furnished to the court on an order of the court or subpena duces tecum.

(v) The address of a claimant as shown by the Commission's record may be furnished to duly constituted police or court officials upon proper requests or the submission of a certified copy either of the indictment returned against the claimant or of the warrant for his arrest.

(vi) Disclosure of the amount of annuity or refund to any claimant may be made to any National, State, county, municipal or other publicly recognized charitable or social security administrative agency.

(vii) All records or documents officially required by any department or agency of the United States Government or by Senators and Representatives of the United States in their capacity as Members of Congress may be furnished in response to a proper request.

(viii) Copies of papers, records, etc., the furnishing of which would be prejudicial to the interest of the Government, copies of reports of examining surgeons, reports from the War Department or copies of records of other departments and other confidential matters will not be furnished.

(6) Personnel classification records. Classification specifications and statements of allocation standards are available for public inspection at the Commission's central, regional and branch offices.

§ 01.20 Availability of final opinions and orders. Cases in which the Commission formulates final opinions and orders within the meaning of the Administrative Procedure Act are those involving decisions in retirement death claims and in cases of alleged political activity on the part of officers or employees of a State or local Government whose principal employment is in connection with an activity financed in whole or in part by Federal funds (Section 12 (a), Act of August 2, 1939, as amended). Final opinions or orders issued by the Commission's Retirement Division in retirement death claims will be available for public inspection at the Retirement Division in the Commission's central office. Final opinions or orders issued by the Board of Appeals and Review in retirement death claims will be available for public inspection at the Board of Appeals and Review in the Commission's central office and in the Commission's regional offices. Final orders in political activity cases involving officers or employees of State or local Governments will be available for public inspection at the office of the Chief Law Officer in the Commission's central office and in the Commission's regional offices. (For addresses of regional offices see § 01.16.)

PART 02—FUNCTIONS OF THE COMMISSION

Sec.
02.1 In general.
02.2 Examining applicants for employment in the competitive civil service.
02.3 Retirement.
02.4 Enforcement of the Civil Service Act and Rules.
02.5 Enforcement of other statutes.
02.6 Notice of proposed rule making.

AUTHORITY: §§ 02.1 to 02.6, inclusive, issued under sec. 2, 22 Stat. 403, 50 Stat. 533; 5 U. S. C. 633.

§ 02.1 In general. The Commission's primary function is to serve as the central personnel agency for the Federal Government. In so doing, it holds examinations to test the fitness of applicants for positions in the competitive civil service of the United States; conducts investigations into the character and suitability of successful applicants; certifies the names of qualified persons in response to requests from appointing officers in the various agencies; establishes standards for reinstatement, promotion and transfer of Federal employees; and in general enforces the Civil Service Act and the Civil Service Rules relating to the employment and the conduct of Federal employees. In addition the Commission is charged with the functions of administering the Classification Act of 1923 as amended, which provides for the classification of positions according to duties and responsibilities; of administering an efficiency rating system for Federal employees; of maintaining service records of employees in the executive civil service; of administering the Civil Service Retirement Act, the Canal Zone Retirement Act, the Panama Canal Construction Annuity Act and the Alaska Railroad Retirement Act; of administering the Veterans Preference Act of 1944; and of enforcing the provisions of the Hatch Political Activities Act which prohibits political activity on the part of employees of State or local governments participating in Federally financed projects.

CROSS REFERENCE: For regulations relative to retirement, see Part 20 of this chapter.

Inasmuch as most of these functions pertain to the internal management of the Federal Government they are not set out in full in this part. Federal employees who are affected by their operations may generally obtain information or answers to their questions from their personnel office. Insofar as their operations affect persons outside the Federal service they are explained in the sections that follow.

§ 02.2 Examining applicants for employment in the competitive civil service—(a) Announcement of examinations. From data on net personnel requirements for positions in Washington, D. C., and in the field which are filled by the central office of the Commission, determination is made by the Commission as to what examinations will be held and which examinations will be given priority in announcement. In preparing to hold an examination the Commission and the agency or agencies in which the positions exist prepare a statement of the duties of the position and reach agreement as to the qualifications required for the satisfactory performance of these duties and the method of examining, including such factors as age, physical requirements, written tests, experience, training or education necessary. (Education may be prescribed only when the Commission has determined and made public its reasons for so doing, that the duties of a position of a scientific, professional or technical nature cannot be satisfactorily performed by an individual who has not met the specific educational requirements prescribed for the position.) The Commission then issues an announcement of the examination in which it incorporates the information needed by the applicant as to the requirements for the position, the method of examination, the location and salary of the position and the conditions of employment. Examination announcements may be given publicity by display and by newspaper publicity in the area from which applicants are accepted for the examination, and, when feasible, by publication in periodicals normally read by persons engaged in the occupations related to the position for which examination is announced.

(b) Applications. The examination announcement specifies the application forms to be filed by the applicant and indicates the period during which applications will be accepted. The application forms specified in the announcement may generally be obtained from the Secretary, Board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners, at any first- or second-class post office, or from the Commission's central, regional, or branch regional offices. However, application Form 9, required for rural carrier and fourth class postmaster, and application Form 10, required for first-, second-, and third-class postmaster, may be obtained only from the post office for which the examination is announced, during the time an announcement for the position is open, or from the Examining and Placement Division, Civil Service Commission, Washington 25, D. C.

Applications for an examination which are received after the closing date specified in the announcement are cancelled and returned to the applicant, unless he is eligible for a reopened or delayed examination or has been granted the privilege of filing for a position for which there is no open announcement, as in the case of displaced career employees or those former status employees who failed of restoration after military service, service in the merchant marine or war transfer.

(c) Examinations. Applicants for assembled examinations are notified of the time, place and date to report for examination and are supplied any additional forms necessary. These forms are collected at the time of the written examination and become a part of the examination file. At the time of the written examination each competitor fills in a "declaration sheet" carrying an identifying number which is placed on each answer sheet used by the competitor during the examination. The identity of the competitors is maintained secret by keeping the applications, related forms, and the declaration sheets entirely separate from the answer sheets until the rating has been completed, after which the answer sheets are matched with the declaration sheets and the applications and related forms.

(d) Ratings. Examinations are rated on a scale of 100. The examination announcement specifies the relative weights given to each part of the examination. In general nonpreference competitors must obtain a rating of 70 for eligibility; 5-point preference competitors, a rating of 65; and 10-point preference competitors, a rating of 60. After rating of the written examination, the applications of eligibles are reviewed to ascertain that they meet the legal requirements for Federal employment and the age and physical requirements listed in the announcement and have proved legal or voting residence if the position is in the apportioned service. Failure to meet requirements renders the applicant ineligible; failure to prove residence permits the eligible to be considered only for the non-apportioned service. If the announcement of a written examination specifies that the competitors must show prescribed experience or training (which may represent a minimum qualification, or may be rated and incorporated in the final rating, according to the terms of the announcement) the application papers of the acceptable eligibles are reviewed to ascertain that the experience or training requirements are met, and the competitors failing to meet the minimum requirements are declared ineligible.

Applications filed for unassembled examinations are first reviewed to ascertain that the applicant meets the legal requirements for Federal employment, the age and physical requirements specified in the announcement and has proved legal or voting residence if the position is in the apportioned service. Applications not canceled during this review, are then rated on the basis of experience, training or education shown by the applicant which is pertinent to the position for which he is being examined, in accordance with a predetermined rating schedule which fixes the credit to be assigned for various grades of the required experience. To attain eligibility a competitor must meet the minimum requirements for the position as stated in the examination announcement. When necessary, the Commission may request the applicant to supply the additional detailed information necessary to evaluate his qualifications.

(e) Register of eligibles. From the applications and related papers of persons eligible under the terms of the announcement the list of eligibles, known as the register, is prepared. A register card is completed for each eligible and a permanent index card and notice of rating prepared for each competitor.

The register of eligibles is arranged in such manner that the provisions of section 7 of the Veterans' Preference Act of 1944, of Executive Order 9733 and of the apportionment (section 2 of the Civil Service Act, March 3, 1871, 16 Stat. 514; 5 U. S. C. 631) are observed in certification from the top of the register. Existing registers are combined with the newly established register, when, in the judgment of the Commission, it is expedient to do so. Names of persons whose eligibility for probational appointment was restored under the provisions of Executive Order 8937 and Executive Order 9733 are also entered on the new register, if the period of extended eligibility to which they are entitled has not already expired.

Eligibles are requested to inform the Commission of any changes in availability, and may be suspended from the register during a period of unavailability, with the privilege of restoration upon notification to the Commission at any time during the life of the register. Eligibles who decline offers of appointment without a reasonable explanation may be suspended from the register. Eligibles on the central office register may be transferred to a register maintained in a field office of the Commission, and vice versa: Provided, The following conditions are met:

(1) An appropriate register is maintained by the receiving office.

(2) The requirements stated in the examination announcement for both offices concerned are the same.

(3) When the transfer is from a register for the non-apportioned service to one for the apportioned service, the eligible must prove legal or voting residence for 1 year prior to the submission of proof.

(4) If the register to which transfer of eligibility is requested is subject to a zone of certification provision, the eligible must be a resident of such zone of certification.

(5) On certain field registers the eligible must be merely a resident of the area in which the examination was publicized.

(6) Transfer is not permitted from a register established from an announcement which closed later than the comparable announcement in the office to which transfer is desired.

(7) Transfer of eligibility is subject to the approval of the receiving office.

(f) Certification of eligibles. If an agency desires to fill a vacancy by original appointment and it has been notified by the Commission that a register of eligibles has been established for probational appointment to such position, the Personnel Director of the agency, or his authorized representative, forwards to the Commission a request for the name of eligibles from which to select new personnel. If, upon receipt of the request in the central office, it is decided that the existing register is appropriate, eligibles in sufficient number to permit the appointing officer to consider three eligibles for each vacancy are listed from the top of the register and the list, known as a "certificate of eligibles", is furnished to the agency, together with the applications of such eligibles. If a study of the request indicates that certification in regular order from the register would not provide persons properly qualified to fill the vacancy, selective certification may be made. This can be done in two ways: (1) by reviewing all eligibles on the register to locate those having the special qualifications required to perform the duties of the position; or (2) rerating the eligibles on the most nearly appropriate registers on the basis of a special rating schedule which emphasizes the importance of the special qualifications required. In either case, the resulting eligibles are listed in the order of rating as augmented by veteran preference (and in accordance with the apportionment list if the positions are in the apportioned service) and the certificate forwarded to the appointing officer for his consideration.

(g) Selections from certificates. The appointing officer is required to make selection in accordance with the rule of three (see section 8 of the Veterans' Preference Act of 1944). If the appointing officer passes over veteran eligible and tentatively selects a non-veteran he is required to furnish to the Commission reasons for his action, which are subject to review by the Commission. (Section 8 of the Veterans' Preference Act of 1944.) The appointing officer is not permitted to appoint a non-preference eligible, tentatively selected, in place of a preference eligible passed over, until he has received the Commission's opinion as to the sufficiency of his reasons for passing over the veteran. (If the appointing officer leaves a vacancy open for the selection of the preference eligible passed over, he may appoint the non-preference eligible.) If the Commission disagrees with the agency's reasons it requires the agency to submit any additional evidence in support of its action in passing over the veteran or a statement that there is no additional evidence in the case. In either event, the agency may, upon receiving a response to its second submission, appoint the non-preference eligible. The Commission is not empowered by the Veterans' Preference Act of 1944 to force the agency to appoint a veteran passed over by the agency without sufficient reason; however, it is directed by that act to furnish copies of the agency's reasons and its opinions of such reasons to the veteran or his authorized representative upon request.

The appointing officer, during the course of an interview with an eligible certified by the Commission, or in connection with any pre-employment check of an eligible's references, may receive information about the eligible which he believes would have disqualified the eligible from certification had the Commission been in possession of the information at the time the certificate was issued. In such cases, the appointing officer offers an objection to the eligible, and tentatively selects an eligible who would not have been within reach for consideration otherwise. He may not appoint such eligible selected out of order until the Commission has notified him whether the objection is sustained by the Commission. If the objection is sustained, the agency may appoint the eligible tentatively selected; if the objection is not sustained, the agency must reconsider the eligible to whom objection was offered. If the Commission lowers the rating of an eligible or declares him ineligible as the result of investigation following a sustained objection, the eligible is notified.

Since the regulations of the Commission do not require an appointing officer to give an eligible more than 3 considerations for the same position, a record of the certifications accorded each eligible is maintained on his record card, and, the number of considerations accorded the eligible as a result of each certification is recorded. If an eligible declines an offer of appointment, or fails to reply to the appointing officer's offer of appointment or inquiry as to availability, Form 1078, "Notice of Suspension of Eligibility" is sent to the eligible, informing him that if he does not reply to the questions with regard to the conditions under which he will accept an offer of appointment his name will be suspended from the register until such time as he notifies the Commission of his availability. If the agency's correspondence with the eligible is returned undelivered, the central office records are checked to insure that the correspondence was properly addressed; if so, the eligible is regarded as unavailable until he communicates with the Commission.

§ 02.3 Retirement—(a) Filing death claims. When an employee or an annuitant dies leaving any amount to his credit in the Retirement and Disability Funds it is the Commission's function to pay such amount to the person or persons who have a rightful claim to it. Such claims are handled as follows:

(1) The claimant must obtain a copy of Civil Service Commission Form 3000 either from the Retirement Division, or from the office in which deceased was last employed and complete it in accordance with the instructions contained therein. The completed form and supporting papers must be sent direct to the Retirement Division. There must be submitted with the application a certified copy of the public record showing the death of the employee or annuitant unless such death occurred while the employee was in the armed forces outside the continental United States. In the latter case the branch of the armed forces in which deceased was serving must be stated.

(2) A claim filed by or for a person who was designated by the deceased as beneficiary should be accompanied by the duplicate copy of the form on which such beneficiary was designated (Form 2806–1).

(3) If the application is filed by an executor, administrator, guardian, or committee, a certified copy of the court order showing such appointment must be submitted.

(4) If no beneficiary has been designated by deceased and no executor or administrator has been or will be appointed the claim should be filed by the legal heir or heirs under the laws of the State in which the deceased was domiciled.

(5) The application must be signed in the presence of two witnesses who must certify as to the identity of the person filing the claim.

(6) Upon examination of the application and the supporting documents the Commission adjudicates the claim.

§ 02.4 Enforcement of the Civil Service Act and rules—(a) Discrimination. Complaints by applicants who have been denied employment because of marital status, race or for political or religious reasons should be submitted in writing with all available evidence to the office of the Commission that has jurisdiction over filling the positions involved. The Commission investigates the allegation and notifies the appellant of the finding made. If a finding of a discrimination is made the Federal agency involved is notified and directed to take appropriate corrective action.

§ 02.5 Enforcement of other statutes—(a) Hatch Political Activities Act. Section 12 (a) of the Hatch Act prohibits political activity on the part of officers and employees of State and local governments whose principal employment is in connection with an activity financed in whole or in part by Federal funds. In exercising its function of enforcing this prohibition the Commission:

(1) Receives complaints alleging political activity.

(2) If the complaint so warrants, conducts an investigation.

(3) On the basis of the investigation issues a letter of charges.

(4) Reviews the answer to the letter of charges and either closes the case or conducts a formal hearing.

(5) Issues a final order embodying its findings as a result of the hearing.

(6) In the event of an appeal to the United States District Court, prepares the record for certification to the court and by arrangement with the Department of Justice represents the Government in the proceedings before the District Court.

CROSS REFERENCE: For the rules of practice under section 12 (a) of the Hatch Political Activities Act see Part 23 of this chapter.

§ 02.6 Notice of proposed rule making. Rules pertaining to the internal management of the Commission or of the Federal Government will be adopted and amended without prior notice or public participation. The procedure to be followed in the formulation of other rules will vary with the nature of the rule, the extent of public interest therein and the practicality of giving public notice. Details of the procedure to be followed will be incorporated in each notice of proposed rule making.

(b) The Commission may determine the types, duration and conditions of war service and other temporary appointments, and may prescribe the method for replacing persons holding such appointments.

REGULATIONS UNDER CIVIL SERVICE RULE II

§ 2.101 Examinations. (a) Examinations for original appointment shall be competitive except that noncompetitive examinations may be authorized when sufficient competent persons do not compete. Examinations for promotion, reassignment, transfer and reinstatement may be noncompetitive.

§ 2.102 Competition restricted to veterans. (a) Competition in examinations for the following positions is restricted by law to veterans as long as they are available: Guard, Elevator Operator, Messenger, and Custodian. It shall be the responsibility of each agency to restrict competition to veterans whenever, under delegated authority, it makes appointments to these positions.

(b) Until five years following the official termination of World War II competition in examinations for the following positions is restricted by Executive order to veterans as long as they are available: Correctional officer, Bureau of Prisons, Department of Justice; Veterans' relations adviser, Office of Price Administration; Assistant Contact Officer, Contact Officer, Contact Representative, and Senior Contact Representative, Veterans' Administration.

(c) Positions, examinations for which have been restricted to veterans under paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section, may not be filled by appointment, reappointment, reinstatement, promotion, transfer or reassignment of a nonveteran as long as three or more qualified veterans are available for filling the position, except that a nonveteran employee may be promoted, transferred, or reassigned to a restricted position covered by the same generic title as the position in which he is presently serving.

§ 2.103 Qualifications of applicants. (a) Persons admitted to competitive examinations must be citizens of or owe allegiance to the United States. However, citizens of the Republic of Panama may be admitted to examinations for employment by the Panama Canal and the Panama Railroad Company, and until June 30, 1947, citizens of the Republic of the Philippines may be admitted to any examinations.

(b) When a veteran is rated in examinations where experience is an element of qualifications he shall be credited with time spent in the armed forces of the United States either: (1) As an extension of time spent in the position in which employed immediately prior to his entrance into such forces; or (2) On the basis of the actual duties performed therein; or both. Time spent in the armed forces shall be credited according to the method that will be of more benefit to the veteran.

§ 2.104 Disqualifications of applicants. (a) An applicant may be denied examination and an eligible may be denied appointment for any of the following reasons:

(1) Dismissal from employment for delinquency or misconduct.

(2) Physical or mental unfitness for the position for which applied.

(3) Criminal, infamous, dishonest, immoral, or notoriously disgraceful conduct.

(4) Intentional false statements or deception or fraud in examination or appointment.

(5) Refusal to furnish testimony as required by § 5.3 of Rule V.

(6) Habitual use of intoxicating beverages to excess.

(7) Reasonable doubt as to loyalty to the United States Government.

(8) Any legal or other disqualification which makes the applicant unfit for the service.

§ 2.105 Delayed filing of applications by veterans and persons serving overseas. (a) A ten-point veteran may file application at any time for any position he may specify for which there is an existing register, or a register about to be established, or to which any probational appointment has been made within the preceding three years. Examinations under this section shall be held not later than the quarterly period succeeding that in which the applications were filed.

(b) Applications for an examination for probational appointment will be accepted after the closing date of such examination from the persons described below, subject to the conditions specified:

(1) Any person who was unable to file application for an examination or to appear for any assembled test because of service in the armed forces of the United States, or because of hospitalization continuing for not more than one year following discharge from such forces. He may also file application for any examination announced within 120 days of his separation from the armed forces or hospitalization. Application from such person may be filed while in the armed forces or during hospitalization but must be filed within 120 days of honorable separation from such forces or from hospitalization and prior to the expiration of the register established as a result of the examination. A person serving in the armed forces or undergoing hospitalization will not be certified for appointment until he notifies the Commission that he will soon be available for appointment.

(2) Any citizen who was unable to file application for an examination or to appear for any assembled test because of foreign service with a Federal agency or an international organization in which the U. S. Government participates. He may also file application for any examination announced within 120 days of his return from foreign service. Application from such person may be filed while in foreign service but must be filed within 120 days of his return from foreign service and prior to expiration of the register established as a result of the examination. The applicant must certify, in his application or in a supporting statement, the facts which justify acceptance of his application under this subparagraph. He must show the Federal agency or international organization in which employed in foreign service, and the exact date of departure for and return from foreign service. "Foreign service" as used herein shall be service other than in the United States proper, Hawaii, Alaska, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, and the Canal Zone.

(3) Any person who meets the conditions of subparagraph (1) of this paragraph and leaves the armed forces to enter foreign service with a Federal agency, or an international organization in which the U. S. Government participates, and thus meets the conditions of subparagraph (2) of this paragraph, may file application within 120 days of his return from foreign service for examinations that closed either while he was in the armed forces or while he was in foreign service. Application must be filed prior to the expiration of the register established as a result of such examination.

§ 2.106 Competitive rating. (a) The subjects in examinations shall be given such relative weights as the Commission may prescribe. A scale of 100 shall be used and all competitors who meet the minimum entrance requirements and are rated 70 or more, including preference points, shall be eligible for appointment.

§ 2.107 Eligible registers. (a) The names of persons who qualify in competitive examinations shall be entered on appropriate registers in the order of their ratings, as may be augmented by veteran preference, subject to apportionment, residence, or other requirements of law or the Commission's regulations.

(b) When an eligible register has been established as the result of open competitive examination the names of the following classes of persons may be entered thereon provided they have a competitive status:

(1) Persons who have a legal right to restoration but fail to be restored to their former positions after service in the armed forces or the Merchant Marine of the United States;

(2) Persons who were transferred with reemployment rights but fail to be reemployed;

(3) Persons declared eligible by the Commission after appeal from separation under section 14 of the Veterans' Preference Act;

(4) Persons who, because of reduction in force, have been, or are about to be separated or furloughed for 30 days or more: Provided, That such persons may not have their names entered on more than two registers under this section.

(5) Veterans who have been furloughed or separated without delinquency or misconduct, or who have resigned from the service, and applied for reentry of their names on such register.

Application for entrance on a register under this paragraph must be filed within 90 days of separation or failure of restoration or reemployment. Applicants shall be examined under the same standards used in the open competitive examination and their names shall be entered on the register in the order prescribed by paragraph (a) of this section.

(c) (1) Veterans who were in the armed forces of the United States subsequent to May 1, 1940, and for that reason lost eligibility on a register during a period that the register was used for probational appointment, shall have their names entered on the appropriate successor register if they:

(i) Have been honorably separated from the armed forces;

(ii) Are still qualified to perform the duties of the position for which the register is used; and

(iii) Make application for entrance on the register within 90 days after separation from active service or from hospitalization continuing after discharge for a period of not more than one year. Such persons shall be restored to the successor register, for the life of such register, in accordance with their former ratings as augmented by preference points, except as provided in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph.

(2) Persons who establish eligibility for entrance on a successor register in accordance with subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, shall have their names entered at the top of the appropriate group on the successor register if another person standing lower on the register on which their names formerly appeared was given a probational appointment from such register. For the purpose of determining the appropriate group all 10-point veterans including such restored veterans, will be considered as one group, and all other eligibles including such restored 5-point veterans, as another group. However, for professional and scientific positions for which the basic entrance salary is over $3,000 per annum, all eligibles will be considered as one group.

(3) Persons who meet the conditions for entrance on a successor register in accordance with subparagraph (1) of this paragraph shall have their names listed for certification for probational appointment if no successor register exists and another person standing lower on the register on which their names formerly appeared was given a probational appointment from such register.

§ 2.108 Termination of eligibility. (a) Eligibility on any register shall be terminated under the following conditions:

(1) By acceptance of appointment of other than temporary duration from such register.

(2) By action of the Commission terminating the eligibility of all eligibles on such register: Provided, That the eligibility of the following classes of persons shall not be terminated in less than one year unless a new register is established on the basis of more exacting requirements which have been determined to be more appropriate for the position concerned:

(i) Veterans entered on the register as a result of examination under section 10 of the Veterans' Preference Act, or of favorable determination of an appeal from dismissal or furlough, or application for restoration after furlough or separation without delinquency or misconduct, or resignation.

(ii) Eligibles entered on the register because of failure to receive mandatory reemployment after military or merchant marine service or transfer.

(iii) Eligibles restored to the register after separation because of reduction in force.

§ 2.109 Certification for appointment. (a) Upon receipt of a request for certification of eligibles, there shall be certified from the top of the appropriate register a sufficient number of names to permit the appointing officer to consider three eligibles in connection with each vacancy.

(b) Where no register exists appropriate as a whole for certification for filling a particular request, there may be certified selectively from the most nearly appropriate existing register, in the order of their ranking, the names of persons who are adequately qualified for the particular position to be filled. The Commission may, however, when appropriate, rerate the eligibles on the register on the basis of the particular requirements of the position.

(c) In order to fill existing vacancies in appropriate positions, and to require displacement of temporary and war service appointees who do not have eligibility for permanent retention, the Commission shall certify for probational appointment:

(1) Veterans who qualify in examinations under section 10 of the Veterans' Preference Act and who are entitled to 10-point preference and priority in certification under that statute; and

(2) Veterans entitled to priority in certification under § 2.107 (c) (3) because of lost opportunity for probational appointment due to military service.

(d) Certification shall be made without regard to sex unless the appointing officer, in accordance with the right conferred upon him by law, requests eligibles of a given sex.

§ 2.110 Apportionment. (a) Certifications for appointment in agencies' headquarters offices which are located within the metropolitan area of Washington, D. C., shall be made so as to maintain, as nearly as the conditions of good administration warrant, the apportionment of appointments among the several States, Territories, and the District of Columbia upon the basis of population. However, certification in the following cases shall be made without regard to the apportionment, and appointments in such cases shall be excluded from the apportionment figures:

(1) Certification of veterans.

(2) Certification for appointment to the following positions in all agencies:

(i) Positions in headquarters offices which are located outside the metropolitan area of Washington, D. C.

(ii) Positions in the professional and scientific service for which the entrance salary is over $3,000 per annum.

(iii) Positions in the clerical, administrative and fiscal service classified at Grade 14 and above.

(iv) Apprentice positions in the recognized trades and skilled occupations.

(v) Artisan and helper positions in all trades and skilled occupations, and all phases of the graphic and map reproduction arts that require trade knowledge and manual skill and effort in their performance. However, positions that require only clerical, technical, or professional knowledge in their performance are not excluded from the apportionment.

(vi) Positions of operating engineman, fireman, oiler, general helper, laborer, foreman of laborers, gardener, grounds keeper, animal keeper, chauffeur, truck driver, and telephone operator.

(3) Certification for appointment to all positions in the following agencies:

(i) The Government Printing Office.

(ii) Agency field offices in the metropolitan area of Washington, D. C.

§ 2.111 Selection for appointment. (a) An appointing officer shall, with sole reference to merit and fitness, make selection for the first vacancy from among the highest three eligibles available for appointment on the certificate. For the second vacancy he shall make selection from among the three highest unselected and available eligibles on the certificate. Each succeeding vacancy shall be filled in like manner. An appointing officer may pass over without further consideration any eligible (1) who has been considered for three separate appointments from the same or different certificates, or (2) to whose certification for the particular position he has made an objection which has been sustained by the Commission for any of the reasons stated in § 2.104.

(b) The following procedure shall be followed when an appointing officer passes over a veteran and tentatively selects a nonveteran:

(1) He shall file with the Commission his reasons in detail and in writing for passing over the veteran.

(2) The Commission shall determine the sufficiency or insufficiency of such reasons and notify the appointing officer of its findings.

(3) If the reasons are sufficient the nonveteran tentatively selected may be appointed.

(4) If the reasons are insufficient and the appointing officer still desires to appoint the nonveteran he shall submit:

(i) More detailed information concerning his reasons for passing over the veteran; or

(ii) A statement that he has no more information in support of his selection of the nonveteran.

(5) The nonveteran tentatively selected may not be legally appointed, except as provided herein, until the appointing officer has received the Commission's notice concerning his second statement.

(6) When a certificate has been issued for filling several vacancies a nonveteran may be appointed to one or more of the vacancies prior to receipt of the Commission's findings provided the appointing officer holds open one of the vacancies for further consideration of the veteran in case the reasons for passing him over are found insufficient. Where a seniority system of promotion is established by law, such appointment shall be made on a temporary basis until the vacancy held open is filled by probational appointment.

(7) A copy of the appointing officer's reasons and the Commission's findings shall, upon request, be sent to the veteran or his designated representative.

(c) If, upon certification, reasons deemed sufficient by the Commission for passing over a veteran's name shall three times have been given by appointing officers, certification of his name for appointment will thereafter be discontinued, prior notice of which shall be sent to the veteran.

§ 2.112 Appointments may be subject to investigation. (a) In the following types of appointments investigation designed to further establish the individual's qualifications may be made at any time within one year of the personnel action and removal may be ordered by the Commission if such investigation discloses that the individual is disqualified for Federal employment, and all such appointments shall be considered as subject to this condition:

(1) Original probational.
(2) Reappointments.
(3) Reinstatements.
(4) Temporary appointments pending establishment of a register.
(5) Temporary appointments which exceed or are extended beyond six months.
(6) Inter-agency transfers.
(7) Conversions from excepted, war service indefinite, or temporary indefinite positions to competitive positions.

§ 2.113 Probational appointment. (a) A person selected for other than temporary appointment shall be given a probational appointment. The first year of service under this appointment shall be a probationary period. The agency shall utilize the probationary period as fully as possible to determine the fitness of each employee and shall terminate his services during such period if he fails to demonstrate fully his qualifications for continued Federal employment.

(b) The following service will be counted toward completion of the probationary period:

(1) Service in the armed forces of the United States during a national emergency when the employee entered such service during his probationary period.

(2) All continuous service under war service indefinite appointment or temporary appointment rendered immediately preceding probational appointment, or acquisition of status under § 3.1 (b) (2), (5) and (7) of Rule III, which was in the same line of work and in the same agency as the position to which probationally appointed or in which status is acquired.

(c) A probationer voluntarily or involuntarily separated from the service without delinquency or misconduct may be restored to the register of eligibles for the remainder of any period of eligibility thereon whenever in the opinion of the Commission he is suitable and eligible for further Federal employment.

§ 2.114 Temporary appointment—(a) Pending establishment of register. Whenever there are no eligibles upon a register appropriate for filling a vacancy, and the public interest requires that the vacancy be filled before eligibles can be certified, the Commission may authorize temporary appointment. Such appointment shall continue only for such period as may be necessary to make appointment through certification, and in no case, without prior approval of the Commission, shall extend beyond thirty days from the date of the receipt by the appointing officer of a certification of three or more eligibles.

(b) Pending full certification. Whenever there are fewer than three eligibles on any appropriate register for a position in which a vacancy exists, the Commission shall certify for consideration for probational appointment those eligibles who are on the register. If the appointing officer shall elect not to make probational appointment from such certification, the vacancy may be filled by temporary appointment pending establishment of a register but the appointing officer will be required to give reasons for passing over a veteran on the certificate.

(c) Job employment. When there is work of a temporary character, at the completion of which the services of an additional employee will not be required, a temporary appointment may be made with the prior authority of the Commission for a period not to exceed 6 months. Such temporary appointment shall be made through certification from the Commission's eligible registers unless there are no available eligibles. Such temporary appointment may be extended only if there are no eligibles available for the additional period or after an adequate showing that such extension is necessary to complete the job of work for which the person was originally employed. The Commission may restrict certification for temporary job employment to eligibles that are immediately available because of residence or other conditions.

(d) Temporary substitutes in Post Offices. When, in the Post Office Service, the quota of substitutes is filled but the Post Office Department has authorized the appointment of additional substitutes for temporary work of indefinite duration, the Commission will, upon request of the Postmaster, certify eligibles, and selection shall be made, in the same manner as for probational appointment. However, the person selected shall not obtain a competitive status by such appointment, but shall be considered a temporary employee.

(e) Agency authority to make temporary appointments. Subject to the conditions specified, the Commission hereby delegates authority to agencies to make:

(1) Emergency appointments without examination in cases of extreme emergency where positions must be filled without delay, and where time does not permit the securing of prior authority of the Commission. Such emergency appointments may not continue for more than 30 days and may not be extended by the agency without the prior approval of the Commission.

(2) Temporary appointments pending establishment of a register, or for job employment as defined in paragraph (c) of this section, until the agencies have been notified that certification for filling particular positions should be secured from the Commission. In making such appointments the agencies shall:

(i) Give preference first to qualified ten-point veterans, second, to qualified five-point veterans, and third, to qualified former Federal employees. (Upon establishment before the Commission that this order of preference has not been followed in any case, the person appointed may be removed); and

(ii) Determine that the applicant meets the qualifications standards prescribed by the Commission for the position applied for.

(f) Limitations on rights of temporary appointees. Persons serving under appointments under this section may not be transferred between agencies and shall not be regarded as occupying permanent positions for the purpose of withingrade salary advancements under section 7 of the Classification Act of March 4, 1923, as amended, and shall not by virtue of such appointments be subject to the Civil Service Retirement Act.

CIVIL SERVICE RULE III

§ 3.1 Classes of persons who may acquire status. (a) A person may acquire a competitive status by probational appointment through competitive examination, or by statute, Executive order, or this Rule.

(b) Subject to such noncompetitive examination time limits, or other requirements as the Commission may prescribe, the following classes of persons may acquire a competitive status:

(1) Any person holding a permanent position when it is placed in the competitive service by statute or Executive order or is otherwise made subject to competitive examination.

(2) Any person entitled to veteran preference who establishes the present existence of a service-connected disability of not less than ten percent, or any person entitled to wife or widow preference under the Veterans' Preference Act, when such person is serving under a war service indefinite appointment, a temporary appointment pending establishment of a register, or a temporary appointment for job employment which has been continuous for more than one year.

(3) Any disabled veteran who, in a manner satisfactory to the Commission, has completed a course of training in the executive branch of the Government prescribed by the Administrator of Veterans' Affairs in accordance with the act of March 24, 1943 (57 Stat. 43).

(6) An employee who was serving when his name was reached for certification on a civil service register appropriate for the position in which he was serving, provided he was appointed to a competitive position prior to the date such position was placed under the War Service Regulations and stood higher on such register than another eligible who received an original probational appointment therefrom.

(7) An employee who has served at least one year under an appointment not limited to one year or less and has received an eligible rating in an open competitive examination appropriate for the position occupied: Provided, That the lowest rating reached in the regular order of certification does not exceed his rating by more than five points: Provided further, That such employee is about to be replaced as a result of certification by the Commission. A nonveteran employee may not be granted status until all preference eligibles standing higher on the register have been given appropriate consideration under the Veterans' Preference Act.

§ 3.2 Appointment without competitive examination in rare cases. (a) Subject to receipt of satisfactory evidence of the qualifications of the person to be appointed, the Commission may authorize an appointment in the competitive service without competitive examination whenever it finds:

(1) That the duties or compensation of the position are such, or that qualified persons are so rare, that, in the interest of good civil service administration, the position cannot be filled through open competitive examination; or

(2) That it is essential to the program in which he is engaged to retain in the service a person who was serving in a highly specialized scientific, professional, or administrative position during the war period and prior to March 7, 1946, the effective date of the Temporary Civil Service Regulations.

(b) Any subsequent vacancy in such position shall not be filled without competitive examination except upon express prior approval of the Commission in accordance with this section. Any person heretofore or hereafter appointed under this section may acquire a competitive status upon completion of at least one year of satisfactory service and compliance with such requirements as the Commission may prescribe.

REGULATIONS UNDER CIVIL SERVICE RULE III

§ 3.101 Incumbents of positions brought into the competitive service. (a) When the Commission has determined, upon request of the agency, that one of the following situations exists, a person occupying a position when it is brought into the competitive service may be appointed at that time to such position, and may acquire a competitive status therein subject to the requirements of this section:

(1) A permanent excepted position has been brought into the competitive service by statute, Executive order, or revocation of a paragraph of Schedules A or B in accordance with § 6.1 (a) of Rule VI.

(2) The Postmaster General has issued an order for the advancement of any post office from the fourth class to a higher class, or for the consolidation of any post office with one in which the employees are in the competitive service.

(3) The Federal Government has taken over a public or private enterprise, or an identifiable unit thereof, and continues its functions on a permanent basis, and the Commission concurs with the agency concerned that the employees involved may be retained.

(b) In order to acquire a competitive status under this section an employee must:

(1) Be recommended by the agency in which employed.

(2) Have rendered six months of satisfactory active service in the position that is brought into the competitive service, or in the civilian executive branch of the Government immediately prior to the effective date of the change in status of the position, and continued to serve in such position for sixty days thereafter. In determining this time period the following may be substituted for active service: (i) Active service in the armed forces of the United States; (ii) The period during which an employee's name is carried on the United States employee compensation rolls for disability; and (iii) Leave without pay when granted for educational purposes under Pub. Law 16, 78th Cong., approved March 24, 1943 (57 Stat. 43); Pub. Law 113, 78th Cong., approved July 6, 1943 (57 Stat. 374); and Pub. Law 346, 78th Cong., approved July 22, 1944, 58 Stat. 284 (Servicemen's Readjustment Act of 1944), or because of personal illness of the employee (including maternity leave) after all sick leave has been exhausted.

(3) Pass such examination as the Commission may prescribe. Any law, Executive order, civil service rule or regulation which would disqualify an applicant for appointment shall also disqualify an applicant for acquisition of a competitive status.

(c) Any person appointed under paragraph (a) of this section who fails to meet the requirements for acquisition of a competitive status may, in the discretion of the agency concerned and with the approval of the Commission, be retained in the position occupied at the time his position is brought into the competitive service without acquiring a competitive status, but may not be promoted or transferred to any other competitive position.

(d) A former incumbent of a position which has been brought into the competitive service who left such position in order to perform active service in the armed forces of the United States between May 1, 1940, and the date of the official termination of World War II may acquire a competitive status provided:

(1) His position was brought into the competitive service during his service in the armed forces;

(2) He has been released from the armed forces under honorable conditions;

(3) He is recommended for reinstatement by the same or some other agency;

(4) He meets the requirements of paragraph (b) of this section.

(e) In order to acquire a competitive status any person who was given a war-service indefinite appointment upon the date his position was brought into the competitive service under one of the situations described in paragraph (a) of this section shall meet the following conditions:

(1) His Federal position has become permanent, and he has remained continuously employed in the same agency since such appointment; or

(2) His position in a public or private enterprise has become a permanent position, and he has remained continuously employed in the same establishment since his appointment; and

(3) He must have entered on duty in the Federal agency or public or private enterprise prior to March 16, 1942 for positions in the service generally, or October 23, 1943, for positions in the field service of the Post Office Department; and

(4) He must meet the requirements of paragraph (b) of this section.

(f) Any person who was given a war-service indefinite appointment upon the date his position was brought into the competitive service under one of the situations described in paragraph (a) of this section and who entered on duty subsequent to March 16, 1942 for positions in the service generally, or October 23, 1943, for positions in the field service of the Post Office Department, shall be subject to displacement, or retention if qualified, as war-service appointees in accordance with § 10.112 (a) of this chapter.

§ 3.102 Certain persons entitled to veteran preference. (a) Any person who establishes the present existence of a service-connected disability of not less than ten per cent, or any person entitled to wife or widow preference under the Veterans' Preference Act, when such person is serving under a war-service indefinite appointment, a temporary appointment pending establishment of a register, or a temporary appointment for job employment which has been continuous for more than one year, may acquire a competitive status subject to the following requirements:

(1) The employee shall have served satisfactorily in, and been recommended by the agency concerned. However, the Commission may request an agency to determine whether or not it will recommend the employee for status under this section and shall assume that recommendation has been made unless the agency makes an adverse recommendation within thirty days of receipt of the Commission's request.

(2) If the employee has not satisfactorily completed one year of service he will be required to serve a one-year probationary period. All continuous service in the same line of work as the position in which status is acquired may be counted toward completion of such probationary period.

(3) He must pass such examination as the Commission may prescribe. Any law, Executive order, Civil Service rule or regulation which would disqualify an applicant for appointment shall also disqualify an applicant for acquisition of a competitive status.

§ 3.103 Disabled veterans who have completed a training course. (a) When a disabled veteran shall have completed a course of training prescribed by the Administrator of Veterans' Affairs in accordance with the act of March 24, 1943, 57 Stat. 43, (Pub. Law 16, 78th Cong.), he may be appointed to the position for which the training was received provided the Commission determines that such training is adequate for the performance of the duties of the position. Such veteran may, upon recommendation of the agency concerned, acquire a competitive status upon passing such examination as the Commission may prescribe. Any law, Executive order, Civil Service rule or regulation which would disqualify an applicant for appointment shall also disqualify an applicant for acquisition of a competitive status.

§ 3.104 Employees who have served in the office of the President or on the White House staff. (a) Any employee who has served at least two years in the immediate office of the President or on the White House staff may acquire a competitive status subject to the following requirements:

(1) His transfer to the competitive service must be requested by an agency.

(2) He must pass such examination as the Commission may prescribe. Any law, Executive order, Civil Service rule or regulation which would disqualify an applicant for appointment will also disqualify an applicant for acquisition of a competitive status.

§ 3.105 Employees who have been reached on a register. (a) An employee who was serving when his name was reached for certification on a civil service register appropriate for the position in which he was serving may acquire a competitive status subject to the following requirements:

(1) He has been continuously employed since his name was reached on such register.

(2) He is recommended for a competitive status, prior to expiration of the register on which his name appears, by the agency in which he was employed when his name was reached.

(b) Such employee will be required to serve a one-year probationary period which shall begin to run from the date he was reached for certification.

(c) A non-veteran employee may not be granted status under this section until all veterans standing higher on the register have been given appropriate consideration under the Veterans' Preference Act.

§ 3.106 Employees reached on a register prior to the War Service Regulations. (a) An employee who was serving when his name was reached for certification on a civil service register appropriate for the position in which he was serving may acquire a competitive status subject to the following requirements:

(1) He was appointed to a competitive position for other than temporary job-employment lasting one year or less prior to the date such position was placed under the War Service Regulations.

(2) He has been continuously employed since his appointment and is recommended for a competitive status by the agency in which he is employed.

(3) He stood higher on such register than another eligible who received an original probational appointment therefrom.

§ 3.107 Employees serving in competitive positions without competitive status. (a) An employee who has served at least one year under an appointment not limited to one year or less and has received an eligible rating in an open competitive examination appropriate for the position occupied may acquire a competitive status subject to the following conditions:

(1) The Commission is about to require displacement of such employee by certification from the register;

(2) The lowest rating reached in the regular order of certification does not exceed his rating by more than five points.

AUTHORITY: §§ 4.1 to 4.301, inclusive, issued under R. S. 1753; Sec. 2, 22 Stat. 403, 50 Stat. 533; 5 U. S. C. 631, 633.

CIVIL SERVICE RULE IV

§ 4.1 Prohibition against political activity. Persons in the executive branch shall retain the right to vote as they choose and to express their opinions on all political subjects and candidates, but such persons shall not use their official authority or influence for the purpose of interfering with an election or affecting the result thereof. Persons occupying positions in the competitive service shall not take any active part in political management or in political campaigns except as may be provided by or pursuant to statute.

§ 4.2 Attempting to secure withdrawal from competition. The Commission is authorized to take such disciplinary action as it deems appropriate whenever it finds that any person has influenced another person to withdraw from competition for any position in the competitive service for the purpose of either improving or injuring the prospects of any applicant for appointment.

§ 4.3 Method of filling vacancies. In his discretion an appointing officer may fill any position by appointment through the competitive system from a certificate of eligibles issued under authority of the Commission, or by promotion, demotion, reassignment, transfer, reinstatement or restoration in accordance with the Civil Service Regulations. He shall exercise his discretion in all personnel actions solely on the basis of merit and fitness and without regard to political or religious affiliations, martial status, or race.

§ 4.4 Personnel reports. Each agency shall report to the Commission, in such manner and at such times as the Commission may prescribe, such personnel information as it may request relating to positions and officers and employees in the competitive service or excepted from the competitive service by statute or Executive order, whether permanent, indefinite, temporary, or subject to contract.

REGULATIONS UNDER CIVIL SERVICE RULE IV

Prohibition Against Political Activity

§ 4.101 Investigations. (a) Investigations of cases involving charges of prohibited political activity on the part of an officer or employee (both hereinafter comprehended within the term "employee") subject to the provisions of § 4.1 of Rule IV shall be conducted jointly by representatives of the Commission and of the agency where the individual is employed, unless either the Commission or the agency signifies that it will be unable to participate in the investigation. The Commission shall be notified of any complaint of political activity received by an agency and shall be given an opportunity to cooperate in any investigation that the agency may decide to make. Likewise, the Commission will not proceed with any investigation until the agency has been notified and has been given an opportunity to participate.

(b) During the course of the investigation the employee shall be afforded an opportunity to make a statement, either personally or in writing, before the investigator, and shall be allowed to furnish names of witnesses who will support the statements he has made to the investigator.

§ 4.102 Investigation by correspondence. (a) In case the complaint involves a political activity violation that may be established by record evidence, the investigation may be conducted by correspondence. In such cases, the accused employee will be given an opportunity to furnish in writing any statement or information that he may desire and the employing agency will be furnished a copy of the letter directed to such accused employee allowing him the opportunity to furnish a statement.

§ 4.103 Proposed order. (a) When the Commission reaches the conclusion that a violation of § 4.1 of Rule IV has been established by the investigation, it shall issue a proposed order. This order, which shall include a statement of the charges against the employee and of the information in support thereof, shall be sent to the employee by registered mail, and he shall be allowed 15 days from the date of service to respond thereto in writing. A copy of this order shall also be sent to the agency in which the individual is employed. With his reply to the proposed order, the employee may request a hearing as hereinafter provided.

§ 4.104 Hearing. (a) The granting of a hearing shall not be a matter of right but shall be within the discretion of the Commission. No hearing shall be authorized in cases where the employee has admitted a violation or where a violation is established by indisputable record evidence.

(b) Hearings shall be held before a Hearing Examiner designated by the Commission and shall be at the Commission's office in Washington, D. C., unless the Commission shall order that the hearing be held elsewhere. All testimony shall be under oath or affirmation. The employee may appear personally or by or with counsel. Counsel appearing shall have been admitted to practice before the Commission in accordance with Rule 4 of the rules of practice under the act of August 2, 1939 as amended (§ 23.4 of this chapter).

(c) The hearing shall be of the limited scope necessitated by the Commission's lack of the power of subpena in proceedings under § 4.1 of Rule IV. Because of the absence of that authority, it cannot undertake to conduct said hearing se a proceeding de novo, or to have evidence introduced therein in support of the charges against the respondent. Owing to the lack of subpena power, evidence in support of charges must be limited to information given voluntarily. Such information is obtained upon an understanding of confidential treatment. Consequently, evidence supporting the charges cannot be introduced at the hearing. The hearing shall be unilateral, that is, it shall be only for the presentation of evidence on behalf of the employee in rebuttal of the charges disclosed by the proposed order. Counsel for the Commission may cross-examine witnesses.

(d) It shall be within the discretion of the Hearing Examiner to permit, and fix the time for, filing of briefs. The proceedings at the hearing will not be reported, unless the Commission shall so direct; but the employee shall have the privilege of himself having the evidence taken stenographically. If the proceeding is not taken by a reporter on behalf of the Commission, the employee and Commission counsel shall submit a summary thereof to the Hearing Examiner within a time fixed by him. Any disagreement concerning the contents of the summary shall be resolved by the Examiner, and the parties may file written exceptions. The summary and any exceptions shall be certified by the Hearing Examiner and shall become a part of the record.

§ 4.105 Final order. (a) The Commission's final order shall be based on the entire record of the case, including the report of the investigation, the reply of the employee to the proposed order, and in cases where a hearing has been granted, the report of the Hearing Examiner. If the employee does not reply to the proposed order within 15 days from the date of service, a final order shall be based on the report of investigation alone.

(b) The final order shall contain a statement of the charges that have been substantiated and shall prescribe the penalty to be imposed. Copies of the final order shall be served on the respondent and on the agency wherein the individual is employed.

§ 4.106 Penalties. (a) Since violations of § 4.1 of Rule IV are by law violations also of section 9 (a) of the Hatch Act, the penalty required by that act must of necessity be imposed. The employee must be immediately removed from the position or office held and may not again be employed in such position or office. If the appointing officer fails to carry out the instructions of the Commission within ten days after receipt thereof, the Commission shall certify the facts to the head of the agency concerned for proceedings for withholding salary in accordance with § 5.5 of Rule V.

(b) When the Commission directs the removal of an employee for a violation of § 4.1 of Rule IV, and the Hatch Act, the penalty laid down in paragraph (a) of this section shall be applied, even where the agency reports that the individual has been removed, on grounds other than a violation of § 4.1 of Rule IV and the Hatch Act. Such individual may not again be employed in the position from which he was removed. The provisions of § 4.107 regarding reemployment in positions other than the one from which removal was effected shall also apply.

(c) The above procedure shall apply also where an employee has resigned from his position or office prior to the Commission's determination that he had violated § 4.1 of Rule IV, and the Hatch Act.

§ 4.107 Reemployment. (a) An employee removed for violation of § 4.1 of Rule IV may be reemployed in accordance with the provisions of the regulations in this chapter in any position for which he can qualify other than one the salary or compensation of which is payable under the same appropriation as the position from which removed: Provided, That in all cases involving a finding that a Federal employee has engaged in prohibited political activity, the Commission shall consider the matter from a suitability standpoint and shall establish a definite period of debarment applicable to the employee for all Federal positions within the Commission's jurisdiction.

Withdrawal From Competition

§ 4.201 Attempting to secure withdrawal from competition. (a) Applicants for competitive examination, or eligibles on any register, or officers or employees in the executive branch, shall not directly or indirectly persuade, induce, or coerce, or attempt to persuade, induce, or coerce any prospective applicant, applicant, or eligible to withhold filing application or to withdraw from competition or eligibility for positions in the competitive service for the purpose of either improving or injuring the prospects for appointment of any such applicant or eligible. The penalty for violation of this section by applicants or eligibles shall be cancellation of application or eligibility, as the case may be, and such other penalty as the Commission may deem appropriate.

(b) Prior approval of the qualifications of the person proposed for reinstatement must be obtained from the Commission when:

(1) It is desired to make an exception to the qualifications standards for the position to which reinstatement is proposed.

(2) The Commission has not issued qualifications standards for such position unless reinstatement is to be made to a position in the same (or lower) grade in the same line of work as a position previously held in the Federal service.

§ 7.104 Agency authority for reinstatement. (a) The Commission hereby delegates authority to agencies to reinstate any person who meets the requirements of § 7.101 except where a certificate of the Commission is required by § 7.103 (a). However, prior approval of qualifications must be obtained in cases falling under § 7.103 (b).

(b) The Commission may disapprove any reinstatement, or suspend or withdraw this authority whenever, after post-audit, it finds that the regulations in this part have not been followed.

PART 8—PROMOTION, REASSIGNMENT, AND TRANSFER

Sec.
8.101 General requirements for promotion, reassignment, and transfer of employees who have competitive status.
8.102 Commission approval required for certain promotions, reassignments, and transfer.
8.103 Agency authority for promotion, reassignment, or transfer.
8.104 Status and tenure unchanged.

AUTHORITY: §§ 8.101 to 8.104, inclusive, issued under R. S. 1753; sec. 2, 22 Stat. 403, 50 Stat. 533; 5 U. S. C. 631, 633.

§ 8.101 General requirements for promotion, reassignment, and transfer of employees who have competitive status. (a) An employee having a competitive status may be promoted, reassigned, or transferred subject to the following requirements:

(1) The qualifications standards of the Commission for promotion or reassignment to the position must be met.

(2) An employee serving in a position in the clerical, administrative and fiscal service classified at Grade 7 or a comparable or higher salary level, who has served continuously in the field or nonapportioned service of an agency for at least the three years immediately preceding, may be transferred, promoted, or reassigned to an apportioned position in the same agency without regard to the apportionment. In all other transfers, promotions, or reassignments the employee must be eligible under the apportionment quota restrictions of § 2.110 of this chapter unless he is a veteran or has previously served in the apportioned service. However, the Commission may, upon request of the agency, waive the apportionment when the transfer, promotion, or reassignment is in the interest of good administration.

(3) He must complete the probationary period in the new position if he is promoted, reassigned, or transferred before completion of probation.

§ 8.102 Commission approval required for certain promotions, reassignments, and transfers. (a) A certificate by the Commission authorizing the promotion, reassignment, or transfer must be obtained by an agency when a waiver of the apportionment is necessary and requested in the interest of good administration.

(b) Prior approval of the qualifications of the employee proposed for promotion, reassignment, or transfer must be obtained from the Commission when:

(1) It is desired to make an exception to the qualifications standards for the position to which promotion, reassignment, or transfer is proposed.

(2) The Commission has not issued qualifications standards for such position unless reassignment or transfer is to be made to a position in the same (or lower) grade in the same line of work as the position presently or previously occupied by the employee.

§ 8.103 Agency authority for promotion, reassignment, or transfer. (a) The Commission hereby delegates authority to agencies to promote, reassign, or transfer an employee who meets the requirements of § 8.101 except where a certificate of the Commission is required by § 8.102 (a). However, prior approval of qualifications must be obtained in cases falling under § 8.102 (b).

(b) The Commission may disapprove any promotion, reassignment, or transfer, or suspend or withdraw this authority whenever, after post-audit, it finds that the regulations in this part have not been followed.

§ 8.104 Status and tenure unchanged. (a) The status or tenure of an employee will not be changed by promotion, reassignment, or intra-agency transfer under this part. No time limit administratively placed on an appointment by inter-agency transfer shall affect the employee's right to permanent tenure in the agency in which employed unless he was transferred to a position with a time limitation of six months or less.

PART 9—SEPARATIONS AND DEMOTIONS

Sec.
9.101 Agency responsibility for separation or demotion of employees.
9.102 Procedure in separating or demoting permanent and indefinite employees.
9.103 Procedure in separating employee serving a probationary or trial period.
9.104 Procedure in separating temporary employees.
9.105 Authority of Commission to investigate separations.
9.106 Effect of removal on future employment.
9.107 Suspensions.

AUTHORITY: §§ 9.101 to 9.107, inclusive, issued under R. S. 1753; sec. 2, 22 Stat. 403, 50 Stat. 533; 5 U. S. C. 631, 633.

§ 9.101 Agency responsibility for separation or demotion of employees. (a) The employing agency shall remove, demote, or reassign to another position any employee in the competitive service whose conduct or capacity is such that his removal, demotion, or assignment will promote the efficiency of the service. The grounds for disqualification of an applicant for examination stated in § 2.104 of this chapter shall be included among those constituting sufficient cause for removal of an employee.

(b) The discretion vested in the appointing officer to remove employees under his jurisdiction, or to take other disciplinary action, is subject only to the following restrictions:

(1) Employees serving under other than a probational or temporary appointment in the competitive service shall not be removed, or demoted except for such cause as will promote the efficiency of the service and in accordance with the procedure prescribed in § 9.102.

(2) Discrimination shall not be exercised in removals or demotions because of an employee's religious opinions or affiliations, or because of his marital status or race, or except as may be required by law, because of his political opinions or affiliations.

(3) Like penalties shall be imposed for like offenses whenever removals or demotions are made, or when other disciplinary actions are taken.

§ 9.102 Procedure in separating or demoting permanent and indefinite employees. (a) One of the following procedures shall be followed in connection with the removal, involuntary separation (other than retirement for age or disability), furlough in excess of 30 days, or demotion of any permanent or war service indefinite employee in the competitive service unless he is serving a probational or trial period. The procedural requirements of this section shall not apply to any person serving under temporary appointment, or whose removal is requested by the Commission under § 5.4 of Rule V.

(1) Charges preferred against nonveteran employees. Prior to separation or demotion for cause, the agency shall notify the employee in writing of the action proposed to be taken. This notice shall set forth specifically and in detail the charges preferred against him. The employee shall be allowed a reasonable time for personally answering such charges in writing and for furnishing affidavits in support of his answer. He shall not, however, be entitled to an examination of witnesses nor a trial or hearing except in the discretion of the agency. If the employee answers the charges, his answer must be considered by the agency. If, upon consideration of the evidence, the agency determines that the removal or other action is warranted, the employee shall be notified in writing of the reasons for the action taken and its effective date. Copies of the charges, notice of hearing (if any), answer, reasons for removal or other action, and of the notice of action taken shall be made a part of the records of the department or agency concerned.

(2) Removal or other actions affecting veterans. The regulations governing appeals to the Commission under section 14 of the Veterans' Preference Act (Part 22 of this chapter) shall be followed in connection with the removal, suspension for more than 30 days, furlough without pay, or reduction in rank or compensation of any veteran.

(3) Separations or reductions in compensation required by official efficiency ratings. The instructions promulgated by the Commission for the administration of the Uniform Efficiency Rating System required by section 9 of the Classification Act of 1923, as amended, shall be followed whenever the dismissal or reduction in compensation of an employee is based on the official efficiency rating assigned to him under that system.

(4) Reduction in force. The Retention Preference Regulations for use in reductions in force promulgated by the Commission pursuant to section 12 of the Veterans' Preference Act (Part 20 of this chapter) shall be followed whenever the employee's separation or furlough in excess of 30 days is caused by a reduction in force.

(5) Demotion for administrative reasons. A nonveteran whose demotion is proposed for administrative reasons shall be notified in writing of the reasons why his demotion will promote the efficiency of the service and of his right to appeal his demotion to the head of the agency concerned through the grievance procedures adopted by the agency. The regulations governing appeals to the Commission under section 14 of the Veterans' Preference Act (Part 22 of this chapter) shall be followed whenever a veteran's demotion is proposed for administrative reasons.

§ 9.103 Procedure in separating employee serving a probationary or trial period. (a) Any person serving a probationary or trial period shall be given a full and fair trial in the performance of the duties of the position to which appointed. If the performance of his duties or his conduct is not satisfactory to the agency his services shall be terminated by notifying him in writing of the reasons for his separation and of its effective date. The Retention Preference Regulations (Part 20 of this chapter) shall be followed whenever a probationer's separation is caused by reduction in force.

§ 9.104 Procedure in separating temporary appointees. (a) A person serving under a temporary appointment may be separated at any time upon notice in writing from the appointing officer.

§ 9.105 Authority of Commission to investigate separations. (a) Except as required by section 14 of the Veterans' Preference Act, the Commission shall not investigate or review the sufficiency of the reasons for removal, reassignment, or reduction in rank or compensation of an employee.

(b) The Commission may investigate the removal, reassignment, or demotion of an employee when such employee establishes a prima facie case that:

(1) The procedure prescribed by the Commission under § 9.102 (a) (1) has not been followed; or

(2) The removal, reassignment, or demotion was made for political reasons, except as may be required by law, or for religious reasons, or resulted from discrimination because of marital status or race.

§ 9.106 Effect of removal on future employment. (a) An employee who has been removed on charges shall not solely for that reason be ineligible for further employment in the competitive service. His suitability for further employment will be determined by the Commission upon receipt of an official request for his reinstatement or when he files application for an examination.

§ 9.107 Suspensions. (a) The regulations governing appeals to the Commission under section 14 of the Veterans' Preference Act (Part 22 of this chapter) shall be followed whenever a veteran is suspended for more than 30 days unless he is serving a probationary or trial period. Any nonveteran may be suspended for a period not to exceed 90 days pending action under § 9.102 (a) (1) or for disciplinary reasons. The period of suspension may be extended beyond 90 days with the prior consent of the Commission. The reasons for suspension shall at the time of the suspension be filed in the records of the department or agency concerned.

10.101 Method of filling vacancies.
10.102 Reappointment of war service indefinite employees during the transitional period.
10.103 Promotion, reassignment, and transfer of war service indefinite employees during the transitional period.
10.104 Promotion, reassignment, and transfer of temporary indefinite employees during the transitional period.
10.105 Agency authority to make promotions, reassignments, transfers and reappointments during the transitional period.
10.106 Tenure under this part.
10.107 Status and tenure of persons having competitive status who were transferred or reappointed under the War Service or Temporary Civil Service Regulations.
10.108 Statutory restoration after military service.
10.109 Regulatory restoration after military service.
10.110 Restoration in another agency.
10.111 Reemployment benefits after transfer.
10.112 Replacement of war service and temporary appointees.
10.113 Release requirements for appointment, reappointment, reinstatement or transfer under the regulations in this chapter.

AUTHORITY: §§ 10.101 to 10.113, inclusive, issued under R. S. 1753; sec. 2, 22 Stat. 403, 50 Stat. 533; 5 U. S. C. 631, 633.

§ 10.101 Method of filling vacancies. (a) (1) Until agencies have been notified by the Commission that the procedures provided in the regulations in this part for the transitional period may no longer be used for particular positions, a vacancy may be filled by any person eligible under this part or by a temporary appointment pending establishment of a register in accordance with § 2.114 (c) of this chapter. A vacancy in any position for which such notice has been issued shall be filled only by a person having a competitive status or by selection for probational appointment from an eligible register.

(2) The requirements of Parts 7 and 8 of this chapter must be followed whenever a vacancy is filled by a person having a competitive status.

(b) The authority to fill vacancies by temporary appointment, or by persons eligible under this part, may be suspended by the Commission whenever, in accordance with § 2.109 (c) of this chapter, it certifies to an agency the name of veterans examined under section 10 of the Veterans' Preference Act or entitled to priority in certification because of lost opportunity for probational appointment due to military service.

§ 10.102 Reappointment of war service indefinite employees during the transitional period. (a) Except as provided in § 10.101 (a), any former employee who served under a war service indefinite appointment at any time during his last continuous service may be reappointed within 30 days of separation if he meets the qualifications standards of the Commission for promotion or reassignment to the position: Provided, That this period may be extended to 90 days in the case of an employee who proves by a certificate signed by the head of a liquidated agency by which he was last employed that he had been required by the exigencies of the service to serve continuously in active duty during the final two months of the agency's operations and through the final date of its liquidation.

§ 10.103 Promotions, reassignment, and transfer of war service indefinite employees during the transitional period. (a) Except as provided in § 10.101 (a), any employee who, during his current continuous service, has served under a war service indefinite appointment may be promoted, reassigned, or transferred if he meets the qualifications standards of the Commission for promotion or reassignment to the position.

§ 10.104 Promotion, reassignment, and transfer of temporary indefinite em- ployees during the transitional period. (a) Except as provided in § 10.101 (a), an employee serving under temporary indefinite appointment may be promoted, reassigned, or transferred only within the same agency. Such employee must meet the qualifications standards of the Commission for promotion or reassignment to the position.

§ 10.105 Agency authority to make promotions, reassignments, transfers and reappointments during the transitional period. (a) The Commission hereby delegates authority to agencies to promote, reassign, transfer, or reappoint any employee who meets the requirements of this part. However, prior approval of the qualifications of the person proposed for promotion, reassignment, transfer, or reappointment must be obtained from the Commission when:

(1) It is desired to make an exception to the qualifications standards for the position to which promotion, reassignment, transfer, or reappointment is proposed.

(2) The Commission has not issued qualifications standards for such position unless reassignment, transfer, or reappointment is to be made to a position in the same (or lower) grade in the same line of work as the position presently or previously occupied by the employee.

(b) The Commission may disapprove any promotion, reassignment, transfer, or reappointment, or suspend or withdraw this authority whenever, after postaudit, it finds that the regulations in this part have not been followed.

§ 10.106 Tenure under this part. (a) The tenure of an employee will not be changed by promotion, reassignment, transfer, or reappointment under this part unless he is assigned to a position with a time limitation of six months or less. However, an employee who has served under war service indefinite appointment and then received an excepted appointment shall be considered as having a war service appointment when promoted, reassigned, transferred, or reappointed under this part.

§ 10.107 Status and tenure of persons having competitive status who were transferred or reappointed under the War Service or Temporary Civil Service Regulations. (a) No employee who was transferred from a probational or permanent civil service appointment during the period the War Service Regulations or the Temporary Civil Service Regulations were in effect shall by reason of such transfer, lose his right to permanent tenure. No time limit administratively placed on the appointment to the position to which transferred without his consent shall affect the employee's rights to permanent tenure in the agency by which employed.

(b) Any employee who, on or after March 16, 1942, (or in the case of the Post Office field service, on or after October 23, 1943) was appointed or reappointed (or whose appointment was automatically converted to a war service appointment) under the War Service Regulations without break in service of 30 calendar days or more after satisfactory service and separation from a probational or permanent Civil Service appointment, shall be entitled to the same benefits he would have had under reinstatement under the Civil Service rules. Such an employee has permanent tenure and competitive status in the agency in which employed unless he was appointed or reappointed with a time limitation of one year or less. An employee reappointed under the Temporary Civil Service Regulations will have the same civil service status and tenure in the agency to which reappointed as he had in the agency in which he last served unless he was reappointed with a time limitation of six months, or less.

§ 10.108 Statutory restoration after military service. (a) Any civilian employee of the executive branch of the Government who has left or leaves a position (other than a temporary position) in order to perform active service in the armed forces of the United States shall be restored to the position he left, or if that position does not exist, to a position of like seniority, status, and pay. Restoration shall be made within 30 days of application for reemployment. In order to be entitled to restoration under this section the employee shall (1) have been honorably separated from the armed forces; (2) be qualified to perform the duties of the position; and (3) make application for reemployment within 90 days after he is relieved from active service, or from hospitalization continuing after discharge for a period of not more than one year.

(b) Failure of the agency to act within the 30-day period will not affect the employee's right to restoration. The employee's tenure with the agency will determine whether he left other than a temporary position. The fact that the last position the returning veteran held through promotion or reassignment carried a time limitation will not of itself affect his right to be restored to that position or one of like seniority, status, and pay.

§ 10.109 Regulatory restoration after military service. (a) Any civilian employee in the competitive service who has left or leaves a temporary position in order to perform active service in the armed forces of the United States shall be reemployed either in the position he left, or one of like seniority, status, and pay in the same geographical locality in which formerly employed, so long as such a position is occupied by an employee with lower retention preference. His reemployment shall be subject to the following requirements: The employee shall (1) have been honorably separated from the armed forces; (2) be qualified to perform the duties of the position; (3) make application for reemployment within 90 days after he is relieved from active service, or from hospitalization continuing after discharge for a period of not more than one year; and (4) have been serving under an appointment not limited to one year or less when he entered the armed forces. Reemployment under this section shall be made within 30 days of application but shall not require the removal through reduction in force of any employee with higher retention preference, nor extend the limitation placed on the employee's original appointment.

(b) Failure of the agency to act within the 30-day period will not affect the employee's right to reemployment. The fact that the last position the returning veteran held through promotion or reassignment carried a time limitation will not of itself affect his right to be restored to that position or one of like seniority, status, and pay.

(c) Any person who, in order to perform active service in the armed forces of the United States, has left or leaves a position in a public or private enterprise (other than a temporary position limited to one year or less) which was or is subsequently taken over by the Federal Government shall be entitled to reemployment in accordance with this section. Upon such reemployment he shall be entitled to all the benefits accorded other employees taken over by the Government.

§ 10.110 Restoration in another agency. (a) In lieu of restoration in the agency he left, any person who meets the conditions of §§ 10.108 or 10.109 for restoration after service in the armed forces may be reemployed under this section in any other agency, in that agency's discretion, in any position for which he meets the qualifications standards of the Commission for promotion or reassignment to such position. The prior approval of the Commission for such reemployment shall be required only when:

(1) It is desired to make an exception to the qualifications standards for the position to which reemployment is proposed;

(2) The Commission has not issued qualifications standards for such position unless reemployment is to be in a position in the same (or lower) grade in the same line of work as a position previously held in the Federal service.

(b) Any person reemployed under this section may, to the extent consistent with law, be extended all of the benefits that he would have received if he had been restored in the agency he left to enter the armed forces. Reemployment under this section of a person having regulatory restoration rights shall not extend the limitation placed on his original appointment.

§ 10.111 Reemployment benefits after transfer. (a) Any person, except one who was holding a temporary position, who was transferred by the Commission with reemployment rights under authority of Executive Order No. 8973 or 9067 or War Manpower Commission Directive No. X, shall be entitled to the rights specified in paragraph (b) of this section if he:

(1) Gives the agency in which he has reemployment rights 30 days' advance written notice of his intent to exercise his reemployment rights and that he has secured the consent of the agency in which he is employed, or upon appeal, of the Commission, to the exercise of such rights: Provided, That such notice may not be withdrawn by the employee without forfeiture of his rights under this section. If furloughed or separated from the activity to which transferred, he shall give such advance notice not later than 40 days after such furlough or separation. In any event, such notice shall be given not later than six months after the end of World War II as officially determined.

(2) Is still qualified to perform the duties of the position.

(b) Any person meeting the requirements of paragraph (a) of this section shall be entitled to the following rights:

(1) If his transfer was to another Federal agency, he shall be entitled to 30 days' notice from the agency to which he was transferred, prior to the termination of his services with such agency, unless such termination is for cause.

(2) He shall be reemployed within 30 days of his application in the same agency and to the maximum extent practicable, in the same locality, in his former position, or in a position of like seniority, status, and pay, in such manner, to the extent consistent with law, that he does not lose any of the rights or benefits to which he would have been entitled had he not been transferred or released: Provided, That such a position then exists that is not held by a person having higher retention preference.

(c) In the event of the transfer of any employee under a series of transfers, all of which were with reemployment rights, such reemployment rights shall continue to be applicable only to the agency from which the employee was originally transferred.

(d) An employee who was transferred within the Government service with reemployment rights, or an employee who was transferred with reemployment rights from a Government position for employment in an essential activity conducted by a public or private enterprise, and who, while employed in the agency or enterprise to which transferred, enters active service with the armed forces of the United States, shall be entitled to the same reemployment rights with respect to the Government position from which he was transferred as those to which he would have been entitled had he entered active military or naval service while employed in such Government position.

(e) A person initially appointed for the duration of the war who was transferred with reemployment rights will not be required to be reemployed at the cessation of the war (as officially determined) in the agency in which he was originally employed.

(f) Whenever an agency is considering filling any position by promotion from within the agency, it may give the same consideration to a former employee who has transferred from that agency with reemployment rights therein as he would have received if he still occupied the position he left. Such a former employee may be selected for the promotion, and, if he is not authorized to return at that time to the position to which promotion is made, his reemployment rights at the time application is made for reemployment in the agency shall be applicable to the position to which promotion was made during his absence.

(g) The regulations issued by the Commission pursuant to Executive Order No. 9721 of May 10, 1946 (Part 26 of this chapter), authorizing the transfer with reemployment rights of civilian employees of the executive branch of the Government to public international organizations in which the United States Government participates, shall be followed in connection with such transfers.

§ 10.112 Replacement of War Service and temporary appointees. (a) Upon the establishment of appropriate registers of eligibles through either restoration under § 2.107 (c) of this chapter of persons who lost opportunity for probational appointment because of military service, or entrance of the names of ten-point veterans under section 10 of the Veterans' Preference Act, or competitive examination, or when the Commission determines that positions can be filled by promotion, transfer, reassignment or reinstatement of persons having a competitive status without the necessity of establishing an appropriate register, the Commission shall require the displacement of persons occupying positions in the competitive service who do not have permanent tenure. The displacement of such persons shall be made in the following order:

(1) War-service and other temporary appointees who have not qualified in the appropriate examination.

(2) All other war-service and all other temporary appointees unless they are reached and selected for probational appointment, or acquire a competitive status in accordance with § 3.1 (b) (7) of Rule III.

(b) The Commission shall determine the duration of war-service appointments, but no such appointment may extend beyond the six months period following the official termination of World War II unless specifically authorized by the Commission.

§ 10.113 Release requirements for appointment, reappointment, reinstatement, or transfer under the regulations in this chapter. (a) A release shall be required before effecting an appointment, reappointment, reinstatement, or transfer under the regulations in this chapter of a person who is serving, or has served within 30 days, in another agency. This provision shall not apply to a person who is serving, or last served, under an appointment limited to six months or less.

(b) Such release may be granted by the agency of present or last employment or, upon appeal, by the Commission. An official notice of actual or impending separation because of reduction of force or an official notice of furlough shall constitute a release.

(c) An agency shall not deny a release except on the grounds of undue jeopardy to the operations of the agency and in no event shall a release be denied where to do so would constitute undue personal hardship to the applicant. Whenever a release is denied by an agency the applicant shall be advised in writing of the reasons for denial and of his right to appeal to the appropriate office of the Commission. Such appeals shall be in writing and accompanied by the notice of denial by release by the agency.

20.4 Completion of employee records.
20.5 Determination of competitive area.
20.6 Special rule relating to consolidations and mergers.
20.7 Compilation of retention register.

20.9 Actions.
20.10 Notice to employees.
20.11 Reports to the Commission.
20.12 Special rules on liquidation.
20.13 Appeals.
20.14 Actions disapproved by the Commission.

AUTHORITY: §§ 20.1 to 20.14, inclusive, issued under sec. 12, 58 Stat. 390; 5 U. S. C. Sup. 861.

§ 20.1 Extent of part. The regulations in this part establish degrees of retention preference and uniform rules for reductions in force. They apply to all civilian employees in the executive branch of the Federal Government, and in the municipal government of the District of Columbia, except those whose appointments are required to be approved by the Senate, and those who are appointed by the President of the United States.

§ 20.2 Definitions. For the purpose of the regulations in this part definitions are given for words, terms, and phrases as follows:

(a) "Reduction in force" means the involuntary separation from the rolls of a department, or furlough in excess of thirty days, of one or more employees in order to reduce personnel. Reduction of personnel may have to be made because of lack of funds, personnel ceilings, reorganization, decrease of work, to make a position available for a former employee with established reemployment or restoration rights, or for other reasons. However, the term does not apply to (1) termination of temporary appointments limited to one year or less, (2) retirement of employees, or (3) separations for unsatisfactory service.

(b) "Retention groups" and "subgroups" means classes of employees entitled to the same degree of retention preference on the basis of tenure of employment and veteran preference.

(c) "Retention credits" are credits for length of service and efficiency ratings in determining retention order in each retention subgroup. They are computed by allowing one point for each full year of Federal Government service plus five points for an "Excellent" efficiency rating, three points for a "Very Good" efficiency rating, and one point for a "Good" efficiency rating. This paragraph shall be effective with respect to notices in reductions in force issued on and after September 15, 1946, or, with respect to individual agencies, at any date prior thereto at the option of the agency: Provided, That, with respect to ungraded positions under the Navy Department this paragraph shall be effective on October 15, 1946.

(d) "Federal Government service" means the total of all periods of service eligible for consideration for civil service retirement purposes, without regard to whether the employee is eligible or will be eligible actually to receive retirement benefits. All active military service is counted whether or not veteran preference is given therefor or whether it is eligible to be considered for civil service retirement purposes. Total service shall consist only of full years of creditable service, but fractions of a year shall be considered in arriving at the total.

(e) "Efficiency rating" means (1) for employees paid under the compensation schedules of the Classification Act, the current official efficiency rating under the Uniform Efficiency Rating System; and (2) for other employees the current efficiency rating under an efficiency rating system which has been approved by the Civil Service Commission.

(f) "Veteran preference employee" means an employee entitled to veteran preference under the Veterans' Preference Act of 1944.

(g) "Department" means an entire executive department, parent organization with constituent agencies, independent establishment, government-owned or government-controlled corporation of the Federal Government, the municipal government of the District of Columbia, or any other such organization or separate governmental agency of the executive branch of the Federal Government created by Act of Congress or Executive order.

(h) "Governmental entity" means a department, bureau of a department, parent organization, constituent agency, independent establishment, entire field installation, regional office, or field station, an operating department of the municipal government of the District of Columbia, or any other such organization or separate governmental agency of the Federal Government created by Act of Congress or Executive order.

(i) "Competitive area" means a governmental entity, a combination of governmental entities, or that part of a governmental entity for which approval has been secured from the Commission, within which employees of a competitive level are considered to be in competition.

(j) "Competitive level" means all positions in the same grade of the same service, trade, or profession (although they may have different titles or different pay rates), in which interchange of personnel is feasible.

§ 20.3 Retention preference; classification. For the purpose of determining relative retention preference in reductions in force, employees shall be classified according to tenure of employment in competitive retention groups and subgroups, as follows:

Group A: All employees who have met all requirements for indefinite retention in their present positions. With respect to positions subject to the Civil Service Act and rules, this includes all employees currently serving under absolute or probational civil service appointments or who were appointed, reappointed, transferred or promoted from absolute or probational civil service appointments to war service indefinite or trial period appointments without a break in service of thirty days or more. With respect to positions excepted from the Civil Service Act and rules, this includes all employees currently serving under appointments without time limitation.

A–1 Plus during one-year period after return to duty, as required by law.

A–1 With veteran preference unless efficiency rating is less than "Good".

A–2 Without veteran preference unless efficiency rating is less than "Good".

A–3 With veteran preference where efficiency rating is less than "Good".

A–4 Without veteran preference where efficiency rating is less than "Good".

§ 20.4 Completion of employee records. (a) Departments and governmental entities are responsible for maintaining current records of information necessary for determining retention preference of employees.

If these records are incomplete, they shall be supplemented by written statements from employees, supported by a signed certificate substantially as follows:

I certify that the information submitted herewith is true, correct, and complete to the best of my knowledge and belief.

(b) Employees who have served continuously without a break in service of thirty days or more in positions subject to the Civil Service Act and rules since before March 16, 1942 (October 23, 1943, in the field service of the Post Office Department):

(1) Are in Group A unless appointed under authority of Executive Order Nos. 8257, 8564, or 8458 (former Civil Service Rule VIII), or new Civil Service Rule II and the Commission's regulations thereunder (§ 2.114 of this chapter), and have not acquired a civil service status.

(2) Are in Group B if appointed under authority of Executive Order Nos. 8257, 8564, or 8458 (former Civil Service Rule VIII) or new Civil Service Rule II and the Commission's regulations thereunder (§ 2.114 of this chapter), unless they acquired a civil service status under Executive Order Nos. 8833 or 8952, or the Commission's Departmental Circular 457 or 517, in which case they are in Group A.

(c) Employees appointed after March 16, 1942 (October 23, 1943, in the field service of the Post Office Department), initially or reappointed after a break in service of thirty days or more are in Group B unless:

(1) They are currently holding appointments definitely limited to one year or less—in which case they are in Group C.

(2) They are occupying positions excepted from the Civil Service Act and rules and not limited in duration—in which case they are in Group A.

(d) Whenever a department is unable to obtain from its records or from an employee information as to his classified (competitive) civil service status or length of service necessary to establish his retention preference standing, under the above rules, the Commission, upon the receipt of a request on Standard Form No. 66, will supply the information, if available, from its records.

§ 20.5 Determination of competitive area. The area in which a reduction in force is made should be a governmental entity as defined in § 20.2 (h).

No reduction in force affecting employees in retention groups A or B shall be made in any smaller competitive area in Washington, D. C., or vicinity, without obtaining prior approval from the Central Office of the Commission, or elsewhere without securing prior approval from the appropriate regional or branch office of the Commission. Approval will be given if the proposed competitive area is large enough to prevent the loss of highly efficient employees, to allow true competition to exist, and to protect the high retention preference of group A employees. Consideration will be given to the extent of the competitive level or levels to be affected, whether the proposed competitive area has independence of operation, work functions, and personnel administration (although policies may be established in higher department levels), whether the staff of the proposed competitive area is separately organized and clearly distinguishable from other units of the governmental entity, and whether it is within local commuting distance of other units of the governmental entity.

If there is doubt as to the size and scope of competitive areas, or if it is desired to establish competitive areas smaller than governmental entities as a standard practice for reductions in force, departments shall submit proposed plans of such competitive areas to the Central Office of the Commission. When approved, subsequent clearance with the Commission will not be necessary unless (a) a proposed competitive area does not conform to the plan, (b) reorganization has affected the plan, or (c) there has been a change in the facts upon which the plan was originally based.

§ 20.6 Special regulations relating to consolidations and mergers. (a) Before any reduction in force is made in connection with the transfer of any or all of the functions of one department to another continuing department all veteran preference employees and all retention group A employees assigned to any such function shall be transferred to such continuing department, without change in tenure of employment.

(b) Where, in the course of liquidation of an agency, functions are transferred only for liquidation, and functional operations have terminated or will terminate by law or authoritative order within sixty calendar days, employees engaged on such functions may be given temporary appointments, initially without change in grade or compensation, in the department or agency responsible for such liquidation.

All changes to temporary appointments under these regulations are subject to review by the Civil Service Commission on appeal by affected employees, and shall be corrected to transfers without change in tenure of employment in all cases where the Commission finds such action to be proper. Employees given temporary appointments under these regulations shall be notified that they may appeal such action within thirty days to the Civil Service Commission.

(c) Any employee assigned to a transferred function, who has been given a temporary appointment because functional operations were to be terminated by law or authoritative order within sixty calendar days, shall be restored to his tenure of employment prior to the transfer of the function, whenever such function is continued in operation for a longer period by law or authoritative order.

§ 20.7 Compilation of retention register. Whenever there is to be a reduction in force there shall first be determined the competitive level or levels to be affected. Each employee whose official position is in such a competitive level shall be considered in competition in his retention group in any reduction in force, whether he is in a duty or leave status, pay or nonpay status, or actually engaged on work in another department, another competitive area, or in another competitive level; excluding only those in the active military service of the United States or in the Merchant Marine.

A retention register shall be compiled for each competitive level in which a reduction in force is to be made, showing the names of all employees in competition by retention groups and subgroups. It shall be arranged in sequence showing subgroup A–1 plus with highest retention preference, followed in order by subgroups A–1, A–2, A–3, A–4, B–1, B–2, B–3, B–4, C–1, C–2, C–3, and C–4. Within each subgroup in retention groups A and B where some but not all employees may be affected by the reduction in force, names shall be arranged in sequence according to retention credits, with higher retention preference accorded to those with a greater number of retention credits. No computations of retention credits are necessary for employees in any retention subgroup which will not be affected by the reduction in force, in any subgroup where all of the employees are to be separated, or in retention group C. For this purpose, the employee records shall be reviewed and brought up to date with respect to length of service, efficiency ratings, and other particulars regarding which changes have occurred since the records were last made current.

This register shall be maintained in the order specified for inspection by employees, and shall at all times be available for inspection by representatives of the Commission.

§ 20.8 Sequence of selection. Within each competitive level, action must be taken to eliminate all employees in lower subgroups before a higher subgroup is reached, and within each subgroup of retention groups A and B, action must be taken concerning all employees with a lower number of retention credits before an employee with a higher number of retention credits is reached, except as provided below. Action may be taken at administrative discretion within any subgroup of retention group C. Whenever two or more employees are tied for position in retention group A or B, the ties shall be broken first by considering half years of service in excess of total years for which retention credits were granted, and then by giving consideration to such matters as official conduct, or established administrative policy.

In unusual situations, an employee performing necessary duties which cannot be taken over by any other available employee with higher retention preference without undue interruption to the activity involved, may be retained, although employees with higher retention preference may be affected. A written statement of the reasons for such exceptions shall be made for inspection by employees adversely affected and for review by representatives of the Commission.

When a reduction in force is necessary only because of a curtailment in funds from which excepted employees are paid, only employees in excepted positions shall be considered in competition for the reduction in force.

Seasonal employees shall be considered in competition only with other seasonal employees in reductions in force.

Employees serving on a when-actually-employed (WAE) basis shall be considered in competition only with other when-actually-employed employees in reductions in force.

No discrimination shall be exercised, threatened or promised in any reduction in force against or in favor of any employee because of race, sex or marital status, or his political or religious opinions or affiliations.

§ 20.9 Actions. Employees who cannot be retained in their positions because of a reduction in force shall be separated, except as provided below. Such actions may be effective at different times within 90-day periods, each 90-day period being considered as a separate reduction-in-force program, and may be made effective without the prior approval of the Commission.

(a) Exceptions: furloughs. Where the reduction in force is the result of a temporary condition which is not expected to continue for more than one year, employees reached for action may, in lieu of being separated, be furloughed for a period not to exceed the unexpired portion of the period of appointment and in no case shall it exceed one year: Provided, That notice of furlough to employees in subgroups A–1 and A–2 with competitive status shall conform to the one-year notice rule under § 20.10. In the event that vacancies are to be filled in positions in the competitive level and competitive area from which such employees have been furloughed, such employees shall be given the opportunity to return to duty before any original appointments are made to such positions: Provided, however, That since no position in the agency may be filled by original appointment of a person, or by the promotion, reassignment, or transfer of a retention group B or C employee if the agency has employees in subgroup A–1 or A–2 with competitive status on leave or furlough due to reduction in force who are available and qualified to fill the position without undue interruption to the activity, such status employees in subgroup A–1 or A–2 shall be considered for such positions. Offer of recall to duty in positions of the competitive level and competitive area from which furloughed shall be made in the order of retention preference of furloughed employees.

(b) Exceptions; statutory retention. Whenever an employee in Subgroup A–1 plus is reached for action in a reduction in force, he shall be placed in some other position of like seniority, status, and pay elsewhere in the department, and, wherever possible, at the same geographical location.

(c) Exceptions; status employees. No employee in retention group A–2, A–3 or A–4 with competitive status and serving in a position subject to the Civil Service Act may be separated or furloughed in a reduction in force if there is a position subject to the Civil Service Act in the department in any other competitive area or competitive level within the geographic area, which may reasonably be expected to continue for one year or more, not filled by a retention group A employee which he could fill without undue interruption to the activity involved unless (1) he refuses a reasonable offer of transfer to a position meeting these requirements, including reduction in pay, if necessary, or (2) he has reemployment rights to a position in another department. Subject to the other requirements set forth above, agencies shall consider such group A–2 employee with competitive status who is reached in a reduction and who has had five or more years of Federal Government service including active military service, for reassignment to a position either vacant or occupied by a war service or a temporary employee in the agency at another geographic area where reassignment within his present geographic area cannot be made and the employee desires to be considered for a position in such other area. Offers of reassignment of status employees in subgroup A–2 shall be made prior to the expiration of the first sixty days of nonduty status.

(d) Exceptions; veterans preference employees. No employee in subgroup A–1 with competitive status and serving in a position subject to the Civil Service Act may be separated or furloughed in a reduction in force if there is a position subject to the Civil Service Act in the department in any other competitive area or competitive level within the geographic area which may reasonably be expected to continue for one year or more not filled by an employee in subgroup A–1 which he could fill without undue interruption to the activity involved, unless (1) he refuses a reasonable offer of transfer to a position meeting these requirements, including reduction in pay if necessary, or (2) he has reemployment rights in another department. Subject to the other requirements set forth above, agencies shall consider such veteran preference career employee in group A–1 with competitive status who is reached in a reduction and who has had five or more years of Federal Government service including active military service, for reassignment to a position either vacant or occupied by a war service or a temporary employee in the agency at another geographic area where reassignment within his present geographic area cannot be made and the employee desires to be considered for a position in such other area. Offers of reassignment of status employees in subgroup A–1 shall be made prior to the expiration of the first sixty days of non-duty status.

(e) Exceptions; war service employees with veteran preference. No employee in subgroup B-1 may be separated or furloughed in a reduction in force from a position subject to the Civil Service Act if there is another position subject to the Civil Service Act in the department at the same geographical location in any other competitive area or competitive level which may reasonably be expected to continue for one year or more not filled by an employee in retention group A or subgroup B-1 which he could fill without undue interruption to the activity involved, unless (1) he refuses a reasonable offer of transfer to a position meeting these requirements, including reduction in pay if necessary, or (2) he has reemployment rights in another department.

(f) Actions concerning displaced employees. Additional actions necessary in connection with employees displaced, as a result of transfers or reassignments under paragraphs (b), (c), (d) and (e) of this section shall be determined on the basis of their retention preference in their respective competitive areas and competitive levels.

§ 20.10 Notice to employees. An employee in group A–1 or A–2 with competitive status affected by a reduction in force shall be given an individual notice in writing one year before the action becomes effective. His one-year notice period shall be composed of, whenever possible, at least 30 days in an active duty status; a non-duty status with pay for the duration of his leave, if any; and the balance of the year in a furlough or leave without pay status. Exceptions to this rule are authorized when the employee requests separation in lieu of furlough, or when the agency as a whole is liquidating, in which case the notice period shall terminate as of the day the agency is finally liquidated. Exceptions may also be made after prior approval by the Commission, in the case of agencies which agree to grant reemployment benefits to employees separated with shorter notice periods equal to those they would have received if retained on the rolls for one year.

Each employee affected by reduction in force shall be given an individual notice in writing at least 30 days before the action becomes effective. Where it is not possible to continue the employee in an active-duty status for the period specified in the notice, he shall have the greatest possible notice before he is relieved from active duty and shall thereafter be carried on the rolls for the remainder of the period. If the period of active duty after the notice is given and the period of accrued leave total less than 30 days, the employee shall be carried in a non-pay status for the remainder of the 30-day period. Notices to employees shall inform them of:

(a) The nature and effective date of the action.

(b) The proper office of the organization where he may examine a copy of these regulations and inspect the retention register and records.

(c) His right to appeal the proposed action to the Commission (departmental employees in the Washington area to the Central Office and others to the appropriate regional or branch office) within ten days from the receipt, and

(d) The procedure for exercising any restoration or reemployment rights he may have, and the channels (departmental and field, through which he may apply for other government employment.

§ 20.11 Reports to the Commission. As soon as employees are notified of the proposed action, and within the 10-day period allowed for the filing of appeals, a report shall be submitted to the appropriate office of the Commission of each reduction in force program. Such report shall include:

(a) The competitive area and competitive level in which the reduction in force is to be made.

(b) The retention subgroup and credit point above which employees will be retained in each competitive level, the names of any employees below such point who are retained, and the reasons for their retention,

(c) The period in which the reduction in force is to be completed,

(d) The total number of employees separated or furloughed, and

(e) A certification of compliance with the regulations.

§ 20.12 Special rules on liquidation. Whenever it has been determined that all functions and all positions in an entire department, an entire governmental entity, or an entire competitive area are to be abolished within a specified time period, actions may be taken in regard to individual employees at different dates at administrative discretion; except that no employee with veteran preference shall be separated before an employee without veteran preference where their positions are immediately interchangeable: And provided further, That notices to group A–1 and A–2 employees with competitive status shall be made to conform to the notice requirements of § 20.10.

NOTE: A mere limitation of authority to a specified date in the law which establishes, authorizes, or extends an agency is not a sufficient basis for the application of the provisions of this section.

In such cases, the employees of the particular department, entity, or competitive area shall be given individual notices in writing containing a statement of the law, Executive order, or authority which requires the liquidation of the department, governmental entity, or competitive area, and the time period in which the liquidation is to be accomplished, and informing them of their rights to appeal to the Commission if they feel that there has not been compliance with the provisions of the regulations in this part. The notices shall also inform employees of their rights to retention on the rolls for at least thirty days, or if a group A–1 or A–2 employee with competitive status, for the period provided for in § 20.10, of the procedures necessary to exercise any reemployment rights they may have to positions in other departments, governmental entities, or competitive areas, and of the procedures necessary to secure other employment.

A report of all liquidation programs shall be made to the Commission which shall include (a) a copy of the law, Executive order, or other authority for the liquidation of the department, governmental entity, or competitive area; (b) a certificate that no employee with veteran preference is being separated in advance of any employee without veteran preference where their positions are immediately interchangeable; and (c) a list of all retention group A employees with classified (competitive) civil service status who have not been transferred or assigned to other positions. This report shall be submitted within ten days after the first individual notices of separation are given to the employees affected.

Where it is necessary to liquidate a major activity which is not an entire competitive area, or which is a part of two or more competitive areas, the Commission will consider a request to establish such activity as a competitive area for the purpose of such liquidation.

§ 20.13 Appeals. Any employee who feels that there has been a violation of his rights under the regulations in this part may appeal to the appropriate office of the Civil Service Commission within 10 days from the date he received his notice of the action to be taken. This time limit may be extended only upon a showing by the employee that circumstances beyond his control prevented him from filing his appeal within the prescribed 10 days. In order that employees may be informed of the facts on which action is based they shall have the right to examine a copy of the regulations in this part and to inspect the retention register and records on which their names appear, including statements of reasons for passing over employees with lower standing on the retention list. Each appeal should set forth whether it is based upon an error in the records, an incorrect efficiency rating, violation of the rules of selection, restriction of the competitive area or competitive level, disregard of a specified right under the law or regulations, or denial of right to examine regulations, retention register, or records.

The Commission will not consider the correctness of any efficiency rating which is appealable to a board of review established under the provisions of section 9 of the Classification Act of 1923, as amended. The correctness of an efficiency rating which is not appealable to a board of review will ordinarily be considered only when the employee has made use of his agency's administrative appellate procedures. However, the Commission will consider the correctness of an efficiency rating which is not appealable to a board of review in any case where adverse action is proposed to be taken too soon to permit diligent use of administrative appellate procedures, where the employee was misinformed of his rights under such procedures, where coercive measures were used to prevent recourse to such procedures, or where the employee presents satisfactory reasons for not using such procedures.

§ 20.14 Actions disapproved by the Commission. Whenever the Commission, as the result of a decision on the appeal of an employee, disapproves the action taken under the regulations in this part, the head of the department or governmental entity shall restore the employee to active duty.

With respect to reductions in force outside the Washington, D. C., area, the decision of the Commission's regional director is the decision of the Commission on appeals.

AUTHORITY: §§ 21.1 to 21.11, inclusive, issued under sec. 11, 58 Stat. 390; 5 U. S. C., Sup., 860.

§ 21.1 Extent of regulations—(a) Positions covered. The regulations in this part shall apply to all positions (1) in the executive branch of the Federal Government that are excepted from the competitive service; (2) in any temporary or emergency establishment, agency, bureau, administration, project, and department created by acts of Congress or Presidential Executive order which are excepted from the provisions of the Civil Service Act of January 16, 1883; and (3) in the civil service of the District of Columbia. Positions excepted from the competitive service include all positions excepted from the provisions of the Civil Service Act of January 16, 1883, by statute or Executive order, including positions listed in Part 6 of this chapter, positions which may be filled by persons under personal service contract, and positions in Government owned or controlled corporations. The civil service of the District of Columbia includes all positions in the Government of the District of Columbia, and positions under the Board of Education and the Board of Library Trustees of the District of Columbia.

(b) Applicability. The provisions of the regulations in this part respecting the examination, rating, and selection for appointment of applicants are required to be followed whenever a qualified person entitled to preference under § 21.2 applies for consideration for appointment. Such provisions may be followed, in the discretion of the agency, in making appointments when no preference applicant applies.

§ 21.2 Persons entitled to military preference—(a) Five-point preference. In actions taken under the regulations in this part, honorably discharged ex-service men and women who have served in any branch of the armed forces of the United States during any war, or in any campaign or expedition (for which a campaign badge has been authorized), shall be entitled to that military preference hereinafter referred to as five-point preference.

(b) Ten-point preference. In actions taken under the regulations in this part, the following persons shall be entitled to that military preference hereinafter referred to as ten-point preference:

(1) Honorably discharged ex-service men and women who have served in any branch of the armed forces of the United States and who have established the present existence of service-connected disability or receipt of compensation, disability retirement benefits, or pension by reason of public laws administered by the Veterans' Administration, the War Department or the Navy Department;

(2) The wives of honorably discharged service-connected disabled ex-servicemen as have themselves been unable to qualify for any civil service appointment; and

(3) The unmarried widows of honorably discharged deceased ex-servicemen who had served in any branch of the armed forces of the United States during any war, or in any campaign or expedition (for which a campaign badge has been authorized).

(c) Definition. As used in this section "honorably discharged" shall mean any separation from active duty in any branch of the armed forces under honorable conditions. A transfer to inactive status, a transfer to retired status, the acceptance of a resignation, or the issuance of a discharge will be considered as covered by the above definition if such separation was under honorable conditions.

§ 21.3 Receipt of applications; uniform treatment. Each agency shall establish definite rules regarding the acceptance of applications for employment in positions covered by the regulations in this part. Such rules shall be made of record in the agency and shall be uniformly applied to all persons who meet the conditions of such rules. Information regarding the rules shall be furnished upon request.

§ 21.4 Qualifications of applicants—(a) Standards. Prior to making appointments to positions under the regulations in this part the agency shall establish standards for eligibility such as those relating to experience and training, citizenship, age, physical condition, etc., which standards shall relate to the duties to be performed. The establishment of standards relating to groups of positions or to a specific position may be delegated to the appropriate administrative level or subdivision of the agency and may be amended or modified from time to time in accordance with the needs of the locality in which the position is located, but the agency shall determine that all standards established are in conformity with the regulations in this part.

Any such standard shall be made a matter of record in the appropriate office of the agency and information concerning the standards for any position shall be furnished upon request. The qualifications standards effective for each position shall be applied uniformly to all applicants for such position except for such waivers as are provided under the regulations in this part for persons entitled to preference.

No minimum educational requirement will be included in qualification standards except those for such scientific, technical, or professional positions the duties of which the agency decides cannot be performed by a person who does not have such education. The agency shall make a part of its records its reasons for such decision. A statement of the reasons shall be furnished upon request.

The qualification standards established for each position shall include:

(1) A provision for the waiver by the agency of any requirements as to age, height, and weight for any applicant entitled to preference under the regulations in this part whenever such requirements are not essential to the performance of the duties of the position; and

(2) A provision for the waiver by the agency of any physical requirements for any applicant entitled to preference under the regulations in this part whenever the agency finds, after giving due consideration to the recommendation of any accredited physician, that such applicant is physically able to discharge the duties of the position.

(b) Disqualifications. In the standards established by the agency or the appropriate office of the agency, it may be provided that certain factors will disqualify applicants for employment. These may include among others, the following: (1) Dismissal from the service for delinquency or misconduct; (2) criminal, infamous, dishonest, immoral, or notoriously disgraceful conduct; (3) intentional false statements as to any material fact, or deception or fraud in connection with an application; (4) habitual use of intoxicating beverages to excess; (5) a reasonable doubt as to loyalty to the Government of the United States; (6) any legal disqualification for appointment; (7) lack of United States citizenship.

§ 21.5 Examination of applicants—(a) Rating. The agency may provide for an evaluation of the qualifications of all applicants for a position, who are available under §§ 21.3 and 21.4 at any time prior to appointment being made to such position. Numerical ratings shall be assigned on a scale of 100 and all applicants rated 70 or more shall be eligible for appointment: Provided, That no numerical ratings need be assigned whenever all qualified applicants will be offered immediate appointment: Provided further, That whenever there is an excessive number of applicants, only a sufficient number of the highest qualified applicants to meet the anticipated needs of the agency within a reasonable length of time need be given numerical ratings; in such cases the agency shall adopt procedures which will insure consideration of all preference applicants in the order in which they would have been considered if all applicants had been assigned numerical ratings. To the earned numerical ratings of applicants entitled to five-point preference, five points shall be added and to the earned numerical ratings of applicants entitled to ten-point preference, ten points shall be added. A notice of the rating assigned shall be furnished upon request.

No consideration shall be given the application of any non-preference applicant, nor shall such application be rated, for the positions of elevator operator, messenger, guard and custodian as long as qualified applicants entitled to preference are available for such position.

Whenever experience is a factor in determining eligibility, an applicant entitled to five-point or ten-point preference under the regulations in this part shall be credited with time spent in the military or naval service of the United States when the position for which he is applying is similar to that he held immediately prior to his entrance into the military or naval service; credit shall also be given such applicant for all valuable experience, including experience gained in religious, civic, welfare, service, and organizational activities, regardless of whether any compensation was received therefor.

§ 21.6 Maintenance of employment lists—(a) Establishment of lists. All applicants assigned eligible numerical ratings in accordance with § 21.5 shall have their names entered on either (1) the appropriate reemployment list or (2) the appropriate regular employment list. The names of all such applicants shall be entered on said lists in accordance with their ratings, except that the names of applicants entitled to five- or ten-point preference under the regulations in this part shall be entered on such lists in accordance with their respective augmented ratings, and the name of a preference applicant shall be entered ahead of all others having the same rating: Provided, That except on lists of applicants for professional and scientific positions for which the basic entrance salary is over $3,000 per annum, the names of applicants entitled to ten-point preference under the regulations in this part shall be placed at the top of the appropriate lists.

(b) Reemployment list. The reemployment list will consist of the names of former employees of the agency who are to be considered for future employment, and shall, in any case, include the following:

(1) The names of former employees of the agency entitled to preference under the regulations in this part who have been furloughed or separated without delinquency or misconduct and who apply for reemployment; and

(2) The names of any former employees of the agency entitled to preference under the regulations in this part who are found by the Commission, in accordance with § 21.10, to have been unjustifiably dismissed from the agency.

(c) Regular employment list. Eligible applicants assigned numerical ratings who are not entered on the agency reemployment list shall be entered on the regular employment list.

(d) Order of consideration. (1) The names of all applicants who are assigned eligible numerical ratings for a given position shall, except as provided below for professional and scientific positions for which the basic entrance salary is over $3,000 per annum, be considered either in Order A or in Order B, below:

Order A. (i) The names of qualified applicants entitled to ten-point preference under the regulations in this part whose names appear on the agency reemployment list, in the order of their numerical ratings.

(ii) The names of all other qualified applicants entitled to ten-point preference under the regulations in this part in the order of their numerical ratings.

(iii) The names of all other qualified applicants on the agency's reemployment lists in the order of their numerical ratings.

(iv) The names of all other qualified applicants in the order of their numerical ratings.

Order B. (i) The names of qualified applicants entitled to ten-point preference under the regulations in this part whose names appear on the agency reemployment list, in the order of their numerical ratings.

(ii) The names of all other qualified applicants on the agency's reemployment list, in the order of their numerical ratings.

(iii) The names of all other qualified applicants entitled to ten-point preference under the regulations in this part in the order of their numerical ratings.

(iv) The names of all other qualified applicants, in the order of their numerical ratings.

(2) The names of all applicants assigned numerical eligible ratings for professional and scientific positions for which the basic entrance salary is over $3,000 per annum shall be considered in the following order:

(i) The names of applicants on the agency's reemployment list, in the order of their numerical ratings.

(ii) The names of all other applicants, in the order of their numerical ratings.

§ 21.7 Selection and appointment—(a) Selection. In making appointments from employment lists the agency shall make selection for appointment to each vacancy from not more than the highest three names available for appointment in the order of their numerical ratings: provided, That the agency need not accord eligibles on the agency reemployment list the preferential consideration provided in that section for such eligibles if such list contains the names of less than three applicants entitled to preference under the regulations in this part: Provided further, That the agency need not consider any applicant who has previously been considered three times, nor any preference applicant who has been disqualified under the provisions of paragraph (b) of this section. The second and any additional vacancies shall be filled in like manner.

(b) Passing over a preference applicant. Whenever an agency in making a selection of a non-preference applicant in accordance with paragraph (a) of this section passes over the name of a preference applicant who, under § 21.6 (d), is entitled to prior consideration, it shall record its reasons for so doing. A copy of such reasons shall, upon request, be sent to the preference applicant or his designated representative.

When, in making appointments to a position, an agency has on three occasions passed over the name of a preference applicant and recorded its reasons for so doing, consideration of his name for such position may thereafter be discontinued.

§ 21.8 Reappointment—(a) Persons granted preference. A former civilian employee of the executive branch of the Federal government or the District of Columbia government who is entitled to preference under the regulations in this part may be reappointed to a position covered by the regulations in this part without regard to the names of qualified applicants on the agency reemployment list or regular employment list.

§ 21.9 Promotion; qualifications. In determining qualifications for promotion with respect to employees entitled to five- or ten-point preference under the regulations in this part, any requirements as to age, height, and weight shall be waived provided any such requirement is not essential to the performance of the duties of the position. After due consideration has been given to the recommendation of any accredited physician, the physical requirements shall be waived in the case of any such employee provided he is found physically able to discharge efficiently the duties of the position for which promotion is proposed.

§ 21.10 Removal, suspension, furlough, or demotion of preference employees. This section shall apply to permanent and indefinite employees entitled to five- or ten-point preference under the regulations in this part but shall not apply to (a) employees during their first year of current continuous Federal or District of Columbia service, or (b) employees appointed for periods specifically limited to one year or less.

Any employee subject to this section who is proposed for involuntary discharge, suspension for more than thirty days, furlough without pay, or reduction in rank or compensation, shall have at least thirty days advance written notice (except where there is reasonable cause to believe the employee to be guilty of a crime for which a sentence of imprisonment can be imposed), stating any and all reasons, specifically and in detail, for any such proposed action. Such employee shall be allowed a reasonable time for answering the same personally and in writing, and for furnishing affidavits in support of such answer, and shall have the right to appeal to the Civil Service Commission from an adverse decision of the administrative officer so acting. Such appeal shall be made in writing within a reasonable length of time after the date of receipt of notice of such adverse decision: Provided, That, such employee shall have the right to make a personal appearance, or an appearance through a designated representative, in accordance with rules and regulations of the Commission. After investigation and consideration of the evidence submitted, the Commission shall submit its findings and recommendations to the proper administrative officer and shall send copies of the same to the appellant or his designated representative: Provided further, That the Commission may declare any such employee who may have been dismissed or furloughed without pay to be eligible for entry of his name on the agency reemployment list established under § 21.6 (b).

§ 21.11 General provisions—(a) Exceptions. (1) No provisions of the regulations in this part shall apply to any position or appointment which by the Congress is required to be confirmed by, or made with, the advice and consent of the Senate.

(2) The provisions of the regulations in this part relating to examination and appointment shall not apply to (i) positions filled under the Civil Service rules or the War Service regulations in the same manner as competitive positions are filled; or (ii) reemployment in the agency of former employees in accordance with reemployment rights acquired by reason of service in the armed forces or the merchant marine, or by reason of transfer under Executive Order Nos. 8973, 9067, or 9243 (3 CFR Cum. Supp.), or Directive X of the War Manpower Commission (7 F. R. 7298, 11050; 9 F. R. 3534).

(b) Procedural modifications. In view of the circumstances and conditions surrounding employment in the following classes of positions the agency concerned will not be required to apply to such positions the apppointment procedures of the regulations in this part: Provided, That the principles of veteran preference shall be followed as far as administratively feasible and the reasons for his nonselection shall be furnished upon request to any qualified and available preference applicant:

(1) Positions filled by persons appointed without compensation or at a compensation of $1.00 per annum;

(2) Positions outside the continental limits of the United States and outside the Territories of Hawaii and Puerto Rico when filled by persons resident in the locality, and positions in the Territories of Hawaii and Puerto Rico when compensated in accordance with local prevailing native wage rates;

(3) Positions which the exigencies of the war program demand be filled immediately before lists of qualified applicants can be established or utilized: Provided, That appointments to such positions shall be temporary appointments not to exceed one year and may be renewed for one additional year at the discretion of the agency;

(4) Intermittent positions;

(5) Positions paid on a fee basis; and

(6) Such positions as are included in Schedule A (Part 6 of this chapter) and similar types of positions, whenever the Commission agrees with the agency that such position should be included hereunder.

(c) Special plans. Any department or agency having positions subject to the regulations in this part may submit to the Commission a system for making appointments which will result in granting to veterans the preference provided for in the Veterans' Preference Act of 1944 but which does not conform to all of the procedural requirements set forth in the regulations in this part: Provided, That such a system may not be put into effect until it has received the prior approval of the Commission.

AUTHORITY: §§ 22.1 to 22.11, inclusive, issued under secs. 11 and 14, 58 Stat. 387; 5 U. S. C., Sup. 860, 863.

§ 22.1 Applicability of regulations—(a) Coverage. The regulations in this part shall govern appeals to the Commission by permanent and indefinite preference eligible employees from adverse decisions of administrative officers of the Federal Government and the government of the District of Columbia, more specifically defined hereinafter.

(1) Employees covered. Employees affected are permanent and indefinite preference eligible employees who have completed a probationary or trial period in positions under the Civil Service Rules or War Service Regulations, or one year of current continuous employment in positions excepted from the competitive service, in the service of any establishment, agency, bureau, administration, project or department created by acts of Congress or Presidential order or in the service of the District of Columbia. The regulations in this part are not applicable to employees under the legislative or judicial branch of the Government, and employees who were appointed to any positions required to be confirmed by, or made with, the advice and consent of the United States Senate, other than postmasters in offices of the first, second and third classes.

(2) Preference eligible employees. The term "preference eligible employees" referred to in this section includes the following persons:

(i) Those ex-service men and women who have served on active duty in any branch of the armed forces of the United States and have been separated therefrom under honorable conditions and who have established the present existence of a service-connected disability or who are receiving compensation, disability retirement benefits, or pension by reason of public laws administered by the Veterans' Administration, the War Department or the Navy Department;

(ii) The wives of such service-connected disabled ex-servicemen as have themselves been unable to qualify for any civil service appointment;

(iii) The unmarried widows of deceased ex-servicemen who served on active duty in any branch of the armed forces of the United States during any war, or in any campaign or expedition (for which a campaign badge has been authorized), and who were separated therefrom under honorable conditions;

(iv) Those ex-service men and women who have served on active duty in any branch of the armed forces of the United States, during any war, or in any campaign or expedition (for which a campaign badge has been authorized), and have been separated therefrom under honorable conditions.

Separation under "honorable conditions" means separation from active duty in any branch of the armed forces by transfer to inactive status, transfer to retired status, acceptance of a resignation or the issuance of a discharge, if such separation was under honorable conditions.

(3) Adverse decisions which may be appealed. Appeals may be made from the decisions of administrative officers in cases of discharges, suspensions for more than thirty (30) days, furloughs without pay and reduction in rank or compensation for reasons other than reduction in force which are covered by reduction in force regulations.

(b) Appeals involving efficiency ratings. The regulations in this part are applicable in cases of adverse decisions based on efficiency ratings, but the Commission will not consider the correctness of any efficiency rating which is appealable to a Board of Review established under the provisions of section 9 of the Classification Act of 1923, as amended. The correctness of an efficiency rating which is not appealable to a Board of Review will not be considered unless the employee has made use of his agency's administrative appellate procedures, if provided by the agency, in any case where adverse action is proposed to be taken too soon to permit diligent use of administrative appellate procedures, it is impracticable to await the decision under the administrative appellate procedures, the employee was misinformed of his rights under such procedures, coercive measures were used to prevent recourse to such procedures, or the employee presents satisfactory reasons for not resorting to such procedures.

(c) Appeals not governed by the regulations in this part. The regulations in this part are not applicable to decisions of the Commission relative to applications, examinations, promotions, transfers, reinstatements, reappointments, classifications and other civil service proceedings, nor to actions of administrative officers which are taken under instructions from the Commission in cases in which the Commission has jurisdiction. Appeals in such cases will continue to be entertained by the Commission in accordance with its established administrative procedures.

(d) Notice in reduction in rank or compensation resulting from Commission's position allocation decisions. Preference eligible employees who are to be reduced in grade or rank as a result of the Commission's position allocation decisions shall be given at least thirty (30) days' advance written notice, stating any and all reasons, specifically and in detail, for such proposed action.

§ 22.2 Notification of proposed actions; charges and opportunity for answer—(a) Advance written notice of thirty days. No employee covered by the regulations in this part shall be discharged, suspended for more than thirty (30) days, furloughed without pay, reduced in rank or compensation, or debarred for future appointment except for such cause as will promote the efficiency of the service and for reasons given in writing, and the employee whose discharge, suspension for more than thirty (30) days, furlough without pay, or reduction in rank or compensation is sought shall have at least thirty (30) days advance written notice (except where there is reasonable cause to believe the employee to be guilty of a crime for which a sentence of imprisonment can be imposed), stating any and all reasons, specifically and in detail for any such proposed action.

(b) Reasonable time to answer. A reasonable time shall be allowed employees for answering personally and in writing, charges and notifications of proposed adverse actions, and for furnishing affidavits in support of such answers, and the reasonable time required shall depend on all the facts and circumstances of each case, and be sufficient in all cases to afford the employee ample opportunity to prepare answers and secure affidavits.

(c) Status of an employee during period of advance notice. The advance written notice which is required when a proposed adverse action is sought by an employing agency shall be submitted to the employee at least thirty (30) days before the effective date of such proposed action, and during such thirty (30) day period the employee shall continue in an active duty status; but in cases of furlough without pay due to unforeseeable circumstances such as sudden breakdowns in equipment, acts of God or emergencies requiring immediate curtailment of activities, advance notice shall not be necessary.

In exceptional cases where the circumstances are such that the retention of the employee in an active duty status during the thirty (30) day period may result in damage to Government property, would be otherwise detrimental to the interests of the Government, or would be injurious to the employee, his fellow workers or the general public, and the employee cannot during such period be temporarily assigned to duties in which these conditions would not exist, he shall be placed on annual leave, provided he has sufficient annual leave to his credit to cover the required period, and otherwise, suspended for such period or periods during the thirty (30) days as the circumstances warrant: Provided, That a certificate is filed by the administrative officer in the records of the employing agency setting forth the specific circumstances in such exceptional cases. The reasonableness of such exceptions, including suspensions, will be considered in connection with the entire case in the event that the employee subsequently appeals from the final adverse decision reached by the administrative officer.

(d) Notice and answer in efficiency rating cases. In cases where it is proposed to take adverse action against an employee on the basis of an efficiency rating, the employee shall be given the advance notice in writing of the proposed action at least thirty (30) days before the effective date, and said notice shall allow the employee a reasonable time for answer and to object to the proposed action and show cause why it should not be taken. This right of advance notification does not affect the right of the employee to appeal for a review of his efficiency rating to a Board of Review established under the provisions of section 9 of the Classification Act of 1923, as amended.

§ 22.3 Adverse decisions of administrative officers of agencies. Adverse decisions by administrative officers following notifications of proposed adverse actions, charges and answers of employees, shall be in writing, dated and submitted to the employee promptly after such decisions have been made. The employee should at the same time be advised of his right to appeal the decision to the Civil Service Commission. If delay in submitting an appeal to the Commission occurs because the employee has not been so advised this fact shall be considered good cause shown for failure to file the appeal within the prescribed period of thirty (30) days after receipt of notice of the adverse decision as provided in § 22.4, but shall not otherwise affect the adjudication of the appeal.

§ 22.4 Appeals to the Commission—(a) Right to appeal. After receipt by the employee of notice of an adverse decision such employee may, as a matter of right, appeal to the Commission immediately or within a reasonable time thereafter. The Commission will not entertain a request for consideration or review of any action under section 14 of the Veterans' Preference Act of 1944 prior to the receipt by the employee from the administrative officer of the adverse decision making effective the discharge, suspension for more than 30 days, furlough without pay, or reduction in rank or compensation.

(b) Time limit for filing appeals. (1) Thirty (30) days from the date of receipt of notice of an adverse decision shall be considered a reasonable time to prepare and submit an appeal under this regulation, but the Commission may, in its discretion, and where good cause is shown for failure to file the appeal within the prescribed period, consider appeals submitted after the expiration of thirty (30) days.

(2) Nothing in this section shall affect the right of an employee to appeal an adverse decision occurring between the time of the effective date of the Veterans' Preference Act of 1944 (June 27, 1944) and the date of the promulgation of the regulations in this part: Provided, That such an appeal is made to the Commission within six months after the effective date of the regulations in this part, unless good cause is shown for failure to file the appeal within the prescribed period.

§ 22.5 Form of appeal—(a) Contents. The appeal of the employee to the Commission shall be in writing and (1) shall set forth in detail all the facts and circumstances of the adverse decision; (2) shall be accompanied by copies of charges, answer, affidavits in support of answer, and notice of the adverse decision, and by such documentary evidence in support of the appeal as the employee may wish to submit; (3) shall state whether the employee desires to make a personal appearance or an appearance through or accompanied by a representative designated by him before a representative of the Commission; (4) shall be supported by acceptable evidence of entitlement to preference and (5) shall set forth detailed information regarding the employee's status, such as the date and nature of appointment and whether the employee has completed a probationary or trial period or one year of current continuous employment in the civil service of the Federal government or District of Columbia, and any other data bearing on whether the employee is within the purview of the regulations in this part.

§ 22.6 Where appeals shall be filed. Appeals from employees in the Departmental Service in Washington, D. C. and the metropolitan area shall be submitted to the Chief Law Officer, United States Civil Service Commission, Washington 25, D. C.; appeals from employees in the Field Service in Washington, D. C. and the metropolitan area shall be submitted to the Manager, Branch Regional Office, Fourth U. S. Civil Service Region, Washington 25, D. C., and appeals from employees outside of these areas shall be submitted to the Director of the appropriate Civil Service Region or Manager of any Branch Regional Office.

§ 22.7 Preliminary consideration of appeals in the Commission. When an appeal is received it will be examined for the purpose of determining whether or not it is within the scope of Public Law 359 and the regulations in this part. If the determination is that it is not, the employee will be so advised and informed as to the basis for such determination. Thereafter the employee or his designated representative may make request for reconsideration of this determination and may submit evidence and make representations in support of his request. The record will then be considered and the employee or his designated representative advised as to the decision reached. If it is found to be an appeal within the purview of Public Law 359 and the regulations in this part it will be docketed for investigation and adjudication and the employee or his designated representative and the employing agency will be so advised.

§ 22.8 Investigations—(a) When made. Investigations will be made as necessary, to develop all the facts and circumstances relative to the adverse decision and to obtain necessary copies of the official record, charges, answer, decision and the reasons therefor, and pertinent testimony of witnesses.

(b) Manner of taking testimony. Testimony of witnesses will be by affidavit, without any pledge of confidence, but where it is impracticable to obtain testimony under oath from a witness such statement will be obtained, without any pledge of confidence, from the witness as the circumstances will permit, and such weight will be given to the unsworn testimony as the record will warrant: Provided, however, That where the adverse action of the administrative officer with respect to the appellant was based on grounds raising a question of the appellant's loyalty to the Government of the United States, testimony and evidence will be obtained under a pledge of confidence and the source of the information secured will not be divulged.

(c) Information obtained discussed with agency and with employee. The evidence submitted by the employee in connection with his appeal will be discussed by the investigator of the Commission with the administrative officer who made the decision and other proper officials of the employing agency concerned, and such officials shall be requested to state their side of the case. Similarly, the employee should be informed of the information furnished by the officials of the agency and given the opportunity to insert his side of the case into the record of investigation: Provided, however, That in cases where the adverse action of the administrative officer with respect to the appellant was based on grounds raising a question of the appellant's loyalty to the Government of the United States, only such information should be furnished either party as will be consistent with the pledge of confidence attached to testimony and evidence in such cases.

§ 22.9 Hearings—(a) Right to appear personally or by representative. The appellant shall have the right to appear personally or through or accompanied by a designated representative in connection with his appeal and if an appellant has expressed the desire for such a personal appearance arrangements will be made for a hearing at a stage of the proceedings agreed upon between the appellant and the regional office or the office of the Chief Law Officer, as the case may be.

(b) Notice of hearings and where scheduled. The hearing will be scheduled at Washington, D. C., or at any regional office or branch regional office and notifications thereof transmitted to the appellant or his designated representative and to the employing agency, advising the latter that it may participate, and informing both parties of a right to produce evidence and witnesses.

(c) How conducted. Hearings will be conducted by a representative of the Commission in an informal manner with an opportunity afforded for the introduction of evidence, including testimony and statements by the appellant and his designated representative and witnesses and representatives of the employing agency and witnesses, and for the cross-examination of witnesses: Provided, however, That where the adverse action of the administrative officers with respect to the appellant was based on grounds raising a question of the appellant's loyalty to the Government of the United States, the appellant will be accorded such hearing as will be consistent with the pledge of confidence attached to testimony and evidence in such cases.

(d) Admission of evidence. Rules of evidence will not be strictly applied during hearings, but the Commission representative in charge of the hearing shall use reasonable discretion to exclude irrelevant testimony.

(e) Testimony taken under oath; record of hearing; not open to public. The testimony at hearings shall be under oath. The Chief Law Officer or the Regional Director may direct that the hearing be recorded stenographically by a reporter employed by the Commission. The reporter's transcript shall be a part of the record of the proceeding. Reporters not employed by the Commission shall not be permitted to make transcripts of the proceedings. In cases where the hearing is not recorded stenographically, the hearing examiner will make suitable notes of the relevant portions of the testimony. At the conclusion of the hearing, these notes shall be summarized and when agreed to in writing by all parties concerned, the summary shall constitute the report of the hearing. If the examiner and the parties cannot agree on the summary, the parties shall be permitted to submit, in writing, exceptions to any part of the summary that they question, and such exceptions shall be considered in connection with the making of the finding and recommendation. Hearings shall not be open to the general public or the press. Attendance shall be limited to persons having a direct connection with the appeal.

(f) Appearance of witnesses. The Commission does not have the power of subpoena and appellants and their designated representatives, and employing agencies, will be required to make their own arrangements for the appearance of witnesses.

(g) Transcripts of hearing. Copies of transcripts of hearing will not be furnished.

§ 22.10 Decision in the Commission—(a) By whom made; contents. The decision on the appeal shall be made by the Chief Law Officer or the regional office, as appropriate, in a formal finding, consisting of an analysis of the evidence, the reasons for the conclusions reached and a recommendation for action to be taken by the employing agency concerned: Provided, however, That where the adverse action of the administrative officer with respect to the appellant was based on grounds raising a question of the appellant's loyalty to the Government of the United States, the case will, after investigation and hearing, be referred to the Loyalty Rating Board of the Commission in Washington, D. C., for consideration and recommendation to the Commissioners for their decision. The contents of the formal finding on such loyalty aspects in cases under section 14 will not contain information which will be inconsistent with the pledge of confidence attached to testimony and evidence in such cases.

(b) Copy of decision furnished appellant and agency; appeal to Commissioners. Copies of the analysis, conclusions and recommendation shall be furnished to the employing agency and to the appellant or his designated representative, and both parties shall be notified of the right of a further appeal to the Commissioners of the U. S. Civil Service Commission, Washington 25, D. C.

(c) Report by agencies to Commission of action taken or proposed to be taken on finding favorable to employee. When the finding and recommendation is that the employee be restored to his position, or is otherwise favorable to the employee, the employing agency will, at the time the finding and recommendation is transmitted to it, be requested to report to the Chief Law Officer, the regional office or the Loyalty Rating Board, as the case may be, within seven (7) days of the receipt of such finding and recommendation, regarding the action taken or proposed to be taken by the employing agency.

§ 22.11 Further appeals to the Commission—(a) Time limit for filing. An appeal may be made by the employee from a decision of the Chief Law Officer or Regional Office (and of the Commissioners in loyalty cases) to the Commissioners, the United States Civil Service Commission, within thirty (30) days of the date of receipt of notification of the decision. An appeal may be made to the Commissioners by the employing agency within seven (7) days of the date of receipt of such notification.

(b) Referred to Board of Appeals and Review. Appeals under this regulation shall be referred to the Board of Appeals and Review of the Commission in Washington, D. C., for appropriate action and recommendation to the Commissioners.

(c) Hearing before Board of Appeals and Review. The Board of Appeals and Review shall review the record and in its discretion grant hearings with an opportunity for the production of evidence and cross-examination of witnesses.

(d) Final appeal is to the Commissioners. Decisions on appeals to the Commissioners will be transmitted to the appellant or his designated representative and the employing agency concerned with notifications to both parties that no further appeals will be entertained as to the particular case unless new and material evidence is submitted.

(e) Further appeals. The Commissioners may in their discretion, when in their judgment such action appears warranted by the circumstances, entertain a further appeal at the request of the appellant or his designated representative or of the employing agency, and may grant a hearing before them. In connection with such reopened appeal both parties to the proceeding shall be accorded opportunity to make written representations and to participate in any hearing which may be held.

§ 23.1 The Commission—(a) Offices. The principal office of the Commission is at Washington, D. C.

All communications to the Commission must be addressed to United States Civil Service Commission, Washington 25, D. C., Attention, Chief Law Officer, unless otherwise specifically directed.

(b) Hours. The office is open on each business day from 8:45 a. m. to 5:15 p. m.

(c) Proceedings. The Commission may, by one or more of its members or by such examiners as it may designate, conduct any inquiry or hearing necessary to its duties in any part of the United States.

§ 23.2 Executive officer. The Executive Director and Chief Examiner is the executive officer of the Commission, and has legal custody of its papers, records, and property; and all orders of the Commission shall be signed by the Executive Director and Chief Examiner, or such other person as may be authorized by the Commission.

§ 23.3 Service. Letters of charges, orders, and other processes of the Commission shall be served by the Chief Law Officer of the Commission by registered mail, by registering and mailing a copy thereof addressed to the officer or employee charged with the violation and to the State or local agency employing such person.

When service is not accomplished by registered mail, letters of charges, orders, or other processes of the Commission may be served by anyone duly authorized by the Commission, or by an examiner of the Commission.

(a) By delivering a copy of the document to the person to be served, and/or to an officer of the State or local agency; or

(b) By leaving a copy thereof at the principal office or place of business of such person and/or State or local agency.

The return post-office receipt for said letter of charges, order, or other process registered and mailed as aforesaid, or the verified return by the person serving such letter of charges, order, or other process setting forth the manner of said service, shall be proof of the service of the document.

§ 23.4 Appearance. Any individual who is a party to any proceedings before the Commission may appear for himself or by an attorney at law possessing the requisite qualifications, as hereinafter set forth, to practice before the Commission. Any State or local agency may appear or be represented by an attorney at law possessing the requisite qualifications, as hereinafter set forth, to practice before the Commission.

Attorneys at law in good standing who are admitted to practice before the Federal courts or before the courts of any State or Territory of the United States may practice before the Commission.

A written application for admission to practice before the Commission is required. A written notice of appearance on behalf of a specific party or parties in the particular proceeding shall be submitted by attorneys desiring to appear for such specific party or parties. Upon receipt of such notice, application forms for admission to practice before the Commission will be furnished. Any attorney, practicing before the Commission or desiring so to practice, who, in the judgment of the Commission does not possess the requisite qualifications to represent others, or who is lacking in character, integrity, or proper professional conduct, may be disbarred or suspended from practicing before the Commission; and the Commission or its examiners shall have the right to suspend immediately any attorney for contumacy, contempt, or misconduct during the course of any proceeding.

No former officer, examiner, attorney, clerk, or other former employee of this Commission shall appear as attorney or counsel for or represent any party in any proceeding resulting from any investigation, the files of which came to the personal attention of such former officer, examiner, attorney, clerk, or other former employee during the term of his service or employment with the Commission.

§ 23.5 Documents. Documents required to be filed with the Commission in any proceeding shall be filed with the Chief Law Officer of the Commission.

(a) Title. Documents shall clearly show the docket number and title of the proceeding.

(b) Copies. Five copies of documents other than correspondence shall be filed except as otherwise specifically required by these rules.

(c) Form. It is requested that documents not printed be typewritten on one side of paper only, letter or legal size, double or triple spaced, with ample margin.

The originals of all documents, whether printed or typewritten, shall be signed in ink by the duly authorized attorney, or if an interested party is appearing without counsel, by the interested party.

§ 23.6 Letter of charges. When the Commission has reason to believe that there is a violation of the law over which the Commission has jurisdiction, the Commission shall, by registered mail, send to the officer or employee charged with the violation and to the State or local agency employing such officer or employee a notice setting forth a summary of the alleged violation, which instrument shall be known as a letter of charges.

§ 23.7 Answers. In the case of a desire to contest the proceedings, the respondent or respondents shall, within fifteen (15) days from the day the letter of charges is served, file with the Commission an answer to the letter of charges; or within thirty (30) days if the officer or employee and/or the local agency is in a Territory or possession of the United States of America.

Such answers shall contain a concise statement of the facts which constitute the ground of defense. The respondent shall specifically admit or deny or explain each of the facts alleged in the letter of charges, unless respondent is without knowledge, in which case respondent shall so state. Five (5) copies of answers shall be furnished the Commission at the time of filing the original answer. All answers and copies thereof shall be signed by the respondent or by his attorney at law and shall show the office and post-office address of the signer.

Failure of the respondent to file an answer and the copies thereof within the time above provided shall be deemed to authorize the Commission, without further notice to respondent, to proceed in the regular course on the charges set forth in the letter of charges. If respondent desires to waive hearing on the allegations of fact set forth in the letter of charges and not to contest the facts, the answer may consist of a statement that respondent admits all the material allegations of fact charged in the letter of charges to be true. Respondent by such answer shall be deemed to have waived a hearing on the allegations of fact set forth in said letter of charges and to have authorized the Commission, without further evidence or other intervening procedure, to find such facts to be true, and, if in the judgment of the Commission, such facts admitted constitute a violation of the law as charged in the letter of charges, to make and serve findings of facts, and to thereupon make an order, if the violation so warrants, for the removal of the officer or employee, and to notify such officer or employee and the appropriate State or local agency of such determination.

Upon application in writing made contemporaneously with the filing of such answer, the respondent, in the discretion of the Commission, may be heard on brief or in oral argument, or both, solely on the question as to whether the facts so admitted constitute the violation or violations of the law charged in the letter of charges.

§ 23.8 Notice of hearing. After the filing of answer or other appropriate response, the Commission shall fix a time and place for a hearing and shall, by registered mail, send to the officer or employee charged with the violation and to the State or local agency employing such officer or employee a notice of the time and place of hearing.

§ 23.9 Motions. Motions before the Commission or the hearing examiner shall state briefly the purpose thereof, and all supporting affidavits, records, and other papers, except such as have been previously filed, shall be filed with the motions and clearly referred to therein.

Motions in any proceeding before a hearing examiner which relate to the introduction or striking of evidence shall be made to the hearing examiner and shall be ruled on by the hearing examiner. No exception is necessary to the ruling of the hearing examiner to preserve the objection before the Commission or appellate courts.

§ 23.10 Continuances and extensions of time. Except as otherwise expressly provided by law, the Commission or its examiners, for cause shown, may extend any time limits prescribed for filing any papers, except time for filing appeal, which is fixed by statute, and may continue or adjourn any hearing. A hearing before a hearing examiner shall begin at the time and place ordered by the Commission, but thereafter may be adjourned from time to time by the hearing examiner or the Commission.

Applications for continuances and extensions of time shall be made prior to the expiration of the time prescribed by these rules, and must be accompanied by an affidavit showing exceptional circumstances.

§ 23.11 Hearings of complaints. All hearings before the Commission or hearing examiners on letters of charges issued by the Commission shall be public unless otherwise ordered by the Commission.

Hearings shall be stenographically reported by the official reporter of the Commission and a transcript thereof shall be made which shall be a part of the record of the proceeding. The record made shall be the sole official record. Transcripts will be supplied to a respondent or respondents (or to the public) by the official reporter at rates not to exceed the maximum rates fixed by contract between the Commission and the reporter.

§ 23.12 Hearing examiners. When evidence is to be taken in a proceeding upon a letter of charges issued by the Commission, a hearing examiner may be designated for that purpose by the Commission.

It shall be the duty of the hearing examiner to complete the taking of evidence with all due dispatch.

The hearing examiner is charged with the duty of conducting a fair and impartial hearing and of maintaining order in form and manner consistent with the dignity of the Commission. He will note on the record any disregard by counsel for his rulings on matters of order and procedure, and where he deems it necessary shall make special written report thereof to the Commission. In the event that counsel for the Commission or counsel for any respondent shall be guilty of disrespectful, disorderly, or contumacious language or conduct in connection with any proceeding, the hearing examiner may suspend the proceeding and submit to the Commission his report thereon together with his recommendation as to whether any rule should be issued to show cause why any such counsel should not be suspended or disbarred pursuant to § 23.4 or other appropriate action as provided under section 12, subsection (d) of the Hatch Political Activity Act. A copy of such hearing examiner's report shall be furnished to any counsel upon whose language or conduct such report is made, and the Commission will take disciplinary action after an opportunity for hearing has been accorded such counsel.

§ 23.13 Subpenas. Subpenas requiring the attendance of witnesses from any place in the United States at any designated place of hearing may be issued by the Commission or any member thereof. Application therefor must be made in writing either to the Chief Law Officer or to the presiding hearing examiner.

Subpenas for the production of documentary evidence will be issued only upon application in writing to the Commission or the presiding hearing examiner. The application must specify as exactly as possible the documents desired, and show their competency, relevancy, and materiality. An application by a respondent shall be verified by oath or affirmation.

In case of disobedience to a subpena, the Commission may invoke the aid of any court of the United States in requiring the attendance and testimony of witnesses and the production of documentary evidence. Any of the district courts of the United States within the jurisdiction of which such inquiry is carried on may, in case of contumacy or refusal to obey a subpena issued to any person, issue an order requiring such person to appear before the Commission, or to produce documentary evidence if so ordered, or to give evidence touching the matter in question; and any failure to obey such order of the court may be punished by such court as a contempt thereof (sec. 12 (d) of the act of August 2, 1939, as amended).

§ 23.14 Witnesses. Witnesses shall be examined orally, except that for good and exceptional cause for departing from the general rule the Commission may permit their testimony to be taken by a deposition.

Witnesses summoned by the Commission shall be paid the same fees and mileage as are paid witnesses in the courts of the United States. Witnesses whose depositions are taken for the Commission, and the persons taking such depositions, shall severally be entitled to the same fees as are paid for like service in the courts of the United States.

§ 23.15 Evidence—(a) Documentary. Where relevant and material matters offered in evidence are embraced in a document containing other matters not material or relevant and not intended to be put in evidence, such immaterial or irrelevant parts shall be excluded and shall be segregated insofar as practicable.

(b) Objections. Objections to the evidence before a commissioner or a hearing examiner shall be in short form, stating the grounds of objection relied upon, and the transcript shall not include argument or debate thereon, except as ordered by the Commission or hearing examiner. Rulings on such objections shall be a part of the transcript. No exception to the ruling is necessary to preserve the rights of the parties in an appeal to the Commission or in the appellate court.

§ 23.16 Depositions. The Commission may order evidence to be taken by deposition in any proceeding or investigation pending before the Commission at any stage of such proceeding or investigation. Such depositions may be taken before any person designated by the Commission and having the power to administer oaths or affirmations.

Unless notice be waived, no deposition shall be taken except after reasonable notice to the parties.

Any party desiring to take the deposition of a witness shall make application in writing, setting out the reasons why such deposition should be taken and stating the time when, the place where, and the name and post-office address of the person before whom it is desired the deposition be taken; the name and post-office address of the witness, and the subject matter or matters concerning which the witness is expected to testify.

If good cause be shown, the Commission will make and serve upon the parties or their attorneys an order wherein the Commission shall name the witness whose deposition is to be taken and specify the time when, the place where, and the person before whom the witness is to testify, but such time and place and the person before whom the deposition is to be taken so specified in the Commission's order may or may not be the same as those named in said application to the Commission.

The testimony of the witness shall be reduced to writing by the officer before whom the deposition is taken or under his direction, after which the deposition shall be subscribed by the witness and certified in the usual form by the officer. After the deposition has been so certified, it shall, together with four additional copies thereof made by such officer or under his direction, be forwarded by such officer under seal, in an envelope addressed to the Commission at its office, Washington 25, D. C. Such deposition, unless otherwise ordered by the Commission for good cause shown, shall be filed in the record in said proceeding and a copy thereof supplied to the party upon whose application said deposition was taken or his attorney.

Depositions shall be typewritten on one side of paper only; letter or legal size; left margin 1½ inches; right margin 1 inch.

§ 23.17 Admissions of fact and genuineness of documents. At any time after answer has been filed the hearing attorney for the Commission may serve upon any respondent, or counsel for a respondent may serve upon the Commission's hearing attorney, a written request for admission of the genuineness of any relevant documents described in and exhibited with the request or of the truth of any relevant matters of fact set forth in such documents. Copies of documents shall be delivered with the request unless copies have already been furnished. Each of the matters on which an admission is so requested shall be deemed admitted, unless within a period designated within the request, not less than ten (10) days after service thereof, or within such further time as the Commission or the hearing examiner may allow on motion and notice, the party so served serves upon the party making the request a sworn statement either denying specifically the matters of which an admission is requested or setting forth in detail the reasons why he can neither truthfully admit nor deny those matters.

Service required hereunder may be made upon a respondent either by registering and mailing or by delivering a copy of the documents to be served to the respondent or his attorney or by leaving a copy at the principal office or place of business of either. Service upon the Commission's hearing attorney may be either by registering and mailing or delivering a copy of the documents to be served to such attorney.

§ 23.18 Hearing examiner's preliminary report. Except as stated in the next paragraph, the hearing examiner shall, as promptly as practicable after the receipt by him of the complete stenographic transcript of all testimony in a proceeding, make his preliminary report upon the evidence. He shall also transmit copies of this report to attorneys who appeared in the proceeding, and individually to any respondent unrepresented by counsel.

A hearing examiner's report is not a report of finding of the Commission. The preliminary report, like the final report hereinafter mentioned, is advisory only and is not binding upon the Commission.

§ 23.19 Briefs. At the conclusion of a hearing, the examiner shall prescribe the time and other directions for filing of briefs on behalf of parties to the hearing, if any party desires to submit a brief. The time within which initial briefs are to be filed, shall be calculated from the date of service upon the parties of copies of the examiner's preliminary report: Provided, That for good cause stated at the conclusion of the hearing, the examiner may eliminate the filing and service of a preliminary report: Provided further, That any interested party may apply in writing to the Commission for modification of any of the examiner's rulings concerning reports and briefs. Five copies of briefs shall be filed.

§ 23.20 Hearing examiner's final report. After expiration of the time for filing briefs, the hearing examiner, as promptly as practicable, shall re-examine the record, including the briefs, and shall make a final report to the Commission. If, in any instance, the recommendations of the final report shall so vary from the tentative recommendations of the preliminary report, that the Commission deems that notice and further opportunity to be heard should be given to the parties, it will so order and provide.

§ 23.21 The decision. Upon receipt of the hearing examiner's final report, the Commission shall review the report and shall make its own findings and determine whether any violation has occurred and whether such violation, if any, warrants the removal of the officer or employee by whom it was committed from his office or employment, and shall, by registered mail, notify such officer or employee and the appropriate State or local agency of such determination. The Commission may, if the circumstances warrant, refer the case back to the hearing examiner for the purpose of obtaining additional evidence.

§ 23.22 Appeal. Appeal procedure is prescribed in section 12 (c) of the act of August 2, 1939, as amended by the act of July 19, 1940. This subsection is as follows:

(c) Any party aggrieved by any determination or order of the Commission under subsection (b) may, within thirty days after the mailing of notice of such determination or order, institute proceedings for the review thereof by filing a written petition in the district court of the United States for the district in which such officer or employee resides; but the commencement of such proceedings shall not operate as a stay of such determination or order unless (1) it is specifically so ordered by the court, and (2) such officer or employee is suspended from his office or employment during the pendency of such proceedings. A copy of such petition shall forthwith be served upon the Commission, and thereupon the Commission shall certify and file in the court a transcript of the record upon which the determination or the order complained of was made. The review by the court shall be on the record entire, including all of the evidence taken on the hearing, and shall extend to questions of fact and questions of law. If application is made to the court for leave to adduce additional evidence, and it is shown to the satisfaction of the court that such additional evidence may materially affect the result of the proceedings and that there were reasonable grounds for failure to adduce such evidence in the hearing before the Commission, the court may direct such additional evidence to be taken before the Commission in such manner and upon such terms and conditions as to the court may seem proper. The Commission may modify its findings of fact or its determination or order by reason of the additional evidence so taken and shall file with the court such modified findings, determination, or order, and any such modified findings of fact, if supported by substantial evidence, shall be conclusive. The court shall affirm the Commission's determination or order, or its modified determination or order, if the court determines that the same is in accordance with law. If the court determines that any such determination or order, or modified determination or order, is not in accordance with law, the court shall remand the proceeding to the Commission with directions either to make such determination or order as the court shall determine to be in accordance with law or to take such further proceedings as, in the opinion of the court, the law requires. The judgment and decree of the court shall be final, subject to review by the appropriate circuit court of appeals as in other cases, and the judgment and decree of such circuit court of appeals shall be final, subject to review by the Supreme Court of the United States on certiorari or certification as provided in sections 239 and 240 of the Judicial Code, as amended (U. S. C. 1934 edition, title 28, secs. 346 and 347). If any provision of this subsection is held to be invalid as applied to any party with respect to any determination or order of the Commission, such determination or order shall thereupon become final and effective as to such party in the same manner as if such provision had not been enacted.

§ 24.1 Medical officer; all grades—(a) Duties. With responsibilities proportionate to the grade, appointees perform professional duties as doctors of medicine in hospitals, in dispensaries or in the field. As examples of the work performed: Conduct physical examinations, give anesthetics, perform minor surgical operations, assist in major operations, change dressings, supervise care of patients, and diagnose and treat diseases; including the administration of parenteral medication, administer first aid, give first aid instructions, supervise a ward or other hospital or dispensary clinic, serve as Officer of the Day in hospitals, determine whether government employees have tuberculosis or other disease in a communicable form.

(b) Knowledge and training requisite for performance of duties. A thorough understanding of the human body, its anatomy, its physiology, and its reactions to drugs; a thorough understanding of the symptoms of disease, the causes of disease and the treatment; a thorough understanding of the principles and procedures in the practice of all branches of medicine are necessary.

(c) Method of obtaining basic knowledge and training. It is a well-recognized fact that persons desiring to become physicians or doctors of medicine must obtain their education in a medical school of approved standing. There are no other sources in which knowledge necessary to provide for the health and welfare of the individual can be obtained.

§ 24.2 Dentist; all grades—(a) Duties. Appointees perform dental operations either under supervision or independently according to assignment. As examples of the work performed: In a large hospital or in a dental clinic make an examination of the oral cavity and independently or in consultation with dental specialists in the higher grades in the more unusual cases, make diagnoses of gums or pathological conditions and give treatment or perform dental operations as required; take, develop, and interpret X-ray films, make dental examinations, aid in medical diagnoses, and instruct, advise and assign dental interns, dental assistants, mechanics or others; make dental reports, requisition equipment, medicine and supplies, and act especially on the dental disabilities for compensation purposes or make dental ratings and authorize treatment.

(b) Knowledge and training requisite for performance of duties. Applicants must have an understanding of the anatomy and physiology of the mouth and the relation of mouth conditions to the rest of the body; the types of diseases affecting the mouth, gums and teeth; and the cure of such diseases. They must understand thoroughly safe and approved methods for treating teeth and gums and for removing damaged or diseased teeth. They must know all the proper methods for filling of teeth, making of crowns, inlays, and all other related repairs on teeth. They must be able to repair mouth fractures and dental damages resulting from accident or wounds incurred in war.

(c) Method of obtaining basic knowledge and training. The knowledge required for the performance of the duties described in paragraph (b) of this section can be obtained only by attending and completing a full four-year course in a dental school of recognized standing.

§ 24.3 Veterinarian; all grades—(a) Duties. The duties of this position include ante-mortem and post-mortem inspection of food animals and inspection of food products; administration of tests for disease, control and eradication of disease, sanitary inspection of establishments and plants. Appointees inspect dairies, make milk sanitation surveys, and advise state and local health departments on proper methods of milk sanitation for the United States Public Health Service. As examples of the work performed: Makes primary ante-mortem and post-mortem inspection of meat producing animals; detect diseases and/or other abnormal conditions; assist in enforcing sanitary requirements in meat-preparing establishments by making preliminary examinations or diagnoses and supervise the handling and preparation of meat and its products. Make preliminary inspection of cattle, sheep, swine, and other livestock in stockyards, and in the field for contagious, infectious and communicable diseases. Assist in the testing of cattle and other animals for tuberculosis, and the mallein testing of horses for glanders. Draw samples of blood from horses and other animals and prepare such material for shipment to a laboratory for serological and other examinations. Supervise the dipping of cattle and sheep in officially permitted solutions and the immunization of swine and other animals to prevent and control communicable diseases; make tests of dipping solutions to maintain them in a proper strength. Assist in the inspection of animals used in licensed biological establishments and in supervising the production of anti-hog cholera virus and serum for carrying out preliminary inspection, making preliminary diagnoses, and conducting the technique upon the results of which the decision of a superior is based. Organize and conduct animal disease control and eradication in small areas, such as one or more counties of a State, involving cooperative tuberculosis testing, tick or scabies eradication, or hog cholera control. Make scientific investigation of internal parasites of domesticated or wild animals; prescribe medical treatment of affected animals and determine the value of treatment and prophylactic methods.

(b) Knowledge and training requisite for performance of duties. The field of veterinary medicine and surgery is as complicated as that of human medicine and surgery and requires as intensive an education including intensive clinical experience. Veterinarians must have a full and complete knowledge of the anatomy, physiology, biochemistry, and functioning of the animal body. They must know all the various types of approved medicines and the effects on the animal body. They must be capable of recognizing animal disease and of correcting such disease.

(c) Method of obtaining basic knowledge and training. The knowledge required for the performance of the duties described in paragraph (a) of this section can be obtained only by attending and completing a full four-year course in an approved school of veterinary medicine. There are no other sources from which an individual may obtain this basic knowledge and training.

§ 24.4 Consultant in education, all grades—(a) Duties. The duties of educational consultants or specialists consist of advising school administrators, supervisors, boards of education, or other official school or community groups concerning technical phases of educational programs; providing assistance in planning curriculum content and methods of teaching; and advising local officials in the application of approved educational methods to their individual school and to their community problems.

(b) Knowledge and training requisite for performance of duties. Thorough knowledge of one or more specialized fields of vocational, general, or cultural subjects; comprehensive grasp of the written material and instructional methods related to the specialized fields; ability to impart this knowledge both formally and informally; and an understanding of the relationship of special fields of knowledge to the needs of the school or the community as a whole.

In addition, experience in research, teaching, or administration of educational programs is required for most positions; the length, scope, nature, and quality of the experience varies with the grade of the position involved.

(c) Method of obtaining basic knowledge and training. The method by which the basic knowledge and training can be acquired is by successfully completing, in a college or university of recognized standing, a full, four-year course leading to a bachelor's degree, and, in adddition, specialized study and training in the principles and methods of education. By such training the student learns under competent instructors, is guided in his reading and in his evaluation of materials read. He has access to well-stocked scientific libraries and to well-equipped laboratories; he is given an opportunity to observe various materials and methods of instruction in operation, and, in a controlled and supervised setting, can experiment for himself under professional guidance. The literature in the field of education and related fields is so voluminous that an individual cannot master it on his own initiative or by random study. Without this basic college training an individual cannot recognize significant social data or draw valid conclusions.

The duties of an educational consultant require more than usual knowledge in the educational and subject-matter fields, as well as leadership ability.

§ 24.5 Student nurse, St. Elizabeths Hospital—(a) Duties. The student attends classes which include theoretical study in the following subjects: Anatomy, physiology, microbiology, chemistry, psychology, sociology, social problems in nursing, introduction to medical sciences, pharmacology and therapeutics nutrition, foods, cookery, diet therapy, medical and surgical nursing, obstetrical nursing, nursing of children, psychiatric nursing. Classes are attended at which demonstration in the nursing care of patients for various types of diseases and conditions are given by nurse instructors. The students practice and return the demonstration to the instructors before being permitted to carry out any procedures on patients. Students then carry out the less complicated procedure on a specially assigned patient under close supervision of war instructors. As students gain more skill in carrying out nursing procedures and techniques they are then given more advanced nursing procedures in which they assume more responsibility in the nursing care of patients.

(b) Knowledge and training requisite for performance of duties. The student nurse is considered as a student in the same manner as a student who is learning to be a teacher, dentist, physician, or preparing for any other profession. The course requires three years and consists of a probationary term of six months, a freshman term of six months, a junior term of twelve months, and a senior term of twelve months. Completion of four years of high school, or its equivalent, with the subjects stated in paragraph (c) of this section is the minimum education necessary for a student entering a basic course in nursing.

The requirements of applicants for enrollment in the school of nursing at St. Elizabeths Hospital are necessary to meet the standards set by the District of Columbia Board of Nurse Examiners. Boards of Nurse Examiners are established by law and govern the standards for admission to accredited schools of nursing. If a school of nursing does not meet the standards, it loses accreditation. Nurses graduating from such schools are not eligible for registration as Graduate Professional Nurses, and would not be eligible to practice as such in the District of Columbia or in the States. In order to maintain its accredited standing, the exact requirements specified by the Board of Nurse Examiners for schools of nursing in the District of Columbia are necessary for entrancee as Student Nurse.

(c) Method of obtaining basic knowledge and training. To meet the standards set by the District of Columbia Board of Nurse Examiners, the Commission has determined that applicants must have been graduated from an accredited high school giving a four-year course. They must have completed at least 16 units of study, including: 4 units of English; 2 units of high-school mathematics; 2 units of science; preferably including general science, and a second science such as some form of chemistry or physics (home economics units do not constitute acceptable science units); and 2 units of social studies (1 unit must be United States history, except that one-half unit of civics may be substituted for one-half unit of United States history). (1 unit of study means one 36- to 40-week school year of study, five 40- to 60-minute class periods a week.)

§ 24.6 Graduate nurse, general staff duty or psychiatric duty—(a) Duties. Under supervision of the head nurse to perform general nursing duty or psychiatric nursing duty in the wards of hospitals which include the following: Administering or assisting in administering treatments and medications as prescribed by the medical staff; bathing critically ill patients, taking temperature, pulse, and respiration of patients, feeding patients, if necessary; supervising and instructing non-professional staff who give any type of nursing care to patients; charting and recording care and treatments given patients; performing duties requiring special training and experience; performing related duties as assigned which are of a professional nursing nature.

(b) Knowledge and training requisite for performance of duties. To qualify for Graduate Nurse the Commission has determined an applicant must have the following minimum requirements:

(1) Graduation from a recognized school of nursing requiring a residence of at least two years in a hospital having a daily average of 50 bed patients or more; or where the course includes not less than six months' resident affiliation with a general hospital having a daily average of not less than 75 bed patients, or where the graduate has successfully completed a resident postgraduate course of not less than six months' duration in general nursing in a hospital having a daily average of not less than 50 bed patients.

(2) Registration as Graduate Nurse in a State or Territory of the United States, or the District of Columbia.

(c) Method of obtaining basic knowledge and training. Graduate Nurses are to be employed in hospitals operated by the Army, Navy, Veterans' Administration, U. S. Public Health Service and the Indian Service, and to a very large extent, the patients will be ex-servicemen and women in need of the best of medical care. The medical directors of the various Federal agencies have confirmed the requirements stated in paragraph (b) of this section as being the minimum training for the effective performance of the duties of the nursing positions.

§ 24.7 Graduate Nurse (Trainee)—(a) Duties. Graduate nurses appointed to these positions will receive a period of special supervised training ordinarily of 6 months' duration in hospitals operated by Federal agencies, following which, if they prove satisfactory, they may be promoted to the position of Graduate Nurse (General Staff Duty or Psychiatric Duty).

(b) Knowledge and training requisite for performance of duties. To qualify for Graduate Nurse (Trainee), the Commission has determined an applicant must have the following minimum qualifications:

(1) Graduation from a full course in a recognized school of nursing requiring a residence of at least two years.

(2) Registration as Graduate Nurse in a State or Territory of the United States, or the District of Columbia.

(c) Method of obtaining basic knowledge and training. The Graduate Nurse (Trainee) position is established in order to utilize services of Graduate Nurses who have not had training in a hospital having a daily average of 50 bed patients. The medical directors of the various Federal agencies have confirmed the requirements contained in paragraph (b) of this section as being the minimum training necessary for the effective performance of the duties of Graduate Nurse (Trainee).

§ 24.8 Agronomist (field operations), P–1, Soil Conservation Service—(a) Duties. The duties of an agronomist are, under supervision, to maintain and make preliminary interpretation of technical records of grass and legumes under scientific tests, including their climatic resistance, disease susceptibility, augmentation, germination and purity, and their response to environmental conditions of soil conservation culture; to plan crop rotations in accordance with proper land capabilities; to develop tentative pasture management plans in accordance with proper land capabilities, rotation with other crops, with the type and amount of livestock, with available irrigation facilities, and with any accessory pasture; to make chemical analyses tests of soils to determine their calcium and magnesium requirements for the production of any specific crop and to assist in developing a liming and/or fertilization program for the various crops and pastures produced; to take proper soil samples or to teach others the proper techniques of soil sampling for chemical determinations for nitrogen, phosphorus, potash and minor elements; to develop a strip cropping pattern for crop production in accordance with land capabilities, crops produced, and surface relief; to assist in developing a contour system of crop production designed in accordance with all other practices in soil and water conservation; to assist in developing a soil management system for commercial fruit production that will be in harmony with technical water disposal systems needed for the site, with biological, organic and inorganic components of the soil; to design and supervise the installation of proper vegetative engineering work in support of structural engineering installation; to aid in the development of land use capability tables and charts for his immediate area; and to supervise the technical phases of harvesting grass and legume seed, cleaning, seeding, and cultivating.

(b) Knowledge and training requisite for performance of duties. Knowledge and training requisites for the successful performance of the duties of agronomist, include a thorough knowledge of the supporting sciences upon which agronomy is based, as well as intensive training in agronomy itself and an intimate working knowledge of the theory and application of the scientific agronomic principles employed in technical soil conservation practices.

(c) Method of obtaining basic knowledge and training. The Commission is of the opinion that the only method by which persons may obtain the knowledge required to perform adequately the duties of an agronomist is through the successful completion in a college or university of recognized standing of the subjects specified below:

2 courses in chemistry.
3 courses in any one or in any combination of plant physiology, plant pathology, entomology, or bacteriology.
3 courses in any one or in any combination of principles of feeding livestock, animal husbandry, range management, principles of dairying, or poultry culture.
8 courses in farm crops, soils, or plant breeding of which at least 4 courses shall be in farm crops.

The student receives in such courses, competent instruction in the technical and theoretical subjects that he will have to apply as an agronomist, and works in well equipped laboratories. The scientific information thus obtained cannot be acquired by individual study because the necessary facilities for laboratory experimentation are not available. The requisite studies represent information from a variety of fields, and the student cannot cover the material except through a careful correlation of such material through directed classroom study and reading.

CROSS REFERENCE: For justification relative to Agronomist (Research) Department of Agriculture, Bureau of Plant Industry, see § 24.17.

§ 24.9 Soil scientist (field operations), P–1, Soil Conservation Service—(a) Duties. The duties of a soil scientist are, under supervision, to perform work in field mapping; to make physical land surveys involving identification of: inherent soil characteristics in the soil profiles such as the proportions and composition of the textual separates, nature and stability of the structural aggregates, properties with respect to soil consistence, conditions of oxidation and reduction, and amount and nature of organic matter, all as a basis for classifying the effective depth of plant root feeding zone, the amount of water and the nutrients available for plant growth; types of parent rock and soil material; geomorphic relationships including the differentiation of concave and convex land surfaces and slopes in relation to differences in soil and in susceptibility to erosion that have significance in use and management of land; losses of soil by accelerated erosion, distinguishing between those of wind and water; water table conditions both temporary and permanent; amount and toxicity of soluble salts; character and significance of stoniness, surface soil crusting, etc.; also to take soil samples; to write soil profile and land area descriptions; to assist in interpretation of physical land factors for the development of land capability classification; and to assist in preparing land use and management recommendations and applying such recommendations to the land.

(b) Knowledge and training requisite for performance of duties. Knowledge and training requisite for the performance of the duties described in paragraph (a) of this section include a thorough knowledge of the supporting sciences upon which soil science is based, as well as intensive training in soil science itself, and an intimate working knowledge of the theory and application of the scientific principles employed in technical soil conservation practices.

(c) Method of obtaining basic knowledge and training. The Commission is of the opinion that the only method by which persons may obtain the knowledge required to perform adequately the duties of soil scientist is through the successful completion in a college or university of recognized standing of the subjects specified below:

2 courses in advanced chemistry.
2 courses in plant science or bacteriology.
4 courses in either soil science or earth science, or in any combination of earth science and soil science.

The student receives, in such courses, competent instruction in the technical and theoretical subjects that he will have to apply as a soil scientist, and works in well equipped chemistry, bacteriology, and soil science laboratories. The scientific information thus obtained cannot be acquired by individual study because the necessary facilities for laboratory experimentation are not available. The requisite studies represent information from a variety of fields, and the student cannot cover the material except through the careful correlation of such material into directed classroom study and reading.

§ 24.10 Dietitians—(a) Student—(1) Duties. The duties of a student dietitian consist of individual and class participation in an advanced and technical training course under the guidance and direction of an instructor in dietetics and the immediate supervision of graduate dietitians. In this course the student receives classroom instruction and on-the-job training in the field of dietetics. This involves the preparation and analysis of menus; studying and analyzing food specifications, studying methods of food preparation, serving, and storage; supervision of regular and special diet service and all phases of food preparation including special diets; contacting patients regarding diets; conducting diabetic and other special diet classes; and performing other duties incident to the administration of a hospital dietary department.

(2) Knowledge and training requisite for performance of duties. Since the training course for student dietitians is only 12 months in length it is necessary that persons entering this advanced course have already acquired a knowledge of the physical and social sciences upon which the field of dietetics is based. To comprehend the information and practical training presented in the course, students must have, and be able to apply, a knowledge of the physiology and digestive processes of the human body; the nutritional requirements of individuals of varying ages and occupations; the special diet requirements of persons suffering from a variety of diseases; bacteriological principles as applied to food spoilage and sanitation; and a background of the organization and administration of a hospital dietary department.

The Commission has determined that the duties of the position of Student Dietitian are such that they cannot be performed by a person who does not have 36 semester hours of study in a college or university of recognized standing provided that this study has included: 12 semester hours in chemistry (to include general, organic, and biochemistry); 6 semester hours in biology (to include human physiology and bacteriology); 6 semester hours in foods (to include food preparation and meal planning); 6 semester hours in nutrition and diet in disease; 6 semester hours in institution management (to include quantity cookery, and organization and management).

(3) Method of obtaining basic knowledge and training. The only method known by which persons may obtain the basic knowledge required to perform adequately the duties of a student dietitian is through the completion of the courses outlined in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph. The student receives, in such courses, competent instruction in the technical and theoretical subjects that she will have to apply as a dietitian, and works in well-equipped chemistry, physiology, bacteriology, foods, and nutrition laboratories. The scientific information thus obtained cannot be acquired by individual study because the necessary facilities for laboratory experimentation are not available. Requisite studies other than the biological and physical sciences represent information from such a variety of fields that the student cannot cover the material except through the careful correlation of such material into directed classroom study and reading.

(b) Staff (SP–5 and P–1)—(1) Duties. With varying degrees of responsibility at the different grade levels, a dietitian performs or supervises the performance of other dietitians in the following duties: Planning and supervising the preparation and serving of therapeutic diets, charting components and measurements daily for conformance with type of diet prescribed by the doctors; conferring with physicians, and patients regarding prescribed diets, and instructing patients in the composition and preparation of discharge diets as required; planning and supervising the preparation and serving of the basic diet for patients and hospital personnel; compiling periodic analyses for conformance with standards of the agency; making annual budget estimates of food and allotments; determining the kind and amount of food to be procured; serving as a member of the board of awards on contracts for perishable food items; requisitioning dietary supplies and equipment; overseeing the care and sanitation of equipment, and work and storage areas; specifying the work assignments of dietary employees; interviewing and selecting applicants for nontechnical employment in the dietary department; formulating in-service training courses for food handlers; and performing related duties as assigned.

(2) Knowledge and training requisite for performance of duties. The duties of a dietitian require that she be able to apply in her daily work a knowledge of the physiology and digestive processes of the human body; the nutritional requirements of individuals of varying ages and occupations; the special diet requirements of persons suffering from a variety of diseases; bacteriological principles as applied to food spoilage and sanitation; and the organization and administration of a hospital dietary department.

The Commission has determined that the duties of dietitians at all levels are such that they cannot be performed by a person who does not have 36 semester hours of study in a college or university of recognized standing: Provided, That this study has included: 12 semester hours in chemistry (to include general, organic, and biochemistry); 6 semester hours in biology (to include human physiology and bacteriology); 6 semester hours in foods (to include food preparation and meal planning); 6 semester hours in nutrition and diet in disease; 6 semester hours in institution management (to include quantity cookery, and organization and management). The possession of a bachelor's degree in dietetics or institutional management from a college or university of recognized standing will be accepted as meeting the educational requirement for these positions.

(3) Method of obtaining basic knowledge and training. The Commission has determined that the only method known by which persons may obtain the basic knowledge required to perform adequately the duties of a dietitian is through the completion of the courses outlined in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph. The individual receives, in such courses, competent instruction in the technical and theoretical subjects that she will have to apply as a dietitian, and works in well-equipped chemistry, physiology, bacteriology, foods, and nutrition laboratories. The scientific information thus obtained cannot be acquired by individual study or through practical experience because the necessary facilities for laboratory experimentation are not available. Requisite studies other than the biological and physical sciences represent information from such a variety of fields that the individual cannot cover the material except through the careful correlation of such material into directed classroom study and reading.

NOTE: The provisions of paragraph (b) of this section are applicable to paragraphs (c), (d), and (e) of this section.

§ 24.11 Physical training, Veterans' Administration—(a) Physical Director, P–2, formerly SP–6 (Revised)—(1) Duties. The duties of a physical director are to direct the physical activities and the carrying out of therapy, both general and that prescribed for certain patients (neuropsychiatric); to promote athletic activities by forming teams and instructing the players; to direct indoor and outdoor classes in gymnasium ward work according to program; to conduct calisthenics in ward classes; to maintain equipment used in the work. This position exists only in Veterans' Administration Facilities.

(2) Knowledge and training requisite for performance of duties. Knowledge and training requisite for the performance of these duties described in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph include knowledge of formal and informal exercise activities and their therapeutic application to specific and general treatment of the various types and needs of hospital patients—remedial and corrective exercises for general hospital patients, re-socializing exercises for psychotic patients, formal graduated exercises for regressed psychotic patients. The duties of the position require ability to observe intelligently the physical and mental reactions of patients and to make discerning reports to the medical staff so that an effective treatment program can be formulated and carried out.

(3) Method of obtaining basic knowledge and training. The Commission is of the opinion that the only method by which persons may obtain the knowledge required to perform adequately the duties of physical director is through the successful completion of at least:

(i) 16 semester hours in physical education in a school of physical education, a college, university, or teacher training institution of recognized standing, including:

4 semester hours in anatomy, physiology, hygiene, or kinesiology;

4 semester hours in psychology, tests and measurements, or education;

4 semester hours in physical fitness, therapeutic or corrective exercise, or physiology of exercise;

4 semester hours in methods of physical education, organization and administration of physical education, recreational leadership, or techniques and fundamentals of sports.

In addition, at least 2 years of responsible experience in any one or any combination of the following types of experience:

Planning, supervising, or conducting athletic activities or therapeutic exercise for hospital patients;

Administering, supervising, or teaching physical education in schools or colleges;

In addition, at least 1 year of responsible experience in any one or any combination of the types of experience listed in subdivision (i) of this subparagraph.

(iii) Any time-equivalent combination of subdivisions (i) and (ii) of this subparagraph above: Provided, That at least 16 semester hours of work in the subjects listed in subdivision (i) of this subparagraph have been successfully completed. In any such combination, 1 year of study in a school of physical education, a college, university, or teacher-training institution of recognized standing with specialization in physical education may be substituted for each 4 months of experience. For 1 year of the required experience, applicants may substitute 1 year of graduate study in a school of physical education, a college, university, or teacher-training institution of recognized standing with specialization in physical education. This study must be in addition to that used for meeting the basic educational requirement.

(b) Assistant Physical Director, P–1—(1) Duties. The assistant physical director acts as full assistant to the physical director, P–2, acting in his absence and assists in initiating and executing a full program of calisthenics, athletics, and games for all patients for whom these activities are prescribed; planning and organizing physical exercise activities suited to the various types of neuropsychiatric patients; instructing, supervising, and directing hospital attendants assigned to assist in this work; interviewing patients, consulting with physicians, and reporting observation of patients' behavior reactions as helpful material for diagnosis and prescription for treatment; cooperating with the chiefs of all adjunct therapies in the promotion of group therapy; supervising the planning, building and upkeep of playing courts, athletic fields, bowling alleys, gymnasiums, swimming pools and other space allotted for physical exercise activities; arranging exhibitions and competitive sports events with outside organizations; preparing and submitting records, reports, etc., relative to the operation of this work.

(2) Educational requirement. Since this position is substantially identical although less responsible in nature than the duties of physical director, P–2, Veterans' Administration, the Commission has determined that the educational requirement established for physical director, P–2, covered in paragraph (a) (2) of this section, be the same for assistant physical director, P–1.

§ 24.12 Teacher; all grades—(a) High School and special subjects—(1) Duties. The duties of high school and special subject teachers consist of imparting basic knowledge of one or more subject matter fields of social, economic, vocational or cultural value to the student; training the student in effective, impartial thinking in the medium of a special subject; making use of the best methods of accomplishing these results; directing appropriate extra-curricular interests.

(2) Knowledge and training requisite for performance of duties. Knowledge of various subject-matter fields; understanding of mental and physical characteristics of various age groups; knowledge of and skill in applying effective methods and techniques of instruction; and ability to evaluate the adequacy of methods employed.

In addition, experience in teaching is required for higher grade positions; the length, nature and extent of responsibility varies with the grade of the position.

(3) Method of obtaining basic knowledge and training. The method by which this essential basic knowledge and training may be acquired is in regularly organized teacher training departments of colleges or universities of recognized standing, including, or supplemented by relevant courses in educational psychology, theory and methods courses in the field of subject-matter specialization, and practice teaching. During his training the student works under competent instructors; has access to well stocked libraries and to well equipped laboratories; and receives actual practice in teaching. The literature in most vocational and cultural subjects and in the field of education is so voluminous that an individual cannot master it by random study; guidance in reading is essential for mastery and proper evaluation of the materials in the field.

(b) Elementary teachers—(1) Duties. The duties of elementary teachers consist of organizing and conducting classroom teaching; teaching elementary school subjects in such a way as to lay a broad foundation for later learning; training in habits of thinking; and evaluating results.

(3) Method of obtaining basic knowledge and training. The method by which this fundamental knowledge of methods of classroom instruction can be obtained is in regularly organized teacher training departments of colleges or universities of recognized standing. In such institutions prevailing practices have undergone analysis and experimentation, and those found to be most effective have been organized into relevant courses and a system of supervised practice teaching. During his training the student works under competent instructors; has access to well stocked libraries and well equipped laboratories; and learns a variety of methods and techniques which have been demonstrated as effective. The literature in the field of education is so voluminous that an individual cannot master it by random study; guidance in reading is essential for mastery and proper evaluation of the materials in the field.

(c) Teacher (academic subjects), Veterans' Administration facilities—(1) Duties. The duties of this position are to teach an academic subject or a combination of such subjects to enlisted men in reconditioning centers.

(2) Knowledge and training requisite for performance of duties. To qualify for this work, applicants must have had at least 1 year of responsible experience in teaching academic subjects. Experience in teaching one or more subjects such as English, language, journalism, science, mathematics, history, above the elementary school level, may be offered to meet this requirement.

In addition, applicants must have successfully completed a full 4-year course of study leading to a bachelor's degree in a college, university, or teacher-training institution of recognized standing, with major study in education, including at least one course in practice teaching, provided that an additional year of the experience described above may be substituted for the required course in practice teaching. For this position applicants showing 12 semester hours in education will be accepted as having major study in education.

(Twelve semester hours in education are the requirements in some States for secondary teaching certificates, and twelve semester hours are all that are required by the New England and Southern accrediting associations.)

(3) Method of obtaining basic knowledge and training. The method by which this essential basic knowledge and training may be acquired is in regularly organized teacher training departments of colleges or universities of recognized standing.

(d) Training specialist, War Department—(1) Duties. The duties of the position of training specialist are the duties of a teacher position, and consist of teaching non-English speaking persons, illiterates, and slow learners in the Army who do not meet the standards of literacy established by the Army; preparing daily lessons, classroom exercises, and maintaining necessary class records; helping maladjusted trainee by means of frequent conferences and by special tutoring and securing the aid of the personnel consultant in cases of pronounced maladjustment; and assisting the trainee in Army indoctrination.

(ii) Experience. At least 2 years' experience in any one or in any combination of the following:

(a) Teaching non-English speaking persons;

(b) Teaching illiterates;

(c) Teaching remedial reading classes;

(d) Teaching backward children;

(e) Teaching grades 1, 2, or 3 in elementary schools.

(3) Method of obtaining basic knowledge and training. The method by which this essential basic knowledge and training may be acquired is in regularly organized teacher training departments of colleges or universities of recognized standing.

(e) Instructor (academic subjects), CAF–6, War Department Reconditioning Centers.

(f) Secondary school teacher, P–1, War Relocation Authority.

C., and Patuxent River, Md.*—(a) Principal, P–3—(1) Duties. Serves as head of school; in this capacity, organizes and administers educational programs; advises on teacher selection; assigns teachers; supervises classroom procedures and instructional techniques; encourages faculty participation in programs of curriculum improvement; promotes extra-curricular activities; requisitions and assigns school supplies; prepares the school budget; maintains records; and performs such other duties as may be assigned.

(2) Knowledge and training requisite for performance of duties. The duties of an instructor, school activities, require that he be thoroughly familiar with the effective methods and techniques of instruction. He must be able to develop standards of instruction, to evaluate the effectiveness of the various methods used; and to offer constructive criticism concerning teaching methods and materials used by the classroom teachers under his supervision. In addition, he must know the basic principles of educational planning, organization, and management.

The enrollment in schools maintained by the Navy Department is extremely transient due to frequent shifting of Naval personnel from one assignment to another. In order that the pupils may be able to transfer their credits, the schools must meet the requirements of the Board of Education of the State in which they are located. Among these requirements is the provision that the principals must be properly certified. The following educational qualifications for certification of secondary school principals and superintendents in the States of Maryland, North Carolina, and Virginia are required:

MARYLAND

Superintendent and high school principal:
(i) Bachelor's degree.
(ii) Professional requirements—1 year of graduate work.

(b) For high school principal—advanced study related to high schoc' branches and approximately two-thirds in education, including high school methods, supervision and administration.

NORTH CAROLINA

Superintendent and principal:
(i) Hold or be qualified to hold class A teacher's certificate.
(ii) Master's degree.

Superintendent:
(i) Master's degree.
(ii) Professional requirements—15 semester hours in education, including graduate courses in educational administration and finance.

(3) Method of obtaining knowledge and training required. It is believed that the requisite knowledge and training can be acquired only in regularly organized teacher training departments of colleges and universities. In such institutions prevailing theories and practices of instruction have undergone analysis and experimentation, and those found to be most effective have been organized into relevant courses which are presented by competent instructors. During his training the student is guided in his study and reading by persons who know the literature in the field and who are therefore able to help him select from the mass of available professional literature that which is significant. He is given an opportunity to observe various materials and methods of instruction, and he undergoes assignments in practice situations and receives constructive criticism concerning his methods of dealing with them.

(b) High School Teacher, P–1 and P–2—(1) Duties. Under supervision, organizes and conducts curriculum activities in a particular subject-matter field or related fields in a high school; prepares instructional materials; instructs by means of discussions, demonstrations, and group activities; devises and administers tests or measurements of pupils' development; counsels and guides students to facilitate their adjustment; suggests revisions or modifications of the curriculum and techniques to adapt the education program to available facilities and to the personal characteristics of the students; and, as assigned, engages in other activities designed to lead the students into well-adjusted citizenship.

(2) Knowledge and training requisite for performance of duties. The Commission has approved education as a requirement for the position of teacher according to § 24.12 (a) (2).

(3) Method of obtaining basic knowledge and training. Inasmuch as the enrollment in schools maintained by the Navy Department is extremely transient due to frequent shifting of naval personnel from one assignment to another, children must be prepared to take up their work in any school in any State to which they may be transferred. The schools must therefore meet requirements for approval from the State Board of Education in which they are located. There is reciprocity between the States in the acceptance of students from an approved or certified school. The educational qualifications for this position are the current requirements of the State in which the position is located.

(c) Elementary Teacher, P–1—(1) Duties. Under supervision, plans, organizes, and directs the activities of elementary classes in government operated schools; provides instructional material for purposeful activities; instructs by means of group activities, demonstrations and discussions; plans or suggests modifications in curriculum as necessitated by changing needs; and, as assigned, engages in other activities designed to lead the students into well-adjusted citizenship.

(2) Knowledge and training requisite for performance of duties. The Commission has approved education as a requirement for the position of teacher according to § 24.12 (a) (2).

(3) Method of obtaining basic knowledge and training. Inasmuch as the enrollment in schools maintained by the Navy Department is extremely transient due to frequent shifting of naval personnel from one assignment to another, children must be prepared to take up their work in any school in any State to which they may be transferred. The schools must therefore meet requirements for approval from the State Board of Education in which they are located. There is reciprocity between the States in the acceptance of students from an approved or certified school. The educational qualifications for this position are the current requirements of the State in which the position is located.

§ 24.14 Office of Indian Affairs, Teacher, community school; elementary, junior and senior high school; home economics, junior and senior high school; agriculture, junior and senior high school—(a) Duties. Under general supervision to serve as teacher in an Indian school. Indian schools do not follow prescribed courses of study. Teachers are expected to draw upon the environment and upon their own general practical experience for much of the material for their educational program. Emphasis is placed upon free and spontaneous use of English, upon group discussions, and other informal processes. Teachers in Indian schools associate constantly with Indians, and it is necessary that they have a full appreciation of the Indian viewpoint and Indian culture, including native arts and crafts, music, and religious ceremonials. Indian service teachers are expected to be not only teachers in the usual sense, but to be active participants in the community in which they work and exercise educational leadership. They must be conversant with problems of rural economy and eager to elevate and dignify rural life.

The primary objectives of Indian schools are: To give students an understanding and appreciation of their own tribal lore, art, music, and community organization; to teach students through their own participation in school and government to become constructive citizens of their communities; to aid students in analyzing the economic resources of their reservation and in planning more effective ways of utilizing these resources for the improvement of standards of living to teach, through actual demonstration, intelligent conservation of natural resources; to give students first-hand experience in livestock management, use of native materials in housing and clothing, in subsistence gardening, cooperative marketing, farm mechanics, and whatever other vocational skills are needed to earn a livelihood in the region; to develop better health habits, improved sanitation, and higher standards of diet with a view to prevention of trachoma, tuberculosis, and infant diseases; to give students an understanding of the social and economic world immediately about them and to aid them in achieving some mastery over their environment; and to serve as a community center in meeting the social and economic needs of the community.

(b) Knowledge and training requisite for performance of duties. For teacher, community school (elementary), SP–4, applicants must have successfully completed two full years of study in a college, university, or teacher training institution of recognized standing.

For teacher, community school (junior and senior high school), SP–5, applicants must have successfully completed a full four-year course leading to a bachelor's degree in a college, university, or teacher training institution of recognized standing.

For teacher, community school (home economics, junior and senior high school), SP–5, applicants must have successfully completed a full four-year course leading to a bachelor's degree with major study in home economics in a college, university, or teacher training institution of recognized standing.

For teacher, community school (agriculture, junior and senior high school), SP–6, applicants must have successfully completed two full years of study in an agricultural college of recognized standing and in addition must have had two years of practical farming experience.

(c) Substitution. Additional study successfully completed in an agricultural college of recognized standing may be substituted year for year for the required practical farming experience.

§ 24.15 Range conservationalist, P–1 Department of Agriculture—(a) Duties. Under supervision, but with individual responsibility for applying the fundamental scientific principles in the solution of range conservation problems, performs specific duties such as the following:

(1) Classifies and maps forage types, involving the identification of important forage and other native plants; secures basic information on the location and nature of the forage resources; evaluates the condition of the range in relation to the ecological stages of plant succession and determines whether it is progressing or retrogressing; determines proper rates of stocking and suitable grazing periods and systems of management based on utilization standards and the growth requirements of forage plants; and ascertains the need for range reseeding, rodent control, water development, eradication of noxious plants, and other range improvements required for the improvement and conservation of the range.

(2) Compiles and analyzes such data, and in correlation with information on the economic factors affecting management, prepares tentative recommendations and assists in the development of conservation or range management plans, requiring familiarity with grazing management practices and structural improvements, the conditions under which they are suitable, and the cost of their installation.

(3) Prepares information on feeding of domestic livestock on the basis of the nutritional requirements of animals and the local availability of feedstuffs; makes utilization surveys and instructs ranch operators in their use; evaluates the effectiveness of conservation practices and assists farmers and ranchers in establishing and maintaining such practices; keeps records and prepares preliminary reports and other informational material relative to the conservation and management of range lands.

(b) Knowledge and training requisite for performance of duties. Range conservation is the application of a number of separate, but related sciences in the physical, biologic, and economic fields. It embraces a body of scientific principles regarding plants and animals, both as individuals and as they are affected by other plants, animals, climate and other factors influencing their existence, growth and production on the range. Range management is closely related to plant ecology and animal husbandry, and these in turn are based on certain fundamental plant and animal sciences. Therefore, knowledge and training requisite for the successful performance of the duties of the position include a thorough knowledge of the supporting sciences upon which range conservation is based, as well as intensive training in range conservation itself.

(c) Method of obtaining basic knowledge and training. The Commission has determined that the only method by which persons may obtain the basic knowledge required to perform adequately the duties of a range conservationist is through the completion in a college or university of recognized standing, the courses specified below:

1 course in each of the following: Plant ecology, plant physiology, soils, elementary surveying, and systematic botany or plant taxonomy.

4 courses in range management (any combination of general range management; range utilization and maintenance; range history and laws; range surveys; range or ranch economics; range plants).

3 courses in animal husbandry (any combination of animal nutrition and feeding; breeds and breeding; livestock management; market classes of livestock; livestock production).

3 courses in any one or in any combination of agronomy, general botany, silviculture, forest management, wildlife management, or zoology.

All of the above courses must have been acceptable for credit toward the completion of a standard 4-year curriculum leading to a bachelor's degree in agriculture, animal husbandry, botany, forestry, science, or range management.

The possession of a bachelor's degree from a college or university of recognized standing with a minimum of 20 semester hours in range management or plant ecology or in a combination of these two subjects, or with a minimum of 10 semester hours in a combination of these subjects and 10 semester hours in a combination of animal husbandry, pasture management, botany, agronomy, or forestry will be accepted as meeting the educational requirements for this position.

The student receives, in such courses, competent instructions in the technical and theoretical subjects that he will have to apply as a range conservationist. Teaching staffs keep up-to-date on the most recent developments in their respective fields, and are in position to give instruction in basic scientific principles of range conservation which have been repeatedly tested and confirmed. The student has access to pertinent reference materials and works in well-equipped laboratories. The Commission is of the opinion that the scientific information thus obtained cannot be acquired by individual study because the necessary facilities are not available. The requisite studies represent information from a variety of fields, and it is believed the student cannot cover the material except through supervised progressive courses of study designed to provide a comprehensive understanding of the subject.

§ 24.16 Social worker (psychiatric and medical), Veterans' Administration, SP–6 and SP–7. (These positions have been reallocated to P–2, P–3, and P–4; effective July 1, 1945).—(a) Duties. The duties of a social worker (psychiatric and medical) with the Veterans' Administration are to assist veterans who are suffering from physical or emotional illness. In collaboration with the physician, the social worker promotes the veteran's best response to treatment by recognizing and alleviating emotional and social problems that threaten the recovery of the veteran and thus prolong the necessity for treatment. When the veteran's personal adjustment is threatened by the nature of his emotional or physical handicap or by social circumstances and relationships, the social worker helps the veteran to develop resources within himself and the capacity for utilizing existing resources to overcome handicaps and to attain maximum self-reliance and independence. The social worker participates in diagnostic, trial visit, and discharge staff meetings, and in conferences with individual physicians. At such meetings the social worker presents the social data necessary to the medical profession in making vital decisions regarding the lives of disabled veterans.

Social workers (psychiatric and medical) assist veterans in planning their future activities following the period of hospitalization in order that the transition from hospital life to community life may be facilitated. A determination is made as to the social factors, personal circumstances, or community attitudes that are likely to prevent the carrying out of the health measures recommended by the doctors, and assistance is given to the veteran in order to prevent rehospitalization. In carrying out this responsibility it is necessary for the social worker to interpret to social and health agencies and other organizations within the community, the health problems of individual veterans and to cooperate with such agencies in utilizing their resources in advancing the rehabilitation of veterans.

(b) Knowledge and training requisite for performance of duties. In order to give adequate service to physically and emotionally handicapped veterans, the social worker must have a knowledge of basic medical information including symptoms of disease and accepted forms of treatment; medical terminology; and the principles of psychosomatic medicine. There must be a knowledge of the field of psychopathology, including the structure of the various psychotic or neurotic personalities, motivations of human behavior, and the clinical study and treatment of neurotic and psychotic individuals.

The social worker must have a knowledge of and skill in judgment in applying the principles and methods of social case work. The social worker must have training in interpreting technical medical or psychiatric information in such a way as to make it intelligible to patients, their families, and other lay persons. Moreover, a knowledge of the differentiation between the functions of psychologists, psychiatrists, physicians, nurses, and other medical personnel concerned with the case of the patient is necessary.

In order to prepare communities for receiving the disabled veteran and helping him to make a normal adjustment, it is necessary for the social worker to have a knowledge of the aims and methods of urban and rural community organization; and the ability to develop within local communities a sense of their social responsibility to the returning veteran who is mentally or physically handicapped. This entails understanding of such centers of community activity as social, fraternal, and industrial organizations, school centers, and community health facilities.

(c) Method of obtaining knowledge and training required. The Commission is of the opinion that the only method known by which persons may obtain the basic knowledge required to perform adequately the duties of a social worker with the Veterans Administration, is through the completion of one year of training in an accredited school of social work including supervised field work and courses in psychiatric or medical information. The student receives, in such training, competent instruction in the technical and theoretical subjects that will have to be applied as a social worker. A definite part of the training period is devoted to supervised practice in a controlled setting. During this field work period, the student acquires ability in applying the skills and techniques necessary for dealing with people who may not be so adjusted as to conduct themselves in a socially acceptable manner. This necessitates the development of a concept of acceptance of individuals, a recognition of their rights, and of their potentialities for change. The student works in a social welfare or health agency of acceptable standards with a limited number of selected cases; is trained in techniques of psychiatric interviewing and social case recording; participates in case conferences with psychiatrists, psychologists, and highly skilled social workers; and throughout the period works directly under a case work supervisor especially selected by the school. The scientific knowledge and skill obtained cannot be acquired by individual study because the necessary facilities and supervision are not available. Requisite studies represent information from such a variety of fields that an individual cannot cover the material except through the careful correlation of directed classroom study and reading with the supervised field work.

§ 24.17 Agronomist (Research), P–1 Department of Agriculture, Bureau of Plant Industry—(a) Duties. The duties of a research agronomist are, under supervision, to conduct experiments on one or more of the following problems concerned in crop production or improvement:

(1) The effect of cultural practices and rotation sequences on soil moisture, nitrate accumulation, availability of soil nutrients, and the effect of these and allied factors on the growth, yield, composition, and nutritive value of crops under varying soil and climatic conditions as determined by physical, chemical, and biological tests;

(2) The effect of rate, date, method of seeding, fertilization, and other factors on the growth, time of maturity, yield, and nutritive value of crops or crop varieties as determined by physical and chemical tests;

(3) The effect of applying irrigation water to crops in varying amounts and under differing physiological conditions of the plants and degrees of approach to the wilting coefficient of the soil on yields and nutritive values;

(4) The effect of method, time of beginning, frequency of cultivation, shading, and other effects of competitive crops, and the rate, frequency and kinds of chemical herbicides applied on the physiological reactions of the weeds, and on the storage of carbohydrate and protein reserves in the roots of perennial weeds, the relation of these reserves to the rejuvenation, growth, and reproduction of perennial noxious weeds, and the development of weed control practices based on all these relationships;

(5) The development by self fertilization and selection of inbred lines of corn or alfalfa and hybrids between these lines, or of new varieties of other crop plants by hybridization and selection, which possess specific genetic characteristics valuable in improving these crop plants such as (i) resistance to the diseases of the crops involved (smuts of corn, sorghum, small grains and grasses, etc., rusts of small grains and grasses, and the root rot and leaf diseases of all crops); (ii) resistance to insects attacking the particular crop, (aphids, stalk borers, hessian fly, root borers, chinch bugs, etc.); (iii) resistance to stalk breaking and lodging; and (iv) plant, physiological, and yield characteristics which contribute to adaptation of the new hybrid or variety for a given region or locality;

(6) The genetic analysis of plant materials in order to determine the proper crosses for obtaining desired combinations of desired characteristics in improved hybrids or varieties;

(7) Field tests of hybrids, varieties, fertilizers, and other field practices, using appropriate experimental designs so that data can be analyzed statistically, and by analysis of variance and other appropriate statistical methods obtain data on relative yields and other factors necessary to determine values for farm use;

(8) The production and maintenance of foundation seed stocks of improved inbred lines, parent single crosses, and improved varieties for distribution to farmers, and growing such seed stocks under conditions necessary for each crop which insures absence of contamination by physical mixture or foreign pollen in order to insure genetic purity and integrity of type.

(b) Knowledge and training requisite for performance of duties. Knowledge and training requisites for the successful performance of the duties described in paragraph (a) of this section include a thorough knowledge of the supporting sciences upon which agronomy is based, as well as intensive training in agronomy itself and an intimate working knowledge of the theory and application of the scientific agronomic principles employed in technical crop production or improvement.

(c) Method of obtaining basic knowledge and training. The Commission has determined that the duties of the position of agronomist are such that they cannot be performed by a person who does not have the following: 6 courses in crops, including crop breeding or genetics; 2 courses in soils; 2 courses in advanced chemistry; 1 course in physics; 1 course in plant physiology; 1 course in plant pathology; and 1 course in entomology.

The possession of a bachelor's degree in agronomy, or in agronomy and soils combined, will be accepted as evidence that the applicant has met the above requirements.

The Commission believes that the only method by which persons may obtain the basic knowledge required to perform adequately the duties of an agronomist is through the completion of the courses listed above. The student receives, in such courses, competent instruction in the technical and theoretical subjects that he will have to apply as an agronomist. He attends seminars and lectures, has access to a scientific library, and works in well-equipped laboratories. The scientific information thus obtained cannot be acquired by individual study because the necessary facilities are not available. The requisite studies represent information from a variety of fields, and the student cannot cover the material except through supervised progressive courses of study designed to provide a comprehensive understanding of the subjects.

§ 24.18 Office of Education—(a) Education specialist, P–4 through P–8—(1) Educational requirements. Completion of a full four year course in a college or university of recognized standing which must have included, or have been supplemented by, major study in education or in the particular field in which the duties as a specialist are to be performed.

(2) Duties. The duties of educational consultants or specialists consist of advising school administrators, supervisors, boards of education, or other official school or community groups concerning technical phases of educational programs; providing assistance in planning curriculum content and methods of teaching; and advising local officials in the application of approved educational methods to their individual school and to their community problems.

(3) Knowledge and training requisite for performance of duties. Thorough knowledge of one or more specialized fields of vocational, general, or cultural subjects; comprehensive grasp of the written material and instructional methods related to the specialized fields; ability to impart this knowledge both formally and informally; and an understanding of the relationship of special fields of knowledge to the needs of the school or the community as a whole.

In addition, except for positions in the P–1 grade, experience in research, teaching, or administration of educational programs is required for most positions; the length, scope, nature, and quality of the experience varies with the grade of the position involved.

(4) Method of obtaining basic knowledge and training. The only method known to the Commission by which the basic knowledge and training can be acquired is by successfully completing, in a college or university of recognized standing, a full, four-year course leading to a bachelor's degree, and, in addition, specialized study and training in the principles and methods of education. By such training the student learns under competent instructors, is guided in his reading and in his evaluation of materials read. He had access to well-stocked scientific libraries and to well-equipped laboratories; he is given an opportunity to observe various materials and methods of instruction in operation, and in a controlled and supervised setting, can experiment for himself under professional guidance. The literature in the field of education and related fields is so voluminous that an individual cannot master it on his own initiative or by random study. Without this basic college training on individual cannot recognize significant social data or draw valid conclusions.

The duties of an educational consultant require more than usual knowledge in the educational and subject-matter fields, as well as leadership ability.

(b) Director, Division of School Administration (Assistant Commissioner)—(1) Duties. The director, Division of School Administration (Assistant Commissioner), works under the general direction of the U. S. Commissioner of Education with full responsibility for nation-wide leadership in formulating developing, and executing the program of the Division of School Administration in the U. S. Office of Education, and the policies and plans for its most effective operation.

These responsibilities are carried through in such ways as the following: establishing cooperative arrangements with State and local educational authorities and with other agencies in planning and conducting essential studies of such problems as State participation in the financing of local school districts, legislation governing school textbooks, improved plans for school housing in rural areas, pupil transportation as a State responsibility, and business management in State departments of education and in county and city school systems; planning and conducting conferences, workshops, and training institutes; directing national surveys and studies and preparing reports and bulletins based on such studies; exercising national leadership in the improvement of school administration; and otherwise enabling the Office of Education to serve as a national clearing house of information on matters of State, county, and city school administration.

(2) Knowledge and training requisite for performance of duties. The duties to be performed require broad knowledge of educational programs and practices at various levels, standards maintained in various educational institutions, patterns and procedures in school administration, curricula both conventional and experimental, and philosophies underlying educational systems in this and other countries.

(3) Method of obtaining basic knowledge and training. The Commission believes the only satisfactory method by which the requisite knowledge and training may be secured is through the training obtainable in recognized colleges and universities. In such institutions, prevailing practices have undergone analysis and experimentation, and those found to be most effective have been organized into relevant courses of instruction. Through such training the student receives competent instruction in specialized fields of education and is expertly guided in his selection of readings from available literature which is so voluminous that in the opinion of the Commission no individual could master it by random study.

The Commission has therefore determined that requirements for this position include the following minimum educational requirement:

Applicants must have successfully completed a full year of graduate study in a college or university of recognized standing with major work in school administration.

(c) Director, Division of Secondary Education (Assistant Commissioner), P–8—(1) Duties. Works under the general direction of the United States Commissioner of Education with full responsibility for nation-wide leadership in formulating, developing and executing the program of the Division of Secondary Education in the United States Office of Education and the policies and plans for its most effective operation. The divisional objective is to assist State and local authorities in promoting and improving the secondary school programs of the nation in the fields of organization and supervision, teacher training and instructional problems in the various subjects of instruction in secondary schools.

These responsibilities are carried through in such ways as the following: to analyze the need for and establish adequate research programs for the collection and interpretation of facts and information which will aid in the improvement of secondary education programs; to establish and effectuate cooperative arrangements with and through State and local educational authorities and with other agencies in planning and conducting essential studies of problems that lie within the purview of the Division's interests and functions (for example, analyzing and reporting trends in the development of the curriculum for secondary schools of the nation; instructional problems of secondary education as they relate to large and small high schools; urban and rural high schools, and high schools for white and negro youth); to provide expert and impartial consultative and field service in connection with the over-all Divisional program; to identify, describe, and evaluate innovational programs and practices; to cooperate with State boards or institutions in the administration of Federal funds when and as required by law; to provide for and maintain liaison with officials of governmental and non-governmental agencies and organizations whose programs involve or are related to the constituent fields of work of the Division; to plan and conduct conferences, institutes and workshops, and address State, national and other organizations; to be responsible for the preparation of bulletins, reports and other published material covering all phases of Division activities; and otherwise to serve as a national clearing-house of information on secondary education.

(2) Knowledge and training requisite for performance of duties. The duties to be performed require broad knowledge of educational programs and practices at various levels, standards maintained in various educational institutions, patterns and procedures in school administration, curricula both conventional and experimental, and philosophies underlying educational systems in this and other countries.

(3) Method of obtaining basic knowledge and training. The Commission has therefore determined that requirements for this position include the following minimum educational requirement:

Applicants must have successfully completed a full year of graduate study in a college or university of recognized standing with major study in the field of secondary education.

The specialist for social sciences and geography and the specialist for science assist the chief, instructional problems, in carrying out the duties and responsibilities described above.

Specifically, the specialist for social sciences and geography is concerned with secondary-school instructional problems in the social sciences (history, sociology, political science, economics, and geography), such as: the emphasis is to be given in social science instruction as a result of the new global geographical concepts due to more rapid means of communication and transportation; the organization of materials of instruction for developing ideals and attitudes for citizenship in a world society: the development of criteria to be used in evaluating the effectiveness of instruction; and the translation of a knowledge of political science into functioning civic activities on the part of students.

The specialist for science is concerned with secondary-school instructional problems in the natural sciences (physics, biology, chemistry, general science, geology, meteorology, aeronautics, gardening, floriculture, and other applications of the natural sciences), such as: the determination of the elements of the aeronautical sciences to be included in science courses; the differentiation of materials and methods of instruction in the natural sciences for students expecting to complete their formal schooling with high school graduation and for other students looking forward to collegiate specialization in sciences; and the relation of teaching of natural science in rural high schools to rural life and environment.

(2) Knowledge and training requisite for performance of duties. The duties to be performed require broad knowledge of educational programs and practices at various levels, standards maintained in various educational institutions, patterns and procedures in school administration, curricula both conventional and experimental, and philosophies underlying educational systems in this and other countries.

(3) Method of obtaining basic knowledge and training. The Commission believes the only satisfactory method by which the requisite knowledge and training may be secured is through the training obtainable in recognized colleges and universities. In such institutions, prevailing practices have undergone analysis and experimentation, and those found to be most effective have been organized into relevant courses of instruction. Through such training the student receives competent instruction in specialized fields of education and is expertly guided in his selection of readings from available literature which is so voluminous that in the opinion of the Commission no individual could master it by random study.

The Commission has therefore determined that requirements for this position include the following minimum educational requirement:

Applicants must have successfully completed a full year of graduate study in a college or university of recognized standing with major study in education, including courses in the teaching or supervision of secondary-school subjects.

(e) Specialist for Social Sciences and Geography, P–6, Division of Secondary Education.

(f) Specialist for Science, P–6, Division of Secondary Education.

NOTE: The provisions of paragraph (d) of this section are applicable to paragraphs (e) and (f) of this section.

(g) Chief, Instructional Problems, P–7, Division of Elementary Education—(1) Duties. The chief, instructional problems, is responsible for exercising national leadership in the improvement of instructional materials and methods in elementary schools; formulates and directs national studies revealing current problems, objectives, and outcomes of instruction in reading, history, geography, physical education, safety education, science, music, art, mathematics, and other subject fields; arranges for leadership of conferences and training institutes; provides for various field services; establishes and maintains liaison with officials of governmental and nongovernmental agencies and organizations concerned with elementary school instructional problems; and directs the preparation for publication of manuscripts, reports, and articles reflecting the findings and developments in this field.

The specialist, health instruction and physical education, is responsible for promoting and assisting in the development of improved programs of health instruction and physical education in the elementary schools; serves as a consultant to school superintendents, members of school boards, officials of teacher-training institutions, State departments of education, and professional organizations of teachers on instructional problems in the teaching of health and physical education, including problems such as: making effective use of information gained from school health examinations, determining the physiological knowledge desirable as a basis for health and physical education at various ages and grade levels, and developing and utilizing visual aids to health instruction.

(2) Knowledge and training requisite for performance of duties. The duties to be performed require broad knowledge of educational programs and practices at various levels, standards maintained in various educational institutions, patterns and procedures in school administration, curricula both conventional and experimental, and philosophies underlying educational systems in this and other countries.

(3) Method of obtaining basic knowledge and training. The Commission believes the only satisfactory method by which the requisite knowledge and training may be secured is through the training obtainable in recognized colleges and universities. The Commission has therefore determined that requirements for this position include the following minimum educational requirement:

Applicants must have successfully completed a full year of graduate study in a college or university of recognized standing with major study in education, including courses in the teaching or supervision of elementary school subjects.

(h) Specialist, health instruction and physical education, P–6, Division of Elementary Education.

NOTE: The provisions of paragraph (g) of this section are applicable to this paragraph.

(i) Chief, European Educational Relations, P–7, Division of International Educational Relations—(1) Duties. The chief, European educational relations, is responsible for planning, developing, and directing a program for the further development of relationships to improve understanding and appreciation between the schools, school systems, colleges, universities, and other educational agencies of the United States and those of European countries; formulates and directs field studies of education in European countries; participates in formulating plans, policies, and programs for educational relations between the United States and European countries; provides expert consultative assistance to officials of State departments of education, school systems, colleges, universities, and other educational institutions in the United States and to school and college officials of European countries on educational matters; administers programs of exchange of professors, teachers, and students between the schools, colleges, and universities of the United States and those of European countries; directs the preparation and exchange between the United States and European countries of instructional materials for use in schools and colleges; and establishes and maintains liaison with other governmental and non-governmental agencies and organizations with respect to programs of educational relations with European countries.

(2) Knowledge and training requisite for performance of duties. The duties to be performed require broad knowledge of educational programs and practices at various levels, standards maintained in various educational institutions, patterns and procedures in school administration, curricula both conventional and experimental, and philosophies underlying educational systems in this and other countries.

Through such training the student receives competent instruction in specialized fields of education and is expertly guided in his selection of readings from available literature which is so voluminous that in the opinion of the Commission no individual could master it by random study.

The Commission has therefore determined that requirements for this position include the following minimum educational requirement:

Applicants must have successfully completed a full year of graduate study in a college or university of recognized standing with major study in comparative education or related courses basic to the understanding of European educational relations, such as: international relations, contemporary European history or political science, and social anthropology.

§ 24.19 Forester, P–1, Department of Agriculture—(a) Duties. Under immediate supervision, but with individual responsibility for applying the fundamental scientific principles involved, participates in the management or administration of forest lands or in research thereon by performing the following duties:

(1) Classifies and maps topographic features, areas of different soil and site qualities, forest types and condition classes; collects field data and computes growth of trees and yield of timber; collects data and information on markets, prices, and costs of logging and manufacturing applicable to individual timber tracts; prepares preliminary timber appraisals, management plans, and recommendations for silvicultural treatment of forests;

(2) Administers small timber sales on national forests, or assists farmers and others in the sale of timber from small forested areas; selects and marks trees for removal in accordance with established practices and policies; scales, measures, and grades logs and other forest products, and inspects cutover areas for compliance with the terms of the sale;

(3) Assists in the preparation and application of plans for the prevention and control of forest fires, tree disease epidemics, and outbreaks of forest insects;

(4) Classifies and maps areas as to soil, erosion, and cover conditions and prepares recommendations for planting or otherwise revegetating barren or open areas; selects areas and times for collection of tree seeds; tests tree seeds for quality and germination; inspects the work of foremen in tree nurseries; trains planting crews and inspects their work; examines plantations and prepares reports thereon with recommendations as to future treatment;

(5) Makes measurements or observations on resources other than timber, such as forage, water, wildlife, and recreational values, on specified areas and assists in the preparation and application of correlated multiple use plans of management.

(b) Knowledge and training requisite for performance of duties. The Forest Service carries on specialized technical research for the whole field of forestry, not only on the national forests but also on land administered by other government agencies and on private land under a large and diversified ownership. The professional forester therefore, must be trained to perform skilled duties of a professional and scientific nature in managing and caring for forest areas. He must be able to diagnose and prescribe for the numerous diseases peculiar to forest trees, and to identify and eradicate the various insect pests, rodents, etc., in his area. Forest fires are such a universal threat to the forests of the country that special training in the principles governing their inception, spread, detection, and control is essential to professional status as a forester. Inasmuch as the national forests are valuable as grazing areas for livestock, and are also the home of vast numbers of wild game, the forester is concerned in the application of a number of separate, but related sciences in the physical, biologic, and economic fields. Forest management embraces a body of scientific principles regarding plants and animals, and the factors influencing their existence, growth, and production. Therefore, knowledge requisite for the successful performance of the duties of the position include a thorough knowledge of the supporting sciences upon which forestry is based, as well as intensive training in forestry itself.

(c) Method of obtaining basic knowledge and training. The Commission has determined that the duties of the position of forester are such that they cannot be performed by a person who does not have the following: one course in dendrology or taxonomic botany; one course in forest ecology, silvics, or plant physiology; five courses in any combination of forest mensuration, silviculture, forest planting, or forest management; three courses in any one or in any combination of forest entomology forest pathology, or forest fire protectio , ...ree courses in wood technology and forest utilization; two courses in any one or in any combination of forest economics, forest finance, forest valuation, or forest history, policy, and law; one course in range management or wildlife management; one course in soil science, forest soils, or geology; two courses in any one or in any combination of plane surveying and mapping, topographic surveying and mapping; or forest improvements.

All of the above courses must have been acceptable for credit toward the completion of a standard four-year curriculum leading to a bachelor's degree in forestry, science, wildlife management or range management.

The possession of a bachelor's degree in forestry from a college or university of recognized standing will be accepted as meeting the educational requirements for this position.

The Commission believes that the only method by which persons may obtain the basic knowledge required to perform adequately the duties of a forester is through the completion of the courses listed above. The student receives, in such courses, competent instructions in the technical and theoretical subjects that he will have to apply as a forester. Teaching staffs keep up-to-date on the most recent developments in their respective fields and are in position to give instruction in basic scientific principles of forestry which have been repeatedly tested and confirmed. The student has access to pertinent reference material, and works in well-equipped laboratories. The scientific information thus obtained cannot be secured by individual study because the necessary facilities are not available. The requisite studies represent information from a variety of fields, and the student cannot cover the material except through supervised progressive courses of study designed to provide a comprehensive understanding of the subject.

§ 24.20 Psychiatric social worker, P–1, War Department, Fort Story, Virginia. This position is substantially identical to the position of social worker (psychiatric) in the Veterans' Administration described in § 24.16. The Commission has determined that the same educational requirement, that is, one year of training in an accredited school of social work to include supervised field work and courses in psychiatric or medical information, be included in the requirements for psychiatric social worker, War Department, Fort Story, Virginia.

§ 24.21 Range conservationist (Ecology), P–1, Department of Agriculture—(a) Duties. Under the immediate supervision of conservationists of higher grade but with individual responsibility for applying the fundamental scientific principles involved and for the accuracy of tests, observations, and measurements made, performs specific duties such as the following:

Assists in the conducting of research in the management, use, and improvement of forested and other range lands, including the laying out of experimental plots for studying ecological changes on the range in response to use by domestic livestock and game; the intensive mapping of such plots involving the identification of plants thereon; the collection of data on growth and utilization of range plants and their physiological response to grazing, under different soil and climatic conditions; the laying out, planting, and recording of success in establishment of resecded forage species on experimental plots; the compilation and preliminary analysis of data resulting from such studies; the preparation of preliminary drafts of reports or portions thereof; and the performance of related duties as assigned.

(b) Knowledge and training requisite for performance of duties. The research problems involved in range conservation deal with an extremely complex set of relationships involving soil, water, climate, plants and animals. The range conservationist is concerned in the application of a number of separate, but related sciences in the physical, biologic, and economic fields. Range management is closely related to plant and animal ecology, and embraces a body of scientific principles regarding plants and animals, and the factors influencing their existence, growth and production on the range. Therefore, knowledge and training requisite for the successful performance of the duties of the position include a thorough knowledge of the supporting sciences upon which range conservation is based, as well as intensive training in range conservation itself.

(c) Method of obtaining basic knowledge and training. The Commission has determined that the duties of the position of range conservationist (ecology) are such that they cannot be performed by a person who does not have the following: Seven courses in any combination of range management, plant ecology, pasture management, wildlife management, silviculture, forest management, animal ecology or animal husbandry, provided two courses in plant ecology or one course in plant ecology and one course in range management are shown; one course in plant physiology; two courses in systematic botany, plant taxonomy or agrostology; two courses in any one or in any combination of soil science, agronomy, or geology. All of the above courses must have been acceptable for credit toward the completion of a standard four year curriculum leading to a bachelor's degree in biology, botany, zoology, agronomy, or forestry.

The possession of a bachelor's degree from a college or university of recognized standing with a minimum of 20 semester hours in plant ecology, range ecology, or forest ecology or in any combination thereof, or with a minimum of 10 semester hours in plant ecology and 10 semester hours in any one or in any combination of plant physiology, systematic botany, soil science, geology, range management, pasture management, agronomy, forestry, or animal husbandry will be accepted as meeting the educational requirements for this position.

The Commission believes that the only method by which persons may obtain the basic knowledge required to perform adequately the duties of a range conservationist is through the completion of the courses listed above. The student receives, in such courses, competent instruction in the technical and theoretical subjects that he will have to apply as a range conservationist. Teaching staffs keep up-to-date on the most recent developments in their respective fields, and are in position to give instruction in basic scientific principles of range conservation which have been repeatedly tested and confirmed. The student has access to pertinent reference material and works in well-equipped laboratories. The scientific information thus obtained cannot be secured by individual study because the necessary facilities are not available. The requisite studies represent information from a variety of fields, and the student cannot cover the material except through supervised progressive courses of study designed to provide a comprehensive understanding of the subject.

§ 24.22 Biologist (Land Management), P–1, Soil Conservation Service—(a) Duties. The duties of a biologist are, under supervision, to assist with the planning and application of soil and water conservation practices requiring a special knowledge of biology and ecology; to appraise the interrelations of plants and animals as they affect soil and water conservation and land use; to assist with the ecological use of plants and animals, especially native species, in accordance with the capabilities of the land, particularly on eroded and waste areas unfit for tilled crops, pasture, or woodland; to identify and evaluate species of insects, birds, mammals and other animals, populations of which are influenced by the establishment of soil and water conservation practices and to suggest methods of reducing injurious organisms, especially by ecological methods; to prepare information on ecological aspects of soil and water conservation, including relation of conservation practices to populations of both beneficial and harmful wild plants, insects and other invertebrates, as well as rodents, predators, big game and other mammals; to assemble biological data useful in determining the effectiveness of conservation practices and to work with and assist farmers and ranchers with the use of ecological knowledge essential to the successful establishment and maintenance of such practices; to keep records and prepare reports and other informational material relative to biological and ecological aspects of soil and water conservation and land use; and to perform related duties.

(b) Knowledge and training requisite for performance of duties. Knowledge and training requisite for the successful performance of the duties described in paragraph (a) of this section include a thorough knowledge of the supporting sciences upon which biology is based, as well as intensive training in biology itself. The work of the biologist requires an intimate knowledge of living things and of environmental conditions—organic and inorganic, physical and biotic. It demands particularly familiarity with environmental conditions as they result from past and present use of the land, and appreciation of the relationship between such conditions and living things. Particularly important is an understanding of the interrelationships between wild plants and animals and the practices being applied to the land in order to achieve soil and water conservation. The biologist must possess a fundamental knowledge of the life histories, habits, and habitats of plants, birds, mammals, and other animals, and of plant and animal communities as dynamic forces of value in land management.

(c) Method of obtaining basic knowledge and training. The Commission has decided that the duties of the position of biologist are such that they cannot be performed by a person who does not have the following:

Twelve courses in biology, botany, zoology, or ecology which has included at least 4 courses in entomology, herpetology, ichthyology, mammalogy, or wildlife management;

Two courses in soil science or earth science or in any combination thereof;

Two courses in any one or in any combination of agriculture, horticulture, forestry, or range management.

The possession of a bachelor's degree from a recognized college or university with a major in biology including 12 or more courses in any combination of 3 or more of the following will be accepted as meeting the educational requirement for this position: ecology, botany, zoology, entomology, herpetology, ichthyology, ornithology, mammalogy, wildlife management, agriculture, forestry, rangemanagement.

In the field of biology a great deal of scientific, technical, and applied knowledge is available in the educational institutions of the country which offer courses in the biological sciences. The Commission believes that the only method by which persons may obtain the basic knowledge required to perform adequately the duties of a biologist is through the completion of the courses listed above. The student receives, in such courses, competent instruction in the technical and theoretical subjects that he will have to apply as a biologist. He attends seminars and lectures, has access to a scientific library, and works in well equipped laboratories. The scientific information thus obtained cannot be acquired by individual study because the necessary facilities are not available. The requisite studies represent information from a variety of fields, and the Commission is of the opinion that the student cannot cover the material except through supervised progressive courses of study designed to provide a comprehensive understanding of the subject.

§ 24.23 Clinical Psychologist P–2 through P–5 in Veterans' Administration hospitals and out patient clinics and in U. S. Public Health Service clinics—(a) Duties. Appointees to these positions apply psychological principles and techniques to the diagnosis and treatment of maladjusted individuals. With a degree of responsibility appropriate to the grade, they administer and interpret psychometric tests of intelligence, achievement, vocational aptitude, or personality, or use other diagnostic techniques; confer with psychiatrists, physicians, social workers, and professional staff members; contact representatives of schools or other institutions or individuals to secure information as a basis for diagnosis; carry out psychotherapeutic treatment as affected by the psychiatrists; perform psychological research in the field of mental health; promote public relations by radio and personal addresses; collaborate in the preparation of informational material; perform related work as assigned. At the higher levels also direct and supervise a clinical psychological program.

(b) Knowledge and training requisite for performance of duties. A thorough knowledge is required of the fundamental and supporting arts and sciences upon which psychology is based as well as intensive training in psychology and psychopathology. In order to make appropriate application of tests in a variety of situations involving maladjusted inaividuals, to analyze and interpret results of such tests in the light of available psychiatric, medical, social, and educational data, and to make recommendations for treatment of maladjusted individuals, it is essential that the clinical psychologist have knowledge of human behavior, of neurotic and psychotic variants, of basic medical information and terminology, and of the social forces that affect the development of the individual. In addition to the knowledge required, the clinical psychologist must have command of specialized techniques of measurement of observation, and of interpretation of data.

(c) Method of obtaining basic knowledge and training. The Commission has determined that the duties of the position of clinical psychologist at all levels are such that they cannot be performed by a person who does not have, in addition to the experience required for the various levels, at least 10 courses in psychology in a college or university of recognized standing, including

Two courses in abnormal psychology, clinical psychology, mental hygiene, or personality adjustment;

Two courses in clinical techniques such as individual testing, interviewing, or the case study method;

Two courses in differential psychology or tests and measurements (educational, vocational, psychological, personality, attitude), or statistics;

One course in human biology, neurology, or physiological psychology; and

Three courses in general, experimental, child, adolescent, social, animal, or systematic psychology or additional courses listed in the foregoing paragraphs.

Completion of all requirements for the Ph. D. degree in psychology will be accepted as meeting this educational requirement.

The Commission is of the opinion that the only satisfactory method by which persons may obtain the basic knowledges and skills is through the training given at recognized colleges and universities. Through such training, the student receives competent instruction in both the theoretical and the practical aspects of the subject matter that he will later apply as a clinical psychologist. Such scientific knowledge and skill cannot be acquired by individual study because the necessary facilities and supervision are not available. Requisite studies include pertinent information from a variety of fields which are so voluminous that the student could not cover the material effectively on his own initiative or by random study.

§ 24.27 Pharmacist P–1 through P–4—(a) Educational requirement. Applicants must hold the degree of bachelor of science in pharmacy, or its equivalent, from a school of pharmacy approved by the Administrator, and be registered as a pharmacist in one of the States or Territories of the United States or in the District of Columbia.

(b) Justification of educational requirements. Section 5, 59 Stat. 676; 38 U. S. C., Sup., 15d, an act to establish a Department of Medicine and Surgery in the Veterans' Administration, provides that a person to be eligible for appointment in the Department of Medicine and Surgery as a pharmacist must "hold the degree of bachelor of science in pharmacy, or its equivalent, from a school of pharmacy approved by the Administrator and be registered as a pharmacist in one of the States or Territories of the United States or in the District of Columbia."

By authority of 59 Stat. 675; 38 U. S. C., Sup., 15–15n, the Administrator of the Veterans' Administration has established minimum qualifications for professional pharmacists' positions in that agency to include a degree in pharmacy or an equivalent degree from a four year standard college course. In view of the almost identical nature of duties of pharmacists wherever found it is not believed that different requirements may reasonably be established for pharmacists in Government agencies other than the Veterans' Administration.

(i) A full 4-year course, in a college or university of recognized standing, leading to a bachelor's degree in chemistry. This study must have included courses in chemistry consisting of lectures, recitations and appropriate practical laboratory work totaling at least 30 semester hours; or

(ii) Courses in chemistry, in a college or university of recognized standing, consisting of lectures, recitations and appropriate practical laboratory work totaling at least 30 semester hours; and in addition, sufficient appropriate experience which, when combined with the required 30 hours in chemistry, will give the applicant the substantial equivalent of a 4-year college course.

In either subdivision (i) or (ii) of this subparagraph above, the courses must have included analytical chemistry, both quantitative and qualitative, and in addition any two of the following: (a) Advanced inorganic chemistry; (b) biochemistry; (c) organic chemistry; (d) Physical Chemistry.

(2) Duties. The statements in subparagraphs (3) and (4) of this paragraph are with reference to those positions in chemistry of a highly involved technical nature having to do with original research in chemistry of a very difficult fundamental character or in other duties of comparable scope or scientific difficulty.

Appointees perform these duties in connection with a wide variety of chemical projects necessitating scientific research of more than ordinary difficulty and requiring a knowledge of other sciences connected with such chemical investigations.

(3) Knowledge and training requisite for performance of duties. These positions are characterized by investigations in new, untried and unfamiliar chemical fields. Incumbents must have aptitude for and training in the methods of original research coupled with scientific curiosity, decided ability to discover new methods or compounds or to do work necessitating the use of new instruments and the adoption of unusual means. In order to perform these duties and so that there be less likelihood of failure in them incumbents must have received broad training which has furnished a very adequate comprehensive and preferably an exceptional background and foundation in chemistry, physics, mathematics and related sciences. They must have a thorough knowledge of recent accomplishments in the field of chemistry and a thorough knowledge of modern literature in chemistry and its related sciences. They must also have been trained in the use of written language and be fitted for advancement into more responsible and exacting positions.

(4) Method of obtaining basic knowledge and training. The only place to obtain broad reliable training in the fundamentals of the various sciences involved of the level and extent required for the proper performance of these duties is in a college or university of recognized standing where a full staff of competent instructors are available and where adequate laboratory facilities exist and suitable standards for completeness of the program and thoroughness of the methods of instructions are maintained.

(b) Grades, P–2 through P–8—(1) Educational requirements. Applicants must have successfully completed one of the following:

(i) A full 4-year course, in a college or university of recognized standing, leading to a bachelor's degree in chemistry. This study must have included courses in chemistry consisting of lectures, recitations and appropriate practical laboratory work totaling at least 30 semester hours; or

(ii) Courses in chemistry, in a college or university of recognized standing, consisting of lectures, recitations and appropriate practical laboratory work totaling at least 30 semester hours plus additional appropriate experience or education which, when combined with the 30 semester hours in chemistry, will total 4 years of education and experience and give the applicant the substantial equivalent of a 4-year college course.

In either subdivisions (i) or (ii) of this subparagraph, the courses must have included analytical chemistry, both quantitative and qualitative, and in addition, any two of the following: (a) Advanced Inorganic Chemistry; (b) Biochemistry; (c) Organic Chemistry; (d) Physical Chemistry. All of these courses must have been acceptable for credit toward the completion of a standard 4-year professional curriculum leading to a bachelor's degree in chemistry at a college or university of recognized standing.

(2) Restrictions of certification for highly technical positions. For those positions involving highly complicated or fundamental scientific research or similar difficult scientific duties, certification may be restricted to those eligibles who show the successful completion of a full college education in chemistry in a college or university of recognized standing.

(3) Duties. The duties of the P–2 to P–8 chemist are: to perform, conduct, plan, or direct scientific investigative, developmental, or fundamental research work in one or more of the specialized fields of chemistry; to collect, examine, and interpret scientific data; to coordinate assignments and programs; to prepare budget estimates for specified research programs; and to perform related duties as assigned.

(i) Those positions in chemistry requiring, as a positive requirement, formal education to the extent only of 30 semester hours of college study in chemistry supplemented by appropriate experience or education are characterized as follows:

The solution of specific problems of limited scope which does not involve the application of all the principles of the scientific fields related to chemistry—in general, problems where a broad viewpoint or training is not necessarily required; conducting important chemical analyses of material; directing the standardization and testing of well-known types of equipment or instruments; developing modifications of standard procedures, tests, techniques, etc.; making literature surveys of the field; and preparing, editing, and reviewing technical reports on the results of the work performed in the field of professional chemistry.

(ii) Those positions requiring the successful completion of four years of college or university training in chemistry are characterized as follows:

Critical investigative work requiring a sound knowledge of the fundamental laws, theories, principles and terminology of chemistry and related sciences and having for its objective the discovery of new facts, the development of new theories or principles, or a new interpretation of known facts, leading to a revision of accepted theories and laws.

The application in new ways of known complex scientific laws and facts to the development of new processes, techniques, devices or products.

The coordination of a broad research program requiring the combined efforts of several specialists in different scientific fields. The leader of such a program must have an understanding of the scientific principles, procedures and potentialities of the scientific fields involved, and the ability to coordinate the activities of the various specialists.

(4) Knowledge and training requisite for performance of duties. The minimum amount of formalized training required for the successful performance of the duties described in subparagraph (3) (i) of this paragraph consists of the completion of 30 semester hours of study in chemistry in a college or university of recognized standing. This study represents essentially the fundamental body of knowledge of the science of chemistry. It includes courses in the principal fields of chemistry (analytical, inorganic, organic, and physical) which are required to furnish the basic knowledge for any type of professional work in chemistry. In addition, it is supplemented by laboratory training in the application of the scientific principles involving the use of apparatus and equipment, and skills essential to work in chemistry. A familiarity with scientific literature, especially the methods by which such literature is compiled, classified, indexed and made available is also a necessary part of such education. And finally, the training will include experience in preparing technical reports in which it is necessary to organize material logically, to make clear distinctions between theory and facts, to make precise and unambiguous statements and to draw conclusions that are useful and fully warranted by experimental results.

The minimum amount of training required for the successful performance of the duties described in subparagraph (3) (ii) of this paragraph is the completion of a 4-year college course leading to a bachelor's degree in a college or university of recognized standing, including or supplemented by 30 semester hours of study in chemistry. Such a college course consists of laboratory work (including the use of complex apparatus) lectures, recitations, seminars, and selected reading in chemistry and other fields given under competent instruction and guidance. Such a curriculum is planned and integrated so as to provide a sound and comprehensive training not only in chemistry but in related subjects such as physics, mathematics, biology, engineering, etc. Training in the fundamentals of other fields affords the necessary breadth of knowledge as well as an understanding of the inter-relationships of different fields. New advances in science flow from the combination of new knowledge, sometimes from widely separated fields. The justification for requiring a full 4-year college course for certain positions is that it is the only known method by which a broad understanding of the fundamentals of various related fields may be acquired. Full recognition is also given to the importance of training in verbal facility and the development of facility in logical thinking and expression. The research scientist must be able to present the results of his work clearly and concisely both orally and in written form.

(5) Method of obtaining basic knowledge and training. Subparagraphs (1)–(4) of this paragraph contain statements of the minimum knowledge and training required to carry on successfully professional work in two broad areas in the field of chemistry. The only method by which such knowledge and training may be acquired is by attending a college or university where competent instruction and guidance is available, where courses are arranged in a systematic progressive schedule and where adequate laboratory facilities and libraries are provided, and where objective evaluations are made of a person's progress in acquiring professional and scientific information.

(6) Justification of educational requirement. The world of today is conscious that it is living in an atomic age and the people of the United States are aware of the urgent need for fundamental research and developmental work in all scientific fields in order to safeguard and improve the nation's security, health, and general welfare. The Congress has given recognition to the vital necessity for such scientific research and developmental work and has authorized, through appropriations, the spending of large sums of money for varied and important programs. These programs are carried on by the various departments and agencies of the Federal Government, and have resulted in very notable achievements in scientific research during World War II.

The advances in the various sciences, during World War II, have been outstanding and of major importance. Particularly is this true of the field of chemistry in all of its branches and further advances will depend on the number of highly qualified and properly trained chemists who are competent to explore the particular field in which a research problem is centered. Concurrent with these advances in the fields of science is the flow of new scientific knowledge, so that persons engaged in highly complicated scientific research in a specialized field of chemistry must of necessity possess the fundamental scientific knowledge characteristic of their own field and in addition that of certain allied fields in order that they may successfully attack these complex problems with which they are faced.

Private industry doing research in chemistry has long recognized the necessity for broadly trained men for professional chemists' positions who are well-grounded in the fundamentals of the sciences involved. They are required to have education represented by at least the attainment of a bachelor's degree in the science, and in many instances a doctor of philosophy degree with specialization in a particular field is demanded.

§ 24.29 Physicist, P–1 through P–8.—(a) Educational requirements. Applicants must have successfully completed one of the following:

(1) A full 4-year course, in a college or university of recognized standing, leading to a bachelor's degree in physics. This study must have included courses in physics consisting of lectures, recitations, and appropriate practical laboratory work totaling at least 24 semester hours; or

(2) Courses in physics, in a college or university of recognized standing, consisting of lectures, recitations, and appropriate practical laboratory work totaling at least 24 semester hours; plus additional appropriate experience or education which when combined with the 24 semester hours in physics will total 4 years of education and experience and give the applicant the substantial equivalent of a 4-year college course.

In either subparagraph (1) or (2) of this paragraph, the courses must have included a fundamental course in general physics and in addition any two of the following: (i) Electricity and magnetism; (ii) heat; (iii) light; (iv) mechanics; (v) modern physics; (vi) sound. All of these courses must have been acceptable for credit toward the completion of a standard 4-year professional curriculum leading to a bachelor's degree in physics at a college or university of recognized standing.

NOTE: For those positions involving highly complicated or fundamental scientific research or similar difficult duties, certification may be restricted to those eligibles who show the successful completion of a full college education in physics in a college or university of recognized standing.

(b) Duties. (1) Those positions in physics requiring, as a positive requirement, formal education to the extent only of 24 semester hours of college study in physics supplemented by appropriate experience or education are characterized as follows:

The solution of specific problems of limited scope which do not involve the application of all the principles of the scientific fields related to physics—in general; problems where a broad viewpoint or training is not necessarily required; conducting important physical tests of material and scientific instruments; directing the standardization and testing of well known types of equipment or instruments; developing modifications of standard procedures, tests, techniques, etc.; making literature surveys of the field; and preparing, editing, and reviewing technical reports on the results of the work performed in the field of professional physics.

(2) Those positions requiring the successful completion of four years of college or university training in physics are characterized as follows:

Critical investigative work requiring a sound knowledge of the fundamental laws, theories, principles and terminology of physics and related sciences and having for its objective the discovery of new facts, the development of new theories or principles, or a new interpretation of known facts, leading to a revision of accepted theories and laws.

The application in new ways of known complex scientific laws and facts to the development of new processes, techniques, devices or products.

The coordination of a broad research program requiring the combined efforts of several specialists in different scientific fields. The leader of such a program must have an understanding of the scientific principles, procedures and potentialities of the scientific fields involved, and the ability to coordinate the activities of the various specialists.

(c) Knowledge and training requisite for performance of duties. The minimum amount of formalized training required for the successful performance of the duties described under paragraph (b) (1) of this section consists of the completion of 24 semester hours of study in physics in a college or university of recognized standing. This study represents essentially the fundamental body of knowledge of the science of physics. It includes courses in the principal fields of physics (heat, light, sound, mechanics, electricity and magnetism) which are required to furnish the basic knowledge for any type of professional work in physics. In addition, it is supplemented by laboratory training in the application of the scientific principles involving the use of apparatus and equipment, and skills essential to work in physics. A familiarity with scientific literature, especially the methods by which such literature is compiled, classified, indexed and made available is also a necessary part of such education. And finally, the training will include experience in preparing technical reports in which it is necessary to organize material logically, to make clear distinctions between theory and facts, to make precise and unambiguous statements and to draw conclusions that are useful and fully warranted by experimental results.

The minimum amount of training required for the successful performance of the duties described in paragraph (b) (2) of this section is the completion of a 4-year college course leading to a bachelor's degree in a college or university of recognized standing, including or supplemented by 24 semester hours of study in physics. Such a college course consists of laboratory work (including the use of complex apparatus), lectures, recitations, seminars, and selected reading in physics and other fields given under competent instruction and guidance. Such a curriculum is planned and integrated so as to provide a sound and comprehensive training not only in physics but in related subjects such as chemistry, mathematics, biology, engineering, etc. Training in the fundamentals of other fields affords the necessary breadth of knowledge as well as an understanding of the inter-relationships of different fields. New advances in science flow from the combination of new knowledges, sometimes from widely separated fields. The justification for requiring a full 4-year college course for certain positions is that it is the only known method by which a broad understanding of the fundamentals of various related fields may be acquired. Full recognition is also given to the importance of training in verbal facility and the development of facility in logical thinking and expression. The research scientist must be able to present the results of his work clearly and concisely both orally and in written form.

(d) Method of obtaining basic knowledge and training. Paragraphs (a)–(d) of this section contain statements of the minimum knowledge and training required to carry on successfully professional work in two broad areas in the field of physics. The only method by which such knowledge and training may be acquired is by attending a college or university where competent instruction and guidance is available, where courses are arranged in a systematic progressive schedule and where adequate laboratory facilities and libraries are provided, and where objective evaluations are made of a person's progress in acquiring professional and scientific information.

§ 24.30 Engineer, Trainee, SP–3, SP–4, SP–5.—(a) Education requirement. Applicants must have graduated from an accredited high school and must have successfully completed the following high school work:

English	3 units
Algebra	1 unit
Plane geometry	1 unit
Solid geometry	½ unit
History	1 unit

(b) Duties. The duties of an Engineer Trainee position will consist of a combination of (1) on the job training at Wright Field, Dayton, Ohio, and (2) scholastic training in Engineering at a university designated by the Air Matériel Command.

(c) Knowledge and training requisite for performance of duties. The applicant must be qualified to meet the university entrance requirements in order to enroll for scholastic training in Engineering. Graduation from an accredited high school and completion of the courses listed in the education requirement are required for admission into an engineering course at a college or university of recognized standing. The education prescribed above is therefore necessary for the adequate performance of the duties listed for the Engineer Trainee position.

(1) A full 4-year course, in a college or university of recognized standing, including courses in geology consisting of lectures, recitations and appropriate practical laboratory and field work totaling at least 30 semester hours; or

(2) Courses in geology, in a college or university of recognized standing, consisting of lectures, recitations and appropriate practical laboratory and field work totaling at least 30 semester hours plus additional appropriate experience or education which when combined with the 30 semester hours in geology will total 4 years of education and experience and give the applicant the substantial equivalent of a 4-year college course.

In either subparagraph (1) or (2) of this paragraph, the 30 semester hours must include or have been supplemented by any five of the following: (i) Physiography; (ii) structural geology; (iii) geophysics; (iv) mineralogy; (v) petrology; (vi) optical mineralogy; (vii) economic geology (metals, non-metals or fuels); (viii) ground water geology; (ix) invertebrate paleontology; (x) stratigraphy; (xi) sedimentation; (xii) map interpretation; (xiii) field geology.

(b) Duties. Appointees conduct or assist in professional geological work in one or more of the specialized fields of geology. This work usually involves scientific research of more than ordinary difficulty and requires a knowledge of the fundamental principles of other sciences connected with such geological investigations. In the higher grades in addition to performing difficult and responsible individual work many of these geologists occupy administrative and supervisory positions, planning the work of a group of geologists, or reviewing and directing the activities of lower grade geologists or assistants. The duties performed and the responsibilities assumed will vary with and be commensurate with the grade of the position.

Typical duties of geologists include: Making maps showing the location and character of rock formations, mineral deposits, ore deposits, underground water, etc., recording factual data about each and sampling systematically for laboratory study; examining and making generic and specific identification of fossil material requiring a knowledge of paleontology, systematic classification, the structure and evolution of various classes of organisms and the principles of nomenclature; making investigations of sedimentation resulting from accelerated soil erosion; classifying sedimentary deposits; preparing technically comprehensive and scientifically and economically sound reports including such items as the compilation of accurate maps from field triangulation, cadastral surveys and aerial photographs using pho-togrammetric and other methods; constructing cross sections, three-dimensional diagrams, charts and tables illustrative of observed, inferred or computed subsurface relationships of rock formations involved in folds, or offset by the several kinds of faults or cut by intersecting dikes or mineral bearing veins; the analysis, appraisal and summation of various kinds of geologic data.

(c) Knowledge and training requisite for performance of duties. For the successful performance of the duties described in paragraph (a) of this section, the geologist needs a basic general knowledge of the principles of stratigraphy, sedimentation, structural geology, paleontology, ore deposition, and mineralogy; and a specialized knowledge of the following: The various types of sedimentary, igneous and metamorphic rocks; the rank and grade of coals; the porosity and permeability of rocks as potential reservoirs of oil and of underground water; the distinctive structural features and paragenesis of ore veins; the criteria for the evalution of unconformities, the geomorphic cycles that have sculptured the landscape and their correlation with Tertiary and Quaternary sediments; the processes of erosion and sedimentation; the applications of mathematics and the physical and biological sciences to geological problems.

(d) Methods of obtaining basic knowledge and training. The only place to obtain broad reliable training in the fundamentals of the various sciences involved of the level and extent required for the proper performance of the duties described in paragraph (b) of this section is in a college or university of recognized standing where a full staff of competent instructors are available and where adequate laboratory facilities exist and suitable standards for completeness of the program and thoroughness of the methods of instructions are maintained.

§ 24.32 Bacteriologist, P–1, P–2, P–3, (option, agricultural)—(a) Educational requirement. Applicants must have successfully completed, in a college or university of recognized standing, courses consisting of lectures, recitations, and appropriate laboratory work totaling at least twenty semester hours in either bacteriology or in any combination of bacteriology, biology and biochemistry which includes at least ten semester hours in bacteriology.

(b) Duties. Appointees conduct or assist in scientific, investigative or fundamental research work in one or more of the specialized fields of bacteriology. This work involves the careful collection of scientific data and the examination, study and interpretation of this data requiring a knowledge of the fundamental principles of Bacteriology and related sciences and the ability to apply them. The work also necessitates a knowledge of and ability to apply laboratory methods and techniques and requires familiarity with the apparatus and instruments used.

With supervision received and responsibilities carried varying in accordance with the grade occupied, appointees study, describe and identify organisms which are responsible for: the deterioration and spoilage of foodstuffs, the changes in and the improvement or degradation of soils, the precipitation from solution of valuable chemicals, etc. They work out details for carrying out plans and programs. They supervise the work of laboratory aides and technicians engaged in bacteriological examinations. They observe, tabulate, and study results and they write reports describing the work and discussing the results.

(c) Knowledge and training requisite for performance of duties. The science of Bacteriology includes the study of the properties of bacteria as living animal or plant organisms capable of producing beneficial or harmful effects on other organisms directly or by means of substances resulting from their growth or metabolic processes. Such study involves investigation of the physical and chemical changes that accompany the growth, development and degradation of the species and therefore demands a knowledge of the related sciences of Biology, Chemistry and Physics. The laboratory techniques of the latter sciences as well as those used in bacteriological examination such as methods of bacterial culture, development of strain virility, and the isolation of friendly bacteria, etc., is in turn demanded in order to solve the problems of the sciences. Closely supervised training and knowledge of specialized equipment and its use can only be obtained in institutions that have been thoroughly investigated and found to possess competent instructors, adequate resources, and the essential scientific laboratory equipment.

(d) Method of obtaining basic knowledge and training. The technical knowledge required for the performance of the duties described in paragraph (b) of this section can be obtained only by attending and completing courses in a recognized college, university or medical school.

§ 24.33 Engineering positions involving highly technical research, design or development, or similar functions—(a) Educational requirement. Applicants must have successfully completed a full college course in engineering.

(b) Duties. Professional engineering positions which require the successful completion of four years of college or university training are those positions "involving highly technical research, design and development or similar functions", the duties of which include the performance of such functions as the following:

(1) A critical investigation requiring a high level of intelligence and a sound knowledge of fundamental scientific concepts, principles, and terminology and having for its aim the discovery of new facts or principles, the interpretation of new knowledge or the more complete interpretation of facts already known, or the revision of accepted conclusions, theories, and laws in the light of newly discovered facts; or

(2) The application of known complex scientific laws, facts and discoveries, in new and untried ways to develop new or improved processes, techniques, methods of production, devices, or products; or

(3) In general those scientific activities of an extremely complex nature in which new methods are devised, or new and advanced contributions to knowledge are developed.

(c) Knowledge and training requisite for performance of duties. It is widely recognized that improvement in, and the safeguarding of, the health, security, and welfare of the nation and the modernization and safe and adequate design of large and complicated engineering structures is dependent upon the quality and extensiveness of the scientific and engineering research and development activities of the nation. These problems are recognized as of such vital importance to the activities and existence of the nation that the Federal Government, through its various departments and agencies, is required by Congress to engage in scientific research and development.

In their infancy scientific and engineering research were of necessity concerned with the discovery of the simpler and more elementary facts, laws and processes of nature. However, so much has now been learned about the facts, laws, materials and processes of nature, and so complex are the concepts and tools of modern science and engineering that personnel engaged today in carrying out highly technical scientific and engineering research, design, or development and similar functions must possess special qualifications if their work is to be productive and in step with the times.

The more successful establishments throughout the country now require of applicants for research and similar scientifically exacting positions at least a bachelor's degree and frequently a doctorate in scientific subjects. Because of the complexity of scientific knowledge, concepts and specialized tools required for satisfactory achievement in modern engineering research, design and development, and because of the difficulty of acquiring proficiency in the scientific fields, agencies of the Federal Government must have for certain positions in scientific work, personnel who have a sound fundamental knowledge in the sciences and the ability to apply this theoretical knowledge to the interpretation of data gathered in the fields of research or to the production or development of new processes, devices or techniques.

(d) Method of obtaining basic knowledge and training. Positions in the engineering field as defined in paragraph (b) of this section require the completion of a full four year course in engineering in a college or university of recognized standing to insure technical knowledge and training of the level and extent required for the proper performance of these duties. In the professional schools of such institutions a student receives competent instruction and guidance in the technical and theoretical subjects that he will have to apply in his profession. He attends seminars and lectures, has access to scientific libraries and works in well equipped laboratories provided by the professional schools. In these schools prevailing practices have undergone analysis and those found to be most effective have been organized into relevant courses of instruction. Through training received in the professional schools the student receives competent instruction in specialized fields and is expertly guided in his selection of readings from available literature which is so voluminous that no individual could master it by random study. The required studies represent information from a variety of fields and the student cannot cover the material except through supervised courses of study designed to provide a comprehensive understanding of the subject.

NOTE: The provisions of § 24.12 are applicable to this section.

§ 24.35 Geophysicist, P–2 through P–6—(a) Educational requirements. For those positions involving highly complicated or fundamental scientific research or similar difficult scientific duties, certification may be restricted to those eligibles who show the successful completion of a full college education in a pertinent field in a college or university of recognized standing.

(b) Duties. The duties of the P–2 to P–6 geophysicist are: (1) Planning, directing, and making geophysical observations in the field or at fixed stations, interpreting the results, preparing charts, tabulations, and securing other scientific information required in observations for interpretations, designing or assisting in constructing specialized operatives and equipment for use in connection with geophysical investigations; (2) conducting or assisting in geophysical prospecting, explorations, or other geophysical observations; (3) making reports, and preparing articles for publication.

These positions involving the duties described in subparagraphs (1)–(3) of this paragraph and requiring the successful completion of four years of pertinent college or university training are characterized as follows:

(i) Critical investigative work requiring a sound knowledge of the fundamental laws, theories, principles and terminology of geophysics and the related sciences and having for its objective the discovery of new facts, the development of new theories or principles, or a new interpretation of known facts, leading to a revision of accepted theories and laws.

(ii) The application, in new ways, of known complex scientific laws and facts to the development of new techniques or devices.

(iii) The coordination and planning of a broad research program requiring the combined efforts of several specialists in different scientific fields, in which the leader of the program must have a thorough understanding of the scientific principles, procedures and potentialities of the scientific fields involved, and the ability to coordinate the activities of the various specialists.

(c) Knowledge and training requisite for performance of duties. The minimum amount of training required for the successful performance of the duties described in paragraph (b) of this section is the completion of a 4-year college course leading to a bachelor's degree in a college or university of recognized standing including a minimum of 30 semester hours credit in either geology, mathematics, physics, geophysics, engineering, or closely allied subjects, or any combination thereof. Such college courses include laboratory work (including the use of complex apparatus), lectures, recitations, seminars, and selected reading in various fields all given under competent instruction and guidance. Such curricula are planned and integrated so as to provide a sound and broad training in related scientific fields. Training in the fundamentals of various related scientific fields affords the necessary breadth of knowledge as well as an understanding of the inter-relationships of different fields. New advances in science flow from the combination of new knowledge, sometimes from widely separated fields. The justification for requiring a full 4-year college course for certain positions is that it is the only known method by which a bread understanding of the fundamentals of various related fields may be acquired. Full recognition is also given to the importance of training in verbal facility and the development of facility in logical thinking and expression. The research scientist must be able to present the results of his work clearly and concisely both orally and in written form.

(d) Method of obtaining basic knowledge and training. Paragraphs (a)–(c) of this section contain statements of the minimum knowledge and training required to carry on successfully professional complex research work in the field of geophysics. The only method by which such knowledge and training may be acquired is by attending a college or university where competent instruction and guidance is available, where courses are arranged in a systematic progressive schedule and where adequate laboratory facilities and libraries are provided, and where objective evaluations are made of a person's progress in acquiring professional and scientific information.

(e) Justification. All people throughout the world today are conscious that they are living in a rapidly moving world and the people of the United States are particularly aware of the urgent need for fundamental research and developmental work in all scientific fields in order to safeguard and improve the nation's security, health, and general welfare. The Congress has given recognition to the vital necessity for such scientific research and developmental work and has authorized, through appropriations, the spending of large sums of money for varied and important programs. These programs are carried on by the various departments and agencies of the Federal Government, and have resulted in very notable achievements in scientific research during World War II.

The advances in the various physical sciences, during World War II, have been outstanding and of major importance. This is especially true in the field of geophysics and many of the advances in the allied sciences have been useful in the field of geophysics. Further advances will depend on the number of highly qualified and properly trained geophysicists who are competent to explore the particular phase of the work on which a research problem is centered. Concurrent with these advances in the fields of science is the flow of new scientific knowledge from all fields, so that persons engaged in highly complicated scientific research in geophysics must of necessity possess the fundamental scientific knowledge characteristic of their own field and in addition that of certain allied fields in order that they may successfully attack those complex problems with which they are faced.

§ 24.36 Junior Professional Assistant—(a) Educational requirements—(1) Mathematician. Mathematicians will perform or assist in performing mathematical calculations and computations incident to investigative, developmental and research work in the scientific fields such as engineering, physics, astronomy, etc. These duties include mathematical and statistical analyses of observational data, computation of scientific tables, preparation of graphs and charts, writing scientific reports and practical computations on engineering and scientific problems involving higher mathematics. This work requires a thorough knowledge of basic mathematics such as trigonometric equations, differentiation, integration, solution of differential equations, development and application of formulea, etc. as well as familiarity with other related scientific fields.

Applicants must have successfully completed one of the following:

(i) A full 4-year course, in a college or university of recognized standing, leading to a bachelor's degree in mathematics. This study must have included courses in mathematics consisting of lectures and recitations totaling at least 24 semester hours, and courses in the physical sciences (engineering, physics, geology, astronomy, chemistry, etc.) totaling 12 semester hours.

(ii) Courses in mathematics, in a college, or university of recognized standing, consisting of lectures and recitations totaling at least 24 semester hours; plus additional appropriate experience or education in scientific fields which when combined with the 24 semester hours in mathematics will total 4 years of education and experience and give the applicant the substantial equivalent of the 4-year college course prescribed under (i) above. The following are types of experience which will be accepted in combination with education to complete the 4-year requirement:

Subprofessional or professional experience in the mathematical or statistical analysis of observational data in the physical or biological sciences which provided a working knowledge of the theory and application of mathematical principles.

Research experience in such fields as physics, chemistry, engineering, biology, etc. which involved the evaluation of reports and the organization of experimental data. Subprofessional and higher grade laboratory work, production or manufacturing involving technical duties, and similar types of work which provide a means of obtaining a working

(b) Restriction of certification for highly technical positions. For positions involving highly technical research, design or development, or similar functions, certification may be restricted to eligibles who show the successful completion of a full college course in the appropriate option.

(c) Duties. The options selected for the current Junior Professional Assistant examination are of highly specialized nature, having to do with original research, design or development or other functions of comparable scope or difficulty.

Appointees perform professional work in the appropriate specialized field or option in connection with (1) the study, collection, investigation, classification, analysis, preservation and interpretation of data, documents, exhibits or publications in one or more of the social or physical sciences, or (2) a wide variety of projects requiring the use or development of technical equipment, laboratory apparatus, chemical compounds and solutions, other scientific instruments, or research methods and devices.

(d) Knowledge and training requisite for performance of duties. The Junior Professional Assistant positions are at the entrance level to a career in the scientific and professional service. Appointees must have an understanding of the fundamental important basic principles, methods and skills required in the appropriate scientific or professional field, and they must be equipped with considerable specialized knowledge if they are to deal in an effective manner with the varied and diversified problems to be encountered. This may only be obtained through instruction and training where an adequate comprehensive and preferably an exceptional background and foundation in the appropriate scientific or professional field is furnished. A thorough knowledge of the literature of the scientific or professional field is essential together with the ability to understand and make use of that which has been written. Incumbents must, to a marked degree, be fitted to advance into more responsible, more technical and more exacting positions.

(e) Method of obtaining basic knowledge and training. The professional and scientific knowledge and training, of the level and extent required for the proper performance of these duties, can be obtained only by attending and completing major study in the appropriate option at a college or university of recognized standing, where a full staff of competent instructors and adequate library, laboratory and other research facilities are available and where suitable standards regarding completeness of program and attainment of proficiency may be enforced.

§ 24.37 Occupational Therapist, P–1 and above—(a) Educational requirement. Applicants must show graduation from schools of occupational therapy approved by the American Medical Association.

(b) Duties. Occupational therapists work under medical supervision administering occupational therapy treatments to patients in Government hospitals involving programs in functional treatment for physical disabilities such as orthopedic conditions, fractures, lacerations, amputations, nerve injuries, plastic surgery and neuro-psychosis disabilities; keeping daily records of treatments, work and progress of each patient under treatment, planning and executing projects in trades, industries, agriculture, crafts, habit training, etc. In the higher grades, occupational therapists, in addition to administering occupational therapy, direct the work of occupational therapists of lower grades. The duties performed and the responsibilities assumed vary with and are proportionate to the grade of the position.

(c) Knowledge and training requisite for performance of duties. The field of occupational therapy has developed to such an extent that the scope which it now encompasses is very dissimilar to that after World War I. Occupational Therapy has progressed to such an extent that detailed study is necessary to learn the application of arts and crafts and trades and industries in the treatment of injured and disabled patients. These occupations are utilized not to amuse the patients or to give recreation, but are to be used as a means of treatment. As directed by the Medical Officer, the occupational therapist instructs the patient in occupations in order to regain, for example, flexion of the fingers, or to loosen adhesions in a stiff joint such as the knee joint.

Occupational Therapists must learn anatomy, kinesiology, physiology, normal and abnormal psychology, and basic arts and crafts. They must be instructed how to apply the occupations in the treatment of patients. They must learn thoroughly what treatments may be given and how to give them; they must learn what they must not do. They must fully understand the indications and contra-indications for occupational therapy treatment to a particular patient. The Occupational Therapists must be trained to recognize symptoms of over-exercise or fatigue or certain functional difficulties which may be developed in a patient under treatment. This knowledge can only be obtained in properly equipped schools with capable instructors.

The teaching of arts and crafts and trades and industries under occupation therapy programs differs from the manner in which such things are taught to enable persons to learn a trade. The emphasis on the type of work done for this and the type of work assigned to a particular individual is different, that is, the objective is fundamentally therapy for the patient.

(d) Method of obtaining basic knowledge and training. The Administrator of Veterans Affairs, acting under authority vested in him by 59 Stat. 675; 38 U. S. C., Sup., 15–15n, has prescribed the educational requirements set forth in paragraphs (a)–(c) of this section for occupational therapists in the Veterans' Administration. The desirability of having uniform requirements for occupational therapist positions for all Government agencies plus the fact that the technical knowledge required for the performance of the duties listed in paragraphs (a)–(c) of this section can be obtained only by attending and completing a full course in an approved school of occupational therapy justify the prescribed educational requirements.

§ 24.38 Physical Therapist, P–1 and above — (a) Educational requirement. Applicants must show graduation from schools of physical therapy approved by the American Medical Association, or, if graduation was prior to 1936, graduation from schools of physical therapy approved by the American Physical Therapy Association.

(b) Duties. Physical therapists administer under medical supervision physical therapy in its special branches including massage, electrotherapy, actinotherapy, hydrotherapy, and remedial exercise; keep a daily work record of the progress of the patients under treatment.

As examples of work performed as physical therapists: Give general and local massage; give or supervise active, passive, or resistive exercise; administer ultraviolet ray and electrotherapy; give thermotherapy, hydrotherapy, and mechanotherapy; watch temperature and length of treatment and take the necessary precautions to protect the patient from heat, prolonged cold, etc.; keep clinic in order; make daily, weekly, and monthly reports of progress of patients; keep apparatus in order. In the higher grades, physical therapists, in addition to administering physical therapy, direct the work of physical therapists of lower grades. The duties performed and the responsibilities assumed vary with and are proportionate to the grade of the position.

(c) Knowledge and training requisite for performance of duties. During the last twenty years, the field of physical therapy has progressed to such an extent that the physical therapy duties, as now required, cannot compare to those of World War I and the years immediately following that time. Physical therapy treatments are exacting and also dangerous if not performed by persons with adequate knowledge of the indications and contra-indication for such treatments and the symptoms of patients under treatment. The equipment is varied and consists of a large number of different types of more or less intricate apparatus which must be thoroughly understood in order to give adequate treatments safely. Improper treatment, in extreme cases, can result in the death of the patient, or, when using heat through water or electrical apparatus, it can result in stubborn burns which are very difficult to heal and which may seriously handicap the patient in the endeavor to bring him back to health.

(d) Method of obtaining basic knowledge and training. The Administrator of Veterans' Affairs, acting under authority vested in him by 59 Stat. 675; 38 U. S. C., Sup., 15–15n has prescribed the above educational requirements for physical therapists in the Veterans' Administration. The desirability of having uniform requirements for physical therapist positions for all Government agencies plus the fact that the technical knowledge required for the performance of the duties listed above can be obtained only by attending and completing a full course in an approved school of physical therapy justify the prescribed educational requirements.

§ 24.39 Mathematician P–2 through P–8 where the duties involve highly complicated or fundamental scientific research or similar difficult scientific duties—(a) Educational requirement. The successful completion of a four-year course in a college or university of recognized standing leading to a bachelor's degree in mathematics. This study must have included courses in mathematics consisting of lectures and recitations totaling at least 24 semester hours and in addition courses in the physical sciences (engineering, physics, geology, astronomy, chemistry, etc.) totaling 12 semester hours. The courses must have included analytical geometry, differential calculus, integral calculus and in addition any 3 of the following: Theory of Equations, Vector Analysis, Statistics, Higher Algebra (beyond elementary college algebra), Differential Equations, Advanced Differential Calculus, Advanced Integral Calculus.

(b) Duties. The duties of the P–2 to P–8 mathematician are: performing, conducting, planning, or directing mathematical work involving calculations and computations incident to investigative, developmental and research work in the scientific fields such as engineering, physics, astronomy, etc.; collecting, examining and interpreting scientific data; coordinating assignments and programs; planning mathematical procedures for scientific field trips; preparing reports and manuals, and editing or preparing articles for publication.

Those positions requiring the successful completion of four years of college or university training are characterized as follows:

Critical investigative work requiring a sound knowledge of the fundamental laws, theories, principles and terminology of mathematics and related sciences and having for its objective the development of new or improved methods of analysis, the development or extension of new theories or principles, or a new interpretation of known facts, leading to a revision of accepted theories and laws.

The application in new ways of known complex mathematical laws and facts to the development of new techniques or devices.

The coordination of a broad research program requiring the combined efforts of several specialists in different scientific fields. The leader of such a program must have an understanding of the mathematical principles, procedures and potentialities of the scientific fields involved, and the ability to coordinate the activities of the various specialists.

(c) Knowledge and training requisite for performance of duties. The urgent need for fundamental research and developmental work in all scientific fields in order to safeguard and improve the nation's security, and general welfare is apparent. The Congress of the United States has recognized the vital necessity for such scientific research and developmental work and has authorized through appropriations the spending of large sums of money for varied and important research programs. These programs are carried on by the various departments and agencies of the Federal government and have resulted in very notable achievements in scientific research during World War II.

The advances in the various sciences during World War II have been outstanding and of major importance. Especially in the fields of physical science and of engineering have these advances been dependent upon and interrelated to mathematics in all its branches. Mathematics is an indispensable tool in expressing basic laws and concepts in these fields, in interpreting experimental data, in extending old or establishing new concepts of matter and energy, and in establishing basic hypotheses for experimental work in new fields. Further advances in the physical sciences and in engineering will depend on the number of highly qualified and properly trained mathematicians who are competent to explore from a mathematical standpoint the particular field in which a research problem is centered. Concurrent with these advances in the fields of science is the flow of new scientific knowledge, so that persons engaged in highly complicated mathematical computations in a specialized field must of necessity possess the fundamental knowledge characteristic of mathematics and in addition that of pertinent allied fields in order that they may successfully attack complex problems.

Private industry requiring mathematicians for research positions has long recognized the necessity for broadly trained men for professional mathematics positions who are well grounded in the fundamentals of the sciences involved. They are required to have education represented by at least the attainment of a bachelor's degree in mathematics and, in many cases, a higher degree with specialization in a particular field is demanded.

(d) Method of obtaining the basic knowledge and training. Paragraphs (a)–(c) of this section contain statements of the minimum knowledge and training required to carry on successfully professional research work in the field of mathematics. The only method by which such knowledge and training may be acquired is by attending a college or university where competent instruction and guidance are available, where courses are arranged in a systematic progressive schedule and where adequate laboratory facilities and libraries are provided, and where objective evaluations are made of a person's progress in acquiring professional and scientific information.

§ 24.40 Instructor, Meteorology P–2 through P–5—(a) Educational requirement. All applicants must have successfully completed a resident course of study in Weather Forecasting Theory at a military school or college, or a curriculum of study which included or has been supplemented by at least 20 semester hours of study consisting of laboratory work in synoptic meteorology and forecasting, and fundamental courses in synoptic and dynamic meteorology at a college or university of recognized standing.

(b) Duties. With varying degrees of responsibility commensurate with the grades indicated, to instruct military personnel in one or more of the following subjects: Surface Charts and Weather Forecasting, Auxiliary Charts and Diagrams, Air Mass Analysis, Synoptic Meteorology, Dynamic Meteorology, Limited Data Analysis, World Geography and Climatology, Extended and Long Range Forecasting, Weather Station Operation, Staff Weather Subjects, Oceanography, Applied Micro-Meteorology, Tropical Meteorology, Anomalous Radar Propagation, In-Flight Weather Observation, and other related subjects, in accordance with a definite instructional program, or prescribed course of study; to prepare or assist in preparing material for instruction; and to perform related duties as assigned.

(c) Knowledge and training requisite for performance of duties. The advances in the field of meteorology have been largely the result of the application of the laws and concepts of the physical sciences to the solution of the problems of meteorology. A knowledge of the pertinent physical sciences is indispensable in interpreting observational data, in designing and improving the instruments used in making scientific observations, and in extending old or developing new concepts and theories used in forecasting weather. Further advances in meteorology must depend on the number of highly qualified and properly trained meteorologists who are competent to explore the field and make further applications of the new developments in the physical sciences to the science of meteorology. Instructors, therefore, must be fully qualified to teach such technical subjects to those who will be engaged in gathering and interpreting meteorological data.

In order to perform successfully these Instructor duties the applicant must have a knowledge and training in weather forecasting at the full professional level. This knowledge and training can be obtained in either of the following ways: (1) Through four years of experience in meteorology at either a professional or subprofessional level supplemented by the successful completion of a resident course in Weather Forecasting Theory, or (2) Through the successful completion of a four year college course with a major in the physical sciences such as physics, meteorology, mathematics, chemistry, or engineering, including or supplemented by the successful completion of a course of training in Weather Forecasting Theory.

It is not believed that a knowledge of weather forecasting at the full professional level can be acquired without at least some formal training at the professional level. In order to complete a course in Weather Forecasting Theory a knowledge of physics and mathematics is necessary. The necessary background to weather forecasting cannot be obtained without at least some formal educational training in these subjects.

(d) Method of obtaining basic knowledge and training. Paragraphs (a)–(c) of this section contain statements of the minimum knowledge and training required to carry on successfully professional work in the field of meteorology. The only method by which such professional knowledge and training may be acquired is by attending a college or military school or university where competent instruction and guidance are available, where courses are arranged in a systematic progressive schedule and where adequate laboratory facilities and libraries are provided, and where objective evaluations are made of a person's progress in acquiring professional and scientific information.

§ 24.41 Human Biologist, P–7—(a) Educational requirement. Applicants must show the successful completion of a full college course in a college or university of recognized standing with courses totaling at least 20 semester hours credit in either (1) physiology or, (2) a combination of biophysics, biochemistry and physiology which includes at least 10 semester hours credit in physiology.

(b) Duties. The human biologist plans, directs and coordinates research programs in environmental biology to determine the kind and degree of man's physiological responses to all variations of environmental stresses to which he may be subjected upon a world wide scale as these responses are related to his protection against or adaptation to such stresses. Directs the activities of scientists, working principally in research in biophysics, biochemistry, physiology and anthropology to determine man's physiological responses to varying kinds and degrees of environment and how these are modified by such factors as occupation, racial background, anthropological type, age, preconditioning to extreme environmental changes, mental attitudes, etc., to determine the capacities and limitations of the human body in coping with adverse environments, the causes and effects of the environment upon man and possible compensations. Coordinates research programs under his direction with those being conducted elsewhere within the organization to determine the clothing, clothing assemblies, and other specialized types of equipment which will provide maximum protection against and resistance to destructive environmental forces and to analyze and evaluate the elements of environment and develop formula for their correlation with the physical and human biological problems being studied.

(c) Knowledge and training requisite for performance of duties. The duties of this position call for research in environmental effects on a much greater scale than has been done previously. The incumbent of the position must have a broad, extensive background in physiology or in a combination of physiology, biology, biochemistry and biophysics. The training must have been such as to demonstrate ability to develop and direct research programs of sound, practical scope.

(d) Method of obtaining basic knowledge and training. Paragraphs (a)–(c) of this section contain statements of the minimum knowledge and training required to carry on successfully the duties of the position. The only method by which such knowledge and training may be acquired is by attending a college or university where competent instruction and guidance is available, where courses are arranged in a systematic progressive schedule and where adequate laboratory facilities and libraries are provided and where objective evaluations are made of a person's progress in acquiring professional and scientific information.

§ 24.42 U. S. Coast Guard Academy—(a) Instructor of Electrical Engineering, P–4—(1) Educational requirement. Applicants must have successfully completed a 4-year course of study leading to a bachelor's degree in engineering or physics in a college or university of recognized standing.

(2) Duties. The appointee to this position will instruct cadets at the U. S. Coast Guard Academy in electrical engineering including alternating and direct current machines and circuits and engineering electronics. Under the supervision of the head of the engineering department he will prepare daily assignments, using as guides the assigned textbook, reference texts, Coast Guard instructions and manufacturers' and other technical publications. He will give classroom and laboratory instruction and prepare and grade examinations. He will be required to keep himself informed of the latest developments in his technical field and in education methods so that cadets may receive a knowledge of fundamental concepts and techniques in electrical engineering and develop analytical ability which will enable them to perform the duties of commissioned officers of the Coast Guard.

(3) Justification of educational requirement.

NOTE: Justification for Instructor of Electrical Engineering P–4 is the same as the justification for Teacher, All Grades (see § 24.12).

(b) Instructor of Mathematics, P–4—(1)—Educational requirement. Applicants must have successfully completed a 4-year course of study leading to a bachelor's degree with study in mathematics or civil engineering in a college or university of recognized standing.

(2) Duties. The appointee to this position will instruct cadets at the U. S. Coast Guard Academy in mathematics and surveying and related subjects including plane and spherical trigonometry, analytical geometry, plane and hydrographic surveying, differential and integral calculus and analytical mechanics. Under the supervision of the heads of the departments of mathematics and civil engineering he will prepare daily assignments using as guides the assigned textbook, reference texts, Coast Guard instructions and manufacturers' and other technical publications. He will give classroom instruction and prepare and grade examinations. He will be required to keep himself informed of the latest developments in his technical field and in educational methods so that cadets may receive a knowledge of fundamental concepts and techniques and develop analytical ability which will enable them to perform the duties of commissioned officers in the Coast Guard.

(3) Justification of educational requirement.

NOTE: Justification for Instructor of Mathematics, P–4 is the same as the justification for Teacher, All Grades (see § 24.12).

§ 24.43 Archeologist, P–1 to P–4—(a) Educational requirement. (1) Applicants must have completed a four-year course of study in a college or university of recognized standing, including or supplemented by 20 semester hours in anthropology including courses that are acceptable toward a major in anthropolcgy. At least one course in American archeology is required and the training must also have included or been supplemented by at least three months of archeological excavations experience under the direction of a recognized professional archeologist, or

(2) Applicants must have completed 20 semester hours in anthropology including courses that are acceptable toward a major in anthropology. At least one course in American archeology is required. In addition, they must have had three years of education or appropriate experience which when combined with the specialized study described above will give them the equivalent of a four-year college course. This education or experience must have included or been supplemented by at least three months of archeological excavations experience under the direction of a recognized professional archeologist.

(b) Duties. Archeological positions in the Federal service are highly specialized. They involve technical aspects of archeological excavations, collection of museum specimens, and dissemination of information in the archeological field. They also involve the coordination of archeological research with various educational programs. Specific duties performed by archeologists include: Archeological excavations, repair and stabilization of ruins, classification and cataloging museum specimens, preparation of reports on archeological subjects, performance of research in archeological problems, and coordination of the activities of the Federal agency with the efforts of Federal, state, and local organizations interested in preservation of important archeological and historical areas.

(c) Knowledge and training requisite for the performance of duties. In order to preserve, care for, and interpret the archeological resources of the nation, the archeologist must have a thorough knowledge of archeology and related fields and an understanding of field and laboratory research. The archeologist, in order to perform professional duties satisfactorily, must have a knowledge of all technical aspects of the work. He must be able to secure and present to Federal agencies and to the American public authentic and usable information concerning archeological resources.

(d) Method of obtaining basic knowledge and training. The only method known by which persons may obtain the basic knowledge required to perform adequately the duties of a professional archeologist is through training secured in a college or university of recognized standing. The necessary knowledge cannot be gained simply through experience, but requires formal training in method, and formal and comprehensive review under supervision of the principal reports in the field of American Archeology. It also requires specialized and supervised examination of collections of artifacts only available in institutions of learning where courses in the subject are regularly given. Unless an archeologist is properly trained he may do irreparable damage to the resources under consideration.

§ 24.44 Psychologist (Personal Counselor), P–4, Veterans Administration—(a) Educational requirement. Applicants must have successfully completed the following courses in a college or university of recognized standing:

(1) Two courses in abnormal psychology, clinical psychology, mental hygiene, psychopathology, personality or psychology of adjustment.

(2) One course in clinical techniques including individual testing, interviewing, or the case-study method.

(3) One course in differential psychology or tests and measurements (educational, vocational, psychological, personality, attitude) or statistics (psychological or educational).

(4) A total of six additional courses composed of any combination of the courses mentioned above and courses in human biology, neurology, physiological psychology and general, experimental, child, adolescent, social, animal, systematic or industrial psychology.

Completion of all requirements for the Ph. D. degree in psychology except for a thesis will be accepted as meeting this minimum educational requirement.

(b) Duties. Psychologists (Personal Counselor) counsel veterans who during the utilization of Veterans' Administration services for the selection of a vocational objective or in the course of vocational training have personal problems which interfere in their successful vocational rehabilitation. Psychologists (Personal Counselor) confer with Vocational Advisers and Vocational Rehabilitation Training Officers in furthering the vocation rehabilitation of veterans with maladjustments; assist veterans with personal and social maladjustments, using the appropriate therapeutic techniques, with the aim of eliminating their difficulties wherever possible; detect those veterans with serious mental or emotional disturbances and refer them to Veterans Administration Mental Hygiene Clinics or authorized private mental hygiene clinics.

(c) Knowledge and training requisite for performance of duties. In order to adequately counsel maladjusted veterans, the Psychologist (Personal Counselor) must have had a specialized technical background of education and experience in the field of psychology. This background should have provided a thorough knowledge of the principles underlying behavior and of psychological and counseling techniques. The Psychologist (Personal Counselor) must possess such technical knowledge in order that he may counsel veterans in the effort to eliminate the problems which have been blocking their vocational adjustment, thereby assisting in their total rehabilitation. Since Psychologists (Personal Counselor) function without professional direction from psychiatrists, they must have sound preparation which will enable them to make decisions as to which maladjusted veterans, had they not been forced into difficult military or combat situations, would have adjusted to civilian situations with a minimum of difficulty and which ones, because of the serious nature of their social and personal problems, should be referred to mental hygiene clinics for more intensive and extensive treatment.

(d) Method of obtaining basic knowledge and training. The only method known by which persons may obtain the basic knowledges and skills required to perform the duties of this position is through the training given at recognized colleges and universities. Through such training, under instructors having extensive specialized training, the student is able to acquire a knowledge of psychological principles and techniques. Under close professional supervision, he learns the psychological techniques appropriate for dealing with the various types of maladjusted individuals either through close observation of, or actual practice with, clinical cases or through study of a wealth of clinical case material. Such scientific knowledge and skill cannot be acquired and integrated through individual study because the necessary supervision and facilities are not available. The requisite studies represent information from a variety of fields, and the student cannot cover the material except through supervised progressive courses of study designed to provide a comprehensive understanding of the subjects.

(b) "Regularly scheduled administrative workweek" for full-time officers and employees means the period within an administrative workweek, established pursuant to § 25.131, when such officers and employees are required to be on duty regularly.

S. C. 75a).

§ 25.124 Irregular or occasional overtime duty. "Irregular or occasional overtime duty" means hours of employment not scheduled in the regularly scheduled administrative workweek.

REGULATIONS TO BE PRESCRIBED BY HEADS OF DEPARTMENTS AND AGENCIES

§ 25.131 Establishment of basic workweek and regularly scheduled administrative workweek. (a) Heads of departments or independent establishments or agencies, including Government-owned or controlled corporations, shall, with respect to each group of full-time employees to whom this subpart applies, establish by regulation:

(1) A basic workweek of forty hours in length which shall not extend over more than six of any seven consecutive days. Except as provided in paragraph (b) of this section, such regulation shall specify the calendar days constituting the basic workweek and, for each of such calendar days, the number of hours of employment included within the basic workweek.

(2) A regularly scheduled administrative workweek which shall consist of the forty-hour basic workweek established in accordance with paragraph (a) (1) of this section, plus such period of overtime work as will be regularly required of each group of employees. Except as provided in paragraph (b) of this section, the periods of time included in such regularly scheduled administrative workweek which do not constitute a part of the basic workweek shall be identified by calendar days and by number of hours per day for purposes of leave and overtime pay administration.

(b) Whenever it is impracticable to prescribe a regular schedule of definite hours of duty for each workday of a regularly scheduled administrative workweek, the first 40 hours of duty performed within a period of not more than 6 days of the administrative workweek may be established as the basic workweek; and all additional hours of officially ordered or approved duty within the administrative workweek shall be treated as overtime.

(c) In the case of employees whose work includes periods during which they are required to remain on duty and render "stand-by service" at or within the confines of their stations, the length of the regularly scheduled administrative workweek, for the purpose of this subpart, shall be the total number of regularly schedules hours of duty per week, including all such "stand-by" time except that allowed for sleep and meals by regulation of the department or independent establishment, agency, or corporation.

§ 25.132 Compensatory time off for irregular or occasional overtime duty. Heads of departments or independent establishments or agencies, including Government-owned or controlled corporations, may, with respect to officers and employees to whom this subpart applies, prescribe regulations for the granting of compensatory time off from duty, in lieu of overtime compensation, for irregular or occasional duty in excess of forty hours in any administrative workweek, to those per annum employees requesting such compensatory time off from duty.

OVERTIME WORK AND OVERTIME COMPENSATION

§ 25.141 Overtime compensation authorized. (a) Officers or employees to whom this subpart applies shall be paid overtime compensation, computed as provided in § 25.143, for all hours of employment officially ordered or approved in excess of forty hours in any administrative workweek, including irregular or occasional overtime duty.

(b) In accordance with administrative regulations which may be issued pursuant to § 25.132, any per annum employee may request compensatory time off, in lieu of overtime pay, for irregular or occasional duty in excess of forty hours in any administrative workweek. In case no such regulations are issued, or if under such regulations compensatory time off for such irregular or occasional overtime duty is not specifically requested by the employee it shall be paid for in money when due.

(c) Heads of departments or independent establishments or agencies, including Government-owned or controlled corporations, may delegate to any officer or employee authority to order or approve overtime in excess of any that may be included in the regularly scheduled administrative workweek. No such excess overtime shall be ordered or approved except in writing by an officer or employee to whom such authority has been specifically delegated by the head of the department or independent establishment or agency, or Government-owned or controlled corporation.

§ 25.142 Computation of overtime employment. The computation of the amount of overtime employment of an officer or employee shall be subject to the following conditions:

(a) Leave with pay. Absence from duty on authorized leave with pay under the annual and sick leave acts of March 14, 1936, as amended, during the time when an employee would otherwise have been required to be on duty during the basic workweek (including authorized absence on legal holidays, non-work days established by Executive or administrative order, and days of compensatory time off provided for in §§ 25.132 and 25.141 (b)) shall be considered to be employment and shall not have the effect of reducing the amount of overtime compensation to which the employee may be entitled during an administrative workweek. Leave of absence with pay under the acts cited shall not be charged for any absence which does not occur during the forty hours prescribed as the basic workweek.

(b) Leave without pay. For any period of leave-without-pay within an employee's basic 40-hour workweek, an equal period of service performed outside the basic workweek, but during the same administrative workweek, must be substituted and paid for at the rate applicable to his basic workweek, before any remaining periods of service can be paid for at the overtime rate.

(c) Absence during overtime periods. Except as expressly authorized by law, as in the case of jury duty under the act of June 29, 1940 (54 Stat. 689), and except to the extent authorized while the employee is in official travel status, no overtime period shall be counted in computing overtime compensation unless the employee performs actual duty during such period or is taking the compensatory time off provided for in §§ 25.131 and 25.141 (b). For employees in official travel status but not performing actual duty, no overtime period shall be paid for at overtime rates unless it falls within the regularly scheduled administrative workweek.

(d) Night or holiday duty. Extra holiday compensation paid under Subpart D of this part shall not serve to reduce the amount of overtime compensation to which the officer or employee may be entitled during the administrative workweek in which the holiday occurs. Hours of night or holiday duty shall be included in determining for overtime pay purposes the total number of hours of employment within the same administrative workweek. Any extra compensation for night or holiday duty shall not, however, be included in any basic rate in computing overtime compensation under this part.

(e) Service subject to other overtime statutes. Overtime services for which overtime compensation is paid under any of the following statutes shall not form a basis for overtime employment under this part: Act of February 13, 1911, as amended (19 U. S. C. 261, 267) involving inspectors, storekeepers, weighers, and other customs officers and employees; act of July 24, 1919 (41 Stat. 241; 7 U. S. C. 394) involving employees engaged in enforcement of Meat Inspection Act; act of June 17, 1930, as amended (19 U. S. C. 1450, 1451, 1452) involving customs officers and employees; act of March 2, 1931 (46 Stat. 1467; 8 U. S. C. 109a and 109b) involving inspectors and employees, Immigration and Naturalization Service; act of May 27, 1936, as amended (52 Stat. 345; 46 U. S. C. 382b) involving local inspectors of steam vessels and assistants, U. S. shipping commissioners, deputies and assistants, and customs officers and employees; act of March 23, 1941 (55 Stat. 46; 47 U. S. C., Sup. 154 (b) (2)) involving certain inspectors of the Federal Communications Commission; act of June 3, 1944 (58 Stat. 269) involving customs officers and employees.

§ 25.143 Computation of overtime compensation. (a) For employees whose basic compensation is at a rate less than $2,980 per annum, the overtime hourly rate shall be one and one-half times the basic hourly rate of compensation: Provided, That in computing such overtime compensation for per annum employees, the basic hourly rate of compensation shall be determined by dividing the basic per annum rate by two thousand and eighty (2080).

(b) For employees whose basic compensation is at a rate of $2,980 per annum or more, the overtime hourly rate shall be in accordance with and in proportion to the following schedule, subject to the limitation contained in paragraph (c) of this section:

Basic rate of compensation per annum:	Overtime rate of compensation per 416 overtime hours

NOTE: In the foregoing schedule the overtime rate for 416 overtime hours for any basic rate of compensation in excess of $2,980 per annum is computed by subtracting from $894, 7.6782 per centum of the amount by which such basic rate is in excess of $2,980 per annum with the condition that the rate for 416 overtime hours for all salaries of $6,440 or more shall be $628.334.

(c) Notwithstanding the provisions of paragraph (b) of this section, the overtime compensation payable to any officer or employee to whom this subpart applies shall, with respect to any pay period, be limited to such rate as will not cause his aggregate compensation for such pay period to exceed a rate of $10,000 per annum: Provided, however, That any such officer or employee who was receiving overtime compensation on June 30, 1945, and whose aggregate rate of compensation on such date was in excess of $10,000 per annum may receive overtime compensation at such rate as will not cause his aggregate rate of compensation for any pay period to exceed the aggregate rate of compensation he was receiving on June 30, 1945, until he ceases to occupy the office or position he occupied on such date or until the overtime hours of work in his administrative workweek are reduced by action of the head of his department or independent establishment or agency, or Government-owned or controlled corporation, and when such overtime hours are reduced such rate of overtime compensation shall be reduced proportionately.

(d) Employees whose basic rate of compensation is fixed on an annual or monthly basis and adjusted from time to time in accordance with prevailing rates by wage boards or similar administrative authority serving the same purpose shall be entitled to overtime pay in accordance with the provisions of section 23 of the act of March 28, 1934 (48 Stat. 522, 5 U.S.C. 673c). The rate of compensation for each hour of overtime employment of any such employee shall be computed as follows:

(1) If the basic rate of compensation of the employee is fixed on an annual basis, divide such basic rate of compensation by two thousand eighty (2080) and multiply the quotient by one and one-half; and

(2) If the basic rate of compensation of the employee is fixed on a monthly basis, multiply such basic rate of compensation by twelve to derive a basic annual rate of compensation, divide such basic annual rate of compensation by two thousand eighty (2080) and multiply the quotient by one and one-half.

(e) Whenever, for the purpose of computing overtime pay under this sub-part it is necessary to convert a basic monthly or annual rate to a basic weekly, daily or hourly rate the following rules shall govern:

(1) A monthly rate shall be multiplied by 12 to derive an annual rate;

(2) An annual rate shall be divided by 52 to derive a weekly rate;

(3) A weekly rate shall be divided by 40 to derive an hourly rate; and

(4) A daily rate shall be derived by multiplying an hourly rate by the number of daily hours of service required.

SUBPART B—PERIODIC WITHIN-GRADE SALARY ADVANCEMENT REGULATIONS

EXTENT OF REGULATIONS

§ 25.201 Officers and employees to whom this subpart applies. This subpart applies to all officers and employees, except those who are appointed by the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, who (a) are compensated on a per annum basis, (b) occupy permanent positions within the scope of the compensation schedules fixed by the Classification Act of 1923, as amended, and (c) have not reached the maximum rate of compensation for the grade in which their positions are respectively allocated.

DEFINITIONS

§ 25.221 Permanent positions. "Permanent positions" means positions other than those designated as temporary by law and other than those established for definite periods of one year or less. Positions to which appointments were made under the war service regulations for the duration of the war and six months thereafter are permanent positions within the scope of this definition. Positions in which employees are serving definite probationary or trial periods under Civil Service rules, or under regulations issued by the Commission, shall not, for that reason alone, be regarded as being other than permanent positions. Positions filled by temporary appointment under the Temporary Civil Service Regulations are temporary for the purpose of this subpart.

§ 25.222 Positions within the scope of the compensation schedules fixed by the Classification Act of 1923, as amended. "Positions within the scope of the compensation schedules fixed by the Classification Act of 1923, as amended", means positions in the departmental and field services, in the executive, legislative, and judicial branches, in Government-owned or Government-controlled corporations, and in the municipal government of the District of Columbia, the compensation of which has been fixed on a per annum basis, pursuant to the allocation of such positions to the appropriate grade either by the Commission or by administrative action of the department, establishment, agency, or corporation concerned, in accordance with the compensation schedules of the Classification Act of 1923, as amended.

§ 25.223 Equivalent increase in compensation. (a) "Equivalent increase in compensation" means any increase or increases in basic compensation which in total, at the time such increase or increases are made, are equal to or greater than the smallest compensation increment in the lowest grade in which the employee has served during the time period of twelve or eighteen months, as the case may be.

(b) The following, among others, are not "equivalent increases in compensation":

(1) Increases in basic rates of compensation provided by section 405 of the Federal Employees Pay Act of 1945, or section 2 of the Federal Employees Pay Act of 1946;

(2) Rewards for superior accomplishment as provided in sections 403 and 404 of the Federal Employees Pay Act of 1945;

(4) An increase upon restoration of an employee to the grade and salary from which he was previously reduced or demoted, when the restoration is the result of a decision of a statutory efficiency rating board of review, a reduction-in-force appeal, the reallocation of his position to its former grade on appeal, or an appeal under section 14 of the Veterans' Preference Act of 1944.

§ 25.224 Current efficiency. "Current efficiency" means the official efficiency rating on record appropriate for within-grade salary advancement purposes, in accordance with the uniform efficiency-rating system.

§ 25.225 War transfer. "War transfer" means any transfer authorized by the Commission under Executive Order Nos. 8973 of December 12, 1941, or 9067 of February 20, 1942, War Manpower Commission Directive No. X, or War Service Regulation IX, under conditions entitling the employee to reemployment in his former position or a position of like seniority, status, and pay; civilian employment in occupied countries subject to the provisions of Executive Order No. 9711 of April 11, 1946; or employment with public international organizations subject to the provisions of Executive Order No. 9721 of May 10, 1946.

§ 25.226 Satisfactory record on war transfer. "A satisfactory record on war transfer" means a record or finding that the transferred employee has been furloughed or terminated without cause such as would reflect on his suitability for reemployment in the Federal service, from the position to which transferred; or that his services have been satisfactory and his termination was not the result of delinquency or misconduct.

§ 25.227 Service in the merchant marine. "Service in the merchant marine" means service as an officer or member of the crew on or in connection with a vessel documented under the laws of the United States or a vessel owned by, chartered to, or operated by or for the account or use of the Administrator, War Shipping Administration, service as an enrollee in the United States Maritime Service on active duty, and, to such extent as said Administrator shall prescribe, any period awaiting assignment to such service and any period of education or training for such service in any school or institution under the jurisdiction of the Administrator.

§ 25.228 Certificate of satisfactory service in the merchant marine. "Certificate of satisfactory service in the merchant marine" means the certificate issued by the War Shipping Administrator pursuant to the act of June 23, 1943, (57 Stat. 162, 50 U. S. C., Sup. 1471–1475), providing reemployment rights for persons who leave their positions to serve in the merchant marine.

COMPUTATION OF PERIODS OF SERVICE

§ 25.231 Service to be credited. In computing the periods of service required for within-grade salary advancements there shall be credited to such service:

(a) Continuous civilian employment in any branch (legislative, executive, or judicial), executive department, independent establishment or agency, or corporation of the Federal Government or in the municipal government of the District of Columbia.

(b) Time elapsing on annual, sick, or other leave with pay.

(c) Leave without pay and furlough, not to exceed in total the equivalent of twenty-two eight-hour days in the basic forty-hour workweeks, within the period of service required for one periodic within-grade advancement.

(d) Service rendered prior to absence due to involuntary separation, or due to furlough or leave without pay, where no single period of such absence is in excess of twelve months.

(e) Service rendered prior to absence due to resignation, where no single period of such absence is in excess of thirty calendar days.

(f) Service in the armed forces, in the merchant marine, or on war transfer subject to the following conditions: The employee must have (1) left his position to enter the armed forces or the merchant marine, or to comply with a war transfer, (2) been separated under honorable conditions from active duty in the armed forces, or have received a certificate of satisfactory service in the merchant marine, or have a satisfactory record on war transfer, and (3) been restored, reemployed, or reinstated in any permanent position within the scope of the compensation schedules fixed by the Classification Act of 1923, as amended, under regulations of the Commission which provide for mandatory restoration or reemployment, or the provisions of any law providing for mandatory restoration or reemployment, or any other administrative procedure having a similar purpose with respect to employees not subject to civil service rules and regulations. Any person entitled to be credited with service under this paragraph shall also be entitled to credit not more than twelve, eighteen or thirty months, as the case may be, for civilian employment prior to leaving his position to enter the armed forces or the merchant marine, or to comply with a war transfer.

(g) In the case of an employee whose name appeared on a list of eligibles between May 1, 1940 and March 16, 1942, and who, after meeting necessary conditions, received probational appointment under the provisions of any Executive order or regulations of the Commission covering situations in which an eligible lost his opportunity for probational appointment because of military service in World War II, time elapsing since the earliest date on which an eligible standing lower on the same list of eligibles received a probational appointment therefrom.

(h) In the case of an employee who applied for restoration, reappointment or reemployment within the period, provided by statute or regulation, of 90 calendar days after honorable discharge from the military service or from hospitalization continuing for a period of not more than one year after such discharge, and who has been restored, reappointed or reemployed as a result of such application, the total period of time elapsing between the termination of military service or release from hospitalization continuing thereafter, and entrance on duty in his civilian position if such period does not exceed 120 calendar days. However, if entrance on civilian duty has been delayed so that such period is in excess of 120 calendar days, only the first 120 calendar days of such period may be credited. This paragraph shall be effective December 5, 1946 and shall apply to all computations of within-grade salary increases made after that date.

In the case of an employee exercising reemployment rights under the terms of Executive Order No. 9711, April 11, 1946 (11 F. R. 4081), not to exceed a total period of 120 calendar days of time elapsing between release from military service and acceptance of civilian employment in occupied territories under the Military Government authorities of the United States, and time elapsing between termination of such employment and the exercise of his reemployment rights in accordance with Executive Order No. 9711.

CONDITIONS OF ELIGIBILITY FOR PERIODIC WITHIN-GRADE SALARY ADVANCEMENT

§ 25.241 Eligibility requirements and effective date. Officers and employees to whom this subpart applies shall be advanced in compensation successively to the next higher rate within the grade at the beginning of the next pay period (including July 1, 1945) following the completion of (1) each twelve months of service if such officers or employees are in grades in which the compensation increments are less than $200 per annum or (2) each eighteen months of service if such officers or employees are in grades in which the compensation increments are $200 or more, subject to the following conditions:

(a) That no equivalent increase in compensation from any cause was received during such period;

(b) That an officer or employee shall not be advanced unless his current efficiency rating is "Good" or better than "Good";

(c) That the service and conduct of such officer or employee are certified by the head of the department or independent establishment or agency, or Government-owned or controlled corporation, or such official as he may designate, as being otherwise satisfactory.

This certificate of otherwise satisfactory service and conduct shall constitute an affirmative statement that responsible officials have reviewed the service and conduct of the employee and find that he definitely merits the advancement.

In any case where the facts at the time when the advancement would otherwise have been due clearly warranted the approval of the required efficiency rating and the execution of the certificate of otherwise satisfactory service and conduct, but where through administrative error or oversight the efficiency rating or certificate was not approved or executed until after such date, they may be completed as of such date, in which case the increase shall be made effective as of the date the advancement would otherwise have been due.

If at the end of the time period of twelve or eighteen months, an employee's total leave without pay and furlough is in excess of that creditable under § 25.231 (c), he must serve in a pay status an additional number of basic-workweek days and hours equal to such excess, to complete the service required for advancement.

§ 25.242 Exceptions. Conditions of § 25.241 (b) and (c) shall not apply upon the return to duty of any officer or employee (a) who, while serving under permanent, war service, temporary, or any other type of appointment, left his position to enter the armed forces or the merchant marine, or to comply with a war transfer, (b) who has been separated under honorable conditions from active duty in the armed forces, or has received a certificate of satisfactory service in the merchant marine, or has a satisfactory record on war transfer, and (c) who, under regulations of the Commission, which provide for mandatory restoration or reemployment, or the provisions of any law providing for mandatory restoration or reemployment, or under any other administrative procedure having a similar purpose with respect to officers and employees not subject to civil service rules and regulations, is restored, reemployed, or reinstated in a permanent position within the scope of the compensation schedules fixed by the Classification Act of 1923, as amended, in which he would otherwise be eligible for within-grade salary advancement under this part.

EFFECT OF EFFICIENCY-RATING CHANGES

§ 25.251 Effect of efficiency-rating changes. In the event a change or adjustment is made in an officer's or employee's current efficiency rating, either by administrative action or as the result of a review and determination by a board of review in accordance with the provisions of section 9 of the Classification Act of 1923, as amended, the employee's eligibility for salary advancement shall be determined according to the efficiency rating as changed or adjusted and other conditions of the salary advancement plan, and any periodic within-grade salary advancement to which he may be entitled shall be made effective as of the date he would have received the advancement had no error been made in the original rating.

(c) "Positions within the scope of the compensation schedules fixed by the Classification Act of 1923, as amended," means positions in the departmental and field services, in the executive, legislative, and judicial branches, in Government-owned or Government-controlled corporations, and in the municipal government of the District of Columbia, the compensation of which has been fixed on a per annum basis, pursuant to the allocation of such positions to the appropriate grade either by the Civil Service Commission or by administrative action of the department, establishment, agency, or corporation concerned, in accordance with the compensation schedules of the Classification Act of 1923, as amended.

(d) "Superior accomplishment" means sustained work performance of a high degree of efficiency, the initiation and development of a suggestion which increases efficiency or brings about substantial economies in the public service, or a special service of an outstanding nature, which meets the standards of the Commission for recognition as the basis for a reward in the form of an additional salary advancement.

Such plans shall not become effective until approved by the Commission, and no approved plan shall be revised or amended without the prior approval of the Commission. Subject to the foregoing provisions, any such departmental plan may be revised or amended from time to time as circumstances may require.

§ 25.506 Delegation of authority to approve additional advancements. Effective until November 1, 1945, the Commission hereby delegates authority to the head of each department, or his designated representatives, to approve additional advancements as rewards for superior accomplishment which conforms with standards promulgated for that purpose by the Commission. Such reemployment shall be in the employee's former position or in a position of like seniority, status and pay.

Upon reemployment under Executive Order 9721, an employee shall be given the seniority and, to the extent consistent with law, the pay to which he would have been entitled had he remained continuously with the agency in his former position. The name (or names) of the representative designated by the agency, his location in the organization and telephone number, should be furnished by letter not later than March 3, 1947, to the Personnel Procedures and Records Project Staff, Room 216, U. S. Civil Service Commission, Washington 25, D. C.

§ 28.2 Designation of official folder. Only one Official Personnel Folder will be maintained for each active employee, and it will contain the records necessary to comprise his complete service record. The Official Personnel Folder will be maintained at the point of maximum utilization. Designation of this point will be made by the agencies not later than April 1, 1947.

§ 28.3 Consolidation and standardization of content of folder. As rapidly as resources permit, steps will be taken to make the personnel folder of each active employee a complete working record in line with the Commission's specifications.

Folders which are transferred to other agencies, and new folders which are established, must conform to the standard specifications.

Extra single copies of Standard Form 50 for this purpose can be obtained from the Government Printing Office. (d) Record of transfer. Upon transmittal of the Official Personnel Folder to another agency, the releasing agency will record the name of the employee and the name and location of the agency to which the file is being transferred, together with the date of its transfer. If such a record is not available, a card may be established recording the transfer.

§ 29.1 Administration. (a) The Commission shall have charge of the adjudication of all claims arising under the retirement laws, and of all matters directly or indirectly concerned with such adjudication.

(b) In the adjudication of claims arising under the retirement laws, the Commission shall consider and take appropriate action on counterclaims filed by the Government as set-offs against amounts in the retirement fund involved, and shall likewise consider and take appropriate action in adjusting illegal salary payments in violation of laws pertaining to dual service, subject to final decision by the Comptroller General.

(c) The Commission shall maintain a control account for each department and independent establishment; for this purpose, departments and establishments shall make reports of appointments and separations and annual summaries of retirement fund transactions.

§ 29.2 Evidence. (a) (1) Civil Service Commission Form 2806 (Retirement Account) shall be the basic record for action on all claims for annuity or refund, and those pertaining to deceased employees or annuitants.

(2) Form 2806 shall contain a record of all service creditable under the Retirement Act, civil and military, and a record of all retirement deductions made, showing the beginning and ending dates of each period covered by such deductions. Whenever practicable in certifying service for which deductions were not made, the aggregate basic salary earned and the amount of tontine involved, by calendar years, shall be shown. Any change of date or salary on the service history side, or in the first three columns of the fiscal side, of Form 2806 shall be certified. Any leave without pay in excess of 6 months in a calendar year shall be noted.

(3) Immediately upon the absolute separation of an employee for any reason (or upon interdepartmental transfer), Form 2806 shall be completed to date, certified as to its correctness, and, after proper entry therefrom has been made on the "Register of Separations", sent to the Civil Service Commission. In no case shall the retirement record card be held in a department or establishment awaiting the receipt of a claim.

(b) When loss or destruction or incompleteness of records in the Government offices concerned is shown, a request shall be made through the Commission to the General Accounting Office for such data as may be deemed necessary for a proper determination of the rights of the claimant. When the required information cannot be developed by any official record, inferior or secondary evidence then becomes admissible and should be requested.

§ 29.3 Applications. (a) All applications under the Retirement Act shall be filed with the Commission and shall be made on such forms as may be prescribed by the Commission.

(b) Applications for annuity and for retirement on account of total disability, except disability applications filed by a department or establishment, must be executed before two identifying witnesses.

(c) Applications for the payment of accumulated deductions, or of accrued annuity and/or unexpended balance, must be executed before two witnesses who must certify to the identity of the person filing the claim. Applications for refund shall be executed before two identifying witnesses.

§ 29.4 Time for filing applications. (a) An application for annuity on account of age may be filed shortly before or at any time after the employee reaches the requisite retirement age, but such application should not be filed more than 30 days in advance of reaching retirement age. In cases of optional retirement, the application must be executed before the actual date of separation.

(b) An application for immediate or deferred annuity on account of voluntary or involuntary separation from the service will not be considered if filed before the employee's separation.

(c) An application for retirement on account of disability must be executed by the employee prior to the applicant's separation from the service or within 6 months thereafter. This time limitation may be waived by the Commission in the cases of employees who are found to have been mentally incompetent at date of separation or within 6 months thereafter, the application in such cases to be filed with the Commission within one year from the date of restoration of any such person to competency or the appointment of a fiduciary, whichever is the earlier.

Request or order by the department or other governmental agency for retirement of an employee for disability must be filed prior to the employee's separation from service. If application for disability retirement is submitted upon an inappropriate form, or upon an appropriate form inadequately or incompletely executed, within 6 months from date of separation from the service, such application may be accepted as an informal claim provided the claimant immediately or within a reasonable time thereafter submits a properly executed application upon the appropriate form.

§ 29.5 Disability retirement; medical examination. (a) When an applicant for retirement on account of total disability has established a prima facie case and no legal grounds for rejection exist, such applicant shall be ordered to appear for a medical examination before a medical officer of the United States or a duly qualified physician or surgeon or board of physicians or surgeons designated by the Commission. When the application is accompanied by a report of examination already made by a medical officer of the United States, it may not be necessary to require another examination.

(b) The order for annual examination by the Commission shall direct the annuitant to be medically examined within 30 days from and after the anniversary of the date on which he was retired upon annuity for disability. This provision, however, may be modified so that the annual medical examination may take place within 30 days from and after the expiration of one year from the date of the last medical examination.

(c) When a medical examination made in compliance with the direction of the Commission shows that the annuitant has recovered and has been restored to an earning capacity which would permit him to be appointed to an appropriate position fairly comparable in compensation to the position occupied at the time of retirement, payment of the annuity shall be continued temporarily to afford the annuitant opportunity to seek such available position. In no case shall the continued payment of the annuity exceed one year from the date of the medical examination showing recovery. If the annuitant shall be reemployed in the Government service within the one year, the annuity shall be discontinued at the close of the day preceding the date of such reemployment.

(d) The Commission, where it appears in any particular case that the nature of the disability is such as to warrant the conclusion that it will continue for a certain period, may, in the exercise of its authority, waive the requirement for regular annual examinations for the period during which there is reasonable expectation of continuation of the disability, but in any case a medical or other examination may be ordered at any time to determine the facts relative to the nature and degree of disability of any employee thus retired.

(e) If the evidence shows that the disability is permanent in character, further examination shall not be ordered, unless warranted, and the annuitant shall be notified accordingly.

§ 29.6 Effective date of retirement. (a) When an employee reaches retirement age, either on the first day of a month, or on any other day within a month, his annuity shall commence on the first day of the succeeding month. In such cases the employee will not be subject to automatic separation until the end of the month in which such age is attained, and credit for service shall be given for the period between the date of reaching retirement age and the beginning date of annuity.

(b) When an employee retires on account of disability, the annuity shall commence on the first day of the month succeeding the termination of pay status, or on the first day of any subsequent month, as the case may warrant. In such cases, credit for service may be given for the period between the termination of pay status and the beginning date of annuity if the employee is carried on the rolls of the department during such time.

(c) In cases of optional retirement, the annuity shall commence on the first day of the month following separation; in cases of discontinued service retirement, the annuity payments shall begin the first of the month following attainment of age 62, or date of separation, whichever is the later, if the employee resigned from service or was discharged for cause; if the separation was involuntary, not by removal for cause on charges of misconduct or delinquency, the individual may receive an annuity to begin the first of the month following attainment of age 62, or the first day of the month following separation beyond that age, or he may elect to receive a reduced annuity beginning the first of the month following attainment of age 55, or following separation if beyond that age.

§ 29.7 Computation of interest. (a) The commercial method, that is, computation on the basis of 30 days to the month, is adopted. Interest will be computed for the actual time involved in each case, but whenever applicable the rule of average will obtain.

(b) In all cases, interest shall be allowed on current deductions, deposits, and redeposits at the rate of 4 percent, compounded annually, through all periods of service. When an officer or employee subject to the Retirement Act is transferred to a position wherein he does not retain his retirement status, and is entitled to refund of deductions with interest, the interest will terminate with the last day of service in the former position; and when an employee becomes absolutely separated from the service before serving five years, interest on deductions will terminate with the last day in service. A fractional part of a month in the total service in any calendar year shall be disregarded, and no interest shall be allowed unless the service covered by the refund aggregates more than one year. After an employee has completed five years or more of creditable service, interest shall be allowed at the rate of 3 percent, compounded on December 31 of each year, during periods of separation from and after January 24, 1942. No interest will be allowed beyond the date of last separation unless a period of ninety days has elapsed from date of such separation to date of approval of refund claim. If an employee who reaches retirement age at any time during a month is continued in service to the end of the month, interest shall be allowed to the end of the month.

(c) Service credit deposits and redeposits made by potential annuitants separated from service after serving at least five years will draw interest at the rate of 3 percent, compounded annually, during the separation period until beginning date of annuity.

(d) Interest at the rate of 3 percent, compounded annually, shall be allowed on voluntary deposits during periods of employment, and, after the employee has completed at least five years' service and acquired a retirement status under the act of January 24, 1942, during periods of separation until refunded or beginning date of annuity.

§ 29.8 Military service. (a) Periods of honorable service in the Army, Navy, Marine Corps, or Coast Guard of the United States which do not form the basis for pension, retired pay, or compensation under any law shall be included in crediting service under the Retirement Act.

(b) An applicant for annuity who is in receipt of benefits on account of his term of honorable service in the Army, Navy, Marine Corps, or Coast Guard of the United States, may elect to surrender said benefits and to have the service upon which they are based added to his period of civil service for the purpose of obtaining a greater benefit in the form of annuity. Should it appear upon the adjudication of a claim for annuity that the claimant will benefit by the inclusion of military or naval service, and the relinquishment of benefits based thereon, he shall be so advised and permitted to exercise the right of election.

§ 29.9 Designation of beneficiary. (a) The designation, change, or revocation of beneficiary shall be in writing on the prescribed Form 2806–1, signed and acknowledged in the presence of two witnesses personally acquainted with the designator, neither of whom shall be named as beneficiary, and must be received in the Commission prior to the death of the designator.

(b) Any person, firm, corporation, or legal entity may be named as beneficiary.

(c) A revocation or change of beneficiary may be made at any time and without the knowledge or consent of the previous beneficiary. Alterations or insertions restricting the right to change or revoke a designation cannot be given any force or effect. No change or revocation of beneficiary in a last will or testament, or in any other document not witnessed and filed as required by the regulations of this part shall have any force or effect.

(d) Where a writing, other than Form 2806–1, signed by the designator and duly witnessed by two persons, is received in the Commission prior to the death of the designator, in which a clear and unambiguous revocation or change of designation of beneficiary is made in substantially the same manner as that provided on Form 2806–1, and the designator dies without confirming the change or revocation by the execution of the prescribed Form 2806–1, the revocation or change shall be given the same effect as if executed on Form 2806–1: Provided however, That the Commission shall, upon receipt of said writing, forward a blank Form 2806–1, to the designator at the last address furnished by him for confirmation on that form of the previous writing which shall become null and void if (1) death occurs 60 days after the filing of the first form, and (2) if no confirmation is received on said Form 2806–1 within said period.

(e) A designation of beneficiary or a change or revocation of beneficiary may be made only by an employee subject to the act whose name is borne on the rolls of the department or independent establishment at the time of execution thereof, or by an annuitant, actual or potential.

§ 29.10 Designation of agent. In the case of a claim for amount due a deceased employee or annuitant where no beneficiary has been named and no executor or administrator has been appointed, but claim is made by next of kin, and if there be more than one entitled thereto, it shall be permissible for the others to designate the one who makes the claim to act as agent to receive their distributive shares.

§ 29.11 Disclosure of information. (a) (1) Files, records, reports, and other papers and documents pertaining to any claim filed with the Civil Service Commission, whether pending or adjudicated, will be deemed confidential and privileged, and no disclosure thereof will be made except as provided herein.

(2) Disclosure of information from the files, records, reports, and other papers and documents shall be made to a claimant or to his duly authorized representative in matters concerning himself alone when such disclosure would not be injurious to the physical or mental health of the claimant or be regarded as a breach of confidence.

Determination as to when disclosure of information would be injurious to the physical or mental welfare of a claimant will be made by the Medical Division.

(3) By "a duly authorized representative of a claimant" is meant any person who has satisfied the Commission of his authority to act.

(4) The name or address of a beneficiary designated by an employee or annuitant will, during the life of the employee or annuitant, be furnished only to the designator when request therefor is made in writing over the signature of the designator.

(5) Such information as may properly be disclosed to a claimant personally shall, in the event of his death, be disclosed upon proper request to the duly appointed representative of his estate, or to such person as may be designated by such representative, or to a duly designated beneficiary. Where no representative of the claimant's estate has been appointed, the claimant's next of kin shall be recognized as the representative of his estate.

(6) Where copies of documents or other records are desired by or in behalf of parties to a suit, whether in a court of the United States or in any other court, such copies shall be furnished to the court only, and on an order of the court or subpoena duces tecum, addressed to the President, U. S. Civil Service Commission, requesting the same.

(7) Where a process of a United States court or other court requires the production of documents or records contained in the retirement files of a claimant, such documents will be produced in the court out of which the process has issued. Where original records are produced, they must remain at all times in the custody of a representative of the Civil Service Commission, and if offered or received in evidence, permission should be obtained to substitute a copy so that the original record may remain intact in the file.

(8) The address of a claimant as shown by the Civil Service Commission records may be furnished to duly constituted police or court officials upon proper request or the submission of a certified copy either of the indictment returned against the claimant or of the warrant for his arrest.

(9) Disclosure of the amount of annuity or refund to any claimant may be made to any National, State, county, municipal or other publicly recognized charitable or social-security administrative agency.

(10) Subject to the limitation regarding name or address of a beneficiary, all records or documents officially required by any department or other agency of the United States Government shall be furnished in response to a proper request, and Senators and Representatives of the United States in their capacity as Members of Congress of the United States shall be furnished for their official use with such records, documents or other information as may be requested for such use.

(11) Copies of papers, records, etc., the furnishing of which would be prejudicial to the interest of the Government; copies of reports of examining surgeons; reports from the War Department; or copies of records of other departments and other confidential matters, will not be furnished.

(b) Certificates of discharge, adoption papers, marriage certificates, decrees of divorce, letters testamentary or of administration, birth or baptismal records, family records, personal letters, diaries, and other personal papers or articles which may have been filed in a claim, shall, when no longer needed in the settlement of such claim, be returned to the persons entitled thereto upon written request therefor; and whenever papers so returned constitute part of the material and essential evidence in a claim, photostat or other copies of the same, or of such parts thereof as may appear to possess evidential value, shall be retained in the case.

§ 29.12 Joint and survivorship annuities. (a) The option to receive joint and survivorship annuity may be exercised only by employees retiring under the age or optional provisions of the Retirement Act. This applies to annuities purchased by voluntary deposits as well as the regular annuities.

(b) Any natural person may be designated as survivor annuitant under the joint and survivorship option. No more than one person may be named as survivor annuitant. The designation of a contingent survivor annuitant will not be accepted, and any such designation shall be null and void.

(c) Communication of the choice of option shall be made over the signature of the applicant on Form 3001 for use in filing claim for annuity. Receipt of a communication as set forth in this paragraph shall constitute prima facie evidence of the existence of all the elements of an election. Whenever such prima facie evidence becomes conclusive or is confirmed as hereinafter provided, an election shall have been made.

(d) Upon receipt of such communication, the Commission will advise the individual of the nature of the transaction, giving full details with respect thereto, and will solicit his confirmation of the existence of all the elements of an election. Upon receipt of such confirmation on Form 3001–A, an election shall be established as having been made as of the effective date of retirement, provided more than 30 days has elapsed from such effective date, but no such election shall be considered as having been conclusively established prior to final adjudication of the claim by the Commission.

(e) In the event of death of the designated survivor annuitant or for other good cause shown prior to final adjudication of the claim by the Commission, a new survivor annuitant may be substituted or the employee may change his election of the type of annuity selected.

(f) In any case in which an election has been conclusively established pursuant to the regulations under this section, the election, including the designation of survivor annuitant, cannot be revoked or changed.

(g) The death of a designated survivor annuitant subsequent to the final adjudication of the claim, shall not operate to cancel the election, and payments to the former employee shall continue as though the death had not occurred.

(h) Annuity payments to the survivor annuitant shall become effective on the day following the death of the former employee.

(i) The conclusive establishment of an election to receive a joint and survivorship annuity shall cancel any designation of beneficiary previously made by the employee, and any annuity accrued and unpaid at the date of death of the former employee shall be payable to the survivor annuitant named under said election.

(j) Proof of date of birth of the designated survivor annuitant shall be required prior to the adjudication of the annuity claim in all cases of election to receive joint and survivorship annuity.

§ 29.13 Making of voluntary deposits. (a) The option to make voluntary contributions to the civil-service retirement and disability fund for the purchase of additional annuity shall be limited to those employees serving within the purview of the Retirement Act and shall be made on the form prescribed by the Commission.

(b) No voluntary contributions shall be accepted from an employee who has failed to redeposit a refund required by section 12 (b) of the act of May 29, 1930, as amended, and/or who is otherwise indebted to the civil-service retirement and disability fund.

(c) Each voluntary contribution shall be made in the amount of $25.00 or multiple thereof, not to exceed 10 percent of aggregate annual basic salary, pay, or compensation received since August 1, 1920, by money-order, draft, or check made payable to the Civil Service Commission, Washington, D. C.

(d) Voluntary contributions may be withdrawn only in case of transfer to a position wherein the member does not retain his status under the Retirement Act, absolute separation from the service prior to becoming eligible for retirement on annuity, or death.

(e) The Retirement Division of the Civil Service Commission shall maintain the record and account of voluntary contributions of each employee exercising the option to make such contributions.

§ 29.14 Purchase of additional annuity. (a) Voluntary contributions may be used to purchase only such types of annuity as are specifically defined by the act of May 29, 1930, as amended by the act of August 4, 1939.

(b) Any employee retiring under the provisions of the act of May 29, 1930, as amended, who has made voluntary contributions in the Civil Service Retirement and Disability Fund as authorized by section 4 of the act of August 4, 1939, may purchase therewith at the time of retirement any one of the following types of annuity:

(1) Life annuity providing for return of unexpended principal; or,

(2) Increased annuity with forfeiture of unexpended principal; or

(3) Reduced annuity of equivalent actuarial value with forfeiture of unexpended principal, payable during the life of the employee and after his death annuity in equal amount to be payable to his duly designated beneficiary during the life of said beneficiary. No election as provided by this subparagraph shall be effective in case an employee dies within thirty days after the effective date of retirement; or,

(4) Reduced annuity of equivalent actuarial value with forfeiture of unexpended principal, payable during the life of the employee and after his death one-half of such reduced annuity to be payable to his duly designated beneficiary during the life of said beneficiary. No election as provided by this subparagraph shall be effective in case an employee dies within thirty days after the effective date of retirement.

(c) Any natural person may be designated as beneficiary under paragraph (b) (3) or (4) of this section.

(d) The annuity values based upon the mortality tables submitted by the Board of Actuaries on November 24, 1939, are hereby approved for use in computing annuities based on voluntary contributions made under the provisions of the act of August 4, 1939, in the same way and manner as they are used in computing regular annuities.

§ 29.15 Appeals. (a) An appeal may be taken to the Civil Service Commission, from the final action or order of the Retirement Division affecting the rights or interest of any person or of the United States under the civil-service retirement law, except as provided in this section.

(b) Appeals must be filed by a claimant or a duly accredited representative, but no appeal shall lie to the Commission's Board of Appeals and Review until action has been completed by the Retirement Division. An appeal taken in behalf of a claimant by or through a representative who is not recognized by the Commission, or whose recognition has been canceled, shall not be entertained.

(c) (1) Except as hereinafter ordered, the time for filing an appeal shall be not later than six months from the date of mailing notice of the final action or order of which complaint is made.

(2) In applications for disability retirement made by a department or establishment of the Government the time for filing an appeal shall be not later than 30 days from date of receipt of notice of final action or order.

(3) In cases of disability annuitants who are found upon medical examination to have recovered, the time allowed for filing an appeal shall be no later than 90 days from the date of final notice of proposed discontinuance of annuity.

(4) In simultaneously contested claims, where one is allowed and one rejected, the time allowed for the filing of an appeal shall be not later than 60 days from the date of receipt of the notice of the Commission's action by the claimant to whom the action is adverse. Upon the filing of an appeal all parties, other than the appellant, whose interests may be adversely affected by the decision shall be notified by registered letter of the filing of the appeal and of the substance thereof and allowed 30 days from the date of the receipt of such notice within which to file brief or argument in answer thereto before the papers are forwarded to the Board of Appeals and Review. The return of a registered letter unclaimed, containing notice, addressed to the last known post-office address, shall constitute sufficient evidence of notice.

(d) Each appeal shall show the name and post-office address of appellant, his retirement claim number, the date and substance of the action from which the appeal is taken, and full reasons for the appeal.

(e) In proceedings before the Commission in which it shall be decided that a party has no right to appeal or that said appeal may not be entertained under the provisions of this section, such party may apply to the Commissioners for an order directing the Retirement Division to forward the record to the Board of Appeals and Review. Such application shall be in writing and shall fully and specifically set forth the grounds upon which the request is based. If upon consideration the application is granted, jurisdiction shall vest in the Board of Appeals and Review to dispose properly of the case.

(f) The mandate of the decision by the Board of Appeals and Review shall be carried into effect within 60 days from the date of the receipt of notice of the decision by the Retirement Division (except as hereinafter provided), unless the decision shall sooner be recalled. A proper explanation of the decision rendered shall be mailed to the appellant and/or his duly authorized representative by the Board of Appeals and Review.

(g) In any case involving conflicting claims of two or more parties wherein the time allowed for appeal is limited to 60 days, there shall be a stay of execution of the decision of the Board of Appeals and Review until the expiration of the period of 30 days within which a motion for reconsideration may be filed.

(h) No appeal will be considered by the Civil Service Commission to review the decisions of the Secretary of the Interior prior to July 21, 1930, or of the Administrator of Veterans' Affairs prior to September 1, 1934, on civil-service retirement cases except where upon the basis of newly discovered material evidence, the case has been reconsidered by the Retirement Division. In the latter event, the provisions of this section shall apply.

§ 29.101 Basic records—(a) Records to be kept. The administrative offices of the departments and independent agencies shall initiate and maintain as hereinafter provided a retirement record system which will furnish all required information for each employee subject to the provisions of the Civil Service Retirement Act, and which shall form the basic record for all retirement purposes. The basic record shall consist of an individual retirement account for each employee and an annual summary of retirement fund transactions. (Supported by an adjustment registered when necessary.)

(b) Individual account. The individual retirement account, Civil Service Commission Form 2806, shall be established for each employee in the Government service who is subject to the provisions of the Civil Service Retirement Act, and shall be maintained by the employing department or agency. The retirement account (supplemented by the designation of beneficiary, Form 2806–1, maintained in the Retirement Division of the Civil Service Commission) shall be the basic record from which the rights of individuals under the Retirement Act shall be determined, and shall be used to support all payments from the Civil Service Retirement and Disability Fund. Each retirement account shall contain the following detailed information and such other data as may from time to time be deemed essential by the Civil Service Commission to a proper determination of rights under the Retirement Act:

(1) Present name of employee and reference to any other name under which service was rendered.

(2) Date of birth.

(3) Sex.

(4) All periods of employment. (For the duration of the present emergency, due to the inability of most war agencies to maintain currently, and to supply completed retirement account cards (Form 2806), all known periods of Federal employment will be posted. Prior government employment may be noted as "Not Verified". Employment within the agency shall be certified as to completeness and accuracy.)

(5) Reference to all periods of military or naval service claimed.

(6) All periods of leave without pay in excess of six months in the aggregate in any calendar year—in computing excess leave, all periods of annual and sick leave, leave without pay and furloughs shall be included.

(7) A complete accumulative record of retirement deductions covering service in the agency by calendar years.

(8) Citation as to vouchers and appropriations involved in any adjustment of illegal dual service.

§ 29.102 Maintenance of individual retirement account—(a) Standard abbreviations. All appointments, separations and changes in status, etc., shall be recorded on the retirement account in accordance with the standard abbreviations for personnel changes as outlined in Civil Service Form No. 2822, Revised.

(b) Posting retirement deductions, deposits and redeposits. At the end of each calendar year the total retirement deductions taken from the salary or compensation, the amount of tontine included therein (see § 29.105), and the resulting net credit for the year, shall be posted from the payroll posting media for each employee to the appropriate columns on the fiscal side of his retirement account, the previous year's balance brought forward and the total credit entered.

The beginning date of deductions for each period of service shall be shown in the "remarks" column on the fiscal side of the retirement account card. Example: "Ded. began 9–1–38."

In no case shall voluntary deposits made under the provisions of section 4 of the Act of August 4, 1939, be entered on Form 2806. The record and account of voluntary deposits under that Act shall be maintained by the Retirement Division of the Civil Service Commission.

(c) Posting service record. Those agencies which maintain the service history side of the retirement account shall record all appointments, changes in status, changes in salary or rate of pay, and any other pertinent information on the service history side of the card in the appropriate columns. Those agencies which maintain only the fiscal record will record the date and kind of appointment, the designation and office of employment in the space provided in the upper right hand corner on the fiscal side of the card. In either type of record there shall also be shown any leave of absence without pay in excess of six months in the aggregate in any calendar year, it being borne in mind that the provisions of section 5 of the Retirement Act with regard to exclusion of leave in excess of six months in computing annuitable service applies to the calendar year and not to the fiscal year.

When establishing a record the agency shall also enter on the card whatever information is available within the agency—for example, information in the employee's application for employment—as to prior unverified service in other agencies. This statement of prior service in other agencies shall be noted "not verified."

When furnishing the record of an employee compensated on a w. a. e. (when actually employed) basis, the total number of days on which he was in a pay status shall be clearly indicated by calendar years. Where employment was on a regular per diem or per hour basis it shall be shown whether the service was on the basis of a 365-day year; 313-day year; 261-day year, or other period.

(d) Use of margins. All entries shall be kept within the lines ruled on the card if possible, and nothing written in the margins, particularly the right and left margins. If necessary a second line shall be used instead of the margins. (In using the record it is frequently perforated in the margin to be bound in the file, which may obliterate any entry in the margin or cause it to be obscured from view.)

(e) Changes and erasures. Any change or erasure of date, salary or cause of separation on the service history side of Form 2806, or any change or erasure of date in column 1 or of amount in columns 2 or 3 on the fiscal side shall be noted and initialed by the countersigning or certifying officer, or person designated by him, as near as possible to the item corrected. Certification shall occupy as little space as possible, and shall show the date, salary, amount, or cause of separation to which changed. Small rubber stamps are desirable. The following or similar forms shall be used: "Date changed to 4–16–38." "Amt. changed to $1860." "Cause of separation changed to Res."

(f) (1) Completion and furnishing of record upon separation. Immediately upon the separation of an employee from the service of any department or agency the retirement account shall be completed to date, and the cause and date of separation recorded. The account shall then be certified as to its correctness, proper entry therefrom made on the register of separations as provided in paragraph (c) of § 29.107, and forwarded at once to the Civil Service Commission, together with any claim that may be on file at that time. In no case shall the retirement account be held in a department or agency awaiting the receipt of a claim.

(2) In recording a separation the facts in each individual case shall be given briefly, but in sufficient detail for the Commission to determine whether the separation was voluntary or involuntary, and if involuntary, whether for misconduct or delinquency within the meaning and intent of the Retirement Act. In any case where separation occurs for reasons other than voluntary (resignation) a brief but clear statement of the facts shall be recorded on the retirement account, or a written statement in appropriate form attached thereto when forwarded to the Commission. (It is necessary to consider not merely the form in which the separation was accomplished, but the conditions which induced the result. As generally used for retirement purposes the term "voluntary" denotes a separation from the service at the desire and for the convenience of the employee, while the term "involuntary" contemplates a separation for administrative reasons, such as lack of work, reduction of force, or a separation against the will or without the consent of the employee.)

(3) Not less than six months preceding eligibility for retirement (age), or whenever an employee requests optional retirement, a letter shall be directed to the Civil Service Commission, Retirement Division, listing the employee's unverified prior service in other agencies. The Commission will then obtain verification of this service and forward it to the requesting agency. An application for disability retirement, when submitted to the Retirement Division of the Civil Service Commission, must be accompanied by a letter listing the employee's unverified prior service in other agencies.

(4) When an employee is dropped for retirement on account of disability the date on which pay ceased shall be shown under "remarks" on the fiscal side of his retirement account card.

(5) When an employee is separated by death the 5% of salary to date of death shall be included in his retirement account in accordance with General Accounting Office Regulation No. 54, Supplement No. 9, dated May 27, 1936. No retirement deductions shall be withheld from lump sum payments in lieu of accumulated or accrued annual leave under the act of December 21, 1944 (Public Law 525). If the employee was in a non-pay status at the time of death the period involved shall be stated. The claim for refundment of retirement deductions is separate and distinct from the claim for residue of salary, and shall not be held pending settlement of the claim for residue of salary unless there is some question as to the amount due.

(g) Certification of record. Certification shall be made on the line next following the last entry on the fiscal side of the card, but it shall also cover the data shown on the service history side as indicated in the following form of certification:

> Deductions and service certified correct.
> Signature and title of designated official.
> (See § 29.103.)

(h) Accounts with various funds maintained separately. Accounts for the Civil Service Retirement and Disability Fund, the Canal Zone Retirement and Disability Fund and the Alaska Railroad Retirement and Disability Fund are maintained separately. Amounts deducted for the different funds shall not be consolidated on the employee's retirement account. When an employee goes from a position within the purview of one law to a position within the purview of another law the second office shall not take up in its accounts the amount of retirement deductions to the employee's credit when he left the former position. In such cases the employee concerned should obtain a refund of the retirement deductions taken while in the first position, and if he so desires, he may make application for the purchase of service credit under the act covering his new position.

§ 29.103 Certifying officers; signature cards. Certification as to the correctness of retirement records shall be made by officials regularly designated by the head of the department or agency. The Retirement Division of the Civil Service Commission shall be furnished with duly authenticated signature cards in triplicate on Retirement Form 3420 for each designated official. The heads of the various departments and agencies shall promptly advise the Commission of any change in certifying officers.

§ 29.104 Retirement deductions—(a) Coverage. The Retirement Act requires that retirement deductions shall be taken currently from the compensation of each employee coming within the purview thereof.

Retirement deductions shall be taken from the basic salary, pay or compensation of all appointive officers and employees in or under the executive, judicial, and legislative[1] branches of the United States Government who are not subject to another retirement system for such personnel, except employees excluded by Executive order. The same is true with respect to all officers and employees of the municipal government of the District of Columbia not subject to another retirement system for such persons.

(b) Employees excluded by Executive order with certain exceptions. Employees given temporary appointments for 1 year or less, certain employees paid on a when-actually-employed basis without regular tour of duty, contract and fee-basis employees, etc., were excluded by Executive Order 9154 dated May 1, 1942. This order as amended by Executive Order 9824, January 28, 1947, reads as follows:

> (1. Employees in the following classifications of Federal personnel in the Executive branch of the Government are hereby excluded from the operation of the said Retirement Act, unless eligible for retirement benefits by continuity of service, by reinstatement, or otherwise:
> (a) Employees whose expected service will be for brief periods but not to exceed one year.
> (b) Employees paid by the hour, day, month, or year when actually employed, whose employment is periodic, part-time, or recurrent and for whom a regular tour of duty is not contemplated.
> (c) Employees and consultants paid on a contract or fee basis.
> (d) Employees paid on a piece-work basis, except when serving under regular or permanent appointment.
> (e) Cooperative employees not wholly under the control of the Federal Government and not otherwise subject to the Civil Service Retirement Act.
> (f) Officers and employees without compensation or with nominal compensation of $12.00 or less per annum.
> (g) Intermittent alien employees engaged on work outside the continental limits of the United States.
> (h) Member and patient employees in Government hospitals or homes.
> (i) Employees serving under temporary appointments pending final determination of
> (j) Acting postmasters, clerks in fourth-class post offices, substitute rural carriers, and special-delivery messengers at second-, third-, and fourth-class post offices.
> (k) Consular agents appointed under authority of section 551 of the Foreign Service Act of 1946, approved August 13, 1946, Public Law 724, 79th Congress (added by E. O. 9824).
> (2) The Civil Service Commission is authorized to determine the applicability of the above classifications to specific officers and employees or groups of officers and employees in the Executive branch of the Government.
> (3) This order shall be effective as of January 24, 1942, except that it shall not be so construed as to defeat any retirement rights of officers and employees acquired before the date of this order.

By the terms of the order, employees in any of the categories listed therein have a retirement status if they are eligible for retirement benefits by continuity of service, by reinstatement, or otherwise. Such employees continue under the system until they become absolutely separated from the Government service or are transferred to a position under another Federal retirement system.

§ 29.105 Tontine; based on pay status in calendar month. The phrase "major fraction thereof" as used in section 12 (a) of the Retirement Act has reference to the major fraction of the calendar month. The retention of $1 is predicated upon the receipt of salary, pay or compensation, from which retirement deductions have been withheld, and tontine during a calendar month is determined on a pay status when making an accounting for retirement deductions.

There is no separate tontine fund. The total deductions for the calendar month less the sum of $1 shall be credited to the employee's individual account whenever the employee is in a pay status for more than one-half of such month. If an employee is in a pay status for the major fraction of a calendar month and the total retirement deductions covering such month amount to less than $1, the total amount deducted shall be recorded as a credit to the retirement fund without any credit to the employee's individual account. An employee who is on the rolls in a pay status for one-half month or less shall receive credit in his individual account for the full amount of retirement deductions taken for such period.

§ 29.106 Reemployed annuitants. When an annuitant receiving annuity under any provision of the Retirement Act is reemployed, the Commission shall be immediately informed of that fact, and advised as to the date of reemployment and whether such reemployment is of a permanent or temporary nature. This is imperative in order to prevent concurrent payment of annuity and salary.

§ 29.107 Reports of retirement fund transactions—(a) Reports to be submitted. In addition to the individual retirement account, each department or independent agency shall maintain a register of employees appointed thereunder, a register of employees separated therefrom, and a register of adjustments, and shall submit annually a summary of retirement fund transactions. The annual summary of retirement fund transactions, Form 2807–2, shall be submitted as soon as possible after the close of each calendar year, accompanied by a register of adjustments on Form 2807–1, where adjustments of prior reports are necessary. Such records shall be made in duplicate, the original forwarded to the Commission and the carbon retained by the office maintaining the record. In the event a department finds it expedient to maintain its individual retirement accounts in the various bureaus, annual summaries of retirement fund accounts shall be consolidated into one summary before submission to the Commission.

(b) Register of appointments. A register of appointments shall be maintained on Form 2807, or acceptable substitute, recording the unrefunded deductions to the credit of the employees appointed during the year as shown on any individual retirement accounts (Form 2806) received for such employee. (If no individual retirement account is received, no entry on the appointment register is necessary.) If Form 2807 is used, no entry shall be made in columns 2, 3, and 4. The name of the employee shall be entered in column 1 and the amount of unrefunded retirement deductions to his credit at the time of appointment as shown by his individual account shall be entered in column 5. The total of all entries in column 5 for the calendar year shall be used to support the entry "Register of Appointments" on the annual summary and must be in agreement therewith.

(c) Register of separations. A register shall be maintained on Form 2807, or acceptable substitute of all separations during the calendar year. When Form 2807 is used as a register of separations the name of the employee separated shall be entered in column 1 and the total deductions remaining to the credit of the employee at separation as shown by the last entry on his individual account shall be entered in column 5. (Columns 2, 3, and 4 may be used by those offices which desire to so record the information regarding current deductions.) In no case shall tontine be included in the net credit of the employee, either on his retirement account or on the register of separations, regardless of the cause of separation. The final total of column 5 shall be used to support the entry "Register of separations" on the annual summary, and must be in agreement therewith. In case of transfer from one bureau to another in the same department no entry shall be made on either the appointment or separation register unless the accounts are maintained and reports submitted by bureaus as specified in paragraph (a) of this section.

[1] Certain legislative employees have the right of election to come under the system. (50 Stat. 512; 56 Stat. 13.)
their eligibility for permanent or indefinite appointment.

(d) Register of adjustments. The register of adjustments (Form 2807–1) is prescribed to provide an adequate medium for posting in the control accounts any corrections of prior reports. Any correction of individual retirement accounts necessitating a change in any of the amounts shown on a previous annual summary of retirement fund transactions shall be noted on the register of adjustments so as to show the name of the employee concerned, any increase or decrease in gross deductions or tontine and the resulting net increase or decrease in the net balance of the employee's individual account in each case, together with a citation as to the calendar year in which the error occurred. The character of the error in each case shall be recorded in the explanation column of the register in sufficient detail to afford a basis for the proper bookkeeping entry. When an adjustment of the account is occasioned by an adjustment of the retirement fund, the explanation shall include citations of the appropriation symbols of the accounts affected, and the dates and numbers of vouchers or other documents used as posting media. It is preferable that increases be shown in black and decreases in red, but any other distinct method will be acceptable. The final result of the net deductions column shall be used to support the fourth item on the annual summary, and shall be in agreement therewith.

(e) Annual summary of retirement fund transactions. The annual summary of retirement fund transactions Form 2607–2) has been prescribed to provide a uniform method of summarizing retirement fund transactions. For the present the first and second columns will be used only in reporting item 6.

The summary for each calendar year shall bring forward in the third column the balance at the close of the preceding calendar year as shown by the last entry on the summary submitted for that year. Item 2, "Register of appointments" shall be posted from the register of appointments and shall agree therewith. The total adjustments of prior fiscal year reports shall be posted in the third column under item 4. Under item 6 "Current calendar year payroll deductions" there shall be entered in the first column all deductions taken on the payroll during the calendar year for credit to the retirement fund; the amount of tontine included therein shall be entered in column 2, and the net credit extended to column 3. The totals in column 6 shall agree with the total current year's postings to the individual retirement accounts of employees, including the accounts of employees separated during the year.

Any adjustment for the current calendar year which cannot be properly taken care of under some calendar year item may be entered under item 9, in which event a separate adjustment register shall be submitted to cover this item. The total as shown on the register of separations shall be entered under item 12 as a deduction from the total to be accounted for, and the balance brought down under item 13, which item shall agree with the aggregate of balances on the individual accounts of employees still on the rolls at the close of the calendar year for which the report is submitted.

§ 29.108 Set-off on account of indebtedness to the Government. It is incumbent upon the Civil Service Commission when adjudicating claims for retirement credits due former employees to make proper set-offs from the total amounts due of any unliquidated amounts chargeable to such employees on account of advance payments for unearned annual or sick leave, overpayment of salary, or other indebtedness to the Government.

In filing claims for reimbursement on account of overdrawn leave the agencies concerned shall execute Form 3037 (Statement of Account of Overdrawn Annual and/or Sick Leave) in duplicate. In all cases involving withholding tax the amount of tax deductions included in the overpayment shall be entered directly below the space provided for gross indebtedness so that the form will show the total amount due the appropriation, the amount of tax reductions, and the balance for recovery from the retirement fund. The report shall show whether the amount of tax deductions has been taken up as Internal Revenue Collections or is being held in a special deposit account, in which case the special deposit account shall be fully identified. In each case involving withholding tax one copy of Form 3037 shall be forwarded to the General Accounting Office, Claims Division, at the same time the claim against the retirement fund is forwarded to the Commission. In all other cases both copies shall be forwarded to the Commission. Claims forwarded to the Commission should be attached to Form 2806 whenever possible.

Claims for set-off on account of indebtedness to the Government for reasons other than overdrawn leave shall be submitted to the Commission on Form 3037, in duplicate, setting forth all pertinent facts in the case, including the amount to be recovered.

SUBPART A—DEFINITIONS

§ 30.101 Definitions. (a) "Employee" and "employees" include officer and officers, respectively.

(b) "Permanent employees" are those appointed without limitation as to length of service, or for definite periods in excess of one year, or for the "duration of the job," or for the duration of the present war and for six months thereafter; and those who, although paid only when actually employed, are continuously employed or required to be available for duty for a period of not less than one month, as distinguished from part-time or intermittent employees.

(c) "Temporary employees" are those appointed for definite periods of time not exceeding 1 year.

(d) "Accumulated leave" means the unused leave remaining to the credit of the employee at the close of any calendar year.

(e) "Court leave" means leave for attending court as a witness on behalf of the United States or the government of the District of Columbia, or for jury duty.

(f) "Medical certificate" means a written statement signed by a registered practicing physician or other practitioner, certifying to the period of disability of the patient while he was undergoing professional treatment.

(g) "Month of service" means a period in a pay status covering a full calendar month or beginning on any date of a calendar month and ending at the close of business of the preceding date in the next calendar month.

(h) "Contagious disease" means a disease ruled as subject to quarantine as defined by the health authorities having jurisdiction.

SUBPART B—ANNUAL LEAVE

§ 30.201 Accrual of annual leave. Annual leave shall be credited to employees as follows:

(a) Permanent employees shall be credited with leave at the rate of 1 day per bi-weekly pay period; or, the total credit for any calendar year may be given at the beginning of the calendar year in which it accrues. The minimum credit for leave shall be 4 hours, and additional credits shall be in multiples thereof.

(b) Temporary employees shall be credited with leave of 2½ days for each month of service.

§ 30.202 Accumulated annual leave. Accumulated annual leave may be carried forward for use in succeeding years until it totals not exceeding 60 days: Provided, That during the period of the present emergency 30 days additional leave may be accumulated: Provided further, That when accumulated leave equals or exceeds 60 days, further increase in accumulated leave shall be limited to 15 days in any succeeding years.

§ 30.203 Grant of annual leave. Annual leave shall be granted to an employee at such times as the heads of the departments and agencies may prescribe: Provided, That an employee who is to be placed on furlough in contemplation of separation by reduction of force shall be granted immediately prior to furlough, upon his request, any annual leave to which he is entitled. Permanent employees during the first year of service shall not be granted leave in excess of the amount accrued to their credit. Temporary employees shall not be granted leave until immediately prior to the end of the month in which it is earned. The minimum charge for annual leave shall be one hour, and additional leave shall be charged in multiples of one hour.

§ 30.204 Court leave. When an employee is absent from duty and in attendance in court as a witness in behalf of the United States or the Government of the District of Columbia, or for jury duty in any State court or court of the United States, the absence from duty shall not be charged against annual leave but should be recorded as "court leave."

SUBPART C—SICK LEAVE

§ 30.301 Accrual of sick leave. (a) Permanent employees shall be credited with sick leave at the rate of 1¼ days per month, which may be credited at the beginning of the calendar month, or at the beginning of the first pay period following the first day of the calendar month. The minimum credit for sick leave shall be one hour, and additional credits shall be in multiples thereof.

(b) Temporary employees shall be credited with 1¼ days of sick leave for each month of service.

(c) Sick leave accruing during any month of service shall be available at any time during that or any subsequent month.

(d) Because of the difference in crediting sick leave to temporary and permanent employees the following method shall be followed in crediting sick leave when a temporary appointment is converted to a permanent appointment prior to the end of the service month: Service as a permanent employee shall be counted as temporary service for the purpose of completing the month of service. Sick leave shall thereafter be credited as a permanent employee.

§ 30.302 Accumulated sick leave. Unused sick leave shall be cumulative and available for future use: Provided, That the balance to the credit of the employee at the end of any month shall not exceed 90 days.

§ 30.303 Grant of sick leave. Sick leave shall be granted to employees when they are incapacitated for the performance of their duties by sickness, injury, or pregnancy and confinement, or for medical, dental or optical examination or treatment, or when a member of the immediate family of the employee is afflicted with a contagious disease and requires the care and attendance of the employee, or when, through exposure to contagious disease, the presence of the employee at his post of duty would jeopardize the health of others. The minimum charge for sick leave shall be 1 hour, and additional leave shall be charged in multiples of 1 hour.

§ 30.304 Notification of superior. An employee who is absent on account of sickness shall notify his supervisor as early as practicable on the first day of such absence, or as soon thereafter as possible. Failure to give such notice may result in the absence being charged to annual leave or leave without pay, as the circumstances may justify. Requests for sick leave for medical, dental, or optical examination or treatment shall be submitted for approval prior to the beginning of the leave.

§ 30.305 Application for sick leave. Written application on the prescribed form for grant of sick leave shall be filed within two days after the employee returns to duty. In no case shall a medical certificate be required to support the application for periods of absence of three days or less. For periods of absence in excess of three work days the application must be supported by a medical certificate, or other evidence administratively acceptable, which must be filed within 15 days after return to duty: Provided, That in lieu of a medical certificate, a signed statement of the employee indicating the nature of the illness and the reason why a medical certificate is not furnished may be accepted whenever it is unreasonable to obtain such certificate because of a shortage of physicians, remoteness of locality, or because the circumstances surrounding the employee's illness do not require the services of a physician. The agency shall determine administratively whether the statement of the employee in lieu of a medical certificate shall be considered sufficient evidence to support the request for sick leave.

§ 30.306 Sickness during annual leave. When sickness occurs within a period of annual leave and lasts 5 or more consecutive work days, the period of illness may be charged as sick leave and the charge against annual leave reduced accordingly. Application for such substitution of sick leave for annual leave shall be made within 2 days after return to duty and shall be supported by a medical certificate, or other evidence administratively acceptable to the same extent as provided in § 30.305.

§ 30.307 Sick leave advanced. In cases of serious disability or ailments, and when the exigencies of the situation so require, sick leave may be advanced to permanent employees not in excess of 30 days: Provided, That no advances of sick leave shall be made to any employee unless the absence from duty on account of illness is for a period, or periods, of 5 or more consecutive work days; that every application for advance leave shall be supported by a medical certificate; that the total of such advances shall be charged against sick leave subsequently credited. Sick leave may be advanced irrespective of whether the employee has annual leave to his credit.

§ 30.308 Sick leave not advanced. Sick leave shall not be advanced to an employee holding a limited appointment, or one expiring on a specified date, in excess of the total sick leave that would accrue during the remaining period of such appointment.

SUBPART D—GENERAL PROVISIONS

§ 30.401 Change in hours of duty. Whenever the number of hours of duty in an employee's work day is permanently changed the leave standing to his credit shall be converted to the proper number of hours based upon the new work day.

§ 30.402 Leave-with-pay status. (a) Leave shall accrue to an employee while in a leave-with-pay status, provided he returns to duty, or provided that failure to return to duty is due to death, disability (evidence of which shall be supported by an acceptable medical certificate), retirement for disability, or reduction in force.

(b) Employees who entered military, naval or merchant marine service between January 13 and December 21, 1944, and who are restored in accordance with statutory provisions after such service may be credited with leave accrued during the period of terminal leave granted immediately prior to entry into active military, naval, or merchant marine service.

§ 30.403 Nonpay status. Whenever a permanent employee's absence in a nonpay status totals the equivalent of the base-pay hours in 1 bi-weekly pay period, the credits for annual leave shall be reduced 1 day and for sick leave ⅝ day for each such period. The total deductions in sick leave credits on account of nonpay status in any one calendar year shall not exceed 15 days: Provided, That when an employee absent because of injury received in line of duty requests to be carried on leave-without-pay, he shall, upon his return to duty, receive credit for accrued leave covering the period for which he was paid disability compensation by the Employees' Compensation Commission.

§ 30.404 Days for which leave charged. Leave shall be charged only for absence upon days which an employee would otherwise work and receive pay and shall be exclusive of Sundays which do not occur within a regular tour of duty, holidays, and all nonwork days established by Federal statute or by Executive or administrative order: Provided, That when a holiday is declared by general administrative orders to be a work day, an employee who absents himself from work without permission that day shall be subject to a deduction of 1 day's pay.

§ 30.405 Absences of less than 30 minutes. Under ordinary circumstances unavoidable or necessary absence from duty not in excess of 30 minutes, and tardiness, shall be excused for adequate reasons, or handled administratively by requiring additional work, or by a charge against any compensatory time which the employee may have to his credit as a result of overtime previously worked. In the event that this privilege is abused such absences, and tardiness, shall be handled administratively by a charge against annual leave, or by disciplinary action.

§ 30.406 Separation of employees indebted for unearned leave. In case of the separation of an employee who is indebted for unearned leave, the employee shall refund the amount paid him for the period of such excess, or deduction therefor shall be made from any salary due him. This section shall not apply in cases of death, retirement for disability, or reduction of force, or in case an employee is unable to return to duty because of disability, evidence of which shall be supported by an acceptable medical certificate.

§ 30.407 Leave without pay. Leave without pay may be granted to an employee for a period not exceeding 12 months regardless of whether he has leave standing to his credit: Provided: That an employee absent because of injuries received in line of duty may be carried on leave without pay for the period for which he is paid disability compensation by the Employees' Compensation Commission.

§ 30.408 Disposition of sick leave account on transfer. When an employee is appointed, reappointed, or transferred to another position with no break in service, or a break of less than 90 days, or within one year after notice of proposed separation by reduction in force, his sick leave account shall be disposed of as follows:

(a) If the position is within the purview of the leave acts of March 14, 1936, the sick leave account shall be certified to the employing agency for credit or charge to the employee.

(b) If the position to which he is appointed, reappointed, or transferred is not within the purview of the leave acts of March 14, 1936, the employee shall be furnished with a statement of his sick leave account and if he is subsequently appointed, reappointed, or transferred to a position within the purview of such acts, with no break in service or a break of less than 90 days, the leave shown to be due shall be credited to his account.

§ 30.409 Disposition of annual leave account on transfer. When a permanent employee is appointed, reappointed, or transferred to another position as a permanent employee within the purview of the leave acts of March 14, 1936, with no break in service, his annual leave account shall be certified to the employing agency for credit or charge to the employee.

§ 30.410 Transfer from position not within purview of leave acts to position within purview of leave acts. Any person who was appointed, reappointed, or transferred prior to January 1, 1945, to a position not within the purview of the leave acts of March 14, 1936, who is or has been appointed, reappointed, or transferred to a position within the purview of such acts with no break in service, or with a break of less than 30 days if the reappointment occurred between December 31, 1944, and March 1, 1946, or less than 90 days if the reappointment occurred on or after March 1, 1946, shall be credited with the leave shown to be due.

However, any department may, if it so desires, apply the regulations in this part to employees' stationed without the continental limits of the United States, subject to the continuance of such leave differential.

PART 31—EFFICIENCY RATINGS BOARDS OF REVIEW

Sec.
31.1 Establishment.
31.2 Jurisdiction and number.
31.3 Members.
31.4 Appeals.
31.5 Appeal period when efficiency rating is "unsatisfactory."
31.6 Hearings.
31.7 Decisions.
31.8 Extent of regulations.
31.9 Effective date of regulations.

AUTHORITY: §§ 31.1 to 31.9, inclusive, issued under 42 Stat. 1490, as amended; 5 U. S. C. 669.

§ 31.1 Establishment. There shall be established in each department and independent establishment having positions and employees subject to section 9 of the Classification Act of 1923, as amended, one or more boards of review for the purpose of considering and passing upon the merits of efficiency ratings assigned to such employees.

§ 31.2 Jurisdiction and number. The head of each department or independent establishment shall determine the number and jurisdiction of boards of review to be established within his department or establishment, subject to the approval of the Civil Service Commission. The jurisdiction of each board of review shall be specific and shall be exclusive of that of any other such board.

§ 31.3 Members. (a) Each board of review shall be composed of three members, and there shall be an alternate member provided for each principal member who shall serve during the absence of such principal member or when the principal member is unable to serve for any other reason and who shall succeed the principal member in the event that he is unable to serve to the end of his term of office. Where necessary in the interest of good administration, and in order to expedite the consideration of cases, an additional alternate member may be designated for each principal member. Members of boards of review and alternate members shall be appointed or designated for terms expiring June 30 subsequent to their appointment or designation: Provided, That they may continue to serve until their successors are appointed or designated.

(b) One member of each board of review and alternates to such member (to be known as department member and alternate department members) shall be designated by the head of the department or establishment served by such board.

(c) Another member of each board of review and alternates to such member (to be known as employee member and alternate employee members) shall be designated by election, to be held between April 1 and July 1 of each calendar year for the term beginning on July 1 of such year, by the employees whose efficiency ratings are under the jurisdiction of the board in such manner as shall be determined by the Civil Service Commission. Upon the request of the head of a department or establishment or of ten percent of the employees whose efficiency ratings are subject to review by a board of review, the Civil Service Commission may order an election for employee members and alternate employee members at a different time or may authorize the definite or indefinite postponement of the regular annual election.

(d) Chairmen and alternate chairmen for the boards of review shall be designated by the Civil Service Commission.

(e) All members of boards of review and all alternate members shall be officers or employees of the executive branch of the Federal government: Provided, however, That in the case of boards of review serving agencies not in the executive branch, such members and alternate members (except chairmen and alternate chairmen) shall be appointed or elected from the branch of government to which such agencies respectively belong.

§ 31.4 Appeals. Each appeal from an efficiency rating shall be submitted in writing to the chairman of the appropriate board of review within ninety days of the date that notice of such rating was delivered to the employee. Boards of review may waive this requirement for good and sufficient reasons, as in cases (a) where it appears that appellants were not in a position to make an appeal within the ninety-day period, (b) where employees elected to avail themselves of the grievance procedures in their own departments or establishments before proceeding with appeals under these regulations, or (c) where new evidence is discovered after the close of the ninety-day period which would have a bearing on the decision concerning the appeal. On the request of the Civil Service Commission, certified in writing, efficiency ratings which require the dismissal, demotion, or reduction in salary of employees subject to the approval of the Civil Service Commission under section 9 of the Classification Act of 1923 as amended shall be considered by boards of review in the same manner as if appealed by such employees.

§ 31.5 Appeal period when efficiency rating is "unsatisfactory". When an employee who has completed his probationary or trial period and whose efficiency rating is "unsatisfactory" appeals his rating to the appropriate Board of Review, created under the provisions of section 9 of the Classification Act of 1923, as amended, within 15 days after receiving notice of the rating, action based on the efficiency rating shall be withheld pending the outcome of the appeal.

§ 31.6 Hearings. Hearings conducted on efficiency-rating appeals and certified cases shall be on as informal a basis as possible and yet permit the presentation of all information necessary to ascertain the correctness of the rating in question or the rating which should be assigned the employee. An oral hearing may be waived by the appellant, or employee whose rating is certified for review, and the board of review may thereupon proceed to a consideration of the case on the basis of written evidence submitted by the parties. Stenographic reports of oral hearings shall be required only when it is determined by the unanimous vote of the board that they are necessary to the best interests of the Government and employee. In all proceedings before boards of review, each employee whose efficiency rating is under consideration shall be entitled to have a representative of his own selection; and at oral hearings each appellant or employee whose rating is certified for review shall be entitled to appear with his representative. The appellant, or employee whose rating is certified for review, and his representative, and such representatives of the department or establishment as are designated by the head thereof, shall be afforded an opportunity to submit orally or in writing any information deemed by the board of review to be pertinent to the case, and shall be afforded an opportunity to hear or examine, and to reply to, information submitted to such board by other parties.

§ 31.7 Decisions. After ascertaining the pertinent facts in each case, the board of review shall proceed to determine such adjustment in the efficiency rating as it deems proper, or sustain the efficiency rating appealed from without change. Decisions shall be made by a majority vote. Notices of decisions of boards of review shall be communicated to the heads of the departments or independent establishments and to the appellants, and employees whose ratings are certified for review, in writing and shall contain summary statements of the facts on which the decisions are based. Copies of the decisions of the boards shall also be forwarded to the Civil Service Commision.

§ 31.8 Extent of regulations. The regulations in this part apply with full force and effect to the administration of efficiency rating boards of review in the departmental service. Until such time as the Civil Service Commission, after consultation with heads of departments and independent establishments, decides that it is practicable to extend the foregoing provisions in their full force and effect to the field services, efficiency-rating appeals from employees in the field services may be made to boards of review established in and for the departmental headquarters of said field services for adjudication on the basis of evidence submitted in writing.

§ 31.9 Effective date of regulations. The regulations in this part supersede the regulations in Executive Order No. 8748 of May 1, 1941, and in Executive Order No. 9155 of May 1, 1942, and shall be effective immediately, except that the provision in § 31.3 authorizing members of boards of review to serve until their successors are appointed or designated shall be effective retroactively to July 1, 1941.

32.5 Awards of certificates, medals or other emblems.
32.6 Time limitations.
32.7 Suggestions which represent part of normal duties.
32.8 Limitation of awards.
32.9 Waiver of further claim by recipient.
32.10 Effective date.

AUTHORITY: §§ 32.1 to 32.10, inclusive, issued under sec. 14, Pub. Law 600, 79th Cong.

§ 32.1 Eligibility for awards. Any civilian officer or employee of a department (as the word "department" is defined in section 18 of the said act of August 2, 1946) who makes a suggestion, in such form and manner as his department shall require, which is adopted for use in the department on or after August 2, 1946, and, in the judgment of the department head or other duly authorized authority in the department, has resulted or will result in improvement or economy in the operations of the department by way of monetary savings, increased efficiency, conservation of property, improved employee-working conditions, better service to the public, or otherwise, shall be eligible for consideration for a cash award. A former civilian officer or employee (or his estate) shall be similarly eligible for awards for such suggestions made while in the service of the department.

§ 32.2 Amount of awards. Whenever a suggestion is determined to be meritorious and is adopted solely or primarily because it will result or has resulted in the saving of money, the amount of the award shall be based on the amount of the annual estimated saving in the first year of operation in accordance with the following table, unless for special reasons the head of the department shall determine, subject to the limitations prescribed in the said act, that a different amount is justified:

Savings	Awards
$1–$1,000	$10 for each $200 of savings with a minimum of $10 for any adopted suggestion.
$1,000–$10,000	$50 for the first $1,000 of savings, and $25 for each additional $1,000 of savings.

§ 32.3 Determination of awards; dissemination of suggestions. When a suggestion is adopted primarily upon the basis of improvement in the operations or services of the department, the department shall determine the amount of the award commensurate with the benefits anticipated from the suggestion. Whenever the head of a department believes that a suggestion he has adopted would benefit the Government service generally, he may report it to the Director of the Bureau of the Budget for dissemination to all departments.

§ 32.4 Reports to Bureau of Budget. At the end of each fiscal year each department shall report to the Director of the Bureau of the Budget the number of employee suggestions submitted, the number of such suggestions adopted, the total amount of cash awards, and the total amount of estimated annual savings.

§ 32.5 Awards of certificates, medals or other emblems. A department may provide for the purchase and award of appropriate certificates, medals, or other emblems, in honorary recognition of service which is determined by the head of the department to be exceptional or meritorious.

§ 32.6 Time limitations. No award shall be paid for any suggestion which is not adopted for use within five years from the date the suggestion is received by the department. Any department may, in its discretion, change the designated period of five years to a less period of time.

§ 32.7 Suggestions which represent part of normal duties. No award shall be paid to any officer or employee for any suggestion which represents a part of the normal requirements of the duties of his position.

§ 32.8 Limitation of awards. The total of cash awards paid during any fiscal year in any department (except the War and Navy Departments) shall not exceed $25,000. Cash awards and expenses for honorary recognition for exceptional or meritorious service may be paid from the appropriation for the activity primarily benefiting or may be distributed among appropriations for activities benefiting as the head of the department determines.

§ 32.9 Waiver of further claim by recipient. A cash award shall be in addition to the regular compensation of the recipient, and the acceptance of such cash award shall constitute an agreement that the use by the United States of the suggestion for which the award is made shall not form the basis of a further claim of any nature upon the United States by him, his heirs, or assigns.

§ 32.10 Effective date. This part shall be effective as of August 2, 1946.

NOTE: Part 32 was previously issued as Executive Order 9817, dated December 31, 1946, 12 F. R. 57.

The statement of another individual may be substituted for the statement of any such relative, upon written showing that such relative's statement is not reasonably obtainable.

(3) If both the husband and wife are deceased, such proof shall consist of signed statements of one blood relative of each deceased spouse. The statement of another individual may be substituted for the statement of any such relative, upon written showing that such relative's statement is not reasonably obtainable.

The corroborative statements by relatives or other individuals described in subparagraphs (1) and (2) of this paragraph may in the discretion of the Board be omitted where the parties entered into a formal marriage ceremony which was void because of a legal impediment then existing to the marriage, and where the impediment was removed and thereafter they continued to live together as man and wife until the application was filed or until the death of one of them, if under applicable State law a valid common-law marriage could come into existence as a result of continued cohabitation as man and wife or a subsequent agreement of marriage, or both.

If the information described in subparagraphs (1), (2) or (3) of this paragraph is not furnished on a form provided by the Board, it shall be submitted in the form of a sworn statement.

§ 239.4 Proof of termination of prior marriage. Where the validity of an alleged marriage depends upon the termination of a former marriage the applicant shall, when so requested by the Board submit:

(a) A certified copy of the decree dissolving such former marriage; or

(b) Proof of the death of a party to such marriage as described in § 239.2 (and in the order of priority therein described); or

(c) Other evidence of probative value.

§ 239.5 Proof of relationship. (a) An applicant for any benefit as the child of a deceased employee, shall submit proof of relationship as specified in this paragraph.

(1) If the relationship is by blood, one of the forms of documentary evidence described in § 239.1 (c) should be submitted (in the order of priority therein provided), showing the relationship between the parent and child in question: Provided, however, That a birth record which shows the name of the child but does not give the names of the parents and their relationship to the child may be accepted as supporting evidence of relationship if the surname of the child shown thereon is the same as that of the deceased employee at the time of the birth of the child, and if none of the information available or furnished to the Board is inconsistent with the existence of the relationship.

If no documentary type of evidence is obtainable, the reason therefor should be stated and the applicant may submit the sworn statements of two disinterested persons showing the name of the child and the name of the parent in question, and that to their own knowledge such person is the child of such parent, and stating the source of their knowledge.

(2) If the relationship is by legal adoption, a certified copy of the decree or order of adoption shall be submitted.

(3) If the applicant is the stepchild of the deceased employee and the blood child of the parent to whom such employee was married, one of the forms of documentary evidence described in § 239.1 (c) should be submitted (in the order of priority therein provided), showing the relationship between the child and such blood parent: Provided, however, That a birth record which shows the name of the child but does not give the name of the parents and their relationship to the child may be accepted as supporting evidence of relationship between the child and the child's blood parent to whom the deceased employee was married if the surname of the child shown thereon is the same as that of the blood parent at the time of the birth of the child, and if none of the information available or furnished to the Board is inconsistent with the existence of the relationship. If the child is the adopted child of the parent to whom the deceased employee was married, proof of adoption in accordance with subparagraph (2) of this paragraph shall be submitted. Proof shall be submitted as described in § 239.3 (in the order of priority therein provided) as to the marriage of the child's blood parent (or adopting parent) and the deceased employee.

If no documentary proof of relationship of the applicant to the blood parent is available, the reason therefor should be stated and the applicant may submit the sworn statements of two disinterested persons showing the name of the child and the blood parent and that to their knowledge such person is the child of such parent, and stating the source of their knowledge.

(b) An applicant for any benefit as the parent of a deceased employee shall submit proof of relationship as specified in this paragraph.

(1) If the relationship is by blood, one of the forms of documentary evidence described in § 239.1 (c) should be submitted (in the order of priority therein provided), showing the relationship between the deceased employee and the applicant.

If no documentary type of evidence is obtainable, the reason therefor should be stated and the applicant may submit the sworn statements of two disinterested persons showing the name of the employee and the name of the applicant, and that to their own knowledge such employee was the child of such applicant, and stating the source of their knowledge.

(2) If the relationship is by legal adoption, a certified copy of the decree or order of adoption shall be submitted.

(3) If the applicant is the step-parent of the deceased employee, proof of the marriage of such step-parent with a blood parent or adopting parent of the employee shall be submitted, as described in § 239.3 (in the order of priority therein provided), and there shall also be submitted evidence of the relationship of the employee and such blood parent (or adopting parent) as provided in subparagraphs (1) and (2) of this paragraph.

(c) Any person other than a child or parent of a deceased employee who applies for benefits because of the death of an individual shall submit such proof of relationship to such individual as, in the judgment of the Board, is sufficient to establish the alleged relationship.

§ 239.6 Proof of "living with." A widow who applies for an insurance annuity shall file proof that she was living with her husband at the time of his death. The proof shall be of the following character:

(a) A signed statement by the widow that at the time of her husband's death they were living together at the same place of abode. If the widow and her husband were temporarily living apart at the time of his death, the statement by the widow should state the places of residence of the husband and wife at such time, the reason for their separation and the length of time they had been separated; or

(b) A signed statement by the widow that the deceased employee was making regular contributions to her support, and describing the amount, time or times, and manner of making such contributions; or

(c) A certified copy of an order or decree of a court of competent jurisdiction directing the husband to contribute to his wife's support and a certification by the proper official of the court that such order had not expired or had not been vacated prior to the death of the husband.

If any information required under paragraph (a) or (b) of this section, as the case may be, is not furnished in the application, it shall be submitted in the form of a sworn statement.

§ 239.7 Proof of having the care of a child. An applicant for a widow's current insurance annuity shall file a signed statement as to whether she has in her care a child of her deceased husband upon the basis of whose insured status she claims benefits. If such information is not furnished in the application it shall be submitted in the form of a sworn statement. If the child is not living with the widow, she shall also submit a sworn statement disclosing the reason for the separation, the present length and expected duration thereof, and how and to what extent she cares for the child, and upon request of the Board, a sworn statement by the individual with whom the child is living (or official of the institution where the child is living), which states the source of the child's support, and how and to what extent the widow has cared for the child.

§ 239.8 Proof of dependency of a child. A child who applies for an insurance annuity shall submit proof as to his dependency upon the deceased employee. Such proof shall be of the following character:

(a) If the deceased employee is the father or adopting father of the child, there shall be submitted a signed statement by a person having knowledge thereof, that at the time of the employee's death:

(1) The employee and the child were living together at a common place of abode, and giving the address of such place; or

(2) The employee was contributing to the support of the child, and describing the amount, time or times, and manner of making such contributions; or

(3) The child: (i) Was the legitimate or adopted child of such employee; and (ii) Had not been adopted by another individual; and (iii) Either was not living with, or was not supported by, a stepfather.

(b) If the deceased employee is the mother, adopting mother, or step-parent of the child, there shall be submitted a signed statement by a person having knowledge thereof, that at the time of the employee's death, the child was not living with its father or adopting father and that no contributions in any medium were being made for the support of the child by such child's father or adopting father. If any contributions were being made by the father or adopting father, the time, amount, and manner of making such contributions should be stated.

If any information required under paragraph (a) or (b) of this section, as the case may be, is not obtainable, the reason therefor should be stated and the applicant may submit other proof of probative value.

§ 239.9 Proof of school attendance. A child over 16 years of age who applies for an insurance annuity shall submit such proof of regular school attendance as the Board may require.

§ 239.10 Proof of the dependency of a parent. A parent who claims to have been wholly dependent upon and supported by an individual shall, in filing proof of such dependency, submit a signed statement setting forth, as of the time of such individual's death, and for a period of not less than one year prior to such time, the amount of contributions made to the parent by such individual. The statement shall also describe any other income (including contributions from other children and relatives) received by the parent and the amount and source of such income. Proof that a parent was wholly dependent upon and supported by an individual, at the time of such individual's death, must be filed within the time prescribed in § 237.307 (b) (2) of this chapter.

§ 239.11 Proof of the payment of burial expenses. (a) If a condition of entitlement to a lump sum is that the applicant shall have paid part or all of the burial expenses of the deceased employee upon the basis of whose insured status the lump sum is claimed, the applicant shall file an itemized and receipted statement or statements of the person or persons who supplied goods or services for the burial of the deceased. Such statement or statements shall show the total cost of all goods or services furnished, the amount remaining unpaid, if any, the name of each person who paid any portion of such costs, and the amount and date of each payment. The applicant shall also submit his own signed statement as to his relationship or other connection with the deceased employee, the total amount of the burial expenses, the amount of the burial expenses paid from his own funds, the amount of burial expenses unpaid, and the amount in cash or property which he has received as reimbursement for his payment of burial expenses.

(b) If the payment of burial expenses is a condition of entitlement to annuities due but unpaid at death, the applicant shall furnish proof similar to that described in paragraph (a) of this section.

If the proof described in paragraphs (a) or (b) of this section, as the case may be, is not obtainable, the reason therefor shall be stated and the applicant may submit other evidence of probative value.

Chapter VIII—Office of Housing Expediter

[Suspension Order S-24]

DONALD M. SILLS

Donald M. Sills, 2630 Richton Avenue, Detroit, Michigan, on November 18, 1946 filed with the Civilian Production Administration Application Form CPA-4423 for authorization to construct a structure for use as a dry-cleaning plant at 17600 James Couzens Highway, Detroit, Michigan. In said application he represented the proposed structure to be 30 x 75 feet in dimensions and to cost

$9,000. Based upon these representations the Civilian Production Administration authorized the structure and assigned to it Case No. 3-5-4333. These representations were false and misleading in that actually the proposed structure was to be and is now 100 x 50 feet plus a wing 20 x 20 feet, and the cost is considerably in excess of the amount authorized for the building originally applied for. These misrepresentations subject Donald M. Sills to the administrative action provided for under paragraph 944.18 of Priorities Regulation No. 1, and constitute violations of Veterans' Housing Program Order 1. These actions have diverted critical materials to uses not authorized by the Office of the Housing Expediter. In view of the foregoing, it is hereby ordered that:

§ 807.24 Suspension Order No. S-24. (a) The authorization granted Donald M. Sills on Form CPA-4423, dated November 18, 1946, Serial No. 3-5-4333, is hereby revoked.

(b) Neither Donald M. Sills, his successors or assigns, nor any other person shall do any further construction on the premises located at 17600 James Couzens Highway, Detroit, Michigan, including putting up, completing or altering the structure unless specifically authorized in writing by the Office of the Housing Expediter.

(c) Donald M. Sills shall refer to this order in any application or appeal which he may file with the Office of the Housing Expediter for authorization to carry on construction.

(d) Nothing contained in this order shall be deemed to relieve Donald M. Sills, his successors and assigns, from any restriction, prohibition or provision contained in any other order or regulation of the Office of the Housing Expediter, except insofar as the same may be inconsistent with the provisions hereof.

Issued this 29th day of April 1947.

EDWIN P. BERGERON

Edwin P. Bergeron, 875 Wildwood Avenue, Kankakee, Illinois, is an automobile dealer. On or about December 21, 1946, he began construction of a structure to be used as a factory on premises near Kankakee, Illinois, at an estimated cost of approximately $33,000 without having obtained authorization therefor under Veterans' Housing Program Order 1, and the beginning of such construction constituted a willful violation of said order. This violation has diverted critical materials to uses not authorized by the Office of the Housing Expediter. In view of the foregoing, it is hereby ordered that:

§ 807.25 Suspension Order No. S-25. (a) Neither Edwin P. Bergeron, 875 Wildwood Avenue, Kankakee, Illinois, his successors or assigns, nor any other person shall do any further construction on the premises located on Lots 9 and 10 in Grimm Sub-division, City of Kankakee, County of Kankakee, Illinois, including completing, putting up or altering of any structure located thereon, unless specifically authorized in writing by the Office of the Housing Expediter.

(b) For a period of one month from the effective date of this order, no authorization to do construction shall be granted to Edwin P. Bergeron.

(c) Edwin P. Bergeron shall refer to this order in any application or appeal which he may file with the Office of the Housing Expediter for priorities assistance or for authorization to carry on construction.

(d) Nothing contained in this order shall be deemed to relieve Edwin P. Bergeron, his successors or assigns, from any restriction, prohibition or provision contained in any other order or regulation of the Office of the Housing Expediter, except insofar as the same may be inconsistent with the provisions hereof.

[Veterans' Housing Program Order 1, as amended, April 30, 1947]

GENERAL RESTRICTIONS ON CONSTRUCTION AND REPAIRS

The Veterans' Emergency Housing Program calls for the construction of a large number of housing accommodations to meet the needs of returning veterans. There is a shortage in the supply of materials and facilities suitable for the construction and/or completion of housing accommodations in rural and urban areas and for the construction and repair of essential farm buildings. It will be impossible to carry out the Veterans' Emergency Housing Program without diverting these critical materials from deferrable or less essential construction. The following order is deemed necessary and appropriate in the public interest and to effectuate the purposes of the Veterans' Emergency Housing Act of 1946.

§ 809.1 Veterans' Housing Program Order 1—(a) What this order does. In order to carry out the Veterans' Emergency Housing Program, this order forbids the beginning of construction and repair work on buildings and certain other structures without specific authorization under paragraph (h) of the order, with the exception of certain small jobs and other work covered by paragraphs (d), (e) and (f). The restrictions of the order apply whether or not the materials needed are on hand or are available without priorities assistance.

(b) Structures and work covered by this order—(1) Kind of structures. The restrictions of this order apply to certain kinds of work on structures.

As used in the order, "structure" means any of the following, whether of a temporary or permanent nature (See Interpretation 3 as to portable structures):

NOTE: Item "concrete surface or base for a drive-in theater, a parking lot or tennis court" deleted Apr. 30, 1947.

A building.
An arena, stadium or grandstand, including bleachers or similar seating arrangements.
A commercial amusement pier.
A boardwalk (not including wooden walks used in winter or bad weather).
A moving picture set.
A roller coaster or similar device of a kind ordinarily used in amusement parks.
A swimming pool.
A wall or fence built principally of wood.

The erection of stands or other structures which have been used before and are being erected only for a temporary purpose and are to be taken down after the temporary purpose is served is not covered by the order.

The term "structure" does not include any kind of equipment or furniture that is not attached to a building or other structure, whether or not it is inside a structure. Supplement 4 to VHP-1 contains examples of things which do not fall within the term "structure" as defined above.

(2) Kinds of work. The restrictions of this order apply to constructing, repairing, making additions or alterations (including alterations incidental to installing any kind of equipment), improving or converting structures, or installing or relocating fixtures or mechanical equipment in structures. These terms include any kind of work on a structure which involves the putting up or putting together of processed materials, products, fixtures or mechanical equipment, if the processed materials, products, fixtures or mechanical equipment are attached to a structure and used as a functional part of the structure, or are attached so firmly to the structure that removal would injure the material, product, fixture or mechanical equipment or the structure. However, the following kinds of work are not covered by the order:

Greasing, overhauling or repairing existing mechanical equipment or installing repair or replacement parts in existing mechanical equipment.
Sanding floors and sand blasting buildings.
Painting or papering an existing structure or applying waterproofing to an existing structure by painting or spraying where no work covered by the order is done in connection with the painting, papering or waterproofing.
Pointing bricks, sparkling plaster and caulking windows.
Installing loose fill, blanket, or batt insulation in existing buildings or installing insulation on existing equipment or piping.
Laying asphalt or other floor tile or linoleum or installing cork block insulation, in existing buildings (whether or not cemented to the building).

NOTE: The exemptions given above for work done in existing buildings does not apply to work done in connection with the original construction of the building or to work done in order to complete a building immediately after its original construction.

(3) Fixtures and mechanical equipment. In general the term "fixture" means any article attached to a building or structure and used as part of it and the term "mechanical equipment" means plumbing, heating, ventilating and lighting equipment which is attached to the building and used to operate it. Supplement 1 to VHP-1 contains lists of articles which are considered fixtures or mechanical equipment when attached to a structure in the manner described in that supplement and a list of other articles which are never considered fixtures or mechanical equipment.

(c) Prohibited construction. (1) No person shall begin to construct, to repair, to make additions or alterations to, to improve, to convert from one purpose to another, or to install or to relocate fixtures or mechanical equipment in any structure, public or private, in the forty-eight States, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands or the Territory of Hawaii, except to the extent permitted under paragraphs (d), (e) and (f), or when and to the extent specifically authorized under paragraph (h). No person shall carry on or participate in any construction, repair work, addition, improvement, conversion, alteration, installation or relocation of fixtures or mechanical equipment prohibited by this order. The prohibitions of this paragraph apply to a person who does his own construction work, to a person who gets a contractor to do the work, to contractors, sub-contractors, architects and engineers working on a job which is being carried on in violation of this order or getting others to work on it or to supply materials for it.

(2) This order forbids the beginning of certain kinds of work. To "begin" work on a structure means to incorporate into a structure on the site materials which are to be an integral part of the structure in question. Demolition, excavation and similar site preparation do not constitute beginning construction. The order does not apply to work which was begun before the order became effective and which was being carried on on that date and which is carried on normally after that date. However, this rule only applies to the particular building or other structure begun at that time. It does not apply to any other building or structure which had not itself been begun by that date even though the two are closely related. Supplement 2 to this order contains further provisions concerning the effective date of the order and concerning the beginning of construction. It also contains examples of work which constitute beginning construction, and examples of other work which do not constitute beginning construction.

(d) Allowances for small jobs. This order does not prohibit the performance of any separate construction, repair, alteration or installation job, the cost of which does not exceed the allowance given in Supplement 3 to VHP-1 for the particular kind of structure or job involved. Supplement 3 lists various kinds of structures and states what the small job allowance is for each kind of structure or job. Supplement 3 also contains provisions as to the method of calculating the cost of a job for the purpose of this exemption, and also provides when a job is a separate job.

(e) Exemption for repair and maintenance work in industrial, utility and transportation buildings and structures. The prohibitions of this order do not apply to maintenance and repair work in structures listed in paragraph (b) (3) of Supplement 3 to this order. For the purpose of the exemption given by this paragraph, "maintenance" means the minimum upkeep necessary to keep a structure in sound working condition and "repair" means the restoration of a structure to sound working condition when the structure has been rendered unsafe or unfit for service by wear and tear, damage, failure of parts, or the like. However, neither maintenance nor repair includes the improvement of any structure by replacing material which is still usable with material of a better kind, quality or design. Alterations to a building or other structure covered by paragraph (b) (3) of Supplement 3, including alterations incidental to installation of equipment, are not exempted by this paragraph, and may only be done when and to the extent permitted under Supplement 3 or when specifically authorized.

(f) Other exemptions—(1) Disasters. (i) The prohibitions of this order do not apply to the minimum work necessary to prevent more damage to a building or structure (or its contents) which has been damaged by flood, fire, tornado, or similar disaster. This does not include the restoration of the structure to its former condition.

(ii) The prohibitions of this order do not apply to the repair, rebuilding or reconstruction of any house (including a farmhouse) or any farm building which was destroyed or damaged by fire, flood, tornado or similar disaster, if the total cost of the repairs, rebuilding or reconstruction does not exceed $6,000 and if the reconstruction is started within sixty days of the occurrence of the disaster.

(2) Military construction. The prohibitions of this order do not apply to work by or for the account of the U. S. Army or Navy.

(3) Veterans' Administration. The prohibitions of this order do not apply to work on construction projects of the Veterans' Administration, including projects being built by the Corps of Engineers for the Veterans' Administration, or to the remodeling of a building or any part of a building which has been leased to the Veterans' Administration or to Public Buildings Administration for occupancy or use by the Veterans' Administration.

(g) Prohibited receipts and deliveries. No person shall accept an order for, sell, deliver or cause to be delivered materials which he knows or has reason to believe will be used in work prohibited by this order. Paragraph (d) (3) of Priorities Regulation 32 provides that no person may receive any material listed in Table I of that regulation for use in a construction project for which an authorization under VHP–1 is necessary unless an authorization for the project has already been obtained. Paragraph (c) of PR–32 contains a prohibition on deliveries made by a person who knows or has reason to believe that the receipt would be a violation of PR 32.

(h) Authorizations. Persons who wish to begin work which is prohibited by this order may apply for authorization. Supplement 5 to this order states what forms should be used and where the applications should be filed. The assignment of priorities assistance or the approval of housing accommodations under Priorities Regulation 33, whether before or after the time when this order became effective, or under Housing Expediter Priorities Regulation 5 or other applicable regulation of the Housing Expediter, constitutes an authorization under this order to do the work for which priorities assistance or approval was given.

Applications for non-housing construction will be reviewed to determine whether they meet the standards set forth in Direction 3 to VHP–1.

(i) Construction under authorizations. When a person is specifically authorized, either by approval of Form CPA–4423 or Form OHE 14–171 (formerly CPA–4423) or Form CPA–4386 or otherwise, to do work restricted by this order, he must observe the restrictions imposed on him by the authorization, and in doing the authorized work, he must not do any work of the kinds covered by the order unless it is specifically covered by the authorization. He may not, in connection with a job which has been specifically authorized, do additional work under the exemption given by Supplement 3 to VHP–1. When an application on Form CPA–4423 or Form OHE 14–171 (formerly CPA–4423) has been approved a placard will be sent to the applicant stating that the construction has been approved under this order. The applicant must place in the placard the project serial number and must set up the placard in front of the project site in a conspicuous location within five days after construction has been started and he must keep the placard there until completion of the work. No person to whom an authorization under VHP–1 has been issued shall transfer the authorization. If for any reason a builder wishes to abandon a project and another builder wishes to continue it, the new builder should apply to the appropriate office, attaching to his application a letter from the former builder joining in the request for the issuance of the new authorization.

(j) Violations. Any person who wilfully violates any provision of this order or who, in connection with this order, wilfully conceals a material fact or furnishes false information to any department or agency of the United States is guilty of a crime, and upon conviction may be punished by fine or imprisonment. In addition, any such person may be prohibited from making or obtaining further deliveries of, or from processing or using material under priorities control, and may be deprived of priorities assistance.

(k) Communications. All communications concerning this order, except communications about applications for residential construction, should be addressed to the appropriate District Construction Office of the Office of the Housing Expediter or to the Office of the Housing Expediter, Washington 25, D. C., Ref.: VHP–1.

(l) Reports. All persons affected by this regulation shall file such reports as may be requested by the Office of the Housing Expediter, subject to the approval of the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

(60 Stat. 207; 50 U. S. C. App. Sup. 1821)

OFFICE OF THE HOUSING EXPEDITER,
By JAMES V. SARCONE,
Authorizing Officer.

INTERPRETATION 1: Revoked July 2, 1946

INTERPRETATION 2

PROHIBITED DELIVERIES

(a) Paragraph (g) of VHP–1 provides as follows: "(g) Prohibited deliveries. No person shall accept an order for, sell, deliver or cause to be delivered materials which he knows or has reason to believe will be used in work prohibited by this order." Paragraph (c) of PR–32 provides as follows: "(c) Restrictions on delivery. No person may deliver any Table 1 material if he knows or has reason to believe that acceptance of the delivery would be in violation of this section."

(b) The purpose of paragraph (g) of VHP–1 and paragraph (c) of PR–32 is to prohibit the sale or delivery of materials by a supplier if he knows or has reason to believe that the materials supplied will be used in violation of VHP–1 or are for use in a job for which authorization under VHP–1 should, but has not, been obtained. These provisions do not impose on a fabricator or supplier any duty to investigate whether a proposed construction job for which he is asked to supply materials will be begun or carried on in violation of VHP–1, or whether it is specifically authorized or is exempt under that order. Mere knowledge that the kind of work involved is a kind which ordinarily would require authorization under the order does not constitute reason to believe that the work will be begun or carried on in violation of the order, and, in the absence of information to the contrary, the supplier may rely on the builder to get an authorization if authorization is required.

(c) Neither paragraph (g) of VHP–1 nor paragraph (c) of PR–32 requires a supplier to get from his customer a certificate to the effect that the customer is not violating and will not violate VHP–1, or a certificate to the effect that the job for which the materials will be used is exempt under the order or has been authorized under the order. (As amended April 30, 1947)

INTERPRETATION 3

PORTABLE AND PREFABRICATED STRUCTURES

(a) The erection of a "portable" or prefabricated building or other structure is construction and is restricted by Veterans' Housing Program Order 1, if the structure is placed on a foundation constructed on the site, or if the structure is connected to the ground by plumbing, wiring or other utility connection, or if the structure is placed on the ground on a spot where it is intended to remain for an undetermined time.

(b) Erection of a "portable" or prefabricated structure is not construction and is not covered by VHP–1 only if the structure is placed on a temporary site for the purpose of moving it from time to time, without any foundation or other connection with the ground. For example, the erection of a shelter to be moved around frequently for use on different parts of a farm from time to time is not construction, while the erection of a prefabricated or "portable" structure for use as a garage on a house lot is construction, and is restricted by VHP–1.

(c) If the erection of a "portable" or prefabricated building constitutes construction, as indicated above, the cost of the job must be computed in accordance with Supplement 3 to VHP–1. If the cost of the job exceeds the applicable allowance under that supplement, authorization for the job must be obtained.

INTERPRETATION 4

SMALL JOB ALLOWANCES FOR INDUSTRIAL UTILITY AND TRANSPORTATION STRUCTURES

(a) Paragraph (b) (3) of Supplement 3 to VHP–1 provides for small job allowances for certain industrial, utility and transportation structures. The small job allowance for one of these structures (with certain exceptions specified in the paragraph) depends upon the floor area which the particular structure has or will have. If the floor area of the particular building being built or altered is or will be 10,000 square feet or more, the allowance for alterations or additions or new construction is $15,000. On the other hand, if the floor area of the structure involved is and will be less than 10,000 square feet, the allowance is $1,000. If the cost of the proposed job, figured in accordance with paragraph (g) of Supplement 3, exceeds the small job allowance, authorization under VHP–1 must be obtained before starting the job.

(b) The following examples will explain the effect of this provision:

(1) A person proposes to construct a building to be used primarily as a factory. The floor area will be 1,500 square feet. The allowance for the job is $1,000.

(2) Any person owns a building which is used primarily as a factory and which has a floor area of 6,000 square feet. He proposes to make an alteration in the building. The allowance for this job is $1,000.

(3) A person owns a building which is used primarily for a factory and which has a floor area of 6,000 square feet. He proposes to build a wing on the building which will add 1,000 square feet, making a total of 7,000 square feet. The allowance for this job is $1,000.

(4) A person owns a building which is used primarily for a factory and which has a floor area of 8,000 square feet. He proposes to build a wing on the building which will add 2,000 square feet, making a total of 10,000 square feet. The allowance for this job is $15,000.

(5) A person owns a building which is used primarily for a factory and which has a floor area of 10,000 square feet or more. He proposes to make an alteration to the building. The allowance for this job is $15,000.

(6) A person proposes to build a building which will be used primarily for a factory and which will have a floor area of 10,000 square feet or more. The allowance for this job is $15,000.

(c) The floor area of the particular building which is to be built, in which the alteration is to be performed or to which the addition is to be built (including the floor area of any proposed addition) is the only floor area to be considered. The floor area of any other buildings may not be counted toward the 10,000 square feet, even though they are situated near to the building involved and are used for the same purpose.

(d) A building is considered a separate building from the one in which the construction is being done, if there are outside walls or party walls between the two buildings, even though the two are to be used for the same purpose, even though the two have common services, even though the two are connected by common roofs, continuous foundations, connecting passageways, covered passages, bridges, arcades or the like and even though the two have doorways or other openings providing for communication between the two buildings.

(e) The small job allowances provided in paragraph (b) (3) do not apply to structures of the kinds listed in paragraph (b) (4), and do not apply under the circumstances covered by paragraph (c) of Supplement 3.

INTERPRETATION 5

WORK COVERED BY AUTHORIZATIONS: TEMPORARY CONSTRUCTION BUILDINGS

(a) When an authorization is issued for the construction of a building or other structure described in the approved application, the builder may construct temporary structures on the site of the approved project which are necessary for its construction. For example, an authorization for a building includes authorization to put up temporary fences around the excavation, and temporary buildings for the purpose of storing materials for use as work rooms for architects or engineers on the job or to provide toilet facilities or dressing rooms for people working on the job or shacks for watchmen. These temporary buildings are covered by the authorization, whether or not they are placed upon temporary foundations or have lighting or plumbing connections.

(b) An authorization to construct a building or other structure does not give permission to put up buildings or other structures off the site of the approved project nor does it include permission to put up permanent buildings or other structures which will remain after the completion of the construction job, except those specifically covered by the authorization. This is true even though the structures are of a kind which were exempt from the order at the time the original authorization was issued and were, therefore, not included in the original application.

(c) Where temporary construction buildings are put up in the course of building something which itself is not covered by the order, such as a bridge or dam, the usual rules set forth in VHP–1, as explained in Interpretation 3, apply. Authorization must be obtained if the proposed structure is covered by VHP–1 even though the structure is temporary and is to be removed when the job is finished.

[Veterans' Housing Program Order 1, Supp. 1, as Amended April 30, 1947]

FIXTURES AND EQUIPMENT

§ 809.2 (a) What this supplement does. Veterans' Housing Program Order 1 restricts construction and alterations of buildings and certain other structures, including alterations incidental to the installation of equipment. It also restricts the installation of fixtures and mechanical equipment, whether or not alterations to the structure are involved. The installation of other machinery and equipment is not restricted by the order. Paragraph (b) (3) of VHP–1 defines a fixture as "any article attached to a building or structure and used as part of it", and defines mechanical equipment as "plumbing, heating, ventilating and lighting equipment which is attached to the building and used to operate it." This supplement lists various specific items indicating whether or not they are fixtures or mechanical equipment under VHP–1. It also explains other provisions of VHP–1 applying to these installations.

(b) Fixtures and mechanical equipment. (1) The following articles are considered fixtures and mechanical equipment if they are attached to a building or structure by nails or screws, or bolts, if they are connected with the plumbing or other piping system of the structure, if they are connected to the lighting system of the structure (except by connection to an existing outlet without installing new wires or a new outlet), if a base or foundation is built for the item, or if the item is cemented to the building or structure:

Air conditioning equipment (except when used for humidity or temperature control in industrial processing or as refrigeration equipment in a cold storage warehouse or a frozen food locker plant and except self-contained individual units with no duct systems).
Furnaces and furnace burner or boiler burner units.
Heating equipment.
Kitchen cabinets.
Lighting equipment.
Marquees.
Panelling.
Plumbing equipment.
Ventilating equipment.
Any other article falling within the definitions of fixture and mechanical equipment stated in paragraph (a) of this supplement.
(None of the above items include any item specifically listed in paragraph (b) (2) of this supplement.)

(2) The following articles are never considered fixtures or mechanical equipment:

Air conditioning equipment where required to provide humidity or temperature control for industrial processing and self-contained individual units with no duct systems.
Airport equipment such as cargo and passenger handling equipment, signalling equipment, obstruction marking equipment and equipment used for lighting runways or for signalling.
Altars, choir stalls and church pews.
Automatic fire protection sprinkler systems.
Barn equipment such as milking machines, hay or litter conveyors, stanchions and stalls.
Blast furnaces.
Control or testing equipment used for industrial or utility purposes or in a laboratory or hospital.
Conversion oil or gas burners installed in or attached to a furnace or boiler already in use in the building.
Conveyors.
Desks, chairs and cafeteria and gymnasium equipment in a school or college.
Electrical precipitators.
Escalators, elevators and dumb waiters.
Food warming, dishwashing and food preparation equipment in a restaurant or institution.
Furnaces for heat treating or similar industrial purposes.
Hospital equipment such as X-ray machines and operating tables.
Lighting equipment for flood lighting airports, railroads or other outdoor operations.
Machine tools.
Post-office equipment such as letter boxes and letter drops.
Power generating or transmitting equipment such as boilers, generators, and transformers (except where the primary purpose of the equipment is to provide electricity or steam for lighting or heating the building in which they are installed).
Projection and sound equipment.
Radio towers and other transmitting and receiving equipment.
Refrigeration equipment, such as compressors, in a cold storage warehouse or a frozen food locker plant.
Scales.
Service station equipment such as gasoline pumps, hydraulic lifts, battery chargers.
Stokers installed in connection with heating equipment already installed in a building.
Storm windows, storm doors, screens, awnings and venetian blinds.
Stoves.
Theatre seats.
Washing machines or dryers.
Other processing machinery and equipment.
Other machinery and equipment installed to provide a special service in a structure and not installed merely to operate the structure.

(3) The following articles are considered fixtures only if they are constructed as an integral part of the building or structure and cannot be removed without demolition of the article or substantial injury to the building or structure:

Bars.
Bins.
Bookcases.
Booths.
Cooling towers.
Counters.
Partitions, movable.
Refrigerators.
Show cases, including refrigerated show cases.
Signs, electric and other.
Soda fountains.
Storage racks.
Water coolers.

(c) [Deleted Aug. 30, 1946.]

(d) Repairs to mechanical equipment. Paragraph (b) (2) of VHP–1 provides that greasing, overhauling, repairing, or installing replacement parts in existing mechanical equipment in all types of structures, is not covered by the order, regardless of whether the cost of the job is within the applicable allowance under Supplement 3 to VHP–1, and the cost of such work need not be included in the cost of a job for the purpose of determining whether the job is within the applicable allowance under that supplement. This provision applies to plumbing, heating, ventilating and lighting equipment. This provision covers the replacement of parts in a piece of mechanical equipment when the present parts are no longer serviceable but does not cover the replacement of an entire piece of equipment. For example, it is permissible, under this provision, to replace the grates in a furnace but not to replace the entire furnace; to replace the tubes in a boiler but not to replace the entire boiler, unless the total cost of the replacement is within the applicable job allowance under Supplement 3 to VHP–1.

(e) Installation of exempt machinery and equipment. VHP–1 does not restrict the installation of machinery and equipment other than mechanical equipment. Paragraphs (b) (2) and (b) (3) of this supplement explains what equipment may be installed without regard to the provisions of the order. VHP–1 does, however, restrict the making of alterations to a building or other structure covered by the order in connection with the installation of such exempt machinery and equipment. For example, if a foundation is built inside a building to receive the equipment, or if new walls are installed to separate a machine from the rest of the plant, the cost of these building alterations must be computed in accordance with Supplement 3 to VHP–1 and if the cost exceeds the applicable allowance for the building involved under that supplement, authorization must be obtained for the work. However, it is not necessary to include in the cost of the building alterations the cost of the exempt machinery or equipment or the cost of labor engaged in installing the exempt machinery and equipment. For example, in installing elevators, which are covered by paragraph (b) of this Supplement, it would be necessary to count toward the cost of the job the cost (computed in accordance with paragraph (g) of Supplement 3) of preparing the shaft, of strengthening the building to support the elevator, and of constructing a penthouse or bulkhead on the roof of the building or a room in the basement to enclose the motors. It would not, however, be necessary to include in the cost of the job the cost of the elevator car, the guide rails between which the car runs, the sheaves, the motors, the cables or the doors or frames to the elevator shaft or the cost of labor engaged in assembling and installing this equipment.

PART 809—VETERANS' HOUSING PROGRAM ORDERS

BEGINNING CONSTRUCTION

§ 809.3 (a) What this supplement does. Veterans' Housing Program Order 1 restricts the "beginning" of certain kinds of work on structures. "To begin work on a structure" is defined in paragraph (c) (2) as "to incorporate into a structure on the site materials which are to be an integral part of the structure." The restrictions of VHP–1 on the beginning of construction do not apply to work which takes place before construction has begun. VHP–1 also does not apply to work which was begun before it became effective and which was being carried on at the time it became effective and is carried on normally after that time. The rule that the restrictions of VHP–1 do not apply to work begun before it became effective applies also to work which was exempt under the order or a supplement to it when the work was begun, even though a later and more restrictive amendment would prevent the beginning of the job after the issuance of the amendment. This supplement explains these provisions of the order and gives examples of their application.

(b) Beginning construction. Materials which are to be an integral part of a structure are considered to have been incorporated in the structure on the site only when they are placed in the position in which they are to remain permanently as a part of the structure. Furthermore, materials are considered to be an integral part of a proposed structure only if they will be physically attached to the building or structure and will be permanently located within the boundary lines of its walls. Construction is not "begun" under VHP–1 unless both these conditions are met. Paragraphs (c) and (d) below list examples of cases where construction has not begun and has begun.

(c) Cases where construction has not begun. (1) The following kinds of work do not constitute beginning construction on a proposed structure and the cost of such work need not be included in computing the cost of a job under paragraph (g) of Supplement 3 to VHP–1 to determine whether the job comes within the applicable allowance under paragraph (g) of Supplement 3.

Demolition of buildings.
Tearing out partitions or walls in a building which is being altered.
Site preparation such as excavating, grading, filling with dirt, gravel or crushed stone.
Laying down driveways, walks, railroad sidings, etc.
Erecting fences, work sheds and construction shanties.
Laying pipes, conduits and wires outside the boundary lines of the walls of the structure.
Building retaining walls not physically incorporated within the structure.
Driving sheet piling to prevent cave-ins.
Constructing or erecting forms for concrete.

(2) The following operations do not constitute beginning construction on a proposed structure but the cost or value of the fabricated items or the materials must be included in computing the cost of a job in accordance with paragraph (g) of Supplement 3 to VHP–1:

Fabricating structural steel shapes or other prefabricated sections, panels or buildings, whether off site or on the site.
Purchasing materials or receiving delivery of materials on or off the site.

(d) Cases where construction has begun. The following kinds of work constitute the beginning of construction on a proposed structure:

Pouring concrete footings or other foundations.
Placing reinforcing rods or mats in place in an excavation preparatory to pouring concrete.
Driving permanent bearing piles or caissons.
Installing pipes, conduits or wires in the place where they will remain permanently as part of the building, if located within the boundary lines of the walls of the proposed structure.
Building foundation walls whether laid dry or with mortar.
Incorporating permanently in place additional building materials in a building which is being remodelled, whether the incorporation is for the purpose of repairing the parts of the building left standing or as part of the new alterations.

(e) Carrying on construction. The exemption from VHP–1 for work begun before the issuance of the order applies only to work which was being carried on when the order was issued and which is carried on normally afterward. This means that if a job was started before the issuance of the order, but was abandoned or discontinued either before or after the issuance of the order, it is not exempt from the order by reason of the earlier beginning. However, this does not mean that work must be carried on every day. If construction was or is suspended temporarily for reasons beyond the builder's control such as inability to get materials or labor, or a work stoppage, or unfavorable weather conditions, the construction job is considered to have been carried on normally within the meaning of VHP–1. However, a suspension of work on the site for more than 3 months is not considered a temporary suspension regardless of the reasons for the suspension. Application must be made to proceed with any construction on which work has been suspended for more than 3 months.

(f) Scope of work begun. The exemption for a structure begun before the issuance of VHP–1 is limited to the structure which was under construction at the issuance of the order. It does not apply to any other structure, even though the two are to be used together and one would be useless without the other, or even though the two structures have common heating systems or other common services, or even though the two are connected by pipes, wires, connecting passageways, bridges or the like. Furthermore, the exemption only applies to a structure of the kind and size which was under construction at the issuance of the order. For example, if a builder has begun a 3-story building 100 feet by 100 feet before the issuance of the order and was constructing this building at the time the order was issued, he would be permitted to complete this building, but he would have to get authorization if he later decided to redesign the proposed structure and build a 5-story building 100 feet by 500 feet. The exemption is limited to the building which he was in fact building when the order was issued. This rule also applies to modernization jobs. (The requirement of paragraph (g) of Supplement 3 to VHP–1 that all related modernization work be considered a single job does not exempt all modernization work merely because one part of it has been started before the issuance of the order.) When one part of a modernization program has been started before the issuance of the order, a later part of the program can be considered to have been started by that time only if the two parts of the program are so closely related in space, purpose and performance as to be inseparable.

(g) When the order took effect. VHP–1 was filed in the Division of the Federal Register and was made available for public inspection at 11:54 a. m., eastern standard time, on March 26, 1946. VHP–1 became effective at that time with respect to the 48 States, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, and the Virgin Islands. Amendment 1 to VHP–1 extending the applicability of the order to the Territory of Hawaii was filed in the Division of the Federal Register and made available to the public at 10:04 a. m., eastern standard time on April 12, 1946. Therefore, the order became effective in the Territory of Hawaii at 4:34 a. m., Hawaiian standard time, on April 12, 1946. Direction 1 to VHP–1 provided an exemption for certain reconstruction work made necessary by the tidal wave which occurred April 1, 1946, if the reconstruction began on or before September 30, 1946. This direction has been revoked, but work exempted by it may be completed.

SMALL JOB ALLOWANCES AND CLASSIFICATION OF STRUCTURES AS TO SMALL JOB ALLOWANCES

§ 809.4 (a) What this supplement does. Paragraph (d) of Veterans' Housing Program Order 1 provides that it is not necessary to get permission under the order to do one or more jobs on a structure if the cost of each job does not exceed the allowance given for the kind of structure or the kind of job involved. This supplement sets forth the small job allowances generally applicable to individual structures of various classes and lists certain specific structures falling within each class. The supplement also lists exemptions applicable to a particular kind of job. In addition, this supplement explains the rules for computing the cost of a job for the purpose of determining whether it comes within the exemption given under this supplement.

(b) Classification of structures. The small job allowances given under this supplement are based in general upon the kind or size of structure in which the job is to be done. They are not based upon the use to which the part of a structure being altered is to be put, except as provided in paragraph (c) of this supplement. If the job involved consists of changing a structure from one class to another class, the small job allowance applicable to the conversion is the allowance for the structure after the conversion, except where the conversion is from residential purposes to nonresidential purposes, in which case the job is covered by paragraph (c) of this supplement. The allowance provided for in paragraph (c) is applicable to a job covered by that paragraph, even though done in a structure which, as a whole, would have a larger allowance under this paragraph. With the exception of jobs covered by paragraph (c) of this supplement, it is not necessary to get permission under VHP–1 to do any separate construction, repair, alteration or installation job, the cost of which does not exceed the allowance given below for the individual structure involved.

(1) The small job allowance under paragraph (b) of this supplement for a structure of the kind listed below is $400 per job.

Any individual house designed for occupancy by 5 families or less even though it is on the property of a commercial, utility, institutional or industrial concern and used for the purpose of housing employees of the commercial, utility, institutional or industrial concern.
A rectory or parsonage even though near a church and owned by a church.
A house on a campus owned by a college and occupied by a college official.
A boarding or rooming house designed for occupancy by 10 boarders or roomers or less.
A farmhouse or other housing accommodations on a farm (except a farm bunkhouse).
Row houses separated by party walls are considered separate houses.
All private structures situated near and used in connection with one to five family houses, such as garages, fences, tool sheds, greenhouses and the like even though these may be used in part or primarily for nonresidential purposes (except on farms, see paragraph (b) (2) of this supplement).

(2) The small job allowance under paragraph (b) of this supplement for a structure of the kinds listed below is $1,000 per job:

NOTE: Item "publicly owned pier not used for steamship or railway purposes" deleted Apr. 30, 1947.

A boarding or rooming house designed for occupancy by more than 10 boarders or roomers.
A dormitory or fraternity.
A building used for a social club.

A building in a retail or wholesale lumber yard.
A repair shop, except a plant primarily engaged in reconditioning or rebuilding equipment or articles for resale.

A commercial amusement pier.
A store.
A hotel.
An arena.
An apartment house or other residential building designed for occupancy by more than 5 families.
A bank.
A restaurant.
A nightclub.
A theater.
A warehouse, including a warehouse in which products such as liquor, cheese or tobacco are kept to age, whether or not changes occur in the product during the aging process.
A frozen food locker plant.
A stadium.
A grandstand used for commercial or institutional purposes.
A church.
A hospital.
A school.
A college.
A publicly owned building used for public purposes.
A building used exclusively for charitable purposes.
A tailor's or dressmaker's establishment making, repairing or altering articles for individual customers.

Any other structure used for commercial or service purposes and not specifically covered by any other classification.

(3) The small job allowance under paragraph (b) of this supplement for a structure of any of the kinds listed below is $15,000 per job if the floor area of the structure is or will be 10,000 square feet or more. If the floor area of the structure is or will be less than 10,000 square feet, the small job allowance is $1,000 per job unless the list below indicates, by the use of an asterisk in front of items where the $15,000 small job allowance applies regardless of floor area, that the $15,000 allowance applies regardless of floor area.

NOTE: The allowance given in this paragraph does not apply to structures of the kinds listed specifically in paragraph (b) (4) below, which always have the small job allowance of $200 per job given in that paragraph, or to residential buildings, which always receive the applicable allowance given in paragraphs (b) (1) and (b) (2) above.

NOTE: The small job allowances provided by this paragraph apply only to buildings primarily used for the purposes listed below. See paragraph (d) below.

*A building at a logging or lumber camp or at a mine, including a mine tipple.
*An industrial research laboratory or pilot plant.
*A building or other structure used directly for the operation of a railroad, street railway, commercial airline, busline or common or contract carrier by truck, such as a roundhouse, a building housing signal or interlocking installations, locomotive water facilities, freight yard offices, railroad workmen's washrooms and lockers, a garage or workshop for a bus company, a freight terminal for a common or contract carrier by truck, railway or steamship line or a hangar for a commercial airline.
*A building or other structure used for producing, refining or distributing oil, gas (including liquefied or bottled gas) or petroleum, except service stations and commercial or industrial garages.

*A cotton compress warehouse.
A building or other structure which is to be used for manufacturing, processing or assembling any goods or materials.
A printing or bookbinding plant or a newspaper publishing establishment.
A plant engaged in the wholesale printing, developing and enlarging of photographs.
A plant engaged in mixing and bottling syrups or soft drinks.
An off-farm slaughterhouse, bakery, butcher shop or other off-farm establishment where edible food products for humans or animals are prepared for the market by pasteurizing, bottling, mixing, coloring, preserving, washing, salting, packaging or freezing (not including the frozen food locker plant).
A plant primarily engaged in reconditioning or rebuilding articles or equipment for resale.
A scrap dealer's plant if it is primarily engaged in such processing operations as briquetting, pressing or baling light iron, cutting up heavy melting steel, breaking up heavy cast iron, detinning cans or smelting non-ferrous metals for the purpose of making the scrap available for further use.
A building used primarily for a station, waiting room for a railroad, a commercial airline or a busline, whether situated at an airfield, railroad or elsewhere.

(4) The small job allowance under paragraph (b) of this supplement for a structure of the kinds listed below is $200 per job.

NOTE: Items "a concrete surface * * *" and "a wall or fence * * *" deleted April 30, 1947.

A private bathhouse which is not situated near and used in connection with another structure.
A tourist cabin whether a single cabin or one of a group of separate cabins. A cabin is considered a separate cabin if it has independent outside walls even though the space between it and the next cabin is sheltered by a roof and is used as a garage. A management building used for operating the cabins is considered a commercial building under paragraph (b) (2) of this supplement.
A swimming pool.
A boardwalk.
A roller coaster or similar device of a kind ordinarily used in amusement parks.
Any other structure covered by the order and not coming within any other classification.

(5) The small job allowance under paragraph (b) of this supplement for a non-residential structure on a farm is $5,000 per job, if the farm on which the structure is or is to be situated has an area of 5 acres or more. However, the small job allowance for a non-residential structure on a farm is $1,000 per job if the farm on which the structure is or is to be situated has an area of less than 5 acres. A residential structure on a farm has the small job allowance applicable under paragraph (b) (1) or paragraph (b) (2) of this supplement, as the case may be. A bunkhouse on a farm for farm laborers is considered a non-residential structure for the purpose of determining the applicable small job allowance. A "farm" means a place used primarily for the purpose of raising crops, livestock, dairy products or poultry for the market. Chicken hatcheries, plants used to raise mushrooms or other food products, and greenhouses (except those on residential property) and farm or ranches for raising fur-bearing animals are considered farms. Buildings situated on a farm and used primarily to process the products of that farm and buildings situated on a farm and used primarily to process materials for use on that farm are considered non-residential farm structures under this paragraph.

(c) Small job allowances for conversion from residential purposes. Regardless of the small job allowance given under paragraph (b) of this supplement for a particular structure, the small job allowance applicable to a job consisting of conversion to non-residential purposes of any part (or all) of a building last used for residential purposes is $200.

(d) Structures used for more than one purpose. If a structure is used for more than one purpose and might, therefore, fall within more than one of the classes indicated above, the use to which the greatest part of the structure will be put (computed on the basis of the floor area where applicable) determines the allowance. For example, if a building has three apartments occupying three floors of the building and a store on the ground floor, it is primarily residential and falls under paragraph (b) (1) of this supplement. If a building is half residential and half commercial or industrial or half residential and half agricultural, it is considered primarily residential. When alterations are being made to a building, the applicable small job allowance is the allowance applicable to the building as a whole under paragraph (b). Except in cases covered by paragraph (c), the purpose for which the particular space being altered was or is to be used does not affect the amount of the allowance.

(e) Subordinate structures. Where a non-residential structure of any of the kinds listed in paragraph (b) (2) is situated, near and used in connection with, a structure having a $15,000 small job allowance under paragraph (b) (3), the same allowance applies to the subordinate structure if the floor area of the subordinate structure is or will be 10,000 square feet or more. This means that if an office building, warehouse or garage of this size is situated on the immediate premises of an industrial or utility structure having a $15,000 small job allowance and is used in connection with the operation of that structure, the office building, warehouse or garage also gets the $15,000 small job allowance. However, a "downtown" office building, even though used exclusively for one industrial or utility company, is always under paragraph (b) (2), regardless of its size, like other office buildings. All residential structures, however, always get the allowance applicable under paragraphs (b) (1) or (b) (2), and all structures specifically listed in paragraph (b) (4) always get the $200 small job allowance of that paragraph.

(f) Separate jobs. For the purpose of determining whether work is exempt from VHP–1 under this supplement, a related series of operations in a structure which are performed at or about the same time or as part of a single plan or program constitute a single job. No job which would ordinarily be done as a single piece of work may be sub-divided for the purpose of coming within the allowance given under this supplement. When a building or part of a building is being converted from one purpose to another all work incidental to and done in connection with the conversion must be considered as one job. So also if a building is being renovated, improved or modernized over an extended period all work done in connection with the modernization (other than the work done before the issuance of the order) must be considered as part of one job, even though separate contracts are let for different parts of the work. However, if related work on two or more separate structures is performed, the work is not considered one job but the work done in each structure must be considered separately under the rules stated above. For example, if two or more related structures are to be built and the cost of each does not exceed the small job allowance applicable to each structure under paragraph (b) of this supplement, each of these structures may be built without getting an authorization under VHP–1. See paragraph (f) of Supplement 2 to VHP–1 for an explanation of what jobs are exempt from the order as having been started before it became effective.

(g) How to figure cost. For the purpose of determining whether a particular job is exempt from VHP–1 by this supplement, the "cost" of a job means the cost of the entire construction job as estimated at the time of beginning construction. (1) The cost of a job includes the following:

The cost or value of fixtures, mechanical equipment and materials incorporated in the structure, whether or not obtained without paying for them, except the items listed in paragraph (g) (1) below. (See Supplement 1 for definitions and illustrations of fixtures and mechanical equipment.)
The cost of paid labor engaged in the construction work, regardless of who pays for it, excluding, however, the cost of paid labor engaged in working on or installing fixtures, equipment or materials the cost of which need not be included in the cost of the job under paragraph (g) (2). If it is impracticable to allocate the labor specifically to exempt or non-exempt items, the cost of all paid labor may be divided between the work on the two different classes of items in proportion to the value of the two classes of items.
The amount paid for contractors' fees.

(2) The cost of a job does not include the following:

The cost or value of previously used fixtures, previously used mechanical equipment and previously used materials, when these have been severed from the same structure or another structure owned by the builder (the owner or occupant of the building) and are to be used without change of ownership.
The cost or value of materials used in repainting or repapering an existing structure or any unchanged part of a structure. However, this exception does not apply to painting a new structure or new parts of a structure which has been altered.
The cost or value of materials used in installing loose fill, blanket or batt insulation in existing buildings or in installing insulation on existing equipment or piping.
The cost or value of materials which were produced on the property of the owner or actual or proposed occupant of the structure, except where he is in business of producing these materials for sale (this exception does not include materials or products assembled by the builder from new or used materials not themselves excepted).
The value of unpaid labor and the cost of paid labor engaged in working on or installing fixtures, equipment or materials, the cost of which is exempt from the cost of the job.
The cost or value of machinery and equipment other than mechanical equipment.
Architect's and engineers' fees.
The cost of site preparation and other preparatory work which does not constitute beginning construction (Supplement 2 to VHP–1 contains illustrations of work which does not constitute beginning construction and the cost of which is not included in the cost of a job).

PART 809—VETERANS' HOUSING PROGRAM ORDERS

[Veterans' Housing Program Order 1, Supp. 4 as Amended April 30, 1947]

ITEMS WHICH ARE NOT STRUCTURES

§ 809.5 Supplement 4 to Veterans' Housing Program Order 1. The restrictions of Veterans' Housing Program Order 1 apply to work on "structures". Paragraph (b) (1) of VHP–1 contains a list of items which are considered structures under that order. The term "structure" does not include any other kind of item or any kind of equipment or furniture that is not attached to a building or structure whether or not the furniture or equipment is inside a structure.

The following is a list of items which are not considered structures under the order because they do not come within the kinds of items listed under paragraph (b) (1) of VHP–1. This list does not include all items which are not covered by paragraph (b) (1) of VHP–1 and that paragraph must be examined in order to tell whether any particular item is covered by the order. The restrictions of VHP–1 do not apply to the items listed below and it is not necessary to get permission under the order to do any kind of work on them. However, the restrictions of the order do apply to work on structures built or used in connection with the following or to work on structures which is made necessary by work on the following:

Blast furnaces
Breakwaters
Brick, lumber or pottery kilns
Bridges
Bulkheads
Canals
Cemetery monuments, including private burial vaults
Chimneys of industrial or utility type, constructed of radial brick, reinforced concrete or steel
Coke ovens
Cooling towers
Dams
Drainage or irrigation ditches
Driveways (public or private)
Electrical precipitators
Fueling equipment
Gravestones
Lighting equipment
Lighting systems
Oil derricks
Oil refinery processing equipment such as towers, reactors, heat exchanges and furnaces
Piers and docks, except commercial amusement piers (buildings built on piers and docks are considered structures and are covered by the order even though the piers or docks on which they are built are exempt)
Pipe lines
Power transmission lines
Radio towers
Railroad or street car or interurban or plant railway tracks or operating facilities such as switching facilities, water tanks, signals and turntables
Roads
Scales
Sidewalks Silos Streets
Subways
Surface or underground mines
Tanks for oil, water, gas, and the like
Trailers (except when demounted and installed on a foundation. See Interpretation 3 to VHP–1)
Transformers
Tunnels
Utility facilities, such as power or telephone lines or cables, sewers, and outdoor substations, providing for electric, gas, sewerage, water, or central steam heating or telephone or telegraph communication service
Wells
Any item of equipment installed outside of and not attached to a building or a structure even though a foundation is built for it and even though the equipment is attached to a building by pipes or pipe lines, wires or the like.

PART 809—VETERANS' HOUSING PROGRAM ORDERS

[Veterans' Housing Program Order 1, Supp. 5, as Amended April 30, 1947]

APPLICATIONS; FILING AND PREPARING

§ 809.6 Supplement 5 to Veterans' Housing Program Order 1—(a) What this supplement does. This supplement tells where applications for authorization under Veterans' Housing Program Order 1 to do construction, repair work or other work restricted by VHP–1 should be filed. This supplement also contains the instructions for preparing applications for non-housing construction.

WHERE APPLICATIONS SHOULD BE FILED

(b) Applications to be filed under the Housing Permit Regulation. (1) Applications for the construction of the following kinds of new structures in which 50% or more of the floor space is to be used for residential purposes should be filed under the Housing Permit Regulation (see paragraph (b) (4) below):

(i) Any building, structure or other construction item to be used for family housing purposes, whether occupied all year round or seasonally, and any apartment hotel, boarding house, rooming house, dormitory or other residential accommodations occupied for substantial periods of time, whether by single persons or by families, including also all subsidiary buildings, structures or construction items (whether restricted by VHP–1 or not) on residential property, such as garages, tool sheds, greenhouses, piers, swimming pools, walls, fences, bulkheads, wells and the like. This includes applications for family housing accommodations, either one family houses or apartments, and permanent residential quarters for individuals, whether these are to be built and owned by private individuals, corporations, public organizations or educational or other institutions. It also includes applications for the erection of prefabricated houses, the permanent installation of trailers and the like. This paragraph does not include summer or winter camps or hotels, overnight guest houses, tourist cabins or other accommodations for transients. Restaurants, laundry rooms and toilet facilities built in connection with tourist cabins and trailer camps are not covered by this paragraph, except where the toilet facilities or laundry rooms are to be used by the occupants of permanently installed trailers.

(ii) Dormitories, and living facilities such as dining halls built and to be used exclusively in connection with a new dormitory, and subsidiary buildings for trailer camps such as laundry rooms, toilet facilities and the like, when they are built by an educational institution or a public organization and dormitories built under the sponsorship of an educational organization. "Educational institution" means a school, including a trade or vocational school, a college, a university or any similar institution of learning. "Public organization" means the United States government, a state, county, city, town, village or other municipal government, or an agency, instrumentality or authority of such a governing body.

(iii) Farm houses and other residential accommodations on farms, and bunkhouses for transient farm labor.

Paragraph (b) (1) does not include accommodations, the primary purpose of which is non-residential, such as wards or rooms for patients or inmates in hospitals, mental hospitals, insane asylums, orphanages, old people's homes, police barracks or cell blocks in jails. It also does not include housing accommodations constructed by or for the account of the U. S. Army or Navy.

(2) Regardless of the primary purpose for which a structure as a whole is or is to be used, applications for construction, alterations, additions or repairs in the structure should be filed under the Housing Permit Regulation if 50% or more of the floor space involved in the proposed work will be used for residential purposes of the kinds described above.

(3) Applications for amendments to projects approved under Priorities Regulation 33 or Housing Expediter Priorities Regulation 5 should be filed in accordance with those regulations.

(4) In general new applications for work covered by paragraphs (b) (1) and (b) (2) should be made on OHE Form 14–56 and filed with the appropriate State or District Office of the Federal Housing Administration, except that (i) applications covering dwelling accommodations or bunkhouses for transient farm labor located on a farm should be filed with the appropriate County Agricultural Conservation Committee, (ii) applications by educational institutions or by public organizations for any kind of residential accommodations to be built by them, and applications for single person residential accommodations to be built or converted under the sponsorship of an educational institution, should be filed with the appropriate Regional Office of the Federal Public Housing Authority and, (iii) applications to construct or erect experimental housing accommodations or to obtain materials for experimental or testing purposes in connection with housing accommodations should be filed with the Technical Office of the Administrator of the National Housing Agency.

(5) Under paragraphs (b) (1) and (b) (2) the amount of floor space to be used for residential purposes and the amount to be used for other purposes will determine where the application is to be filed. In computing floor area for these purposes, hallways and other public spaces should be excluded from the computation. Basement space should also be excluded even though used for storage space for stores or for apartments, except where all or part of the basement is used for an apartment or rooms for living purposes, or for selling or exhibition space for a store, or for a commercial garage which is open to the public.

(c) Applications to be filed with the OHE District Construction Offices. All applications for authorization under VHP–1 not covered by paragraph (b) should be filed on Form OHE 14–171 (formerly CPA–4423) with the appropriate OHE District Construction Office.

PREPARING APPLICATIONS FOR NON-HOUSING CONSTRUCTION

(d) Cost. Form OHE 14–171 (formerly CPA–4423) requires the applicant to state the estimated cost of the proposed construction job for which he is requesting authorization in Item 5. This item is broken down into two parts: the cost of the structure and the cost of fixtures (heating, plumbing, lighting and ventilating equipment).

(1) Under the cost of the structure in Item 5, the applicant should state the cost of the structure, excluding the cost of processing and service equipment and the cost of fixtures and mechanical equipment and also excluding the cost or value of the land of existing structures and of architects' and engineers' fees.

The applicant should include in this figure, the cost or value of materials and labor which do not constitute part of the cost of the construction job under paragraph (g) of Supplement 3 to VHP–1. Paragraph (g) (2) of that supplement lists numerous specific items which are excluded from the cost of a job under VHP–1.

(2) Under the cost of fixtures (heating, plumbing, lighting and ventilating equipment), the applicant should exclude the cost of the items covered by paragraph (b) (1) of Supplement 1 to VHP–1 together with the cost of any items listed under paragraph (b) (3) of Supplement 1 which are so built as not to become a part of the building. The applicant should not include in this item the cost of any items which are excluded from the cost of the job under paragraph (g) of Supplement 3 to VHP–1.

(3) The applicant should not include under Item 5 the cost of processing equipment or service equipment of the kinds listed and described in paragraph (b) (2) of Supplement 1 to VHP–1.

(e) Applicant. In reviewing an application to determine whether it should be approved, the Office of the Housing Expediter relies upon the statements and representations made in the application and in supplementary documents filed with the application. Severe criminal penalties may be imposed for making wilfully false statements or representations in connection with these applications. This imposes upon persons making statements and representations in connection with applications great responsibility for the correctness of these statements and representations. In addition, the granting of the authorization imposes upon the builder and others concerned with the project, the responsibility of carrying out the provisions of the authorization and the representations made. For this reason it is important that each of the statements and representations involved should be made by a person familiar with the facts and responsible for their correctness and truthfulness. Contractors and architects and landlords may be in a position to assume responsibility for the performance of the construction in accordance with the authorization but ordinarily they are not in a position to accept responsibility for the correctness of statements and representations as to the need for the building and the use to which it will be put. The application should be made and signed by the person who is to be responsible for the construction, normally the individual who, or a responsible officer of the corporation which, owns or is to own the building or other structure involved. If the person who signs the application is not personally familiar with the need for the proposed work and therefore is not in a position to assume responsibility for statements and representations with respect to the need for the building and the purpose to which it is to be put, these statements and representations should be made in a letter attached to the application signed by the prospective occupant of the building or a responsible officer of the corporation which is to occupy it, or any other person who is in a position to accept the responsibility for these statements.

(f) Compliance cases. If a builder wishes to complete construction of a project on which some work has been done, and on which construction has been stopped, this fact should be stated in the application. The applicant should give, either on the application or in a letter attached to the application, full information about the beginning of the construction, including a statement of the nature and cost of the work previously done and a statement as to when it was done and including also a statement as to the exact nature and the estimated cost of the work required for completion, together with a statement about the circumstances under which construction was stopped, referring particularly to any stop telegram, suspension order, consent order or injunction involved. If the application is approved, authorization will be given only for the work which has not yet been done.

[Veterans' Emergency Housing Program Order 1, Direction 3, as amended April 30, 1947]

STANDARDS FOR REVIEWING APPLICATIONS FOR NON-HOUSING CONSTRUCTION

The following direction is issued pursuant to Veterans' Emergency Housing Program Order 1:

(a) What this direction does. This direction sets forth the standards for reviewing applications under Veterans' Housing Program Order 1 for permission to do non-housing construction restricted by the order. In general no construction will be approved unless it is essential and non-deferrable, or unless it is necessary to alleviate or forestall an extreme and unusual hardship, or unless it will not use scarce building materials needed for the Veterans' Emergency Housing Program.

(b) Essentiality. An application may be approved on the ground that the construction of the proposed project at the present time is essential if it falls into one of the categories listed in this paragraph. The applicant must show clearly that the proposed construction is necessary to accomplish the purpose.

(1) Critical products. Applications for the construction of facilities necessary to maintain or increase production of materials or products considered to be in critically short supply may be granted where the shortage of facilities limits the production, and where the application is limited to the minimum construction needed. Applications from producers of industrially made houses or from producers of new materials approved by the Office of the Housing Expediter may be approved under this paragraph if the proposed construction is essential for the production of the houses or the new material. Applications for the construction of research laboratories or pilot plants may be approved where the proposed facility is necessary for research in connection with essential production.

(2) Food and other agricultural products. Applications for the construction of facilities necessary to maintain or increase the production or preservation of essential foods or food products may be approved. This includes applications for both on-farm and off-farm facilities. In addition, on-farm facilities necessary to maintain the production of a farm may be approved, whether or not the farm produces food. Farm machinery and implement service facilities will not be approved under this paragraph except where it is clearly shown that the lack of such facilities is seriously hampering the production of essential foods. Frozen food locker plants will not be approved under this paragraph except in rural areas where substantially all of the food to be stored will be produced by the persons storing it, and then only when there are not sufficient available facilities to prevent the wastage of food.

(3) Public health and safety. Applications for the construction of facilities providing essential services vitally necessary to the public health or safety, such as public utilities, fire stations, hospitals, and similar institutions may be approved where there is or will be a serious shortage of the proposed service and where the proposed construction is the minimum necessary to provide the locality with service equal to generally accepted minimum standards. Applications for the minimum alterations required by the local authorities to protect public health and safety may be approved.

(4) Community facilities. Applications for the construction of essential community facilities may be approved under this paragraph where it is clearly shown that the lack of such facilities constitutes a severe and unreasonable hardship on the community or area to be served. In general, applications for additional community facilities will not be approved under this paragraph unless there has recently been such a substantial growth in population that the existing facilities are clearly inadequate. Amusement or recreational facilities and office buildings will not generally be approved under this subparagraph.

(5) Primary and secondary schools. Applications for the construction of or additions or alterations to primary and secondary schools may be approved where the existing school facilities are inadequate or unsafe and where other similar schools within a reasonable distance cannot without undue crowding accommodate the students enrolled or to be enrolled in the immediate future.

(6) Veterans' Educational Program. Applications by universities, colleges and schools for the construction of educational facilities, such as classrooms, laboratories, libraries, shops, and related facilities, such as dining rooms and residential space, may be approved where the facilities are indispensable for the Veterans' Educational Program under the GI Bill of Rights at the institution and where the existing facilities of the institution are being fully used, and adequate temporary facilities cannot be obtained.

(7) Maintenance and repairs. Applications for authorization to make repairs and to do maintenance work restricted by VHP–1 may be approved where denial will make it impossible to continue use of a building or structure or where serious injury to a structure will result. Authorizations will only be granted for the minimum work necessary to keep structures in sound working condition. Alterations, expansions and modernizations will not be approved under this paragraph.

(8) Veterans. Applications for small commercial or industrial facilities of a reasonably essential nature may be approved, where (a) the applicant is a veteran of World War II, or a group of such veterans, or a partnership or corporation more than 50% of which is owned by such veterans and (b) the applicant will (i) own the proposed building or (ii) have a lease of 5 years or more on the entire proposed building or (iii) will have a lease of 2 years or more on the space to be altered under the authorization, and (c) the proposed building or the space to be altered will be used entirely for the applicant's business and (d) the veteran or veterans will devote all or substantially all of his or their time to, and be entitled to more than 50% of the profits of, the business to be conducted in the facility, and (e) the estimated total cost of construction (Item 5c of Form CPA–4423) does not exceed approximately $10,000. In general, amusement or recreational facilities will not be approved under this paragraph. Applications for the conversion of residential accommodations to office space or other commercial uses will not be generally approved under this paragraph. A veteran means any person who was in the Army, Navy, Marine Corps or Coast Guard on or after September 16, 1940, and was discharged or released under conditions other than dishonorable, after active service of 90 days or more, or by reason of an injury or disability incurred in service in line of duty.

(c) Hardship cases. Applications for construction necessary to alleviate or forestall hardship may be approved where denial would work a severe and unusual hardship. The hardship must be substantial and exceedingly severe, such as threatened bankruptcy or substantial impairment of means of livelihood. However, applications which involve the conversion of residential space to commercial purpose will rarely be approved on the ground of hardship.

These examples of "hardship" cases are not intended to be exclusive, but rather illustrative of the degree of hardship which must be shown before a case should be granted on a hardship basis.

(1) Loss of former facilities. An applicant who has lost or is about to lose his place of business as a result of eviction, condemnation or disaster may be authorized to replace the facilities, where it is impracticable for him to repair or restore the old facilities or to buy or rent any other place to conduct his business. Applications will not generally be approved on the basis of loss of facilities, where the loss occurred more than six months before the filing of the applications. The authorization will be generally limited to approximately the same amount of space which has been or will be lost. Evidence of the practical impossibility of continuing in the premises must be shown in the case of eviction or condemnation.

(2) Commitments before imposition of restrictions. An application by a person who made commitments for a proposed construction job at a time when no authorization was required for the job may be approved where a denial would result in a severe and unusual hardship to the applicant. The applicant must show clearly that postponement of construction will result in a severe and unusual hardship, and that any materials and equipment or any land he has purchased cannot be resold without severe loss. However, when the commitments were made at a time when authorization was needed for the job, the hardship will be considered to have been assumed voluntarily. Hardship of this sort will not generally be treated as a basis for approval of an application. The purchasing of equipment or materials after March 26, 1946, or the beginning of construction without authorization are examples of voluntarily assumed hardship which generally will not be taken into consideration.

(3) Community hardship based on unemployment. Applications for industrial facilities may be approved where the proposed facility will provide substantial new employment in an area where unemployment is continuing and excessive. Projects must be of such a nature that the benefits to the national or community welfare and economy will substantially outweigh the impact on the Veterans' Emergency Housing Program.

(d) Impact on Veterans' housing. (1) The purpose of VHP–1 is to channel scarce building materials into the Veterans' Emergency Housing Program. The materials listed in Schedule A to PR–33 are generally in short supply for the housing program, and use of those materials will generally impede the housing program. Some of the items listed in Schedule A are normally only sold locally, such as brick and other masonry products. In a particular locality, there may be a relatively ample supply of such a product. The use of a product in nonresidential construction under these conditions would have little or no effect on the housing program. On the other hand, the use of a material which is usually shipped considerable distances even though in a particular area there appears to be a substantial supply, would generally be considered to impede the housing program. The fact that an applicant already has materials on hand will not generally be considered to mean that their use will not constitute an impact on the housing program.

In measuring the impact of a project on the housing program, consideration should be given to the scarce building materials to be used in related work covered by the authorization, such as temporary construction buildings, fences, and the like (See Int. 5 to VHP–1).

(2) An application should be approved if the proposed work covered by the application requires no scarce building materials.

(3) Projects which require negligible quantities of scarce building materials may be approved even though they do not completely qualify under paragraph (b) or paragraph (c). Applications for partial construction, such as foundations and erection of structural steel or other work requiring only a negligible quantity of scarce building materials may be approved. However, there are several situations where applications will not generally be approved under this paragraph if they require even small amounts of critical building materials.

(i) An application for a project which is clearly nonessential and where approval would be contrary to the public interest.

(ii) An application for partial construction, where the partial construction would result in a condition hazardous to public health and safety or in financial hardship to the applicant or others. Applications for the completion of or further work on projects partially authorized will be considered strictly in accordance with the usual criteria, and no consideration will be given to any hardship resulting from construction done or commitments made on the basis of the partial authorization.

(iii) An application which would result in the elimination of residential accommodations, such as the conversion of apartments to offices or stores.

(iv) An application for a project where it is clear that the employment of men in the particular construction trades which would be required for the project would definitely and substantially interfere with the construction of approved veterans' housing projects. It will not generally be assumed, however, that nonhousing projects will interfere with veterans' housing by reason of their requirements for labor, but where interference appears probable, contractors and union representatives will be consulted to determine whether the necessary workers are available from other areas.

In determining whether the quantity of a scarce building material required for a project is negligible, the scarcity of the material in the area and the demand for the material in housing construction in the area will be taken into consideration.

RECONSTRUCTION IN TEXAS CITY, TEXAS

The following direction is issued pursuant to Veterans' Housing Program Order 1:

Until further notice, it is not necessary to get authorization under Veterans' Housing Program Order 1 for restoration jobs on buildings or other structures covered by VHP–1 in the Texas City, Texas, area, if the restoration is made necessary by damage caused by the disaster which commenced on April 16, 1947. TITLE 32—NATIONAL DEFENSE

Chapter XI—Office of Temporary Controls, Office of Price Administration

PART 1388—DEFENSE-RENTAL AREAS

[Housing Interpretation of Sec. 6 (b) (3) (§ 1388.1181)]

ISSUANCE OF CERTIFICATES TO JOINT PURCHASERS OF MULTI-UNIT STRUCTURES

The following is an interpretation of section 6 (b) (3) of the Rent Regulation for Housing:

Interpretation 6 (b) (3)–1: Issuance of certificates to joint purchasers of multi-unit structures. Most applications for certificates to permit purchasers of multi-unit buildings to evict existing tenants for self-occupancy fall into the following classes:

(1) Purchase of multi-unit building by a group of individuals with the intent that each will occupy one of the units in the structure.

(2) Purchase of a multi-unit building by a group of persons less in number than the number of units in the building.

In the first class where the purchase arrangement gives to each person the right to occupy an individual unit in the structure, certificates of eviction will not be granted unless the case falls within one of the exceptions stated in section 6 (b) (3). This general prohibition is, however, subject to three exceptions. Certificates will be issued under section 6 (b) (2) for occupancy of the individual units where two persons buy a duplex structure. Certificates of eviction will also be issued for occupancy by individual purchasers of a multi-unit structure where the property is purchased jointly by a parent and his children. This latter exception does not apply to any other relationship. Eviction will also be permitted for occupancy of one unit for the purpose of supervising the structure, provided no one of the joint owners is in occupancy.

In the second general classification where the number of purchasers is less than the number of units in the structure, unless the joint purchasers are a parent and his children, only one certificate of eviction will be issued for the occupancy of one of the purchasers. The eviction for occupancy of one unit will be permitted for the purpose of supervising the structure.

Example (1). L owns a 32-unit apartment house and conveys after February 17, 1945, the said property to the X Corporation. The X Corporation sells to 32 individuals, who are not in occupancy, stock in the corporation and grants to each purchaser the right of occupancy to a specified apartment in the building. Eviction of the present tenants in occupancy will not be granted for occupancy of the individual purchasers in the cooperative apartment house. Eviction will be granted only in the case of cooperatives where the petitioner brings himself within one of the exceptions set forth in section 6 (b) (3) of the regulation.

Eviction would likewise be denied if L or the X Corporation had conveyed to the purchasers fractional interests in the fee to the property. Whether the individual purchaser's interest is in the form of stock, a beneficial interest certificate or a deed conveying a fractional interest in the fee, no certificate of eviction will be issued unless the petition falls within the exceptions stated in section 6 (b) (3) as aforesaid.

Example (2). After October 20, 1942,[1] L sells a duplex to A and B. Both A and B will be granted certificates against the tenants for their individual occupancy of the units. The interest acquired by two purchasers in a duplex is so closely identified with individual home ownership as to permit evictions under section 6 (b) (2), provided the requirements of that section are met.

Example (3). After October 20, 1942,[1] L sells a ten-unit structure to a father and his two married sons who pay 20 percent of the purchase price in cash. Each of the three joint purchasers will be granted a certificate of eviction under section 6 (b) (1) for his own occupancy of an individual unit in the structure. Since evictions are granted to parents for occupancy by children and vice versa, certificates may be granted in joint purchases based on the family relationship of parents and children without reference to whether the total number of units is less than, equal to, or greater than the number of joint purchasers.

Example (4). After October 20, 1942,[1] L sells to A and B a six-unit apartment house. Only one certificate of eviction will be issued to the purchasers for occupancy of one of the units for purpose of supervision. The purchasers are not the purchasers of individual housing units within the meaning of section 6 (b) (2) of the regulation.

Issued this 25th day of April, 1947.

Associate General Counsel For Rent.

(See section 326 for gases defined and classified as poisonous.)

(b) Any compressed gas, as defined above shall be classified as an inflammable compressed gas if either, (1) a mixture of 13 percent or less (by volume) with air forms an inflammable mixture, or (2) the inflammability range with air is greater than 12 percent regardless of the lower limit.

21. Superseding and amending paragraph (i) and adding paragraph (i) (2), section 303 (Weight and pressure check), order Aug. 16, 1940, to read as follows:

(i) (1) Weight and pressure check: Verification of content; except as noted in section (i) (2), the amount of liquefied gas charged into cylinders or drums must be determined by weight and this weight must also be checked, after disconnecting from the charging line, by the use of proper scales. The pressure of nonliquefied gas and gas in solution must be checked daily on a representative cylinder after it has cooled to a settled temperature.

(i) (2) Cylinders with a water capacity of 200 pounds or more and for use with a liquefied petroleum gas with a specific gravity at 60° F. of 0.504 or greater may have their contents determined by using a fixed length dip tube gauging device. The length of the dip tube shall be such that when the above liquid at a temperature of 40° F. is charged into the cylinder it just reaches the bottom of the tube. The weight of this liquid content shall not exceed 42 percent of the water capacity of the cylinder. The length in inches of the dip tube shall be stamped on the cylinder and on the exterior of removable type dip tubes. The length of each dip tube shall be checked when installed by weighing each cylinder after filling except when installed in groups of substantially identical cylinders in which case one of each 25 cylinders shall be weighed. The quantity of liquefied gas in each container must be checked by means of the dip tube after disconnecting from the charging line. The outlet from the dip tube shall not be larger than a No. 54 drill size orifice. A container representative of each day's filling at each charging plant shall have its contents checked by weighing after disconnecting from the charging line.

*American Society for Testing Materials Method of Test for Vapor Pressure of Petroleum Products (D-323).

These limits shall be determined at atmospheric temperature and pressure. The method of sampling and the test procedure shall be acceptable to the Bureau of Explosives. The inflammability range is defined as the difference between the minimum and maximum percentage by volume of the material in mixture with air that forms an inflammable mixture.

22. Superseding and amending paragraph (k) table, section 303 (Filling limits restrictions), Orders Aug. 16, 1940 and Aug. 19, 1946, to read as follows:

Kind of gas	Maximum permitted filling density (see sec. 303 (l))	Cylinders marked as shown in this column must be used except as provided in note 1 and section 303 (p) (2) to 303 (p) (6)

See section 303 (p).

24. Superseding and amending paragraph (p) (12), section 303 (Reheat treatment and retest of cylinders), order Aug. 16, 1940, to read as follows:

(p) (12) Reheat treatment and retest of cylinders. The reheat treatment of cylinders must be followed by hydrostatic retest and these operations must be carried out, supervised, and reported, as prescribed for the original heat treatment and hydrostatic test by the specification covering the manufacture of the type of cylinder in question. The retest pressure shall be as prescribed for the quinquennial retesting of cylinder; Provided, That increased retest pressure is authorized under testing procedure approved in writing by the Bureau of Explosives. In the case of cylinders of outside diameter exceeding 4 inches, a permanent expansion of not less than 3 percent or more than 10 percent of the total expansion must be shown in the retest; Provided, That if the cylinders can be segregated into lots having practically the same chemical composition, the allowable permanent expansion in the retest may be from zero to 10 percent of the total expansion, if one cylinder out of each such lot of 100 cylinders or less is subjected to and passes the requirements of the flattening and physical tests as specified by the specification for the manufacture of the type of cylinder in question.

25. Superseding and amending subparagraph (p) (14) (n), section 303 (Exceptions); order Feb. 24, 1947, to read as follows:

(p) (14) (n) Cylinders made in compliance with specification ICC-4B and ICC-26-300 used exclusively in noncorrosive gas service and protected externally by suitable corrosion resisting coatings (such as galvanizing, painting, etc.), may be retested decennially instead of quinquennially, or, such cylinders may be subjected to an internal hydrostatic pressure equal to at least 2 times the marked service pressure without determination of expansions (See Note), but this type of test must be repeated quinquennially after expiration of the first ten-year period. When subjected to this latter test cylinders must be carefully examined under test pressure and removed from service if leaks or other harmful defects exist. All tests must be supplemented by a very careful examination of the cylinder at each filling, and must be rejected if evidence is found of bad dents, corroded areas, a leak or other conditions that indicate possible weakness which would render the cylinder unfit for service.

NOTE: Cylinders tested by the modified hydrostatic method shall be marked after each retest with the date of test as otherwise required but followed by the sumbol S; for example, 8-46S indicating retest by the modified method in August, 1946.

26. Superseding and amending section 417, order Aug. 16, 1940, to read as follows:

417 Shipping order and bill of lading description. The shipper when offering for transportation by carriers by rail freight, rail express, highway, or water any class A, class B, or class C explosive, inflammable liquid, inflammable solid, oxidizing material, corrosive liquid, compressed gas, or poison, as defined by these regulations, must describe such article in the shipping order, bill of lading or other shipping paper by the shipping name used herein (see commodity list) and may add a further description not inconsistent therewith. Abbreviations must not be used. For shipments of blasting caps the shipper must, in addition, show the number of caps in the shipment.

2. Type and size. Must be seamless, welded, or brazed (brazing material must have a melting point of not less than 1,000° F.). The maximum water capacity of containers in this class shall not exceed 86 cubic inches. Longitudinal seams are prohibited, except that containers constructed from longitudinally welded steel tubing are authorized providing that certification is made by the tubing manufacturer that the tubing has been pressure tested to a fibre stress of 24,000 pounds per square inch as calculated by the formula

Where P is the pressure required for pressure testing of tubing by the tubing manufacturer.

3. Superseding and amending paragraph 8 (a) (1), and adding paragraph 8 (a) (2), Spec. 9 (Circumferential seams), order Sept. 7, 1944, to read as follows:

(a) Circumferential seams: (1) Except as provided in (2) by welding or by brazing. Heads attached by brazing must have a driving fit with the shell, unless the shell is crimped, swaged, or curled over the skirt or flange of the head, and be thoroughly brazed until complete penetration by the brazing material of the brazed joint is secured. Depth of brazing from end of shell must be at least four times the thickness of shell metal.

(2) A container made of two hemispherical heads, each having an integral tangential cylindrical skirt portion assembled so that the two cylindrical skirt portions telescope one within the other is authorized but must meet the following additional requirements for the skirt portions; one be a driving fit within the other; they be of equal length and telescoped for their full length; the length of the overlap be not less than 8 nor more than 10 times the thickness of the thinner of the two skirts; the overlapping joint be brazed (not welded) so as to get complete penetration for the full length of the joint.

The minimum wall for any cylinder shall be 0.040 inch. For the container authorized in par. 8 (a) (2) the wall thickness of the cylinder shall be taken as the sum of the thicknesses of the two skirts (without allowance for the brazing material between).

(a) Calculation must be made by the formula:

$$S=\frac{600\ (1.3D^2-0.4d^2)}{D^2-d^2}$$

where S=wall stress in pounds per square inch; D=outside diameter in inches; d=inside diameter in inches.

(b) Calculation for thickness of hemispherical heads of containers authorized in paragraph 8 (a) (2) must be made by the formula:

$$S=\frac{600D}{4\ t\ C}$$

where t=thickness in inches; C=0.85 (design factor); S and D have same significance as in par. 9 (a). The minimum thickness of head or skirt shall be 0.040 inch. The thickness of the skirt shall be not less than the thickness of the head.

Must comply with this specification except as follows: Must be one piece type of double wall corrugated fiberboard at least 400 pound test, B or A/B flute type, with at least 32 corrugations per foot for A flute and 50 corrugations per foot for B flute, or solid fiberboard testing at least 400 pounds with minimum thickness of .100; boxes may or may not have hand holes provided for in ends of box providing same will not materially weaken box; top of battery to be protected by wood frame, corrugated trays or scored sheets of corrugated fiberboard having minimum test of 200 pounds, top protection must bear evenly on connectors of battery to facilitate stacking of batteries; bottom of batteries to be protected by minimum of one excelsior pad or double wall corrugated fiberboard pad; sides and ends of battery to have minimum of ½ inch cushioning between battery and walls of box, cushioning to be of excelsior pads, corrugated fiberboard or other suitable cushioning material; no more than one battery to be packed per box; authorized gross weight 185 pounds.

9. Superseding and amending paragraph 2, Spec. 40 (Type and size), order Feb. 13, 1946, to read as follows:

2. Type and size. Must be seamless, welded, or brazed (brazing material must have a melting point of not less than 1,000° F.). The maximum water capacity of cylinders in this class shall not exceed 1.44 pounds or 40 cubic inches. Longitudinal seams are prohibited, except that containers constructed from longitudinally welded steel tubing are authorized providing that certification is made by the tubing manufacturer that the tubing has been pressure tested to a fibre stress of 24,000 pounds per square inch as calculated by the formula:

$$P=\frac{24000\ (D^2-d^2)}{(1.3D^2+0.4d^2)}$$

Where P is the pressure required for pressure testing of tubing by the tubing manufacturer.

10. Superseding and amending paragraph 8 (a), and adding paragraph 8 (a) (2); Spec. 40 (Circumferential seams), order Feb. 13, 1946, to read as follows:

(a) Circumferential seams: (1) Except as provided in (2) by welding or by brazing. Heads attached by brazing must have a driving fit with the shell, unless the shell is crimped, swaged, or curled over the skirt or flange of the head, and be thoroughly brazed until complete penetration by the brazing material of the brazed joint is secured. Depth of brazing from end of shell must be at least four times the thickness of shell metal.

(2) A container of two hemispherical heads, each having an integral tangential cylindrical skirt portion assembled so that the two cylindrical skirt portions telescope one within the other is authorized but must meet the following additional requirements for the skirt portions; one be a driving fit within the other; they be of equal length and telescoped for their full length; the length of the overlap be not less than 8 nor more than 10 times the thickness of the thinner of the two skirts; the overlapping joint be brazed (not welded) so as to get complete penetration for the full length of the joint.

11. Superseding and amending paragraph 9, and adding paragraph 9 (b), Spec. 40 (Wall thickness), order Feb. 13, 1946, to read as follows:

9. Wall thickness: The wall stress at 600 pounds per square inch shall not exceed 24,000 pounds per square inch, except that for longitudinally welded steel tubing, the stress shall not exceed 20,400 pounds per square inch. The minimum wall for any cylinder shall be 0.032 inch. For the container authorized in paragraph 8 (a) (2) the wall thickness of the cylinder shall be taken as the sum of the thicknesses of the two skirts (without allowance for the brazing material between).

(a) Calculation must be made by the formula:

where S=wall stress in pounds per square inch; D=outside diameter in inches; d=inside diameter in inches.

(b) Calculation for thickness of hemispherical heads of containers authorized in paragraph 8 (a) (2) must be made by the formula:

$$S=\frac{600D}{4\ t\ C}$$

where t=thickness in inches; C=0.85 (design factor); S and D have same significance as in par. 9 (a). The minimum thickness of head or skirt shall be 0.032 inch. The thickness of the skirt shall be not less than the thickness of the head.

12. Superseding and amending paragraph 10, Spec. 40 (Heat treatment), order Feb. 13, 1946, to read as follows:

10. Heat treatment. Body and heads must be uniformly and properly heat treated prior to tests.

13. Amending paragraph 6 (a), Spec. 10 (Riveting), order Aug. 16, 1940, as follows (Add note to paragraph 6 (a)).

Exception. Tank heads must meet all applicable requirements of these specifications except that heads may be made of two plates joined by fusion welding.

PROPOSED RULE MAKING

CIVIL AERONAUTICS BOARD

[14 CFR, Parts 01, 42 and 43]

CERTIFICATED AIR CARRIERS OPERATING AIRCRAFT

EXEMPTION IN ACCORDANCE WITH MAINTENANCE AND INSPECTION SYSTEMS AUTHORIZED BY TERMS OF AIR CARRIER OPERATING CERTIFICATE FROM COMPLIANCE WITH ANNUAL AND PERIODIC INSPECTION REQUIREMENTS OF PART 43

APRIL 25, 1947.

The continuous maintenance and inspection systems established by the air carriers insure the continued airworthiness of air carrier aircraft more effectively than the annual or periodic inspection required by the general operation rules of Part 43. When aircraft are maintained and inspected in accordance with the maintenance and inspection systems authorized by the terms of the air carrier operating certificate, there appears to be no need to require scheduled air carriers to comply with the present provisions of § 43.22 nor for nonscheduled air carriers to comply with the provisions of § 42.150.

At the time Part 43 was promulgated it was not intended that the periodic and annual inspection requirements would apply to air carriers complying with the requirements of Parts 41 or 61 of the Civil Air Regulations. It is the purpose of this proposal to specifically exempt these certificated air carriers from the periodic and annual inspection requirements. It is further proposed to delete those sections in Part 01 regarding maintenance requirements which in some instances are not consistent with Part 43.

Pursuant to section 4 (a) of the Administrative Procedure Act the Safety Bureau of the Civil Aeronautics Board hereby gives notice that the following amendments to the Civil Air Regulations will be recommended to the Civil Aeronautics Board for adoption.

1. By amending § 43.22 to read as follows:

§ 43.22 Inspections—(a) Annual inspection. An aircraft shall not be flown, except for airworthiness flight test, unless within the preceding 12 calendar months it has been given an annual inspection as prescribed by the Administrator and has been found to be airworthy by a person designated by the Administrator.

(b) Periodic inspection. An aircraft shall not be flown for hire unless within the preceding 100 hours of flight time it has been given a periodic inspection by an appropriately rated mechanic in accordance with the periodic inspection report form prescribed by the Administrator and has been found to be airworthy and a notation to that effect has been entered by such mechanic in the aircraft log. The annual inspection required by paragraph (a) of this section will be accepted as one such periodic inspection.

(c) Air carrier exemption. Aircraft of certificated air carriers are exempted from (a) and (b) of this section when such aircraft are maintained and inspected in accordance with a continuous maintenance and inspection system approved by the Administrator and authorized by the terms of the air carrier operating certificate.

2. By amending § 42.150 to read as follows:

§ 42.150 Inspections. (a) Aircraft must be given an annual inspection within each 12 calendar months.

(b) Aircraft must be given a periodic inspection within each 100 hours of flight time. The annual inspection required in (a) will be accepted as one such period inspection.

(c) Aircraft maintained and inspected in accordance with a continuous maintenance and inspection system approved by the Administrator and authorized by the terms of the air carrier operating certificate are exempted from the requirements of (a) and (b) of this section.

3. By deleting the following sections:

§ 01.270 Log-books for rebuilt aircraft engines.

These regulations are proposed under the authority of Title VI of the Civil Aeronautics Act of 1938, as amended.

It is the desire of the Bureau that those interested offer suggestions and comments regarding the proposed amendments. Comments in writing should be addressed to the Safety Bureau, Civil Aeronautics Board, Washington 25, D. C., to be received within 30 days from the date of this public notice.

AIR CARRIER FLIGHT RADIO OPERATORS

MINIMUM RECENT EXPERIENCE REQUIREMENTS

APRIL 25, 1947.

The Safety Bureau of the Civil Aeronautics Board is presenting proposed amendments to Parts 41 and 61 of the Civil Air Regulations specifying the minimum recent experience a flight radio operator is required to have before he may serve in air carrier operation.

The proposed amendments have not been considered by the Board and are being published to provide an opportunity for those interested to submit any comments, suggestions, or changes which they believe desirable. The Safety Bureau will give careful consideration to all replies received and, after making any changes which appear to be appropriate, will present the proposed amendments to the Board for adoption. Any substantial objections to this proposal will be brought to the attention of the Board.

These amendments are desirable to insure that United States flight radio operators, when accepted for duty by an air carrier, will have qualifications at least equal to the Provisional International Civil Aviation Organization standards.

PICAO has included recent experience requirements in standards prescribed for the issuance of a flight radio operator certificate, but the Safety Bureau considers that the requirements more appropriately belong in operating rather than certification rules since the maintenance of competency through recent experience is an important factor in providing operational safety.

The proposed amendment is as follows:

Qualification for duty. AIR CARRIER NAVIGATORS

MINIMUM RECENT EXPERIENCE REQUIREMENTS

APRIL 25, 1947.

The Safety Bureau of the Civil Aeronautics Board is presenting proposed amendments to Parts 41 and 61 of the Civil Air Regulations specifying the minimum recent experience a navigator is required to have before he may serve in air carrier operation.

The proposed amendments have not been considered by the Board and are being published to provide an opportunity for those interested to submit any comments, suggestions, or changes which they believe desirable. The Safety Bureau will give careful consideration to all replies received and, after making any changes which appear to be appropriate, will present the proposed amendments to the Board for adoption. Any substantial objections to this proposal will be brought to the attention of the Board.

These amendments are desirable to insure that United States navigators, when accepted for duty by an air carrier, will have qualifications at least equal to the Provisional International Civil Aviation Organization standards.

PICAO has included recent experience requirements in standards prescribed for the issuance of a flight navigator certificate, but the Safety Bureau considers that the requirements more appropriately belong in operating rather than certification rules since the maintenance of competency through recent experience is an important factor in providing operational safety.

The proposed amendment is as follows:

Qualification for duty. An airman shall not serve as a flight navigator unless he has served in that capacity for at least 50 hours within the preceding 12-month period; or until he has familiarized himself with all current information pertaining to the routes to be flown and has demonstrated competency to the Administrator or his designee with respect to the operating procedures and navigational equipment to be used.

These regulations are proposed under the authority of Title VI of the Civil Aeronautics Act of 1938, as amended.

It is the desire of the Bureau that those interested offer suggestions and comments regarding the proposed amendment. Comments in writing should be addressed to the Safety Bureau, Civil Aeronautics Board, Washington 25, D. C., for receipt within 30 days from the date of this public notice.

CHICAGO DISTRICT PIPELINE CO.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION

APRIL 25, 1947.

Notice is hereby given that on April 18, 1947, Chicago District Pipeline Company (Applicant), an Illinois corporation having its principal office in Joliet, Illinois, filed an application with the Federal Power Commission for a certificate of public convenience and necessity pursuant to section 7 of the Natural Gas Act, as amended, authorizing Applicant to lease from the Peoples Gas Light and Coke Company (Peoples Company) and operate certain natural gas facilities, subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission, described as follows:

A 20-inch pipeline and a 24-inch pipeline extending from the present terminus of Applicant's so-called Crawford line at the westerly city limits of the City of Chicago, Illinois, to the intake of Applicant's metering station located on the Crawford Plant side of Peoples Gas Light and Coke Company, and a 24-inch pipeline extending from the present terminus of Applicant's Calumet Line at the southerly city limits of the City of Chicago to and into the Calumet Station of said Peoples Company, together with regulating and metering facilities located in said plant and two lateral lines to points of delivery to Northern Indiana Public Service Company on the Illinois Indiana state line.

Applicant states in its application that it will continue to serve only its present gas distributing customers, namely, Peoples Gas Light and Coke Company, Western United Gas & Electric Company, Public Service Company of Northern Illinois and Northern Indiana Public Service Company. The leased facilities are proposed to be operated in the same manner as Applicant's present pipeline system and Applicant states that the acquisition of the proposed leased facilities will neither increase nor decrease the capacity of Applicant's natural gas transportation system.

Applicant represents that neither its total revenue, its fixed charges nor total operating expenses will be materially affected by the acquisition of such proposed facilities. Applicant states that the proposed lease will not result in any increase in Applicant's rates for service. Applicant further states that its acquisition by lease of said facilities by providing for continuous supervision, operation and control by Applicant will improve the conditions under which Applicant's natural gas transportation system is now being operated and will be in the ultimate best interests of the consuming public.

Applicant proposes to pay Peoples Company as an annual rental for said facilities an amount equal to the sum of 7 per cent of the depreciated cost of said facilities as of December 31st of the year preceding such payment plus 4.02 per cent of the original cost of said facilities representing the allowance for depreciation thereof, and plus 2.04 per cent of the original cost of said facilities, representing insurance and taxes thereon, plus any and all fees, rentals and compensation in addition to those now payable, which may be incurred by the Peoples Company because of the use and operation by Applicant of said facilities. The original cost of said facilities as of December 31, 1946 is stated in the application to be $743,424.45 and the depreciated cost thereof as of said date is stated to be $351,025.73.

Any interested State commission is requested to notify the Federal Power Commission whether the application should be considered under the cooperative provisions of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, and if so, to advise the Federal Power Commission as to the nature of its interest in the matter and whether it desires a conference, the creation of a board, or a joint or concurrent hearing, together with the reasons for such request.

The application of Chicago District Pipeline Company is on file with the Commission and is open to public inspection. Any person desiring to be heard or to make any protest with reference to the application shall file with the Federal Power Commission, Washington 25, D. C., not later than fifteen days from the date of publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER, a petition to intervene or protest. Such petition or protest shall conform to the requirements of the rules of practice and procedure (effective September 11, 1946), and shall set out clearly and concisely the facts from which the nature of the petitioner's or protestant's alleged right or interest can be determined.

Petitions for intervention shall state fully and completely the grounds of the proposed intervention and the contentions of the petitioner in the proceeding, so as to advise the parties and the Commission as to the specific issues of fact or law to be raised or controverted, by admitting, denying, or otherwise answering specifically and in detail, each material allegation of fact or law asserted in the proceeding.

Secretary.

RANCHO ROYALE HOTEL CO. AND SAMUEL H. LEVIN

Rancho Royale Hotel Company, a California corporation, and Samuel H. Levin, its President, without authorization of the Civilian Production Administration or the Office of the Housing Expediter, after March 26, 1946 began and thereafter carried on construction of a resort hotel project consisting of twelve or more structures at a point approximately three miles southeast of Palm Springs, California, on Highway 111, the Indio-Palm Springs Road, the estimated cost of each structure was in excess of $1,000; totaling approximately $225,000. The beginning and carrying on of construction as aforesaid constituted a violation of Veterans' Housing Program Order 1. This violation has diverted critical materials to uses not authorized by the Office of the Housing Expediter. In view of the foregoing, it is hereby ordered that:

§ 807.22 Suspension Order No. S–22. (a) Neither the Rancho Royale Hotel Company, a corporation, nor Samuel H. Levin, its or his successors or assigns, nor any other person shall do any further construction on the premises located approximately three miles southeast of Palm Springs, California, on Highway 111, the Indio-Palm Springs Road, including putting up, completing or altering any structure located thereon unless hereafter specifically authorized in writing by the Office of the Housing Expediter.

(b) For a period of four months from the effective date of this order, no authorization shall be granted to the Rancho Royale Hotel Company, its successors and assigns, or Samuel H. Levin, by the Office of the Housing Expediter for any construction for which authorization is required.

(c) Rancho Royale Hotel Company and Samuel H. Levin shall refer to this order in any application or appeal which it or he may file with the Office of the Housing Expediter for authorization to carry on construction.

(d) Nothing contained in this order shall be deemed to relieve the Rancho Royale Hotel Company and Samuel H. Levin from any restriction, prohibition or provision contained in any other order or regulation of the Office of the Housing Expediter, except insofar as the same may be inconsistent with the provisions hereof.

Harry Kodish and Joseph Kodish, partners, d/b/a Arlington Lumber and Supply Company, at 384 South Arlington Street, Akron, Ohio, on or about October 16, 1946, without authorization of the Civilian Production Administration or the Office of the Housing Expediter, began and thereafter carried on construction until November 15, 1946 of the foundation of a two-story building located at 384 South Arlington Street, Akron, Ohio, to be used for warehouse and storage purposes, at an estimated cost of $12,000. This was a grossly negligent violation of Veterans' Housing Program Order 1 and has diverted critical materials to uses not authorized by the Office of the Housing Expediter. In view of the foregoing, it is hereby ordered that:

§ 807.23 Suspension Order No. S–23. (a) Neither Harry Kodish nor Joseph Kodish, individually or d/b/a Arlington Lumber and Supply Company, their successors and assigns, nor any other person shall do any further construction on the structure at 384 Arlington Street, Akron, Ohio, including putting up, completing or altering the structure, unless hereafter authorized in writing by the Office of the Housing Expediter.

PRODUCTION RESTRICTION ON CAST IRON SOIL PIPE AND FITTINGS

There is a shortage in the supply of certain sizes of cast iron soil pipe and fittings needed for the Veterans' Emergency Housing Program and other essential construction. This order is issued in order to restrict the production of other sizes of cast iron soil pipe and fittings so that production facilities may be used to meet the needs of the Veterans' Emergency Housing Program and other essential construction. This order was formerly issued by the Civilian Production Administration. As of April 1, 1947, it was transferred to the Housing Expediter and has been adopted by him through Housing Expediter Priorities Order 5.

§ 809.8 Veterans' Housing Program Order 4—(a) Definition. For the purposes of this order, "producer" means any person who makes cast iron soil pipe and fittings for sale. A producer who operates several plants may consider himself as a single producer for all those plants or as a separate producer for each plant, whichever he chooses.

(b) Restriction on production of large sizes. Beginning May 1, 1947, the tonnage of cast iron soil pipe and fittings which a producer makes during any month in sizes of 5 inches or larger must not exceed 10% of the total tonnage of cast iron soil pipe and fittings he made in all sizes during the preceding month.

(d) Violations. A person who willfully violates any provision of this order or who, in connection with this order, willfully conceals a material fact or furnishes false information to any department or agency of the United States, is guilty of a crime, and upon conviction, will be punished by fine or imprisonment. In addition, any such person may be prohibited from making or obtaining further deliveries of, or from processing or using, material under priority control and may be deprived of priorities assistance.

If an area for which it is deemed appropriate to fix maximum prices lies within the jurisdiction of more than one regional office of the Sugar Rationing Administration, the Administrator may authorize the Regional Sugar Executive or Deputy Regional Sugar Executive for the region in which the majority of the sellers to be covered by the order is located to issue an order establishing or adjusting maximum prices for all sellers in the marketing area.

Issued this 29th day of April 1947.

CLINTON P. ANDERSON,
Secretary of Agriculture.

Opinion Accompanying General Order 2

General Order No. 2 delegates to the Administrator of the Sugar Rationing Administration, and any Regional Sugar Executive or Deputy Regional Sugar Executive who may be authorized by the Administrator, the authority to issue and put into effect orders establishing maximum dollar-and-cents prices for sales at retail of any food item subject to price control under the jurisdiction of the Secretary of Agriculture.

This order merely delegates to the Administrator, and Regional Sugar Executives or Deputy Regional Sugar Executives authorized by the Administrator, the same authority previously delegated to Regional Administrators and District Directors of the Office of Price Administration by Revised General Order 51, issued by the Price Administrator. This action is necessary, for the sake of clarity, as a result of the Sugar Control Extension Act of 1947. This act transferred to the Secretary of Agriculture powers, functions and duties of the President and the Price Administrator under the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, and the Stabilization Act of 1942, both as amended and extended, insofar as they relate to sugar and related products.

This order is substantially the same as Revised General Order 51, except that certain unnecessary provisions have been deleted.

§ 1001.1 Conservation Order M–43—(a) What this order does. This order prohibits deliveries of pig tin except under certain conditions and provides for allocation of pig tin by the Civilian Production Administration. It also restricts the use of pig tin, secondary tin, certain tin-bearing products and tinplate in manufacture. The order also restricts sales and deliveries of jewelry and certain other articles containing tin. Although paragraph (h) of the order which contained special restrictions on the use of tin in jewelry and certain other articles has now been deleted, all other provisions of the order still apply to these articles, including the restrictions of paragraphs (e) and (g) on use of tin, and the special sales restrictions of paragraph (k). The order also limits inventories of tin. Certain other orders of the Civilian Production Administration also restrict the manufacture and use of articles containing tin. The provisions of these other orders must also be followed.

In addition to the above restrictions, this order now contains restrictions on the import of tin similar to the restrictions formerly in Order M-63.

Deliveries of Pig Tin

(b) Restriction on deliveries of pig tin. No person shall deliver or accept delivery of pig tin without a specific allocation in writing by the Civilian Production Administration or the War Production Board, except under the conditions set forth in paragraphs (b) (1) and (b) (2) below. "Pig tin" means metal containing 98% or more by weight of the element tin, in shapes current in the trade (including anodes powder, small bars and ingots) produced from ores, residues or scrap. It also includes tin pipe or tubing.

(1) Pig tin may be delivered without specific allocation to the Office of Metals Reserve, Reconstruction Finance Corporation, or to any other corporation organized under section 5 (d) of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation Act as amended or to any agent of such a corporation.

(2) Pig tin may be delivered without specific allocation by a distributor in lots not larger than 2,000 pounds each to any person who does not receive from all sources more than 4,000 pounds of pig tin in the calendar month the distributor makes the delivery and who gives to the distributor at the time he places his purchase order, a certificate in substantially the form below, signed manually or as provided in Allocations Regulation 1 by an official duly authorized for that purpose:

> I certify, subject to the penalties of Section 35 (A) of the United States Criminal Code, that I will use this pig tin for ---------- (specify end use) in accordance with Order M-43 or will resell it only in accordance with that order. I will not receive more than 4,000 pounds of pig tin from all sources in ---------- (specify month of delivery) including the amount covered by this order.
> ----------
> (Name of purchaser)
> By ----------
> (Duly authorized official)

See paragraph (n) below regarding certificate for export.

(c) Allocations of pig tin. The Civilian Production Administration will allocate the supply of pig tin, including all pig tin released by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, and will issue specific directions as to the source, destination and amount of pig tin to be delivered or acquired. Applications for allocations of pig tin should be made to the Civilian Production Administration not later than the 20th day of the month before the month in which delivery is requested, and should be made on Form CPA-412. Except in unusual circumstances, the Civilian Production Administration will not allocate to a person for a calendar quarter an amount greater than 110% of the quantity he legally melted and put into process during the second quarter, 1946, plus the quantity which he sold during that quarter. Applications from persons who did not use pig tin during the base period (including persons who were not in business at that time) will be considered on an equitable basis. Tin requested for resale must be disposed of only by resale. The Civilian Production Administration may specifically direct the purposes and end products for which a person may convert, process or fabricate pig tin allocated to him.

(d) Reports on use, disposition and inventories of pig tin. (1) On or before the 10th of each calendar month, each distributor of pig tin must report to the Civilian Production Administration on Form CPA-412 or by letter in triplicate all of his transactions in pig tin during the previous month.

(2) Any person who, on the first day of a calendar month, has in his possession or under his control 2,000 pounds or more of pig tin must report to the Civilian Production Administration on Form CPA-412 by the 20th of that month.

(3) Any person who uses 1,000 pounds or more of pig tin in any calendar month must report to the Civilian Production Administration on Form CPA-412 on or before the 20th of the following month.

(4) The reporting requirements of this order have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget pursuant to the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

Use of Tin in Manufacture

(e) General restrictions on the use of pig tin, secondary tin, tin plate, terne plate, solder, babbitt and other tin-bearing materials. No person may use any pig tin, secondary tin, tin plate, terne plate, solder, babbitt, copper base alloys or other alloys containing 1.5% or more tin, or any other materials containing 1.5% or more tin, or any britannia metal pewter metal or other similar tin-bearing alloys to make or treat any item or product, or in any process, not set forth in one of the schedules attached to this order. In making or treating these items, or performing these processes, pig tin may not be used where the schedule permits secondary tin only, and the tin content of an item may not exceed the amount indicated in the schedule.

"Pig tin" means metal containing 98% or more by weight of the element tin, in shapes current in the trade (including anodes, powder, small bars, and ingots) produced from ores, residues or scrap. It also includes tin pipe or tubing. "Secondary tin" means any alloy which contains less than 98% but not less than 1.5% by weight of the element tin.

(f) [Deleted February 6, 1947.]

(g) Special restrictions on the use of metals to which pig tin has been added. No person may use metal to which pig tin has been added to produce any product or perform any process for which pig tin is not permitted by one of the schedules attached to this order.

(h) [Deleted February 6, 1947.]

Implements of War

(i) Exemptions for implements of war. (1) The restrictions of paragraphs (e) and (g) and of the schedules do not apply to the manufacture of "Implements of war" produced for the Army or Navy of the United States, or the U. S. Maritime Commission where the use of tin contrary to these restrictions is required either by the latest applicable specifications, on drawings, or by letter or contract of the government service or agency for which the "Implements of war" are being produced.

(2) "Implements of war" means combat end-products, complete for tactical operations (including, but not limited to aircraft, ammunition, armaments, weapons, ships, tanks, military vehicles and radio and radar equipment), and any parts, assemblies or materials to be incorporated in any of these items. This term does not include facilities or equipment used to manufacture the items described above.

Use and Sale of Articles Containing Tin

(j) General restrictions on the use and sale of tin-bearing products. (1) In some cases the schedules attached to this order permit the use of pig tin or secondary tin in making a product only if the product is to be used for a particular purpose. No person shall use any of these products for any purpose other than the purpose permitted by the schedule.

(2) No person giving a certificate under this order or its schedules may receive, use or dispose of the materials obtained with the certificate contrary to its terms. The standard certificate described in Priorities Regulation 7 may not be used in place of any of the certificates described in this order or its schedules.

(3) Notwithstanding the authorization by the War Production Board or the Civilian Production Administration of a sale or delivery of tin, no person shall sell or deliver any tin or tin-bearing material or product thereof in the form of raw materials, semi-processed materials, finished parts or subassemblies to any person if he knows or has reason to believe such material or any product thereof is to be used in violation of the terms of this order. A supplier may rely upon the written statement of the customer seeking delivery of any such material, as to the purposes for which it will be used, unless the supplier knows or has reason to believe the statement is false, and such a statement shall constitute, on the part of the person making it, a representation to the Civilian Production Administration within the meaning of section 35 (A) of the United States Criminal Code, 18 U. S. C. sec. 80.

(k) Special restrictions on purchases and sales of certain articles containing tin. No person, for the purpose of resale, shall receive from a manufacturer any new article of the kinds listed below, if the article contains tin in any form except tin plate waste waste, or terne plate waste waste, tin plate scrap or terne plate scrap, solder used for joining purposes (to the extent permitted by Schedule II), or brass or bronze (to the extent permitted by Schedule IV). Imports

(m) Import restrictions. The provisions of this paragraph (m) replace those in General Imports Order M-63, insofar as that order has applied to materials subject to this paragraph. However, authorizations for the importation of such materials issued under Order M-63 shall continue to have the same force and effect as if issued under this Order M-43.

(1) Definitions. For the purposes of this paragraph (m):

(i) "Tin subject to import control under this order" means any of the following:

Tin alloys, chief value tin n. s. p. f. (including alloy scrap)	6551.900
Tin bars, blocks, pigs, grain or granulated	6551.300

NOTE: The numbers listed in the second column are commodity numbers taken from Schedule A, Statistical Classification of Imports of the Department of Commerce (issue of January 1, 1943).

(ii) "Owner" of any material means any person who has any property interest in such material except a person whose interest is held solely as security for the payment of money.

(iii) "Consignee" means the person to whom a material is consigned at the time of importation.

(iv) "Import" means to transport in any manner into the continental United States from any foreign country or from any territory or possession of the United States. It includes shipments into a free port, free zone, or bonded custody of the United States Bureau of Customs (bonded warehouse) in the continental United States and shipments into the continental United States for processing or manufacture in bond for exportation.

It does not include shipments in transit in bond through the continental United States without processing or manufacture, to Canada, Mexico or any other foreign country, or shipments through a free port or free zones to a foreign country without processing or manufacture. However, if any material covered by the preceding sentence is, because of a change in plans, to be sold or used in the continental U. S. or subjected to processing or manufacture in the continental United States, it becomes an "import" for the purposes of this paragraph (m) and requires the same authorization as an "import" before it may be moved from a free port, free zone, or bonded custody.

(2) Restrictions on imports.—(i) General restriction. No person, except as authorized in writing by the Civilian Production Administration, shall purchase for import, import, offer to purchase for import, receive, or offer to receive on consignment for import, or make any contract or other arrangement for the importing of, any tin subject to import control under this order. The foregoing restrictions shall apply to the importation of any tin subject to import control under this order regardless of the existence of any contract or other arrangement for the importation of such material.

(ii) Authorization by Civilian Production Administration. Any person desiring such authorization, whether owner, purchaser, seller, or consignee of the material to be imported, or agent of any of them, shall make application therefore in duplicate on Form CPA-1041 addressed to the Civilian Production Administration Ref.: M-43, Washington 25, D. C. Unless otherwise expressly permitted, such authorization shall apply only to the particular material and shipment mentioned therein and to the persons and their agents concerned with such shipment; it shall not be assignable or transferable either in whole or in part.

(iii) Restrictions on financing of imports. No bank or other person shall participate, by financing or otherwise, in any arrangement which such bank or person knows or has reason to know involves the importation of any tin subject to import control under this order, unless such bank or person either has received a copy of the authorization issued by the Civilian Production Administration under the provisions of paragraph (m) (2) (ii) above or is satisfied from known facts that the proposed transaction comes within the exceptions set forth in paragraph (m) (2) (iv) below.

(iv) Exceptions. Unless otherwise directed by the Civilian Production Administration, the restrictions set forth in this paragraph (m) (2) shall not apply:

(a) To the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, U. S. Commercial Company, or any other United States governmental department, agency, or corporation, or any agent acting for any such department, agency or corporation; or

(b) To any material of which any United States governmental department, agency, or corporation is the owner at the time of importation, or to any material which the owner at the time of importation had purchased or otherwise acquired from any United States governmental department, agency, or corporation; or

(c) To any material consigned or imported as a sample where the value of each consignment or shipment is less than $25.00.

(3) Reports—(i) Reports on customs entry. No tin subject to import control under this order, including materials imported by or for the account of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, U. S. Commercial Company, or any other United States governmental department, agency or corporations, shall be entered through the United States Bureau of Customs for any purpose, unless the person making the entry shall file with the entry Form CPA-1040 in duplicate. The filing of such form a second time shall not be required upon any subsequent entry of such material through the United States Bureau of Customs for any purpose; nor shall the filing of such form a second time be required upon the withdrawal of any material from bonded custody of the United States Bureau of Customs, regardless of the date when such material was first transported into the continental United States. Both copies of such form shall be transmitted by the Collector of Customs to the Civilian Production Administration, Ref.: M-43, Washington 25, D. C.

(ii) Other reports. All persons having any interest in, or taking any action with respect to any tin subject to import control under this order, whether as owner, agent, consignee, or otherwise, shall file such other reports as may be required from time to time by the Civilian Production Administration.

Exports

(n) Export certificates. Some provisions of this order and its Schedules permit sales or deliveries of certain items only upon certificates from the purchasers. In cases where the purchaser is going to export such an item outside the United States, its territories or possessions, or Canada, he should state as the end use in the certificate the words "for export" and give the number of the export license.

Miscellaneous

(o) Appeals and communications. Any appeal from the provisions of this order shall be made by filing a letter in triplicate referring to the particular provision appealed from and stating fully the grounds of the appeal. Priorities Regulation 16 gives additional instructions about the filing of appeals. Appeals, reports and all communications concerning this order should be addressed to the Civilian Production Administration, Tin, Lead, and Zinc Branch, Washington 25, D. C., Reference: M-43.

(p) Violations. Any person who wilfully violates any provision of this order, or who, in connection with this order, wilfully conceals a material fact or furnishes false information to any department or agency of the United States is guilty of a crime, and upon conviction may be punished by fine or imprisonment. In addition, any such person may be prohibited from making or obtaining further deliveries of, or from processing or using, material under priority control and may be deprived of priorities assistance.

Issued this 1st day of May 1947.

2. Section 1300.1104 is added to read as follows:

§ 1300.1104 Enforcement exceptions—(a) Application of sanctions to violations and granting enforcement exceptions—(1) Scope. The procedure stated in this section shall apply to all cases handled in the enforcement division.

(i) This procedure shall not apply to cases being handled by the area rent offices.

(ii) This procedure does apply to cases stated in subparagraph (i) when such cases have reached the enforcement division by referral.

(2) Application of sanction—(i) General. No case which discloses a violation shall be closed without the application of a formal sanction e. g. criminal, license suspension, contempt, treble damage (suit or settlement), injunction or administrative suspension, except as stated in (2) (ii) (a) through (d). The determination concerning the appropriate formal sanction shall be based on outstanding instructions. Civil cases involving overcharges shall include a claim for treble damages. License warning notices are not formal sanctions, but in accordance with outstanding instructions, they shall be issued in conjunction with formal sanctions wherever ultimately a license suspension suit would be appropriate in the event of further violation.

(ii) Exceptions. There shall be no deviation from this procedure except where:

(a) The violation is clearly trivial and inconsequential. Such case may be closed with an appropriate admonitory letter. A violation is considered trivial only where the overcharge is extremely small and the nature of the violation is very minor in terms of price control objects to be accomplished by the regulation.

(b) No formal sanction is available under law.

(c) An enforcement exception is granted by the deputy commissioner for enforcement. There may be cases where compelling equitable features suggest that formal sanction be withheld or withdrawn, in whole or in part. It is impossible to leave such decisions to the determination of each office. Experience has shown that a serious lack of uniformity results and often the full implications of such a decision are not evident to the members of one office.

(3) Procedure for securing an official enforcement exception. (i) The regional enforcement executive, on his own motion or upon request from the regional administrator or regional section chief, may submit to the deputy commissioner for enforcement a request for consideration of the issuance of an enforcement exception in any case. The request shall be accompanied by:

(a) A memorandum setting forth the entire facts of the case with a recommendation of the type of exception, and a proposed statement of a rule to cover similar cases.

(b) An investigation report or a copy.

(c) If the regional enforcement executive is requested to submit such a memorandum by any of the other officials named above, he shall submit such memorandum with a notation of his views.

(ii) Before transmitting the request for consideration of the issuance of an enforcement exception, the regional enforcement executive shall submit the matter to the regional administrator so that the latter may join in the request, or express his opinion thereon, or submit additional facts as he thinks significant to a consideration of the request.

(iii) Decisions with respect to each case considered under this section are published as appendices to this section.

(4) The deputy commissioner for enforcement. The deputy commissioner for enforcement reserves the right, on his own motion, to grant an enforcement exception in any appropriate case after consultation with the regional enforcement executive in the region where the specific case is pending.

(5) Procedure subsequent to granting of enforcement exception. If an enforcement exception is granted by the deputy commissioner for enforcement, either upon request or upon his own motion, a statement of the rule covering the enforcement exception will be issued to all enforcement attorneys for future application in similar cases. Enforcement attorneys are instructed to apply all outstanding enforcement exceptions to cases which, in whole or in part, fall within the rule stated in the exception.

(i) Any case upon which an enforcement exception has been issued, and all similar cases falling within the same rule, shall show within the file that the disposition, in whole or in part, has been governed by the specific enforcement exception.

(ii) The rules stated in enforcement exception shall govern all cases falling within the rules, irrespective of whether or not formal sanction has already been instituted, but shall not apply to completed sanction cases.

(iii) There are certain types of situations which will not alone be considered sufficient for the granting of an enforcement exception:

(a) Where the defendant claims that his violation was committed subsequent to an interpretation not given in accordance with Procedural Regulation No. 1.

(b) Where the defendant after violation applies for and receives a price adjustment.

(c) Where the defendant claims that he had to charge a higher price because the ceiling price was too low for him, or for the industry.

(d) Where the defendant claims that he charged over the ceiling because he was required to purchase over the ceiling.

(iv) In every exception where the seller is required clearly to prove certain facts, he shall have the burden of bringing forward any facts not already in the file. Affidavits by the seller and/or his purchaser, unsupported by records or other competent evidence, shall not be considered sufficient to prove clearly the facts which must be established. No evidence presented by a seller shall be considered as proof unless it is easily verifiable by OPA and no suit shall be dismissed unless the facts have been so verified. No recommendation to dismiss a case shall be made, and no case shall be dismissed unless the person considering the case is convinced that the requisite facts have been established.

(b) Enforcement exceptions — (1) Case No. 1: Enforcement exception granted—C-1.

Facts. A retailer who must price under MPR 330 determines his ceiling price by applying a percentage markup to the price charged by the supplier, not exceeding the supplier's ceiling price under MPR 287, a manufacturer's cost-plus regulation. The retailer receives delivery of the merchandise from the supplier, and does not know, and has no reason to suspect that the supplier's price is, in fact, higher than ceiling. The retailer added his own legal mark-up to the supplier's selling price, and thus resold half the merchandise.

Decision. Enforcement exception granted as to all such sales already made by the retailer or any other seller similarly situated.

Basis. Granted that retailer is in violation as to the past sales, it is clear that there was nothing to cause him to question the legality of the supplier's price or to determine what was the supplier's ceiling price. If the enforcement attorney is satisfied in his own mind that, viewing all of the relevant circumstances, the retailer did not know and had no reason to make further inquiry to ascertain whether the supplier's selling price was over ceiling, then the use of any sanction against the retailer would be meaningless in terms of gaining deterrent effect. The same considerations would also apply to some sellers other than retailers if they are required under applicable regulations to determine their ceiling price by applying a markup to the price charged by the supplier, not exceeding the supplier's ceiling price.

How far any seller should be expected reasonably to go in order to verify the supplier's ceiling price depends on many factors, including: the relationship of the parties; the nature of the industry and the transaction; the nature of the applicable regulations; circumstances which might arouse suspicion such as very high prices, unusual invoicing, unusual explanations or communications by the supplier.

If the supplier's ceiling price is based on a dollar and cent regulation, it is difficult to conceive how the seller could contend that he was without knowledge or means of knowledge. And, even though a supplier might be willing to give abundant assurances and certifications, the circumstance that the supplier is selling out of a suitcase or is invoicing on hotel stationery or is requesting a portion of the payment in cash would be sufficient to satisfy the enforcement attorney that the seller is not within the exception.

It is true that the granting of the enforcement exception, insofar as retailers are concerned, cannot deprive a consumer of his right of action, but this consideration does not preclude the Agency from making a determination with respect to the sanctions available to the Administrator.

With respect to the merchandise remaining unsold by the seller, if he is told that the pricing was improper he is no longer in a position to say that he could reasonably do nothing to protect himself against the possibility of violating. If he does not reprice on the basis of proper allowable cost, he has elected to take his chances and appropriate sanction should then be applied.

It does not follow that because a seller has been informed of a violation by a supplier that the seller cannot ever again be in a position where this enforcement exception would be applicable. The main question would be whether the notice to the seller made it reasonably possible for him thereafter to ascertain the supplier's ceiling price; and, even though such an incident would ordinarily increase the seller's obligation to inquire, it might still be reasonable to conclude that the seller could not help himself.

Where the seller has some undelivered merchandise and therfore must reprice it is immaterial that the legal price for the seller would be less than what he paid the supplier. The enforcement exception will not be used prospectively to authorize an illegal price for future transactions.

Rule. Where any seller's ceiling price is based on fixed or percentage mark-up over supplier's price, not exceeding supplier's ceiling price, and where seller does not know and has no reason to make further inquiry to determine that supplier's selling price exceeded ceiling, enforcement exception granted as to all such sales by seller insofar as seller used proper legal mark-up. On all merchandise remaining unsold seller must reprice on basis of legal allowable cost.

Coverage. All regulations in all commodity fields at all applicable industry levels.

Washington, D. C., December 19, 1945.

(2) Case No. 2: Enforcement exception denied.

Facts. An owner of a house rented to a tenant in August 1944 at $50 per month. The owner first registered the premises with the Area Rent Office in January 1945. The tenant moved out of the premises, without notice to the owner, in March 1945, and the tenant cannot be located. In July 1945, the Area Rent Director had the premises inspected and issued a reduction order of $35 per month retroactive to August 1944. While in possession, the tenants substantially damaged the house, with the result that the owner had to spend approximately $500 for repairs. The amount of the overcharge is $120.

Decision. Enforcement exception denied.

Basis. The owner contends that if he had known of the reduction order before the tenant vacated the premises and disappeared, the owner would have had an off-set against any claim of the tenant based on the overcharge. This contention overlooks the fact that the owner himself caused the situation by not registering on time.

Nevertheless, if the owner had registered at an earlier time (but not within the time required by the regulation), our conclusion would not be different. The recommendation for enforcement exception appears to be predicated on a theory that the tenant has acted prejudicially and therefore the weapons of rent control should not be used in support of that type of tenant. Even if the prejudice created by the tenant had been something inherent in rent control, for example, if the contention were that the tenant induced the owner to overcharge, the Agency could not accept such a contention because of the realization that pressures by tenants and consumers must be resisted just as much as pressures by landlords and sellers. Therefore, to find any field for an enforcement exception based on such prejudice, the activity of the tenant or consumer would have to be foreign to the field of rent or price control. This would place upon the Agency an impossible administrative burden of determining in foreign fields whether or not the conduct of the tenant or consumer was such as to give the landlord or seller an independent right of action. A judicial forum is available for the determination of such questions, and it is no fault of the Agency that personal jurisdiction might be unobtainable.

The contention is made that the application of sanction in this type of case would result in a dangerous public relations reaction. If the foregoing analysis is correct, the Agency is well fortified with a proper statement of its position. A decision to grant or deny an enforcement exception cannot be predicated solely on the possibility of an antagonistic reaction.

Washington, D. C., December 19, 1945.

(3) Case No. 3: Enforcement exception denied.

Facts. Amendment No. 10 to MPR 260 (cigars, cigar cuttings, and clippings) was announced November 9, 1944, effective November 13, 1944. The amendment provided for changes in the pricing of cigars by manufacturers, and the appropriate passing on of certain price increases. Prior to Amendment No. 10, the manufacturer was required to state on each box of cigars the exact maximum retail price as determined under the regulation. On or before the first delivery of any cigars, the manufacturer was required to notify each purchaser of the manufacturer's maximum list price and the maximum retail price. The notification was to be in a form prescribed by the regulation and refer to the cigars by brand. No notification after the first was required unless the manufacturer's maximum price was thereafter adjusted. Similar notice provisions were required of the wholesaler. The regulation, prior to Amendment No. 10, also provided that upon receipt of the notification from the manufacturer of an adjustment, the wholesaler could adjust his maximum list price to an amount not in excess of the manufacturer's maximum list price; and, with reference to his floor stocks, the wholesaler was then required to state in plainly visible numerals on each box of cigars the exact adjusted maximum retail price.

Amendment No. 10, in authorizing the increase for manufacturers, expressly excluded any increase by wholesalers with respect to floor stocks on hand prior to November 13, 1944. However, while the form of notice from the manufacturer to the wholesaler and from the wholesaler to the retailer, was changed in some respects by this amendment, it did not refer, within itself, to any delivery dates. It merely contained the customary notification that on a named brand the OPA has established a maximum list price and a maximum retail price in certain amounts.

The press release issued on November 9 makes no reference whatsoever to wholesalers but refers extensively to the new pricing formula for manufacturers and the effect on the consumers. Any reference to the exclusion of floor stocks on hand on or before November 12, 1944, is absent. The wholesaler read trade releases which were based on the official press release and which made no reference to existing floor stocks. He received notifications from manufacturers based on Amendment No. 10 and adjusted his prices for his floor stocks during the period of November 13 to December 27, 1944, on which latter date he was first informed that the notices delivered to him under Amendment No. 10 applied only to deliveries made by manufacturers after November 12, 1944, and which was the first time he saw Amendment No. 10 itself.

Decision. Enforcement exception denied.

Basis. The most that can be said is that the circumstances might explain why the wholesaler failed to read the amendment itself, and that therefore there was neither wilfulness nor failure to take practicable precautions. As in any Chandler defense situation, the case appeals to sympathy, but nothing is clearer than our statutory and policy mandate that such a defense operates only to reduce damages to single overcharges and to eliminate the propriety of an injunction. An enforcement exception is, basically, available only where enforcement action would serve no useful price, enforcement, or administrative policy. In the case of Enforcement Exception C–1, no useful price, enforcement or administrative policy would be served by the application of any sanction against a seller because there was no conceivable way in which such a seller could take any greater steps in the future to avoid a repetition of the violation. In the instant case, the reading of the amendment itself would have been a sufficient deterrent to violation. Here, there was an overcharge in excess of the ceiling, which had an inflationary effect, by one who benefited by receiving the overcharge even while competitors who complied fully with the regulation were held to a lower price. If this exception were granted, it would be only fair and logical to extend it to all Chandler defense cases.

(4) Case No. 4: Enforcement exception denied.

Facts. A manufacturer reports to OPA that he cannot deliver his product unless the regulation is amended to permit a higher price. The OPA informs him orally that a higher price will be allowed and that the order will be issued in two weeks. The manufacturer then waits two weeks and starts making deliveries, on the assumption that the order had been issued. The order was not yet issued. Investigation further reveals that a small amount of delivery was made prior to the commencement of the two-week period, but no enforcement exception is considered for those sales.

Decision. Enforcement exception denied.

Basis. The granting of an enforcement exception based on an oral statement by an OPA representative that an order will be issued would constitute a major break in Procedural Regulation No. 1. It is well known that in the administration of the numerous regulations there must necessarily be some discussion with interested firms concerning the possibility of the issuance of appropriate orders or amendments. The Agency must maintain the position that the conclusion of such discussions can be manifested only in the manner prescribed by law and by the regulations of the Agency. Were an enforcement exception to be granted on the basis of unofficial prediction by any representative of OPA, the task of enforcing regulations would become severely burdensome because enforcement attorneys would be required to examine the merits of every such unofficial prediction.

(5) Case No. 5: Enforcement exception denied.

Facts. Subject is a meat wholesale slaughterer. Criminal proceedings were instituted against him by reason of overcharges accompanied by cash on the side and false invoicing. Subject pleaded guilty and was fined $2,000. Subsidy withholding for the period amounts to approximately $26,000. Subject contends that the total amount of overcharges reflected in the information was small; that he theretofore had a good history of compliance; and that the judge who imposed the fine did not know of the possibility of a subsidy withholding. Subject's contentions are supported by letters from former employees of the Office of Price Administration.

Decision. Enforcement exception denied.

Basis. Subject's plea of guilty to criminal violation disposes of any justification for considering subject's prior good reputation, even if that factor would ever be material in considering an Enforcement Exception. The enforcement policy of this Agency certainly cannot be predicated on gratuitous opinions of former employees who no longer carry any responsibility to the Agency for the development of sound and uniform policy.

There is no merit in the contention that subject might not have pleaded guilty if he had known of the possibility of subsidy withholding in addition to the fine. The government charged the commission of a serious offense, and it cannot be bound by the mental process by which subject may have decided that it would be to his monetary advantage to admit his guilt.

Nor is there merit in the argument that the Court might have acted otherwise. Subsidy withholding is based on the fact of violation, irrespective of the degree of culpability. That fact was established.

The size of the total provable overcharges is clearly immaterial here in view of the admission that the violation was not trivial and inconsequential.

(6) Case No. 6: Enforcement exception granted—C–2.

Facts. A retailer entered into a contract with a manufacturer for the delivery to the retailer of 5,000 cultivators in monthly installments, order prepaid. The retailer properly priced the cultivators under GMPR. When the retailer had received approximately half the delivery, the manufacturer received an order from OPA under MPR 188 fixing his ceiling price and requiring a tagging of a retail price announced in the order. The order was duly filed and published in the FEDERAL REGISTER. The retail price fixed in the order was lower than the GMPR price at which the retailer was selling. Although the manufacturer thereafter continued to make deliveries to the retailer under the contract, the retailer had no direct knowledge of the order. When the retailer was first informed of the order, he discontinued the sales at the GMPR price.

Decision. Enforcement exception granted as to all such sales already made by the retailer or any other seller similarly situated.

Basis. Enforcement Exception C–1 would have applied automatically to this case, except for the fact that here the retailer's ceiling price was not "based on fixed or percentage markup over supplier's price, not exceeding supplier's ceiling price." But the underlying reason is substantially the same. The retailer was engaging in a course of legal conduct until, by the act of the Agency on application of the manufacturer, the retailer's price became illegal. While it is true that publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER constitutes constructive notice to all, there is nothing to prevent the Agency from adopting a policy which does recognize the fairness of withholding sanction under proper circumstances. There was nothing to cause the retailer to inquire whether the manufacturer had applied for any price, or whether one had been ordered, or whether the order affected the retail level. In cases such as these, it is unreasonable to expect the retailer to watch the FEDERAL REGISTER scrupulously because of the mere possibility of publication of an order that might directly affect him.

The same considerations would also apply to some sellers other than retailers who could find themselves in the same position.

As in Enforcement Exception C–1, the exception does not apply to merchandise remaining unsold after the seller has been told or has otherwise learned of the change in legal price. The undelivered merchandise must be repriced.

Rule. Where any seller has been selling at or less than the ceiling price, and where the supplier has applied for a price which the agency orders and duly publishes in the FEDERAL REGISTER, and where the order also fixes a price for the seller which is less than he has been charging, and where the seller does not know and has no reason to make further inquiry to determine that such application was made by the supplier or acted upon by the agency, enforcement exception granted as to all such sales by seller insofar as seller's price was legal but for the order. On all merchandise remaining unsold seller must reprice in accordance with order.

Washington, D. C., March 29, 1946.

(7) Case No. 7: Enforcement exception granted—C–3.

Facts. On November 9, President Truman announced that ceiling prices on all commodities except rent and sugar and a few minor commodities were lifted. The October 31, 1946 statistical reports show that there were 2,707 Administrator's claims and 2,211 Administrator's Consumer claims pending in court, 11,002 cases completed investigations awaiting disposition, and 4,184 cases under investigation. Our personnel has been substantially cut except for rent, sugar and sales control enforcement. A number of the courts have been reluctant to go forward with cases involving small amounts of overcharge.

Decision. The enforcement exception is granted.

Basis. This decision is necessary in order that we may reduce the workload of our staff and to relieve it of the less significant cases. Also, by making this decision we are eliminating the number of small cases from the court dockets thus enabling our attorneys to proceed with the more significant cases.

Rule. All treble damage claims involving decontrolled commodities in which the single amount of the overcharge is less than $200 shall be dismissed forthwith. This is applicable both to pending litigation and to cases pending disposition. A case should not be dropped where the evidence presently in the file establishes single damages of less than $200, and the file indicates that by further investigation made in accordance with Review and Disposition Directives 4 and 5 single damages in excess of $200 will be developed.

Coverage. All regulations in all commodity fields at all industry levels where the commodities are now decontrolled.

Washington, D. C., December 23, 1946.

(8) Case No. 8: Enforcement Exception granted—C–4.

Facts. In some instances we have used both the criminal sanction and the treble damage sanction against a subject for the same violation. In some of these cases the penalty ordered in the criminal case is adequate, and for such reason the OPA Attorney does not desire to proceed with the civil sanction.

Decision. It is within the discretion of the attorney handling the case as to whether or not he will proceed with the treble damage sanction where an adequate sentence has been obtained in the criminal case.

Basis. Very often both the criminal sanction and the treble damage suit were filed against the subject in violation because it was thought that the fine in the criminal case might be inadequate. For example, an automobile dealer may sell automobiles over ceiling and collect $200,000 in overcharges; whereas, the fine might be only $1,500. In such cases the treble damage suit is needed. However, if the fine exceeds the amount of the overcharges, or an adequate jail sentence is issued, there may be no need to proceed with the treble damage case.

Rule. Where both a treble damage action and a criminal prosecution have been instituted for the same violation, and the criminal prosecution has resulted in an adequate penalty the treble damage action may be dismissed. In making such determination full consideration should be given to the original reason for invoking both civil and criminal proceedings. This determination is within the discretion of the attorney handling the case.

(9) Case No. 9: Enforcement exception granted—C–5.

Facts. Occasionally we have a treble damage case pending which rests solely on the testimony of a witness whose credibility has been impaired by his prior criminal conviction for a felony.

Decision. Enforcement exception is granted.

Basis. While it is recognized that in some instances the only way that we can get evidence of the crime is from people whose credibility is questionable, it is not wise to proceed in court with a treble damage case where the only testimony that we have is that of a person whose testimony is not reliable. However, there may be other facts in the case which substantiate the testimony of such person and for such reason the Enforcement Executive is willing to have the case proceed to trial.

Rule. Any case where the claim for treble damages rests solely on the testimony of a witness whose credibility has been impaired by prior criminal conviction of a felony may be dismissed but only by the Regional Enforcement Executive in the proper exercise of his discretion.

Coverage. All regulations in all commodity fields at all applicable levels including rent.

(10) Case No. 10: Enforcement Exception granted—C–6.

Facts. A number of the price regulations contained provisions commonly known as penalty pricing provisions. These provisions varied by commodity and by regulation. For example, in MPR 540 there were two prices for used cars, the "as is" price and the "warranted" price. The latter could be obtained by a dealer if he met certain qualifications and obtained from the Office of Price Administration authority to sell at market prices.

In many instances the subject could have sold at the higher price had he complied with the procedure set forth in the regulations, but because of his failure to do so was in violation and subject to treble damage claim.

Another common example is the instance where the subject applied for an increase in price, later obtained such increase, but sold at the higher price before obtaining such increase.

Decision. Enforcement exception is granted.

Basis. In a going price control program it is absolutely necessary to have penalty pricing provisions in the regulation and to hold the seller to the price he is entitled to receive at the time the sale is made even though he may later receive authorization to sell at a higher price. However, after a commodity has been decontrolled the reasons for the penalty pricing provisions no longer exists.

Rule (A) Where a regulation provides a higher maximum price for a seller who has filed a report, pricing chart, amended pricing chart or similar document than for a seller who failed to file, any treble damage action based upon sales at a higher price than that provided for a non-filing seller shall be dismissed: Provided, however, The seller can clearly prove that had he fully complied with the filing requirement he would have been entitled to charge the price actually charged in each and every sale involved. This exception shall apply only to those cases in which under the applicable regulation, filings were accepted by the OPA without any verification whatsoever and where the only action (e. g. acknowledgment) required of the OPA by the regulation was entirely automatic and required neither a determination of fact nor an exercise of discretion by OPA.

(B) Where a regulation which establishes a basic maximum price provides that upon application by a seller the right to charge a higher price may be granted, and where after the earliest permissible date for such application, the seller, without having been granted the higher price, charged a price higher than the basic maximum price permitted but later was granted a maximum price equal to or higher than the price he charged theretofore. Any treble damage action based upon such sales shall be dismissed if the seller can clearly prove that had he filed a timely application he would have been entitled to charge the price he did charge at the time of the sales in each and every sale involved in such case.

(C) Where a regulation providing dollar-and-cent maximum prices has been amended and either the amendment or statement of considerations expressly states that the purpose of the amendment is to correct an error previously made in fixing a maximum price, any treble damage action based upon sales made between the issuance of the earlier price and the amendment at a price not higher than the corrected maximum price shall be dismissed.

(D) Where a seller of used commodities who is authorized to charge a higher price for a commodity if he gives a written warranty sells the commodity at the warranty price but gives only an oral warranty whose terms are substantively identical with the terms required to be given in the written warranty and in fact lives up to the terms of the oral warranty, any case based upon sales at not more than the warranty price shall be dismissed.

(E) In any case included in the exceptions above, if the seller charged more than the higher price referred to on any of the sales in question, the exception does not apply in any or for any purpose, and the applicable maximum price shall be that actually provided by the regulation. However, in any case in which the seller sold at or below the higher price on all sales except an insignificant number, the case may be recommended to the National Director of the Review and Disposition Division for authority to dismiss.

Example: If under (B) above a seller's basic maximum price was $4, but the seller made sales at $5 and $5.50, and was later granted a price of $5 (which he can show he would have been entitled to at the time of the sales had he made timely application) the exception shall not be applicable; i. e., the case shall not be dismissed as to any of the sales and the applicable maximum price for all sales shall be $4, which amount shall be used in determining overcharges.

(F) In each exception above where the seller is required clearly to prove certain facts, he shall have the burden of bringing forward any facts not already in the file. Affidavits by the seller and/or his purchaser, unsupported by records or other competent evidence, shall not be considered sufficient to prove clearly the facts which must be established. No evidence presented by a seller shall be considered as proof unless it is easily verifiable by the OPA and no suit shall be dismissed unless the facts have been so verified. No recommendation to dismiss a case shall be made and no case shall be dismissed unless the person considering the case has no doubt that the requisite facts have been established.

(G) Where a regulation provides that the maximum price for any commodity not properly described in the invoice shall be the price applicable to such incomplete description, any case based upon sales a price higher than that applicable to the incomplete description shall be dismissed, if the seller can clearly prove that had he issued a proper invoice he would have been entitled to charge the price he did charge in each and every sale involved in such case.

Coverage. All regulations in all commodity fields of decontrolled commodities at all applicable industry levels.

(11) Case No. 11: Enforcement exception denied.

Facts. Since 1935, subject has been engaged in the business of selling meat, primarily to hotels and restaurants. Under the provisions of RMPR 169 a seller who comes within the definition of a "hotel supply house" may sell fabricated meat cuts at a higher price than that which he would otherwise be permitted to charge. An establishment cannot qualify as a "hotel supply house" unless it sold or delivered to purveyors of meals during the period of September 15, 1942 to December 15, 1942, not less than 70 percent of the total volume by weight of all meats sold or delivered by it, excluding sales to war procurement agencies. Subject, on February 23, 1944, filed a statement with the regional office of OPA, as required by RMPR 169, showing its sales to all buyers and to purveyors of meals during the base period mentioned above. On the face of this statement it appears that subject does not qualify as a "hotel supply house." Nevertheless, subject continued to sell meat at the higher prices applicable to "hotel supply houses," as a result of which suit for damages was brought against it by the Administrator after investigation and several conferences with representatives of subject company. Subject contends that its base period operations were abnormal and that at all other times more than 70 percent of its sales have been to purveyors of meals.

Decision. Enforcement exception is denied.

Basis. It is not the function of an enforcement exception to adjudicate the reasonableness of the provisions of a price regulation. Adequate administrative and judicial machinery is available for that purpose and should have been used by subject if it claimed that the regulation, or interpretation thereof, under which it failed to qualify as a "hotel supply house," was arbitrary or capricious.

Of course, it is possible that a reasonable regulation might work a hardship in a particular case because of unusual circumstances. Even if such hardship exists in the present case, however, it is felt that the enforcement exception cannot be granted without doing serious damage to the base period technique—a technique which produces more equitable results than other possible methods. By its very nature, it must be applied rigidly in order to be equitable. It would not be administratively feasible to determine whether enforcement exceptions should be granted in each case in which a person's base period operations deviated from the normal. If such a task were undertaken, the inevitable result would be the substitution of a vague standard for a precise and workable one.

The fact that this agency had notice of subject's violations as a result of its statement filed February 23, 1944, and as a result of subsequent conferences and investigations, did not place upon it any obligation to institute immediate action against subject. To hold otherwise would in effect create a new type of self-imposed statute of limitations, running from the date notice of an offense is received, calling for the imposition of sanctions within a short but undefined period of time and needlessly hampering the enforcement program.

The claim is made that if present enforcement action is pressed to a conclusion, normal channels of meat distribution will be seriously disrupted. No decision need be made at this time as to whether such disruption would be a valid basis for an enforcement exception. Assuming that it would be, we note that no specific data are presented to support subject's claim, nor does it appear likely, on the basis of the known facts, that a sufficiently serious maldistribution could be established to furnish a compelling argument in favor of granting an enforcement exception.

Washington, D. C., December 27, 1946.

(12) Case No. 12: Enforcement exception granted—C-7.

Facts. An investigation of a mill in Idaho disclosed violations by 24 farmers in the sale of clover seed to this mill. The farmers received the quality cleaned price although the seed was actually sold in the dirt and cleaned by the mill, but no deduction was made for cleaning. A treble damage action is pending against each of the 24 farmers and all of the defendants are represented by the same counsel. In 22 of the cases the single amount of the overcharge varies between $3.02 and $54.74. Enforcement Exception Case Number 7 applies to all of the cases involving less than $200. The single amount of the overcharges in each of the other two cases is $202.19 and $381.25. The OPA attorney has requested permission to dismiss these two cases.

Decision. The enforcement exception is granted.

Basis. It is recognized that the monetary cut-off provided by Enforcement Exception Case Number 7 when applied to a group of cases developed in a local area as a result of a single investigation may present a situation such as this one in which it would be discriminatory to dismiss a substantial number of cases and proceed in an insignificant number of similar small cases.

Rule. No general rule announced by this enforcement exception. The factual situation in other instances will necessarily be different and will require an application for an exception.

Coverage. This exception is limited to the specific factual situation set forth.

Washington, D. C., December 31, 1946.

(13) Case No. 13: Enforcement exception denied.

Facts. A manufacturer of handbags filed a base period report under Section 1.2 (c) of SR 14 E which filing indicated a highest price line of $75 per dozen for category 4. SR 14 E contained no provision by which a seller with base period experience could apply to OPA and secure a highest price line limitation in excess of that accorded by its own base period experience. (Ceiling prices of handbags are regulated by GMPR and the highest price line limits only established by SR 14 E.) Thereafter, the manufacturer had his lawyer contact OPA to secure approval of a price of $108 per dozen for a new style in Category 4. Although fully aware of the manufacturer's base period experience, the attorney employed by the law firm did not impart this fact to OPA. The attorney returned from OPA and stated that it was merely necessary to establish the price by competition. The attorney could not later identify the OPA employee he spoke with, and there is no way at present to determine whether such advice was given by OPA. When enforcement investigation disclosed the violation, the manufacturer discontinued sales at $108 and the attorney that contacted OPA was discharged by his law firm. The manufacturer made practically no profit on the violative sales, profits averaging less than $1 a dozen. The handbags were worth the price charged, and except for the highest price line limitations of SR 14 E, the price charged would have been the proper GMPR ceiling, on the basis of competitive pricing. It is urged on behalf of the manufacturer that the price charged was thus not inflationary.

Decision. Enforcement exception denied

Basis. At best, the facts outlined indicate only good faith on the part of the manufacturer. Even assuming that such OPA advice was given, since it would have been on an erroneous statement of facts, it does not constitute a defense to a violation. The basis set forth in denying an enforcement exception in Case No. 4 is fully applicable here. Furthermore, the contention that these sales were not inflationary is unrealistic. The most vicious inflation which occurred in the apparel and textile field was "up-trading"—i. e., abandoning low-priced lines in favor of producing high-priced lines. This resulted in a drastic lifting of the entire price level, as low- and medium-income consumers unable to find their customary low-priced lines in the market, were forced to purchase in price lines at the "luxury-class" level. Even though these higher priced articles represented full value to purchasers accustomed to buy in such higher priced lines, they were definitely inflationary and a very real and serious threat to the price structure as to low- and medium-income purchasers. To curb this up-trading, and to hold manufacturers at least to the highest lines they sold in normal times, the agency adopted highest price line limitations in all important apparel fields and later implemented them further by the "maximum average price" regulations (MAP) in an attempt to bring back into production the full normal range of price lines, including the lowest. The argument that full value was delivered in the violative sales does not, therefore, support the conclusion that the sales were not inflationary.

We have never measured the desirability or propriety of enforcement action in terms of the profit derived from violations, so that it is immaterial in this instance that the manufacturer enjoyed a negligible profit.

Washington, D. C., February 10, 1947.

(14) Case No. 14: Enforcement exception granted—C-8.

Facts. The used motor vehicle regulation, RMPR 341, MPR 540, and MPR 569, provided dollars-and-cents prices for used vehicles. These prices, called "as is" or base prices, were the maximum which any person selling a vehicle could charge. A person regularly engaged in the business of selling used vehicles could charge the warranty price which is $100 or 25 percent more than the "as is" price, if he applied for and obtained written authorization from the district office to sell as a "dealer" as that term is defined in the regulation. Before issuing the authorization the district office price division generally verified that the applicant had a place for the display and sale of used vehicles, and facilities for the repair and reconditioning necessary to put and keep vehicles in good operating condition.

Situation A. A truck concern applied for authorization and pending issuance of such authorization sold a truck at the warranty price. The authorization was never issued and enforcement instituted a treble damage action based upon the difference between the "as is" and the warranty price. The district office price division has advised the enforcement division that the seller had the facilities necessary to qualify as a "dealer" and that the authorization was not issued because the application had apparently been misplaced in the district office.

Situation B. A seller has been engaged in the business of selling used cars and trucks. He applied for and received authorization as a used car "dealer." Subsequent investigation disclosed that he had sold trucks at the warranty price although not specifically authorized as a truck "dealer." The overcharge is the difference between the "as is" and warranty prices. The subject has facilities adequate for the repair and reconditioning of used cars and trucks.

Situation C. A seller regularly engaged in the business of selling used vehicles sold such vehicles at the warranty price although he never applied for nor received written authorization to sell as a "dealer." The overcharge is the difference between the "as is" and the warranty prices. Subject has always maintained facilities for the repair and reconditioning of vehicles, has given purchasers the written warranty required by the regulations, and has performed the services necessary to meet the terms of the warranty.

Decision. Enforcement exception is granted.

Basis. In a going price control program it is absolutely necessary to hold the seller to the price he was entitled to receive at the time the sale was made even though he could have received authorization to charge the higher price had he properly applied for such authorization. However, after a commodity has been decontrolled the reasons for holding the seller to the lower price no longer exist if he can satisfactorily prove that he could have qualified for the authorization which would permit the higher price to be charged.

Rule. Where a seller of used motor vehicles establishes to the satisfaction of the chief of the regional review and disposition section, the regional enforcement executive and the regional administrator that he would clearly have been entitled to an authorization as a dealer if he had made application therefor or having made such application if the same had been properly acted upon, any case based upon sales at not more than the price he would have been entitled to charge as a dealer shall be dismissed.

Coverage. RMPR 341, MPR 540, and MPR 569.

Washington, D. C., February 21, 1947.

(15) Case Number 15: Enforcement exception granted—C-9.

Facts. The Electric Household Utilities Corporation of Chicago is a manufacturer of the Thor Washing Machine and Ironer. A treble damage action is now pending against this company for sales made during the months of June, July, and August 1945. The complaint was filed on August 28, 1945. There was no provision made in RPS 86 for adjustable pricing. During the war the company had contracts with the Government for manufacturing washing machines. As a result when the war ended it was in a position to immediately convert its factory into making civilian products. It was ready to go on the market with its products about four months earlier than other manufacturers of washing machines and ironers.

As early as April and May 1945, the industry began negotiating with the price department of the Office of Price Administration for an industry-wide adjustment. There were numerous conferences with representatives of the washing machine industry and cost surveys made by the price department. Prior to October 1, 1945, no over-all price increase had been issued by the price department.

In June and July the company delivered its washing machines and ironers to its distributors on a consignment basis. No sales were made. The same procedure was followed up to August 4, 1945, at which time the company contended that its warehouses as well as the warehouses of its distributors were full and that it was impossible to further finance its operations without making sales. On or about August 4, 1945 the defendant transmitted to all of its dealers and distributors a communication dated August 4, 1945, the pertinent and relevant portions of which read as follows:

"We have shipped you a quantity of Wringer Washers and Gladirons. • • •

"We consigned this merchandise to you because at the time of shipment we believed our prices would be approved by OPA within a few days. To date no price has been established and, we have no idea how long it will be before a price is set. •

"We know you are anxious to ship machines to your dealers. To enable us to release these machines to you and at the same time keep our working capital at the point where we need it for our rapidly expanding production program, we have worked out the following plan.

"We are billing you for your machines at prices which are subject to final approval or change by OPA. We see no reason why you in turn might not ship and bill your dealers on the same basis and the dealers take orders from the public subject to the same terms. • • •

"Your invoice will have a stamp which will read:

"'NOTICE.—Prices on this invoice are subject to final approval or change by OPA. When final prices are established, we will issue a credit memo if the price is lower, or bill you an additional amount if the price is higher.'

"When you receive your invoice you will note that our terms are stated as 'Net on Receipt of Invoice.' We ask that you adhere rigidly to these terms. • • •

"On the basis of the price list we see no reason why you cannot use the same method of billing your dealers. We have prepared stamps as shown and are sending one to you.

"Your dealers might take orders for future delivery by telling their customers that the list price on the machine will be about as shown on the above price list subject to OPA approval. He should make sure that it is clear to the buyer that this price is not definite and he will adjust his contract to the finally established price when it is set by OPA." About the middle of August the Office of Price Administration began investigating the company, and on August 24, the defendant addressed a telegram to all of its distributors reading as follows: "Hold billings on washers and ironers to dealers, letter follows."

On or about August 29, 1945, the company mailed a letter to all of its distributors and branches informing them that no billing would be made and that washers and ironers would be sent to them on a consignment basis only. Between August 4, 1945, and August 29, 1945, the company delivered, billed, and collected payment on washers and ironers, at a price in excess of its then ceiling price as well as in excess of the amount subsequently allowed by industry-wide adjustment of October 1, 1945.

On September 10, the Administrator for OPA sent the leading manufacturers of washing machines, including the company, a telegram which reads as follows:

"We have your request for permission to make deliveries of washing machines on an adjustable billing basis. We expect to promptly issue an order which will provide that manufacturers of reconversion goods may make deliveries and collect an amount no higher than the ceiling price at the time of delivery, and provide with the purchaser that he is to pay any additional amount which OPA may later allow either by way of general increase factor for the industry or by an adjustment for the particular manufacturer. Arrangements under which the seller collects a price higher than the ceiling at the time of delivery subject to a later refund will be prohibited. Pending the issuance of such an order, you are authorized to make deliveries on this basis. Forthcoming amendment to regulation will require you to furnish tags showing retail ceiling price to all distributors and dealers to whom you now ship."

In November 1945 the company by cash payments or credit allowed on accounts owed to it returned to its dealers and distributors the difference between (a) the amounts received from or charged to said dealers and distributors on account of purchases of models of washers and ironers sold by company between June 1, 1945, and September 28, 1945, and (b) the aggregate amount of the prices for said washers and ironers computed on the basis of the highest prices quoted in company's price list effective during the period October 1, 1941, to October 15, 1941. The aggregate amount returned to all dealers and distributors was as follows:

To dealers	$19,531.50
Total	69,005.06

On October 1, 1945 the Office of Price Administration granted an industry-wide increase of 7.7 percent. A larger increase was later granted.

Decision. Enforcement exception granted.

Basis. At the time this case was filed, it was considered extremely important for it was at the beginning of the reconversion period. While the agency was slow in establishing an industry-wide mark-up for the washing machine industry as well as some of the other reconversion industries, it could not administer a program if the individual business establishments took their own increases. Adjustable pricing was permitted under section 19a of the General Maximum Price Regulation and was authorized for this industry by the Administrator's telegram of September 10, 1945. However, such adjustable pricing provisions contained the requirement that, pending action on the application for adjustment, the seller could not collect an amount greater than the ceiling price at time of delivery, and that, if the adjustments were granted, he could thereafter bill and collect from the buyer, on all sales made after the authorization to apply adjustable pricing, the amount of the adjustment.

The company's violation was twofold: (a) it applied adjustable pricing when not authorized to do so and (b) it actually collected amounts in excess of ceiling price at time of delivery.

In a continuing program it is essential that violations of this character be promptly stopped and appropriate action taken to prevent further violation and overcharge. However, in this case the seller ceased violations shortly after being advised of the agency's position and promptly made refunds, by cash or credit memoranda, to all purchasers of the difference between the amount collected or billed and its ceiling price at date of delivery. It is also true that had the agency authorized adjustable pricing (as contained in the telegram of September 10, 1945) prior to August 4, 1945, there would have been no violation.

Enforcement Exception Case No. 10 covered certain types of penalty pricing cases. While that exception is not applicable here (because there was no provision for adjustable pricing in the applicable regulation at the time deliveries were made), the basic reasons for that exception are here relevant.

Rule. Where a member of a reconverting industry makes deliveries on adjustable billing at a time when industry applications for general price increases are pending, and collects an amount in excess of his ceiling price at the date of such deliveries, enforcement exception is granted as to such deliveries even though no provision for adjustable billing is contained in the applicable regulation provided:

(1) Such sales are stopped when the violation is called to the seller's attention. And

(2) Refunds, in case or by credit memoranda, are given all buyers, within a reasonable time. And

(3) The amount of such refund is the difference between the price charged (or collected) and the seller's ceiling price on the date of delivery.

This rule applies to all subsequent sellers to the extent that any violations by them are directly attributable to the transactions of the member of the reconverting industry for which this exception is granted.

Washington, D. C., February 20, 1947.

(16) Case No. 16: Enforcement exception granted—C–10.

Facts. No request for an enforcement exception has been made in this case. However, the deputy commissioner on his own motion has considered an exception.

No court action has been taken. However, an investigation has been made and an action would be filed in accordance with agency policy and procedures if no exception is granted.

The claim is against A. C. Wells et al., d/b/a J. W. Wells Lumber Company, Menominee, Michigan, hereinafter referred to as the company.

The company operates a hardwood floor mill in the upper peninsula in Michigan, the producing area of hardwood lumber. It purchased hardwood lumber and hardwood logs and made them into hardwood flooring which it sold primarily at ceiling prices established for mill sellers of hardwood flooring by MPR 432. The company screened the best hardwood lumber amounting to about 10 percent of all the hardwood lumber it purchased, dried this lumber and resold it, as lumber, in carload quantities. Also it had been selling hardwood flooring in small quantities near its mill at what it called retail prices. Sometime in August 1945 James A. MacDonald, price specialist in the lumber unit in the Escanaba District Office, called upon A. C. Wells at the company's place of business. It appears that the company had been selling all of its lumber at the ceiling price for mill sellers as provided for in MPR 223, and all of its hardwood flooring, including a small lot of so-called retail sales at the mill ceiling price established by MPR 432. The company requested an interpretation of MPR 467 and MPR 215 from the Escanaba District Office inquiring whether it could take the mark-ups provided in those regulations (MPR 215 provides a mark-up for retail sellers of hardwood flooring out of a distribution yard stop; MPR 467 provides for mark-ups of mill prices on sales of hardwood lumber by distribution yards). Because of the wording of the applicable regulations, it was not unreasonable for the seller in good faith to request an interpretation whether he was entitled to these mark-ups. Mr. MacDonald told the company orally that, based upon the regulations and upon the operation being performed by the company and its past performance prior to the war, it was qualified to use the mark-ups contained in MPR 467 and MPR 215. The company requested that this interpretation be given to it in writing. On August 13, 1945 the Escanaba District Office wrote the company authorizing it to take such mark-ups. The letter was signed by James A. MacDonald, Price Specialist, Industrial Commodities.

There was no price attorney in the Escanaba Office in August 1945. Mr. MacDonald states that he orally discussed this with the regional price attorney in Cleveland and the regional price specialist in Cleveland. This discussion occurred after August 13, 1945. The price specialist was told that the interpretation set forth in the August 13, 1945, letter was correct.

On September 1, 1945, the company raised its prices in accordance with the interpretation set forth in the August 13, 1945 letter. In August 1946, the company was investigated by enforcement. It was then determined that the interpretation set forth in the August 13 letter was erroneous. The overcharges from September 1, 1945, through August 1, 1946, totaled $12,840.00.

Decision. Exception granted.

Basis. Enforcement Exception Case No. 4 denies an exception where an oral authorization was made by the Office of Price Administration in violation of Procedural Regulation No. 1. That decision is reaffirmed.

The provisions of Procedural Regulation No. 1 are sound and are necessary for the administration of any government activity. The 1946 amendments to the Emergency Price Control Act recognized this principle in that Congress provided that no action could be maintained if the violation arose because the person selling the commodity acted upon and in accordance with the written advice and instructions of the Administrator or any regional administrator or district director of the Office of Price Administration.

The issuance of written interpretations by unauthorized employees of the Office of Price Administration is a violation of internal instructions and can be held to a minimum by proper supervision and corrective measures taken against persons violating such instructions. A serious question arises as to what enforcement action should be taken against a member of an industry who, in good faith, applies to the Office of Price Administration for an interpretation, receives a written interpretation from a person with apparent authority and relies upon this interpretation to the end that he, by doing so, is in violation of an Office of Price Administration regulation.

Where no element of fraud and collusion are present and the enforcement attorney is satisfied that there was need for the interpretation and a price specialist, although unauthorized, issues one, which was in good faith relied upon, no prosecution should be instituted against the person receiving such interpretation if it later develops that such interpretation is erroneous.

Rule. Where a person applies to an office of the Office of Price Administration for an interpretation of a regulation and receives an interpretation in writing from a person in that office who has been designated as the price specialist for the commodity or commodities involved in the interpretation, and the person applying for the interpretation has no actual knowledge of the fact that such price specialist does not have authority to issue the interpretation, enforcement exception is granted the person receiving that interpretation, with respect to those violations which occurred solely as the result of such interpretation, provided that all the following conditions are met:

1. The person applying for the interpretation correctly stated all relevant facts.

2. The matters contained in the written interpretation were a proper subject for interpretation.

3. The applicable regulation or regulations did not state a rule clearly contrary to such interpretation.

4. There was no element of fraud or collusion on the part of or between the price specialist and the person seeking the interpretation.

5. That the person applied for and relied upon the interpretation in good faith.

Washington, D. C., February 20, 1947.

(17) Case No. 17: Enforcement exception granted—C–11.

Facts. Section 5 (e) of 2d Rev. MPR 19 with respect to certain shipments of Southern Pine lumber invoiced as containing in excess of designated percentages of certain grades, established the No. 2 Common price as the applicable maximum price for lumber invoiced as No. 1 Common and higher grades if any such shipment did not bear the grademark of a qualified inspection agency or was not accompanied by a certificate of inspection by a proper inspection agency. Some producers of Southern Pine lumber who were not members of a qualified inspection agency, and for that reason were unable to comply with the grademarking provision of the section, made shipments which were invoiced as containing quantities of the higher grades in excess of those set forth in the section and such shipments were not accompanied by a certificate of inspection by a recognized inspection agency. However, these producers had in their employ inspectors capable of properly grading Southern Pine lumber in accordance with the recognized rules of the industry. These shipments were actually graded by such graders in accordance with industry rules and practices and the invoices for these shipments accurately reflected the quantities and grades of lumber determined by the graders.

Decision. Enforcement exception is granted.

Basis. Section 5 (e) was incorporated in the regulation to combat widespread violation by upgrading of lumber. A study of Southern Pine Grade Distribution for the year 1941 was made by the Southern Pine War Committee, an industry organization. This study disclosed that the normal log out-turn of No. 1 Common and higher grades in the production of Southern Pine lumber varies in different geographic areas from a low of 5% to a high of 30%. The results of this study were taken into consideration in establishing the various percentages set forth in the section. In the early part of 1946, because of an aggravated general violative condition existing in the lumber industry, our lumber enforcement activity was considerably increased. One of the most prevalent forms of violation in Southern Pine lumber was upgrading. Because of the extensive upgrading practices and the fact that the government had only limited facilities available for detecting such upgrading, the Agency placed heavy reliance on section 5 (e) and took extensive enforcement action based upon violations of that section. Since decontrol the considerations expressed generally in Enforcement Exception No. 10, and particularly as illustrated by parts A, B, D, and G, apply with equal validity to the considerations disclosed by the above facts. However, since none of the situations stated in Enforcement Exception No. 10 is applicable to this express situation, it is necessary to issue a separate enforcement exception to cover violations of 5 (e) of 2d Rev. MPR 19.

Rule. Any case where the claim for treble damages is based upon violations of Section 5 (e) of 2d Rev. MPR 19 shall be dismissed if all of the following conditions are met:

1. The shipments involved in the case were actually graded by employees of the shipper qualified to and capable of properly grading Southern Pine lumber in accordance with the recognized rules of the industry.

2. The invoices for such shipments accurately reflected the quantities and grades of lumber as determined by such grading and there was no upgrading of any of the lumber involved in any such shipments.

The term "upgrading" as used in this exception means any misrepresentation or misdescription as to the grade or quantity of any item of lumber where such misdescription resulted in a higher price than the applicable legal ceiling.

This exception is expressly limited to violations of section (5) (e) of 2d Rev MPR 19.

Washington, D. C., March 13, 1947.

(18) Case No. 18: Enforcement exception granted—C–12.

Facts. Enforcement Exception No. C–3 (Case No. 7), issued December 23, 1946, provided: "All treble damage claims involving decontrolled commodities in which the single amount of the overcharge is less than $200 shall be dismissed forthwith." The question has been raised as to whether that exception applies, or should be extended, to cover installment payment settlement agreements (not reduced to judgment) where the balance remaining unpaid on December 23, 1946, was less than $200. Two situations are presented, one where the settlement was originally in excess of a sum of $200.00 and was reduced by partial payments to less than $200.00, the other where the original settlement was for a sum less than $200.00.

Decision. Enforcement exception granted as to both situations.

Basis. The same considerations which led to the adoption of Enforcement Exception No. C–3 are here applicable. From the point of view of the workload involved in processing those cases where the balance remaining unpaid on December 23, 1946, was less than $200.00, it is immaterial whether the original settlement was for more or less than $200.00. However, with respect to installment payment settlement, where the balance due on December 23, 1946, was more than $200 and installment payment settlements entered into after that date, where the total amount of the settlement exceeds $200.00, the Agency must undertake the workload involved, both in effecting the initial settlement and in collecting the full amount of the settlement even though eventually the final installment or installments may be less than $200.00.

Rule. Any case in which (1) a settlement had been effected and payment was to be made by installments, and (II) the claim had not been reduced to judgment, and (III) the amount remaining unpaid on December 23, 1946 was less than $200.00, shall be closed and no further proceedings taken to effect collection of the balance due under the installment payment settlement.

Coverage. All regulations in all commodity fields at all industry levels where the commodities are now decontrolled.

Washington, D. C., March 27th, 1947.

(19) Case No. 20: Enforcement exception granted C–14.

Facts. A landlord rented a dwelling unit for $10 a week. Thereafter the landlord filed a registration for this amount; the said registration was filed late. The Area Rent Director issued an order reducing the rent from $10 a week to $7 a week, retroactive to the date of the first rental. The landlord protested this order to the Area Rent Director, but presented no further facts on this protest other than those facts originally presented when the retroactive order was issued. Subsequent to this protest, the Area Rent Director modified his original order and increased the rent to $9 per week. This last order was not retroactive nor could it have been retroactive under the provisions of Revised Procedural Regulation 3.

Decision. Enforcement exception is granted.

Basis. Since no new facts were presented when the protest was lodged, and since there was no physical change in the property between the time of the original and the modifying orders, it would appear that the only reason for the increase in the maximum legal rent was that the original order fixing that rental was the result of error made upon inspection, computation, or judgment.

Rule. Where a retroactive order is issued by an Area Rent Director reducing the maximum legal rent from that charged by the landlord and said order is subsequently modified increasing the maximum legal rent either following a protest to the Area Rent Director or as a result of an appeal to the Regional Administrator, and where no new facts are presented when the protest is lodged and there is no physical change in the property between the time of the original order and the time of the modifying order, for the purposes of enforcement the original order shall be disregarded, and the overcharges upon which a treble damage action shall be predicated shall be the difference between the rent charged by the landlord and the amount set forth in the modifying order.

Temporary Controls Administrator.

21. Delete § 971.7 (c) and such other provisions as provide for a market-wide pool and in lieu thereof provide for an individual handlers pool and make such other changes in said order as may be necessary to make the entire order consistent with this proposal.

By The Ohio Guernsey Breeders' Association, Inc.:

22. Amend § 971.7 to provide for one of the three following alternative methods for computing the price to be received by producers for the type of milk indicated:

The handler of such milk shall report monthly his total production and sales of special milk and certify to the market administrator the premium paid each month;

(2) In the market wide pool calculations, those handlers paying a premium to producers of special milk shall be charged the same price per pound of butterfat as he is permitted to pay the producer through the regular producer butterfat differential (Class 3); or

(3) The handler paying a premium to producers of special quality milk shall pay his special producers the same butterfat differential as he is charged for Class I butterfat in the pool and be so credited.

By the Dairy Branch, Production and Marketing Administration:

27. Delete from § 971.10 (a) the phrase "(the exact amount to be determined by the market administrator, subject to review by the Secretary)" and substitute therefor the phrase ", or such lesser amount as the Secretary from time to time may prescribe."

By the Dayton-Springfield handlers:

29. Amend § 971.10 as follows:

FEDERAL POWER COMMISSION

[18 CFR, Parts 01, 02, 03, 1,]

[Docket No. R–103]

GENERAL RULES INCLUDING RULES OF PRACTICE AND PROCEDURE

NOTICE OF PROPOSED RULE MAKING

APRIL 1, 1947.

In the matter of the amendment of the general rules, including rules of practice and procedure (effective September 11, 1946).

1. Notice is hereby given of proposed rule making in the above-entitled matter.

2. On August 23, 1946 the Commission, acting pursuant to authority vested in it by the Federal Power Act, particularly sections 209 and 309 thereof, and the Natural Gas Act, particularly sections 16 and 17 thereof (49 Stat. 853, 858; 16 U. S. C. 824h, 825h; 52 Stat. 830, 15 U. S. C. 717o, 717p), adopted its Order No. 132 prescribing and promulgating general rules, including rules of practice and procedure, effective September 11, 1946. The said order and rules were served upon utilities, licensees and natural-gas companies, and were published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on September 11, 1946 (11 F. R. 177A, pp. 487–509); they were incorporated in the Code of Federal Regulations as Subchapter A, General Rules, of Chapter I, Title 18 of the said Code.

3. The new general rules, including the new rules of practice and procedure became effective on September 11, 1946. In the intervening period, a number of comments and suggestions for revising the rules have been received from members of the Commission staff, various practitioners before the Commission, and other persons representing utilities, licensees and natural-gas companies, subject to provisions of the Federal Power Act, or the Natural Gas Act, as amended. A number of amendments and suggestions were made by the Federal Power Bar Association in the report of its Committee on Practice and Procedure dated January 13, 1947.

4. Upon consideration of the various proposed amendments and suggestions received and experience acquired to date under the new rules, it appearing that it may be appropriate and consistent with the public interest to revise the rules, it is proposed that the Commission adopt, promulgate and prescribe the following amendments to its general rules including its rules of practice and procedure:

4. Add new § 03.53, with the headnote "Approved forms", to read as follows:

§ 03.53 Approved forms. The approved forms, statements, and reports under the Natural Gas Act, are listed and described in § 02.73 of this chapter.

PART 1—RULES OF PRACTICE AND PROCEDURE

1. Section 1.1 The Commission (Rule 1, pp. 101–104),[2] amend paragraphs (c) (3) and (f) (13) to read as follows:

(c) Sessions. The Commission meets and exercises its powers in any part of the United States.

• • • • •

(3) Special. Special sessions of the Commission for consultation, or for the transaction of business, may be held at any time and place as may be scheduled by the Commission.

• • • • •

(f) Definitions. As used in the regulations in this part, except as otherwise required by the context:

• • • • •

(13) Interveners. Persons petitioning to intervene as provided by § 1.8, when admitted as a participant to a proceeding, and State Commissions giving notice of intervention as provided in § 1.8, are styled interveners. Admission as an intervener shall not be construed as recognition by the Commission that such intervener might be aggrieved by any order of the Commission in such proceeding.

2. Section 1.4 Appearances and practice before the Commission (Rule 4, pp. 109–110), amend paragraph (a) (4) to read as follows:

(a) Appearances. • • •

(4) Any person appearing before or transacting business with the Commission in a representative capacity may be required by the Commission or the presiding officer to file evidence of his authority to act in such capacity.

3. Section 1.6 Complaints (Rule 6, pp. 113–114), change the headnote to read "Complaints and orders to show cause", and amend the section to read as follows:

§ 1.6 Complaints and orders to show cause—(a) Informal complaints—(1) Form. Informal complaints may be made by letter or other writing, and will be filed as received. Matters informally presented will, if their nature so warrants, be taken up by correspondents or conference with the party or parties complained of in an endeavor to bring about satisfaction of the complaint without formal hearing.

(2) Substance. No form of informal complaint is prescribed but in substance it should contain the name and address of complainant, the name and address of the party against whom the complaint is made, and a brief statement of the facts forming the basis of such complaint. Although the filing of an informal complaint is without prejudice to complainant's right to file a formal complaint, only formal complaints submitted and prosecuted in the manner hereinafter prescribed will initiate formal proceedings or make complainant a party to any proceedings already initiated, and only formal complaints will be admitted in the record of formal proceedings. It is desirable that the informal complaint be accompanied by sufficient copies to enable the Commission to transmit one to each party named and to each interested State commission, and retain one for its own use, and it may be accompanied by supporting papers.

(b) Formal complaints—(1) Form. Formal complaints shall be in writing and under oath and shall conform to the requirements of §§ 1.15 and 1.16. In such complaints there shall be stated the names and addresses of all parties, complainant and defendant, in full without abbreviations, with the name and address of each complainant's attorney, if any.

(2) Substance. Formal complaints shall be so drawn as fully and completely to advise the parties, defendant and the Commission of the facts constituting the grounds of the complaint, the provisions of statutes, rules, regulations, and orders relied upon, involving authority of the Commission, the injury complained of, and the relief sought.

(c) Joinder. Two or more grounds of complaint involving the same purposes, subject, or state of facts, may be included in one complaint, but should be separately stated and numbered; and two or more complainants may join in one complaint if their respective causes of complaint are against the same defendant or defendants, and involve substantially the same purposes and subject, and a like state of facts.

(d) Orders to show cause. Whenever the Commission desires to institute a proceeding against any person under statutory or other authority, the Commission may commence such action by an order to show cause setting forth the grounds for such action. Said order will contain a statement of the particulars and matters concerning which the Commission is inquiring, which shall be deemed to be tentative and for the purpose of framing issues for consideration and decision by the Commission in the proceeding, and the order will require that the respondent named respond orally, or in writing (as provided in § 1.9 (c)), or both.

4. Section 1.8 Intervention (Rule 8, pp. 117–118), amend the section to read as follows:

§ 1.8 Intervention—(a) Initiation of intervention. Participation in a proceeding as an intervener may be initiated as follows:

(1) By the filing of a notice of intervention by a State Commission, including any regulatory body of the State or municipality having jurisdiction to regulate rates and charges for the sale of electric energy, or natural gas, as the case may be, to consummers within the State or municipality.

(2) By order of the Commission upon petition to intervene.

(b) Who may petition. A petition to intervene may be filed by any person claiming a right to intervene or an interest of such nature that intervention is necessary or appropriate to the administration of the statute under which the proceeding is brought. Such right or interest may be:

(1) A right conferred by statute of the United States;

(2) An interest which may be directly affected and which is not adequately represented by existing parties and as to which petitioners may be bound by the Commission's action in the proceeding (the following may have such an interest: Consumers served by the applicant, defendant, or respondent; holders of securities of the applicant, defendant, or respondent; and competitors of the applicant, defendant, or respondent).

(3) Any other interest of such nature that petitioner's participation may be in the public interest.

(c) Form and contents of petitions. Petitions to intervene shall set out clearly and concisely the facts from which the nature of the petitioner's alleged right or interest can be determined, the grounds of the proposed intervention, and the position of the petitioner in the proceeding, so as fully and completely to advise the parties and the Commission as to the specific issues of fact or law to be raised or controverted, by admitting, denying, or otherwise answering, specifically and in detail, each material allegation of fact or law asserted in the proceeding, and citing by appropriate reference the statutory provisions or other authority relied on. They shall in other respects comply with the requirements of §§ 1.15 and 1.16.

(d) Filing and service of petitions. Petitions to intervene and notices of intervention shall be filed with the Commission within the time provided in any notice of the proceeding or in the order fixing date of hearing, but not less than 10 days before the date set for the commencement of the hearing, if any, except as otherwise specifically permitted by the Commission in extraordinary circumstances for good cause shown. Service shall be made as provided in § 1.17. Where a person has been permitted to intervene notwithstanding his failure to file his petition within the time prescribed in this paragraph, the Commission or presiding officer may, where the circumstances warrant, admit any exhibit in evidence without requiring additional copies thereof to be produced for such intervener.

(e) Answers to petitions. Any party to the proceeding or staff counsel may file an answer to a petition to intervene, and in default thereof, may be deemed to have waived any objection to the granting of such petition. If made, answers shall be filed within 10 days after the date of service of the petition, but not later than 5 days prior to the date set for the commencement of the hearing, if any, unless for cause the Commission with or without motion shall prescribe a different time. They shall in all other respects conform to the requirements of §§ 1.15 to 1.17, inclusive.

(f) Notice and action on petitions—(1) Notice and service. Petitions to intervene, when tendered to the Commission for filing, shall show service thereof upon all participants to the proceeding in conformity with § 1.17 (b).

(2) Action on petitions. As soon as practicable after the expiration of the time for filing answers to such petitions or default thereof, as provided in paragraph (e) of this section, the Commission will grant or deny such petition in whole or in part or may, if found to be appropriate, authorize limited participation. No petitions to intervene may be filed or will be acted upon during a hearing unless permitted by the Commission after opportunity for all parties to object thereto. Only to avoid detriment to the public interest will any presiding officer tentatively permit participation in a hearing in advance of, and then only subject to, the granting by the Commission of a petition to intervene.

(g) Limitation in hearings. Where there are two or more interveners having substantially like interests and positions, the Commission or presiding officer may, in order to expedite the hearing, arrange appropriate limitations on the number of attorneys who will be permitted to cross-examine and make and argue motions and objections on behalf of such interveners.

5. Section 1.9 Answers (Rule 9, pp. 119–120), amend the section to read as follows:

§ 1.9 Answers—(a) Answers to formal complaints and petitions. Answers to formal complaints and petitions, other than petitions to intervene, shall be filed with the Commission within 30 days after the date of service, unless for cause the Commission with or without motion shall prescribe a different time, but in no case shall answer be required in less than 10 days after the date of service. Any defendant failing to file answer within such period shall be deemed in default, and all relevant basic facts stated in such complaint or petition may be deemed admitted. All answers shall be in writing and under oath, and so drawn as fully and completely to advise the parties and the Commission as to the nature of the defense. They shall admit or deny specifically and in detail each material allegation of the pleading answered, and state clearly and concisely the facts and matters of law relied upon. They shall conform to the requirements of §§ 1.15 to 1.17, inclusive.

(b) Answers to petitions to intervene. See § 1.8 (e).

(c) Answers to orders to show cause. Any person upon whom an order to show cause has been served under § 1.6 shall, if directed so to do, respond to the same by filing within the time specified in said order an answer in writing and under oath. Such answer shall be drawn so as specifically to admit or deny the allegations or charges which may be made in said order, set forth with particularity the facts upon which respondent relies, and state concisely the matters of law relied upon. Mere general denials of the allegations of said order unsupported by specific facts upon which respondent relies will not be considered as complying with the order and may be deemed a basis for entry of a final order without hearing, unless otherwise required by statute, on the ground that the response has raised no issues requiring a hearing or further proceedings. Any respondent failing to file answer within the time allowed shall be deemed in default, and all relevant facts stated in said order to show cause may be deemed admitted. Such answer shall otherwise conform to the requirements of §§ 1.15 to 1.17, inclusive.

(d) Answers to motions. See § 1.12 (c).

(e) Defendants seeking affirmative relief. Defendants seeking relief against other parties in a proceeding by reason of the presence of common questions of law or fact shall set forth in their answer the facts constituting the grounds of complaint, the provisions of the statutes, rules, regulations, or orders relied upon, the injury complained of, and the relief sought. The answer shall in all other respects conform to the requirements of this section and §§ 1.15 to 1.17, inclusive.

(f) Replies to defendants seeking affirmative relief. Unless otherwise ordered by the Commission, replies to answers seeking affirmative relief must be filed and served within 15 days after the service of the answer, but not later than 5 days prior to the date set for the commencement of the hearing, if any. They shall in all other respects conform to the requirements of §§ 1.15 to 1.17, inclusive.

(g) Answers to amendments of pleadings. Any party to a proceeding or staff counsel may file an answer to any amendment, modification or supplement to an application, complaint, petition or other pleading. If made, answers shall be filed within 15 days after the date of service of the amendment, modification or supplement, unless for cause the Commission or presiding officer with or without motion shall prescribe a different time. They shall in all other respects conform to the requirements of §§ 1.15 to 1.17, inclusive.

(h) Satisfaction of complaints. If the defendant satisfies a formal complaint either before or after answering, a statement to that effect signed by the opposing parties shall be filed, setting forth when and how the complaint has been satisfied and requesting dismissal. Such statements shall be served upon all parties, and the original copies of such statements, when filed, shall show service on all parties, and in other respects shall conform to the requirements of §§ 1.15 to 1.17, inclusive; all additional copies shall be conformed thereto.

6. Section 1.11 Amendments and withdrawal of pleadings (Rule 11, pp. 123–124), amend paragraphs (a) and (d) of the section to read as follows:

§ 1.11 Amendments and withdrawal of pleadings—(a) Amendments. Any modification or supplement to an application, complaint, petition or other pleading shall be deemed as an amendment to the pleading, and shall comply with all requirements of the regulations in this part relating to the pleading amended in so far as appropriate and in all other respects shall conform to the requirements of §§ 1.15 to 1.17, inclusive. Upon its own motion or upon motion promptly filed by any participant, the Commission may for good cause decline to permit, or may strike in whole or in part, any amendment. No amendment to a pleading may be filed within 5 days next preceding the commencement of or during a hearing unless directed or permitted by the Commission or the presiding officer after opportunity for all parties to be heard thereon.

* * * * *

(d) Withdrawal of pleadings. A participant desiring to withdraw a pleading filed with the Commission may file a notice of withdrawal thereof with the Commission. Such notice shall set forth the reasons for the withdrawal and conform to the requirements of this section and §§ 1.15 to 1.17, inclusive, as to copies, form, service, subscription, and verification. A certificate shall accompany every such notice showing service on all participants. Unless otherwise ordered by the Commission for good cause, such notice shall, 30 days after the filing thereof, be deemed to have effected the withdrawal of the pleading, including amendments, if any: Provided, however, That this paragraph shall not be construed as effecting, without express permission of the Commission, withdrawal of:

(1) Any pleading in any proceeding in which a hearing has been held or is in progress;

(2) Any formal complaint, answer thereto, response to order to show cause, or any amendment to any of the aforesaid pleadings;

(3) Any declaration of intention or application for license, or amendment thereof, under Part I of the Federal Power Act.

7. Section 1.12 Motions (Rule 12, p. 125), amend the section to read as follows:

§ 1.12 Motions—(a) Scope and contents. After a hearing has commenced in a proceeding, a request may be made by motion for any procedural or interlocutory ruling or relief desired except as may be expressly provided for in §§ 1.5, 1.6, 1.7 (b) and (c), 1.8, 1.9, 1.10 and 1.11. Other motions may be made as provided for elsewhere in the regulations in this part. Motions shall set forth the ruling or relief sought, and state the grounds therefor and the statutory or other authority relied upon.

(b) Presentation. The requirements of §§ 1.15 to 1.17, inclusive shall apply to all written motions. Motions made during hearings may be stated orally upon the record, Provided, however, That the Commission or presiding officer may require that such motions be reduced to writing and filed separately.

(c) Objections. Any party or staff counsel shall have ten days within which to answer or object to any motion unless the period of time is otherwise fixed by the Commission or presiding officer.

(d) Rulings on. The presiding officer designated to preside at a hearing is authorized to rule upon any motion not formally acted upon by the Commission prior to the commencement of the hearing where immediate ruling is essential in order to proceed with the hearing, and upon any motion filed or made after the commencement thereof and prior to the submission of his initial or recommended decision in the proceeding: Provided, however, That no motion made before or during a hearing, a ruling upon which would involve or constitute a final determination of the proceeding, shall be ruled upon by a presiding officer except as a part of either his initial or recommended decision submitted after the conclusion of the hearing: Provided further, That this section shall not be construed as precluding a presiding officer, within his discretion, from referring any motion to the Commission for ultimate determination. The Commission will rule upon all other motions and upon such motions as presiding officers may certify to the Commission for disposition.

8. Section 1.13 Time; extensions of time; continuances (Rule 13, pp. 127–128), change the headnote to read "Time; extensions of time; issuance of orders," and amend the section to read as follows:

§ 1.13 Time; extensions of time; issuance of orders—(a) Computation of time. Except as otherwise provided by law, in computing any period of time prescribed or allowed by these rules, by any rule, regulation, or order of the Commission, or by any applicable statute, the day of the act, event, or default from or after which the designated period of time begins to run shall not be included, but the last day of the period so computed shall be included, unless it is a Saturday, Sunday, or a legal holiday in the District of Columbia, in which event the period shall run until the end of the next day which is not a Saturday, Sunday, or a holiday. A part-day holiday shall be considered as other days and not as a holiday.

(b) Issuance of orders. In computing any period of time involving the date of the issuance of an order by the Commission, the day of issuance of an order shall be the day the Office of the Secretary mails or delivers copies of the order (full text) to the parties or their attorneys of record, or makes such copies public, whichever be the earlier. Orders will not be made public prior to their mailing or delivery to the parties or their attorneys of record, except where the Commission finds the public interest so requires. The day of issuance of an order may or may not be the day of its adoption by the Commission. In any event, the Office of the Secretary shall clearly indicate on each order the date of its issuance. At the time any intermediate initial or tentative decision becomes effective as a decision of the Commission in the absence of Commission review as provided for by §§ 1.30 and 1.31, the Secretary will issue and serve upon the parties or their attorneys of record an appropriate notice of the date such decision became effective as a Commission decision or order.

(c) Effective dates of orders. Orders of the Commission shall be effective as of the dates of issuance unless otherwise specifically provided in the orders.

(d) Extensions of time. Except as otherwise provided by law, whenever by any rule, regulation, or order of the Commission, or any notice given thereunder, an act is required or allowed to be done at or within a specified time, the time fixed or the period of time prescribed may, by the Commission or the presiding officer, for good cause be extended upon motion made before expiration of four-fifths of the period originally prescribed or as previously extended; and upon motion made after the expiration of the specified period, the act may be permitted to be done where reasonable grounds are found for the failure to act and where neither the interest of the public nor any party will be prejudiced thereby.

(e) Continuances. Except as otherwise provided by law, the Commission may for good cause at any time, with or without motion, continue or adjourn any hearing. A hearing before the Commission or a presiding officer, shall begin at the time and place ordered by the Commission, but thereafter may be adjourned from time to time or from place to place by the Commission or the presiding officer.

(f) Requests for continuance, time extensions. Except as otherwise provided by law, requests for continuance of hearings or for extensions of time in which to perform any act required or allowed to be done at or within a specified time by any rule, regulation, or order of the Commission, shall be by motion in writing, timely filed with the Commission, stating the facts on which the application rests, except that during the course of a hearing in a proceeding, such requests may be made by oral motion in the hearing before Commission or the presiding officer. Written motions filed under this section shall conform to the requirements of §§ 1.12 and 1.15 to 1.17, inclusive.

9. Section 1.15 Formal requirements as to pleadings, documents, and other papers filed in proceedings (Rule 15, pp. 131–132), amend paragraph (b) of the section to read as follows:

(b) Copies. Except as may be otherwise required by the rules or regulations of the Commission, or ordered or requested by the Commission, at the time pleadings, documents, or other papers other than correspondence, are filed with the Commission, there shall be furnished to the Commission an original and 19 conformed copies of such papers and exhibits, if any: Provided, however, When service is made by the parties, only an original and 14 conformed copies need be filed. (See § 1.17 (f) re service and § 1.26 (c) (5) re exhibits in hearings.)

10. Section 1.16 Subscription and verification (Rule 16, p. 133), amend the section to read as follows:

§ 1.16 Subscription and verification—(a) Subscription—(1) By whom. Applications, formal complaints, petitions and other pleadings, amendments thereto, notices, reports, exhibits, and other requests, submittals, or statements filed with the Commission shall be subscribed: (1) By the person filing the same, and severally if there be more than one person so filing; (2) by an officer thereof if it be a corporation, trust, association, or other organized group; (3) by an officer or employee thereof if it be a State commission, a department or political subdivision of a State, or other governmental authority, agency, or instrumentality; or (4) by an attorney having authority with respect thereto. Applications, formal complaints, petitions to intervene and petitions initiating proceedings, filed by any corporation, trust, association, or other organized group, may be required to be supplemented by appropriate evidence of the authority of the officer or attorney subscribing such pleadings.

(2) Effect. The signature of the person, officer or attorney subscribing any pleading or matter filed with the Commission constitutes a certificate by such individual that he has read the pleading or matter being subscribed and filed, and knows the contents thereof; that if executed in any representative capacity, the matter has been subscribed and executed in the capacity specified upon the pleading or matter filed with full power and authority so to do; that the contents are true as stated, except as to matters and things, if any, stated on information and belief, and that as to those matters and things, he believes them to be true.

(b) Verification. Any facts alleged in the matter filed shall be verified under oath by the person filing, an officer, or other person having knowledge of the matters set forth. If the verification be by any one other than the person filing or other than an officer thereof there shall be filed with the Commission a statement of the reason therefor.

11. Section 1.17 Service (Rule 17, pp. 135–136), amend paragraphs (e) and (f) of the section to read as follows:

(e) Certificate of service. There shall accompany and be attached to the original of each pleading, document, or other paper filed with the Commission, when service is required to be made by the parties, a certificate of service in the form prescribed, 18 CFR 131.1, 250.1. All other copies filed shall be fully conformed thereto.

(f) Copies. Where service is made by the parties, or service is not required to be made, save to the extent a different number is required by the Commission's rules and regulations governing the specific filing, an original and 14 conformed copies of such pleadings, documents, or other papers, together with exhibits, if any, shall be filed with the Commission in lieu of the original and 19 conformed copies required by § 1.15 (b). (See § 1.26 (c) (5) re exhibits in hearings.)

12. Section 1.18 Prehearing conferences (Rule 18, pp. 137–138), change the headnote to read "Prehearing conferences; offers of settlement", and amend the section to read as follows:

§ 1.18 Prehearing conference; offers of settlement—(a) To adjust or settle proceedings. In order to provide opportunity for settlement of a proceeding, or any of the issues therein, there may be held at any time prior to or during hearings before the Commission or a presiding officer designated to preside at conferences or hearings, such informal conferences of parties and staff counsel for the submission and consideration of facts, arguments, offers of settlement, or proposals of adjustment as time, the nature of the proceeding, and the public interest may permit.

(b) To expedite hearings. To expedite the orderly conduct and disposition of any hearing, at such prehearing conferences as may be held, there may be considered, in addition to any offers of settlement or proposals of adjustment, the possibility of the following:

(1) The simplification of the issues;

(2) The exchange and acceptance of service of exhibits proposed to be offered in evidence;

(3) The obtaining of admissions as to, or stipulations of, facts not remaining in dispute, or the authenticity of documents which might properly shorten the hearing;

(4) The limitation of the number of expert witnesses;

(5) Such other matters as may properly be dealt with to aid in expediting the orderly conduct and disposition of the proceeding.

(c) Initiation of conferences. The Commission with or without motion may direct that a prehearing conference be held. Upon motion by a party or staff counsel timely filed, a presiding officer designated to preside at the hearing or such other officer as may be designated may direct the attorneys for the parties to such proceedings and staff counsel to appear for a prehearing conference to consider the matters outlined in paragraph (b) of this section. Due notice of the time and place of such conference will be given to all parties to the proceeding and staff counsel.

(d) Conference results stipulated. Upon conclusion of a prehearing conference, attorneys for the parties and staff counsel shall immediately reduce the results thereof to the form of a written stipulation which recites the matters agreed upon, and 10 copies thereof shall forthwith be filed with the Commission by the presiding officer of such conference. Such stipulations may be received in evidence at a hearing and, when so received, shall be binding on the parties and staff counsel with respect to the matters therein stipulated.

(e) Offers of settlement. Nothing contained in this Rule shall be construed as precluding any party to a proceeding from submitting at any time offers of settlement or proposals of adjustment to all other parties and to the Commission (or to staff counsel for transmittal to the Commission), or from requesting conferences for such purpose. Offers of settlement and the contents thereof shall be without prejudice to anyone if not accepted and acted upon.

13. Section 1.20 Hearings (Rule 20, pp. 141–144), amend paragraphs (b) and (k) of the section to read as follows:

(b) Consolidation. The Commission, upon its own motion, or upon motion by a party or staff counsel, may order proceedings involving a common question of law or fact to be consolidated for hearing of any or all the matters in issue in such proceedings.

(k) Transcript and record. Hearings shall be stenographically reported by the official reporter of the Commission, and a transcript of said report shall be a part of the record and the sole official transcript of the proceeding. Such transcripts shall include a verbatim report of the hearings; nothing shall be omitted therefrom except as is directed on the record by the Commission or the presiding officer. After the closing of the record, there shall not be received in evidence or considered as part of the record any document, letter, or other writing submitted after the close of testimony except as provided in paragraph (j) of this section, or changes in the transcript as provided in paragraph (l) of this section.

14. Section 1.23 Subpenas (Rule 23, p. 149), amend paragraph (a) of the section to read as follows:

§ 1.23 Subpenas—(a) Issuance. Subpenas for the attendance of witnesses or for the production of documentary evidence, unless directed by the Commission upon its own motion, will issue only upon application in writing to the Commission or the presiding officer, except that during sessions of a hearing in a proceeding, such application may be made orally on the record before the Commission or presiding officer, who is hereby given authority to determine the relevancy and materiality of the evidence sought and to issue such subpenas in accordance with such determination. Such written applications shall be verified and shall specify as nearly as may be the general relevance, materiality, and scope of the testimony or documentary evidence sought, including, as to documentary evidence, specification as nearly as may be, of the documents desired and the facts to be proved by them in sufficient detail to indicate the materiality and relevance of such documents.

15. Section 1.24 Depositions (Rule 24, pp. 151–153), amend paragraphs (a), (e) and (h) to read as follows:

§ 1.24 Depositions—(a) When permissible. The testimony of any witness may be taken by deposition, upon application by a participant in a proceeding pending before the Commission, at any time before the hearing is closed, upon approval by the Commission or the presiding officer.

* * * * *

(e) Oath and reduction to writing. Every person whose testimony is taken by deposition shall be sworn, or shall affirm concerning the matter about which he shall testify, before any questions are put or testimony given. The testimony shall be reduced to writing by the Officer, or under his direction, after which the deposition shall be subscribed by the witness and certified in the usual form by the Officer. Unless otherwise directed in the authorization, after the deposition has been so subscribed and certified, it shall, together with the number of copies specified in the authorization, the copies being made by such Officer or under his direction, be forwarded by such Officer in a sealed envelope addressed to the Commission at its office in Washington 25, D. C., with sufficient stamps for postage affixed. Upon receipt thereof, the Secretary shall file the original in the proceeding and shall forward a copy to each party or his attorney of record and to staff counsel.

* * * * *

(h) Not part of record unless received in evidence. No part of a deposition shall constitute a part of the record in the proceeding, unless received in evidence by the Commission or presiding officer. Objection may be made at the hearing in the proceeding to receiving in evidence any deposition or part thereof for any reason which would require the exclusion of the evidence if the witnesses were then present and testifying.

16. Section 1.25 Stipulations (Rule 25, p. 155), amend paragraph (b) of the section to read as follows:

(b) Form, style, and service. Stipulations shall conform to the applicable requirements of § 1.15 to 1.17, inclusive, except stipulations made orally on the record during the hearings.

17. Section 1.26 Evidence (Rule 26, pp. 157–158), amend paragraph (a), and paragraphs (c) (3), (4) and (5), to read as follows:

§ 1.26 Evidence—(a) Form and admissibility. In any proceeding before the Commission or a presiding officer relevant and material evidence shall be admissible, but there shall be excluded such evidence as is unduly repetitious or cumulative, or such evidence as is not of the kind which would affect reasonable and fair-minded men in the conduct of their daily affairs.

(c) Documentary. * * *

(3) Records in other proceedings. When any portion of the record in any other proceeding before the Commission is offered in evidence and shown to be relevant and material to the instant proceeding, a true copy thereof shall be presented in the form of an exhibit, together with additional copies as provided in subparagraph (5) of this paragraph, unless:

(i) The participant offering the same agrees to supply, within a period of time specified by the Commission or the presiding officer, such copies at his own expense, if and when so required; and

(ii) The portion is specified with particularity in such manner as to be readily identified, and upon motion is admitted in evidence by reference to the records of the other proceeding.

(4) Form and size. Wherever practicable, all exhibits of a documentary character received in evidence shall be on paper of good quality and so prepared as to be plainly legible and durable, whether printed, photostated or typewritten, and shall conform to the requirements of § 1.15 whenever practicable.

(5) Copies to parties and Commission. Except as otherwise provided in the regulations in this part when exhibits of a documentary character are offered in evidence, copies shall be furnished to the presiding officer and to the parties or counsel, including staff counsel, unless the Commission or the presiding officer otherwise directs. In addition, unless otherwise directed by the Commission or the presiding officer, 4 copies of each exhibit of documentary character shall be furnished for the use of the Commission.

18. Section 1.27 Presiding officers. (Rule 27, pp. 161–162), amend paragraphs (a) and (b) of the section to read as follows:

§ 1.27 Presiding officers—(a) Designation. When evidence is to be taken in a proceeding, either the Commission or, when duly designated for that purpose, one or more of its members, presiding examiners, or other representative appointed according to law, may preside at the hearing.

(b) Authority delegated. Presiding officers duly designated by the Commission to preside at hearings shall have the authority, within the Commission's powers and subject to its published rules, as follows:

(1) To regulate the course of hearings;

(2) To administer oaths and affirmations;

(3) To issue subpenas;

(4) To rule upon offers of proof and receive evidence;

(5) To take or cause depositions to be taken;

(6) To hold appropriate conferences before or during hearings;

(7) To dispose of procedural matters but not, before their initial or recommended decisions, to dispose of motions made during hearings to dismiss proceedings or other motions which involve final determination of proceedings;

(8) Within their discretion, or upon direction of the Commission, to certify any question to the Commission for its consideration and disposition;

(9) To submit their initial or recommended decisions in accordance with § 1.30;

(10) To take any other action necessary or appropriate to the discharge of the duties vested in them, consistent with the statutory or other authorities under which the Commission functions and with the rules, regulations, and policies of the Commission.

19. Section 1.28 Appeals to Commission from rulings of presiding officers during hearings (Rule 28, pp. 163–164), strike the last two words of the headnote and amend the section to read as follows:

§ 1.28 Appeals to Commission from rulings of presiding officers during hearings—(a) During hearing. Rulings of presiding officers may not be appealed from during the course of hearings except in extraordinary circumstances where prompt decision by the Commission is necessary to prevent detriment to the public interest should the presiding officer's ruling later be reversed by the Commission. In such instance the matter shall be referred forthwith by the presiding officer to the Commission for determination.

(b) Offers of proof. Any offer of proof made in connection with an objection taken to any ruling of the presiding officer rejecting or excluding proffered oral testimony shall consist of a statement of the substance of the evidence which counsel contends would be adduced by such testimony; and if the excluded evidence consists of evidence in documentary or written form or of reference to documents or records, a copy of such evidence shall be marked for identification and shall constitute the offer of proof.

20. Section 1.29 Briefs and oral arguments before presiding officers and proposed findings and orders (Rule 29, pp. 165–166), amend paragraph (e) of the section to read as follows:

(e) Briefs, filing and service. Briefs not filed and served on or before the dates fixed therefor shall not be accepted for filing, except by special permission of the Commission or the presiding officer. All briefs shall be accompanied by a certificate showing service upon all parties or their attorneys who appeared at the hearing or on brief, and except where filing of a different number is permitted or directed by the Commission or presiding officer, 20 copies of each brief shall be furnished for the use of the Commission. Requests for the extension of time in which to file briefs shall conform to the requirements of § 1.13, and shall be filed at least five days before the time fixed for filing such briefs.

21. Section 1.31 Exceptions to intermediate decisions and briefs and oral arguments before Commission (Rule 31, pp. 171–172), amend paragraphs (a) and (c), paragraph (d) (2), and paragraphs (e) and (f), to read as follows:

(a) Exceptions, filing of. Any party or staff counsel desiring to appeal to the Commission may, within 20 days after the service of a copy of an intermediate decision (initial or recommended by subordinates, or tentative by Commission), or such other time as may be fixed by the Commission, file exceptions thereto.

* * * * *

(c) Failure to except results in waiver. Failure to file exceptions within the time allowed under this rule shall constitute a waiver of all objections to the intermediate decision served. No matter not included in the exceptions filed as provided in this section may thereafter be objected to before the Commission upon brief or oral argument, or in an application for Commission rehearing; and any matter not included in such exceptions shall be deemed waived. Exceptions covering rulings admitting or excluding evidence not objected to at the time the rulings were made, will be unavailing.

(d) Briefs and oral argument before Commission. * * *

(2) Hearing before presiding officer. In proceedings in which the Commission has not presided at the reception of the evidence, any party or staff counsel may file a motion requesting opportunity to present oral argument or to file briefs concerning matters before the Commission for decision, except that where exceptions have been filed, they shall constitute the brief before the Commission. Such motions may be filed at any time during a proceeding, but not later than the time permitted for the filing of exceptions to the intermediate decision: Provided, however, That opportunity to file briefs or to make oral argument may be requested in motions for waiver of intermediate decisions, as provided in § 1.30.

(e) Briefs and arguments, contents and scope. When the Commission has presided at the reception of the evidence, or when the parties have waived the intermediate decision procedure, briefs and arguments before the Commission may include and present for consideration the matters as provided in § 1.29 relating to briefs and oral arguments before presiding officers, and in all other respects, as applicable, such arguments and briefs shall conform to the requirements of § 1.29. In all other proceedings, briefs, and oral arguments before the Commission may include those matters that may properly be included and presented in exceptions to intermediate decisions, subject to the same conditions contained in paragraph (c) of this section.

(f) Exceptions and briefs, form and service. Exceptions and briefs shall conform to the requirements as applicable of §§ 1.15 and 1.17 as to copies, form, and service, 15 copies thereof being filed with the Commission, in addition to the copies served on the parties to the proceeding.

22. Section 1.32 shortened procedures (Rule 32, p. 175), amend paragraph (b) of the section to read as follows:

(b) Noncontested proceedings. In any proceeding required by statute to be set for hearing, the Commission when it appears to be in the public interest and to the interest of the parties to grant the relief or authority requested in the initial pleading, and to omit the intermediate decision procedure, may after a hearing during which no opposition or contest develops, forthwith dispose of the proceeding upon consideration of the pleadings and other evidence filed and incorporated in the record: Provided, (1) The applicant or initial pleader requests that the intermediate decision procedure be omitted and waives oral hearing and opportunity for filing exceptions to the decision of the Commission; and (2) no issue of substance is raised by any request to be heard, protest or petition filed subsequent to publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER of the notice of the filing of an initial pleading and notice or order fixing date of hearing, which notice or order shall state that the Commission considers the proceeding a proper one for disposition under the provisions of this section, and shall otherwise conform with the requirements of § 1.19. Requests for the procedure provided by this section may be contained in the initial pleading or subsequent request in writing to the Commission. The decision of the Commission in such proceeding after noncontested hearing, will be final, subject to reconsideration by the Commission upon application for rehearing as provided by statute.

5. The amendments are proposed to be issued under the authority granted the Federal Power Commission by the Federal Power Act, particularly sections 209 and 309 thereof, and the Natural Gas Act, as amended, particularly sections 16 and 17 thereof (49 Stat. 853, 858; 16 U. S. C. 824h, 825h; 52 Stat. 830, 15 U. S. C. 717o, 717p).

6. Any interested persons may submit to the Federal Power Commission not later than May 20, 1947, data, views and comments in writing concerning the proposed amendments. The Commission will consider these written submittals before acting upon the proposed amendments.

NEW ENGLAND POWER ASSOCIATION ET AL.

NOTICE OF FILING AND NOTICE OF AND ORDER FOR HEARING

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission, held at its office in the City of Philadelphia, Pa., on the 24th day of April A. D. 1947.

In the matter of New England Power Association, Massachusetts Power and Light Associates, North Boston Lighting Properties, The Rhode Island Public Service Company, Massachusetts Utilities Associates Common Voting Trust, and Massachusetts Utilities Associates, File Nos. 54-92, 59-14 and 54-19.

Notice is hereby given that New England Power Association (the name of which is to be changed to New England Electric System and which is sometimes hereinafter referred to as NEES), a registered holding company, has filed a declaration regarding the issue and sale of $85,000,000 principal amount of funded debt. The declaration states that the proposed financing is pursuant to the amended plan of simplification of the New England Power Association holding company system as approved by the Commission's order of March 14, 1946 and pursuant to the order of the District Court of the United States for the District of Massachusetts, entered June 18, 1946, in Civil Action No. 5087, approving the said plan and ordering its consummation (affirmed by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals for the First Circuit on April 11, 1947). All interested persons are referred to said declaration and to said plan and to the proceedings heretofore had in connection with said plan, all of which documents are on file in the offices of this Commission, for a full statement of the transactions proposed to be taken, which may be summarized as follows:

Prior to the issuance of the new funded debt, it is stated that the declaration of trust of New England Power Association will have been amended, the name of the company will have been changed to New England Electric System, and NEES will have acquired the assets and assumed the liabilities (other than funded debt to be simultaneously discharged) of the other applicants named in the above-mentioned order of the Commission, all on the terms and conditions set forth in the plan and the above-mentioned order of the District Court. The new funded debt will be the only funded debt of NEES then to be outstanding.

The new funded debt of NEES will consist of $10,000,000 principal amount of loans from financial institutions, to be represented by 10-year serial promissory notes maturing at the rate of $1,000,000 per annum, $25,000,000 the principal amount of ____% Debentures due 1967 and $50,000,000 principal amount of ____% Debentures due 1977. The promissory notes are to be sold privately, and the names of the lending financial institutions and the interest rate on the notes will be supplied by amendment. The debentures will be sold at competitive bidding pursuant to the terms of Rule U-50 and the interest rates thereon, and the prices to be paid to NEES will be determined by such competitive bidding. The name of the trustee under the indenture securing the debentures will be supplied by amendment.

The declaration states that no fees, commissions or other remuneration will be paid in connection with the proposed loans from financial institutions, except attorney's fees and the compensation of Merrill, Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Bean, who are acting as general financial advisers in connection with the entire refunding program. Estimated expenses in connection with the issuance of the debentures will be supplied by amendment.

The declaration designates sections 6 (a), 7 and 11 of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 as applicable to the issuance of both the promissory notes and the debentures, and states that no State commission has jurisdiction over the proposed transactions.

It appearing to the Commission that it is appropriate in the public interest and in the interest of investors and consumers that a hearing be held with respect to the matters set forth in said declaration and that said declaration shall not become effective except pursuant to further order of this Commission:

It is ordered, Pursuant to sections 6 (a), 7, 11 and 18 of said act that a hearing on said declaration be held on May 13, 1947 at 10 a. m., e. d. s. t. at the offices of the Securities and Exchange Commission, 18th and Locust Streets, Philadelphia 3, Pennsylvania, and that for such purpose the hearings herein be reconvened. On such date the hearing room clerk in Room 318 will advise as to the room in which such hearing will be held.

It is further ordered, That William W. Swift or any other officer or officers of the Commission designated by it for that purpose shall preside at such reconvened hearing. The officer so designated to preside at such hearing is hereby authorized to exercise all powers granted to the Commission under section 18 (c) of said act and to a hearing officer under the Commission's rules of practice.

The Public Utilities Division of the Commission having advised the Commission that it has made a preliminary examination of the declaration and that, upon the basis thereof, the following matters and questions are presented for consideration by the Commission, without prejudice to its specifying additional matters and questions upon further examination:

1. Whether the issue and sale of said notes and debentures are in conformity with said plan, the Commission's findings, opinion, and order of March 14, 1946, and the District Court's order of June 18, 1946.

2. Whether the fees, commissions or other remuneration, to whomsoever paid, directly or indirectly, in connection with the issue, sale and distribution of said securities are reasonable.

3. Whether the terms and conditions of the issue or sale of said securities are detrimental to the public interest or the interest of investors or consumers.

4. Whether the terms of the indenture securing said debentures are adequate for the protection of investors.

5. Whether the proposed accounting treatment of the proposed transactions is proper and in conformity with sound accounting principles.

6. What terms and conditions, if any, with respect to the proposed transactions should be prescribed in the public interest or for the protection of investors and consumers or to insure compliance with the requirements of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935, or any rules or regulations promulgated thereunder.

It is further ordered, That particular attention be directed at said hearing to the foregoing matters and questions.

It is further ordered, That any person desiring to be heard in connection with this proceeding, or proposing to intervene herein and who has not already entered his appearance herein, shall file with the Secretary of the Commission on or before May 12, 1947, his request or application therefor as provided by Rule XVII of the rules of practice of the Commission.

AMENDMENT OF REGULATION RELATING TO MIGRATORY BIRDS AND GAME MAMMALS

By virtue of and pursuant to the authority contained in section 3 of the Migratory Bird Treaty Act of July 3, 1918 (40 Stat. 755, 16 U. S. C. 704), and Reorganization Plan No. II (53 Stat. 1431), I, Oscar L. (2) It is hereby further found that compliance with the notice, public rule making procedure, and effective date requirements of the Administrative Procedure Act (Pub. Law 404, 79th Cong., 2d Sess.; 60 Stat. 237) is impracticable and contrary to the public interest in that the time intervening between the date when information upon which this section is based became available and the time when this section must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended, is insufficient for such compliance.

(b) Order. (1) The quantity of lemons grown in the State of California or in the State of Arizona which may be handled during the period beginning at 12:01 a. m., p. s. t., May 4, 1947, and ending at 12:01 a. m., p. s. t., May 11, 1947, is hereby fixed at 415 carloads, or an equivalent quantity.

(2) The prorate base of each handler who has made application therefor, as provided in the said marketing agreement and order, is hereby fixed in accordance with the prorate base schedule which is attached to Lemon Regulation 219 (12 F. R. 2741) and made a part hereof by this reference. The Lemon Administrative Committee, in accordance with the provisions of the said marketing agreement and order, shall calculate the quantity of lemons which may be handled by each such handler during the period specified in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph.

(3) As used in this section, "handled," "handler," "carloads," and "prorate base" shall have the same meaning as is given to each such term in the said marketing agreement and order.

(2) It is hereby further found that compliance with the notice, public rule making procedure, and effective date requirements of the Administrative Procedure Act (Pub. Law 404, 79th Cong., 2d Sess.; 60 Stat. 237) is impracticable and contrary to the public interest in that the time intervening between the date when information upon which this section is based became available and the time when this section must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended, is insufficient for such compliance.

TITLE 9—ANIMALS AND ANIMAL PRODUCTS

PART 132—GENERAL REGULATIONS

MISCELLANEOUS AMENDMENTS

By virtue of the authority vested in the Secretary of Agriculture by Public Law 320, 74th Congress, approved August 24, 1935 (7 U. S. C. 851 et seq.), and the Administrative Procedure Act (60 Stat. 237), the rules of practice and procedure (9 CFR, Cum. Supp., 132.1 et seq.), issued under said Public Law 320, are hereby amended as follows:

1. Delete paragraph (d) from § 132.2 Definitions and insert in lieu thereof the following:

(d) The term "examiner" means any examiner in the Office of Hearing Examiners, United States Department of Agriculture.

2. Delete from § 132.2 (k) the words "Office of the Solicitor."

3. Amend § 132.2 (l) to read as follows:

(l) The term "presiding officer" means the examiner conducting a proceeding under the act.

4. Amend the last sentence of the first paragraph of § 132.3 Proposals to read as follows: "If the investigation and consideration lead the Chief to conclude that the proposed marketing agreement or marketing order will not tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act, or that for other proper reasons a hearing should not be held on the proposal, he shall deny the application, and promptly notify the applicant of such denial, which notice shall be accompanied by a brief statement of the grounds for the denial."

5. Amend the second sentence of § 132.4 (a) to read as follows: "The notice of hearing shall contain a reference to the authority under which the marketing agreement or marketing order is proposed; shall define the scope of the hearing as specifically as may be practicable; shall contain either the terms or substance of the proposed marketing agreement or marketing order or a description of the subjects and issues involved; and shall state the industry, area, and class or classes of persons to be regulated, the time and place of such hearing, and the place where copies of such proposed marketing agreement or marketing order may be obtained or examined."

6. Amend § 132.6 (a) to read as follows:

§ 132.6 Presiding officers—(a) Assignment. No presiding officer who has any pecuniary interest in the outcome of a proceeding shall serve as presiding officer in such proceeding.

7. Delete from § 132.6 (b) the words "assigned to him by the Solicitor."

8. Amend § 132.6 (c) to read as follows:

(c) Who may act in absence of presiding officer. In case of the absence of the presiding officer or his inability to act, the powers and duties to be performed by him under this part in connection with a proceeding may, without abatement of the proceeding unless otherwise ordered by the Secretary, be assigned to any other presiding officer.

9. Add a new paragraph at the end of § 132.6 to read as follows:

(d) Disqualification of presiding officer. The presiding officer may at any time withdraw as presiding officer in a proceeding if he deems himself to be disqualified. Upon the filing by an interested person in good faith of a timely and sufficient affidavit of personal bias or disqualification of a presiding officer, the Secretary shall determine the matter as a part of the record and decision in the proceeding, after making such investigation or holding such hearings, or both, as he may deem appropriate in the circumstances.

10. Amend § 132.7 to read as follows:

§ 132.7 Motions and requests—(a) General. All motions and requests shall be filed with the hearing clerk, except that those made during the course of the hearing may be filed with the presiding officer or may be stated orally and made a part of the transcript.

Except as provided in § 132.15 (b) such motions and requests shall be addressed to, and ruled on by, the presiding officer if made prior to his certification of the transcript pursuant to § 132.10 or by the Secretary if made thereafter.

(b) Certification to Secretary. The presiding officer may in his discretion submit or certify to the Secretary for decision any motion, request, objection, or other question addressed to the presiding officer.

11. Amend the third sentence of § 132.8 (d) (1) to read as follows:

§ 132.8 Conduct of the hearing—(d) Evidence—(1) In general • • • Cross-examination shall be permitted to the extent required for a full and true disclosure of the facts.

12. Delete § 132.8 (d) (3) and renumber § 132.8 (d) (4), (5), (6) and (7) as § 132.8 (d) (3), (4), (5) and (6), respectively.

13. Delete from § 132.8 (d) (4) (heretofore § 132.8 (d) (5)) the parenthetical words "(including affidavits)."

14. Amend § 132.8 (d) (5) (heretofore § 132.8 (d) (6)) to read as follows:

(5) Official notice. Official notice may be taken of such matters as are judicially noticed by the courts of the United States and of any other matter of technical, scientific or commercial fact of established character: Provided, That interested persons shall be given adequate notice, at the hearing or subsequent thereto, of matters so noticed and shall be given adequate opportunity to show that such facts are inaccurate or are erroneously noticed.

15. Amend § 132.9 (b) to read as follows:

§ 132.9 Oral and written arguments. • • •

(b) Briefs, proposed findings and conclusions. The presiding officer shall announce at the hearing a reasonable period of time within which interested persons may file with the hearing clerk proposed findings and conclusions, and written arguments or briefs, based upon the evidence received at the hearing, citing, where practicable, the page or pages of the transcript of the testimony where such evidence appears. Factual material other than that adduced at the hearing or subject to official notice shall not be alluded to therein, and, in any case, shall not be considered in the formulation of the marketing agreement or marketing order. If the person filing a brief desires the Secretary to consider any objection made by any such person to a ruling of the presiding officer, as hereinbefore provided in § 132.8 (d), he shall include in the brief a concise statement concerning each such objection, referring, where practicable, to the pertinent pages of the transcript.

16. Amend the heading and first sentence of § 132.10 to read as follows:

§ 132.10 Certification of the transcript. The presiding officer shall notify the hearing clerk of the close of a hearing as soon as possible thereafter and of the time for filing written arguments, briefs, proposed findings and proposed conclusions, and shall furnish the hearing clerk with such other information as may be necessary.

17. Amend § 132.12 to read as follows:

§ 132.12 Chief's recommended decision—(a) Preparation. As soon as practicable following the termination of the period allowed for the filing of written arguments or briefs and proposed findings and conclusions, the Chief shall file with the hearing clerk a recommended decision.

(b) Contents. The Chief's recommended decision shall include: (1) A preliminary statement containing a description of the history of the proceedings, a brief explanation of the material issues of fact, law, or discretion presented on the record, and proposed findings and conclusions with respect to such issues as well as the reasons or basis therefor; (2) a ruling upon each proposed finding or conclusion submitted by interested persons; and (3) an appropriate proposed marketing agreement or marketing order effectuating his recommendations.

(c) Exceptions to recommended decision. Immediately following the filing of his recommended decision, the Chief shall give notice thereof, and opportunity to file exceptions thereto, to all interested persons in the same manner as provided in § 132.4 (relating to the giving of notice of the hearing). Within a period of time specified in such notice (to be fixed by the Chief, but not to exceed 20 days) after the filing of the recommended decision with the hearing clerk, any interested person may then file with the hearing clerk, exceptions to the Chief's proposed marketing agreement or marketing order, or both, as the case may be, and a brief in support of such exceptions. Such exceptions shall be in writing, shall refer, where practicable, to the related pages of the transcript and may suggest appropriate changes in the proposed marketing agreement or marketing order.

(d) Omission of recommended decision. The procedure provided in this section may be omitted only if the Secretary finds on the basis of the record that due and timely execution of his functions imperatively and unavoidably requires such omission.

18. Amend § 132.13 to read as follows:

§ 132.13 Submission to Secretary. Upon the expiration of the period allowed for filing exceptions or upon request of the Secretary, the hearing clerk shall transmit to the Secretary the record of the proceeding. Such record shall include: all motions and requests filed with the hearing clerk and rulings thereon; the certified transcript; any proposed findings or conclusions or written arguments or briefs that may have been filed; the Chief's recommended decision, if any, and such exceptions as may have been filed.

19. Add a new § 132.13a to read as follows:

§ 132.13a Decision by Secretary. (a) After due consideration of the record, the Secretary shall render a decision.

(b) Such decision shall become a part of the record and shall include (1) a statement of his findings and conclusions, as well as the reasons or basis therefor, upon all the material issues of fact, law, or discretion presented on the record, (2) a ruling upon each proposed finding and proposed conclusion not previously ruled upon in the record, (3) a ruling upon each exception filed by interested persons, and (4) either (i) a denial of the proposal to issue a marketing agreement or marketing order or (ii) a marketing agreement and, if the findings upon the record so warrant, a marketing order, the provisions of which shall be set forth directly or by reference, regulating the handling of anti-hog-cholera serum and hog-cholera virus in the same manner and to the same extent as such marketing agreement, which order shall be complete except for its effective date and any determinations to be made under § 132.14 (b): Provided, That such marketing order shall not be executed, issued, or made effective until and unless the Secretary determines that the requirements of § 132.14 (b) have been met.

20. Amend § 132.14 to read as follows:

§ 132.14 Execution of marketing agreement and issuance of marketing order—(a) Execution of marketing agreement. If the Secretary has approved a marketing agreement, as provided in § 132.13a, the Chief shall cause copies thereof to be distributed for execution by the handlers eligible to become parties thereto. If and when such number of the handlers as the Secretary shall deem to be sufficient shall have executed the marketing agreement, the Secretary shall execute the same, and notice of its effective date shall be mailed by the hearing clerk to each person signatory thereto. A marketing agreement shall be effective and binding upon any party thereto even though such party may not have received the notice provided for in this paragraph, or the hearing clerk may have failed to mail such notice.

(b) Issuance of marketing order with marketing agreement. Whenever, as provided in paragraph (a) of this section, the Secretary executes a marketing agreement, and handlers also have executed the same as provided in section 59 of the act, he shall, if he finds that it will tend to effectuate the purposes of the act, issue and make effective the marketing order, if any, which was filed as a part of his decision pursuant to § 132.13a.

(c) Effective date of marketing order. No marketing order shall become effective less than 30 days after its publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER, unless the Secretary, upon good cause found and published with the order, fixes an earlier effective date therefor: Provided, That no marketing order shall become effective as to any person sought to be charged thereunder before either (1) it has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register, or (2) such person has received actual notice of the issuance and terms of the marketing order.

(d) Notice of issuance. After the issuance of a marketing order, such order shall be filed with the hearing clerk, and notice thereof, together with notice of the effective date, shall be given in the same manner as hereinbefore provided in § 132.4 (relating to the giving of notice of hearing).

21. Amend § 132.15 (b) to read as follows:

§ 132.15 Filing; extension of time; effective date of filing; and computation of time. • • •

(b) Extensions of time. The time for the filing of any document or paper required or authorized by the foregoing provisions of this subpart to be filed may be extended by the presiding officer (before the record is certified by the presiding officer) or by the Chief (after the record is so certified by the presiding officer but before it is transmitted to the Secretary), or by the Secretary (after the record is transmitted to the Secretary) upon request filed, and if, in the judgment of the presiding officer, Chief, or the Secretary, as the case may be, there is good reason for the extension. All rulings made pursuant to this paragraph shall be filed with the hearing clerk.

22. Add a new § 132.18 to read as follows:

§ 132.18 Hearing before Secretary. The Secretary may act in the place and stead of a presiding officer in any proceeding hereunder. When he so acts the hearing clerk shall transmit the record to the Secretary at the expiration of the period provided for the filing of proposed findings of fact, conclusions and orders, and the Secretary shall thereupon, after due consideration of the record, issue his final decision in the proceeding: Provided, That he may issue a tentative decision in which event the parties shall be afforded an opportunity to file exceptions before the issuance of the final decision.

23. Delete § 132.51 (d) and insert the following in lieu thereof:

§ 132.51 Definitions. • • •

(d) The term "examiner" means any examiner in the Office of Hearing Examiners, United States Department of Agriculture.

24. Delete from § 132.51 (n) the words "Office of the Solicitor."

25. Amend § 132.51 (o) to read as follows:

(o) The term "presiding officer" means the examiner conducting a proceeding under the act.

26. Amend § 132.51 (p) to read as follows:

(p) The term "presiding officer's report" means the presiding officer's report to the Secretary and includes the presiding officer's proposed (1) findings of fact and conclusions with respect to all material issues of fact, law or discretion, as well as the reasons or basis therefor, (2) order and (3) rulings on findings, conclusions and orders submitted by the parties.

27. Add a new paragraph at the end of § 132.51 to read as follows:

(q) The term "petition" includes an amended petition.

28. Amend § 132.52 (c) to read as follows:

§ 132.52 Institution of proceeding. * * *

(c) Application to dismiss petition—(1) Filing, contents, and responses thereto. If the Chief is of the opinion that the petition, or any portion thereof, does not substantially comply, in form or content, with the act or with the requirements of paragraph (b) of this section, or is not filed in good faith, or is filed for purposes of delay, he may, within 30 days after the filing of the petition, file with the hearing clerk an application to dismiss the petition, or any portion thereof, on one or more of the grounds stated in this paragraph. Such application shall specify the grounds of objection to the petition and, if based, in whole or in part, on allegations of fact not appearing on the face of the petition, shall be accompanied by appropriate affidavits or documentary evidence substantiating such allegations of fact. The application may be accompanied by a memorandum of law. Upon receipt of such application, the hearing clerk shall cause a copy thereof to be served upon the petitioner, together with a notice stating that all papers to be submitted in opposition to such application, including any memorandum of law, must be filed by the petitioner with the hearing clerk not later than 20 days after the service of such notice upon the petitioner. Upon the expiration of the time specified in such notice, or upon receipt of such papers from the petitioner, the hearing clerk shall transmit all papers which have been filed in connection with the application to the Secretary for his consideration.

(2) Decision by Secretary. The Secretary, after due consideration, shall render a decision upon the application, stating the reasons for his action. Such decision shall be in the form of an order and shall be filed with the hearing clerk who shall cause a copy thereof to be served upon the petitioner and a copy thereof to be transmitted to the Chief. Any such order of the Secretary shall be a final order: Provided, That within 20 days following the service upon the petitioner of a copy of an order of the Secretary dismissing the petition, or any portion thereof, on the ground that it does not substantially comply in form and content with the act or with paragraph (b) of this section, the petitioner shall be permitted to file an amended petition.

(3) Referral to presiding officer. The Secretary may, in his discretion, refer any application made under this section to the presiding officer for preliminary consideration and report, and, in a proper case, for the taking of evidence: Provided, That the provisions of §§ 132.60 to 132.65, inclusive, shall be applicable to the reception of such evidence, if any; the form, content, and filing of such report; the allowance of exceptions thereto; and transmittal of the record to the Secretary.

(4) Oral argument. Unless a written application for oral argument is filed by a party with the hearing clerk not later than the time fixed for filing papers in opposition to the application, it shall be considered that the party does not desire oral argument. The granting of a request to make oral argument shall rest in the discretion of the Secretary or the presiding officer, as the case may be.

29. Add a new § 132.52a to read as follows:

§ 132.52a Answer to petition—(a) Time of filing. Within 30 days after the filing of the petition, the Chief shall file an answer thereto: Provided, That, if an application to dismiss the petition, in whole or in part, is made pursuant to § 132.52 (c), the answer shall be filed within 15 days after the filing of an order of the Secretary denying the application or granting the application with respect to only a portion of the petition. The answer shall be filed with the hearing clerk who shall cause a copy thereof to be served promptly upon the petitioner.

(b) Contents. The answer shall specify which of the material allegations of fact or of law in the petition are controverted and which are not controverted. The answer also may contain affirmative allegations of fact constituting separate defenses and statements of objections to the sufficiency of the whole or any part of the petition.

30. Add a new § 132.52b to read as follows:

§ 132.52b Amended pleadings. At any time before the close of the hearing the petition or answer may be amended, but the hearing shall, at the request of the adverse party, be adjourned or recessed for such reasonable time as the presiding officer may designate to be necessary to protect the interests of the parties. Amendments subsequent to the first amendment or subsequent to the filing of an answer may be made only with leave of the presiding officer or with the written consent of the adverse party.

31. Amend § 132.55 to read as follows:

§ 132.55 Presiding officers—(a) Assignment. No presiding officer who has any pecuniary interest in the outcome of the proceeding, or who has participated in the investigation preceding the institution of the proceeding, shall serve as presiding officer in such proceeding.

(b) Conduct. The presiding officer shall conduct the proceeding in a fair and impartial manner and shall not discuss ex parte the merits of the proceeding with any person who is or who has been connected in any manner with the proceeding in an advocative or investigative capacity.

(c) Powers of presiding officers. Subject to review by the Secretary, as provided elsewhere in this subpart, the presiding officer shall have power to:

(1) Rule upon motions and requests;
(2) Adjourn the hearing from time to time, and change the time and place of hearing;
(3) Administer oaths and affirmations and take affidavits;
(4) Issue subpenas, under the facsimile signature of the Secretary, requiring the attendance and testimony of witnesses and the production of books, records, contracts, papers, and other documentary evidence;
(5) Examine witnesses and receive evidence;
(6) Take or order, under the facsimile signature of the Secretary, the taking of depositions;
(7) Admit or exclude evidence;
(8) Hear oral argument on facts or law;
(9) Consolidate hearings upon two or more petitions pertaining to the same order;
(10) Do all acts and take all measures necessary for the maintenance of order at the hearing and the efficient conduct of the proceeding.

(d) Who may act in absence of presiding officer. In case of the absence of the presiding officer or his inability to act, the powers and duties to be performed by him under these rules of practice in connection with a proceeding may, without abatement of the proceeding unless otherwise ordered by the Secretary, be assigned to any other presiding officer.

(e) Disqualification of presiding officer. The presiding officer may at any time withdraw as presiding officer in a proceeding if he deems himself to be disqualified. Upon the filing by an interested person in good faith of a timely and sufficient affidavit of personal bias or disqualification of a presiding officer, the Secretary shall determine the matter as a part of the record and decision in the proceeding, after making such investigation or holding such hearings, or both, as he may deem appropriate in the circumstances.

32. Delete from § 132.56 Consolidated hearings the words "the Solicitor or."

33. Delete from paragraph (a) Time and place of § 132.60 Oral hearings before presiding officer the words "The Solicitor or the presiding officer" and insert in lieu thereof the words "The presiding officer."

34. Amend the first sentence of § 132.61 (a) to read as follows:

§ 132.61 Depositions—(a) Procedure in lieu of depositions. Before any party may have testimony taken by deposition, said party shall, if practicable, submit to the other party an affidavit which shall set forth the facts to which the witness would testify if the deposition should be taken. * * *

35. Delete from paragraph (b) Suggested findings of fact, conclusions and orders of § 132.64 The presiding officer's report and § 132.65 Transmittal of record the word "suggested" wherever it appears and insert, in lieu thereof, the word "proposed."

36. Amend § 132.64 (c) to read as follows:

(c) Presiding officer's report. The presiding officer, within a reasonable time after the termination of the period allowed for the filing of proposed findings of fact, conclusions, and orders, and briefs in support thereof, shall prepare, upon the basis of the record, and shall file with the hearing clerk, his report, a copy of which (together with notification of the date fixed by the presiding officer for the filing of exceptions thereto) shall be served by the hearing clerk upon each of the parties.

37. Amend paragraph (b) Service; proof of service of § 132.69 Filing; service; extensions of time; effective date of filing; and computation of time by deleting the proviso therein and by deleting from the final sentence the words "or post office receipt."

38. Amend § 132.69 (c) to read as follows:

(c) Extensions of time. The time for the filing of any documents or papers required or authorized in this subpart to be filed may be extended upon (1) a written stipulation between the parties, or (2) upon the request of a party, by the presiding officer before the transmittal of the record to the Secretary, or by the Secretary at any other time, if, in the judgment of the Secretary or the presiding officer, as the case may be, there is good reason for the extension.

39. Add a new § 132.70 to read as follows:

§ 132.70 Applications for interim relief—(a) Filing the application. A person who has filed a petition pursuant to § 132.52 may, by separate application filed with the hearing clerk, apply to the Secretary for an order postponing the effective date of, or suspending the application of, the marketing order or any provision thereof, or any obligation imposed in connection therewith, pending final determination of the proceeding.

(b) Contents of the application. The application shall contain a statement of the facts upon which the relief is requested, including any facts showing irreparable injury. The application must be signed and sworn to by the petitioner and any facts alleged therein which are not within his personal knowledge shall be supported by affidavits of a person or persons having personal knowledge of such facts or by proper documentary evidence thereof.

(c) Answer to application. Immediately upon receipt of the application, the hearing clerk shall transmit a copy thereof, together with all supporting papers, to the Chief, who shall, within 20 days, or such other time fixed by the Secretary, after the filing of the application, file an answer thereto with the hearing clerk.

(d) Contents of answer. The answer shall contain a statement of the objections, if any, of the Chief to the application for interim relief, and may be supported by affidavits and documentary evidence.

(e) Transmittal to Secretary. Upon receiving the answer of the Chief, or upon the expiration of the time for filing the answer, the hearing clerk shall transmit to the Secretary for his decision all papers filed in connection with the application.

(f) Hearing and oral argument. The Secretary may, in his discretion, permit oral argument or the taking of testimony in connection with such application. However, unless written request therefor is filed with the hearing clerk prior to the transmittal of the papers to the Secretary, the parties shall be deemed to have waived oral argument and the taking of testimony.

(g) Decision by Secretary. The Secretary may grant or deny the application. Any action taken by the Secretary shall be in the form of an order filed with the hearing clerk and shall contain a brief statement of the reasons for the action taken. The hearing clerk shall cause copies of the order to be served upon the parties.

40. Add a new § 132.71 to read as follows:

§ 132.71 Hearing before Secretary. The Secretary may act in the place and stead of a presiding officer in any proceeding hereunder. When he so acts the hearing clerk shall transmit the record to the Secretary at the expiration of the period provided for the filing of proposed findings of fact, conclusions and orders, and the Secretary shall thereupon, after due consideration of the record, issue his final order in the proceeding: Provided, That he may issue a tentative order in which event the parties shall be afforded an opportunity to file exceptions before the issuance of the final order.

NOTE: Unless otherwise ordered all proceedings initiated under Public Law 320 (7 U. S. C. 851 et seq.) and pending on December 11, 1946, shall be conducted and concluded in accordance with the applicable rules of practice in effect at the time the proceedings were instituted.

[Conservation Order M-84, Direction 2]

SUSPENSION OF PROCESSING QUOTAS AND INVENTORY RESTRICTIONS FOR MANILA (ABACA) FIBER

The following direction is issued pursuant to Conservation Order M-84:

(a) Purpose. This direction suspends the processing quotas for spinnable Manila (abaca) fiber issued under paragraph (c) of Order M-84 which have limited the quantity of that fiber which may be put into process by processors in making the products permitted under paragraph (b) (1) of the order. It also suspends the limitations in paragraph (d) (1) of Order M-84 upon processors' inventories of spinnable Manila (abaca) fiber and yarn made from such fiber, and the limitations in paragraph (d) (2) of Order M-84 as to importers' and dealers' inventories of the fiber. PART 4600—RUBBER, SYNTHETIC RUBBER AND PRODUCTS THEREOF

[Rubber Order R-1, as Amended May 2, 1947]

Findings Under Sec. 4 (a) of Public Law 404, Seventy-ninth Congress. In connection with the issuance of the following amendments, the Civilian Production Administration, pursuant to section 4 (a) of the Administrative Procedure Act (Pub. Law 404, 79th Cong., 60 Stat. 237), finds that compliance with the notice, public rule-making procedure and effective date requirements of the said act is impractical and contrary to the public interest, in that the time intervening between the approval of Public Law 24, 80th Congress, on which the following amendments are based, and the date when the said amendments must become effective in order to effectuate the policy of said Public Law 24, is insufficient for such compliance; and any delay in the effective date of the following amendments will jeopardize the orderly allocation of natural and synthetic rubber and the production of synthetic rubber, contrary to the public interest. Therefore, the Civilian Production Administration, pursuant to Public Law 24, 80th Congress, hereby takes the following action:

Rubber Order R-1, as amended December 31, 1946 is hereby amended to read as follows:

The fulfillment of requirements for the defense of the United States has created a shortage in the supply of natural rubber and other materials entering into the production of rubber products for defense, for private account and for export, and the following order is deemed necessary and appropriate in the public interest and to promote the national defense.

Purpose of this order. Rubber Order R-1 embraces the Civilian Production Administration regulations covering acceptance of delivery of certain raw materials, restrictions on consumption, purchase procedure, delivery, inventories, and importation.

Appendix I, which is printed at the foot of this order, lists the end products in the manufacture of which natural rubber and natural rubber latex may be used and provides special restrictions for the use of these raw materials in the manufacture of specified products.

Appendix II, which is printed separately, establishes manufacturing regulations for certain end products, principally tires and tubes, set out in lists applicable to the particular product.

§ 4600.01 Definitions of certain terms. As used in this order:

(a) "Natural rubber" means all forms and types of tree, vine, or shrub rubber, including guayule but excluding natural rubber latex. Not included in the definitions are reclaimed rubber, scrap rubber, balata, chilte, gutta percha, gutta siak, gutta jelutong or pontianac.

(b) "Natural rubber latex" means the dry latex solids contained in natural rubber liquid latex.

(c) "Reclaimed rubber" means any vulcanized material derived from the processing or treatment of scrap rubber but excluding reclaimed residue or "mud". Reclaimed residue or "mud" means dried or recovered sludge consisting of a mixture of partially hydrolyzed cellulose, finely divided rubber and other waste products of the digester process of reclaiming rubber.

(d) "Scrap rubber" means any finished or semi-finished product or part thereof made in part or in whole from natural rubber or natural rubber latex which through wear, deterioration or obsolecence, cannot be used in the processing of any product for which the use of natural rubber or natural rubber latex is permitted in Appendix I hereof. Not included in the definition of scrap rubber is any vulcanized, unvulcanized, compounded or coagulated material with a specific gravity of 1.15 or less which results from or is incident to the handling or the processing of natural rubber or natural rubber latex in the manufacture or the repair of any product and which may be used for a purpose for which originally designed, or which may be used for any product for which the use of natural rubber or natural rubber latex is permitted in Appendix I hereof. Also not included in the definition is any finished or semi-finished product or material containing natural rubber or natural rubber latex which may be used for a purpose for which originally designed, or which may be used for any product for which the use of natural rubber or natural rubber latex is permitted in Appendix I hereof.

(e) "Synthetic rubber" means Neoprene (all types including latex), Butyl (GR-I), all grades; all Butadiene polymer and copolymer types including latex, including but not limited to GR-S types, such as Hycar OS and Styraloy; and all Butadiene-Acrylonitirle types, such as Hycar, Perbunan, Chemigum, Butaprene, Thiokol RD and GR-A.

(f) "Butyl" means all types of Butyl (GR-I) except butyl plant clean-up material.

(g) "Chlorinated natural rubber" means the reaction product of chlorine and natural rubber.

(h) "Consume" means in the case of natural rubber, natural rubber latex, synthetic rubber or reclaimed rubber, to compound, expand, formulate or in any manner make any substantial change in the form, shape or chemical composition, except where any of these materials is used in the preparation of masterbatches or compounds prepared for use in the manufacture of products permitted in Appendices I or II hereof.

(i) "Person" means any individual, partnership, association, business trust, corporation, governmental corporation or agency, or any organized group of persons, whether incorporated or not.

§ 4600.02 Authorization by CPA required to accept delivery of certain raw materials from the Office of Rubber Reserve, RFC. (a) No person shall accept delivery from the Office of Rubber Reserve, RFC, of any of the following raw materials:

Natural rubber (excluding natural rubber latex)
Butyl

until he has received an authorization to do so from the Civilian Production Administration on Form CPA-4488. Applications for an authorization to accept delivery from the Office of Rubber Reserve, RFC, of any or all of these materials shall be made on Form CPA-4488, pursuant to instructions accompanying that form, not later than the first day of the month next preceding the calendar quarter for which the authorization is required. The authorizations to accept delivery from the Office of Rubber Reserve, RFC, on Form CPA-4488 will be mailed by the Civilian Production Administration only to applicants who have applied on Form CPA-4488. This authorization form will be mailed on or before the 20th day of the month next preceding the calendar quarter for which the delivery is authorized.

(b) Pale crepe. Only manufacturers of the products specified in Appendix I in the manufacture of which the use of pale crepe is specifically permitted, will be authorized by the Civilian Production Administration to accept delivery of that material from the Office of Rubber Reserve, RFC.

(c) Basis for authorization to accept delivery of natural rubber (excluding natural rubber latex), Butyl and GR-S from the Office of Rubber Reserve, RFC. In determining the amounts of natural rubber (excluding natural rubber latex), Butyl and GR-S to be authorized for acceptance of delivery from the Office of Rubber Reserve, RFC, by an applicant in any calendar quarter, the Civilian Production Administration will take into consideration the consumption and inventories of those materials reported monthly on Form CPA-3410 and quarterly on Form CPA-4488, information furnished by the applicant as to past production and estimated future production of rubber products, as well as the proportional requirements for such materials in the production of rubber products, required by Appendices I and II hereof. It is the policy of CPA to distribute equitably the supply of Butyl and GR-S, among all consumers so that the quantities authorized for delivery will be sufficient for industry to maintain its production schedules, within the limitations of the available natural rubber determined to be available to industry remaining in the stocks of the Office of Rubber Reserve, RFC. Consistent with technical requirements and available supplies, the CPA will determine the end products in the manufacture of which any grade of natural rubber may be used.

§ 4600.03 Restrictions on consumption of natural rubber (excluding natural rubber latex). No person shall consume natural rubber except in the manufacture of permitted end products listed in Appendix I hereof, and in accordance with the applicable special restrictions or provisions in Appendix I and the manufacturing regulations in Appendix II. Restrictions on the consumption of natural rubber latex appear in § 4600.03a below.

(1) Consumption for experimental use of natural rubber (excluding natural latex). Not to exceed 75 pounds of natural rubber may be used in any calendar quarter for consumption in experimental purposes. This material may be consumed from inventory or, if the consumer has no inventory, may be purchased directly from the Office of Rubber Reserve, RFC, 811 Vermont Ave., NW., Washington, D. C. or from any rubber dealer or importer.

§ 4600.03a Authorization by CPA required to accept delivery from the Office of Rubber Reserve and to consume natural rubber latex. No person shall consume natural rubber latex until he has received an authorization to do so from the Civilian Production Administration on Form CPA-4562. Applications for an authorization to accept delivery of natural rubber latex from the Office of Rubber Reserve, RFC, and to consume it shall be made on Form CPA-4562 pursuant to instructions accompanying that form, not later than the first day of the month next preceding the calendar quarter in which the authorization is required. The authorizations to accept delivery from the Office of Rubber Reserve, RFC, and to consume on Form CPA-4562 will be made by the CPA only to those persons who have filed applications on Form CPA-4562. These authorizations will be mailed on or before the 20th day of the month next preceding the calendar quarter for which the delivery is authorized. Where the application shows natural rubber latex is to be used in the manufacture of prophylactics, curled animal hair, latex foam products, girdles, rubber-soled fabric footwear, thin wall insulation, or rubber thread for elastic fabrics, the authorization to consume will be made in the proportion that the supply available for such product bears to the total requirement.

(1) Limitation on manufacturers to be authorized to accept and consume natural rubber latex. Only those manufacturers of the products specified in Appendix I and in List 8 of Appendix II for which the use of natural rubber latex is specifically permitted will be authorized to accept delivery of this material from the Office of Rubber Reserve, RFC, and to consume it.

§ 4600.03b Consumption of Butyl (GR-I) authorized in all products. Butyl (GR-I), all types, may be used in the manufacture of any product and is subject only to the delivery and inventory restrictions set out in §§ 4600.05 and 4600.06 below.

§ 4600.04 Purchase requests for natural rubber, natural rubber latex, Butyl and GR-S (all types). Natural rubber, natural rubber latex, Butyl and GR-S (all types) are sold by the Office of Rubber Reserve, RFC. Persons wishing to purchase any of these materials from the Office of Rubber Reserve shall first file their requests for natural rubber, Butyl or GR-S (all types) on Form CPA-4488 and for natural rubber latex on Form CPA–4562, with the Rubber Division, CPA, Washington 25, D. C. in accordance with instructions accompanying the forms.

(a) Issuance by Office of Rubber Reserve of purchase permits. On the basis of such requests, the Civilian Production Administration will recommend to the Office of Rubber Reserve that a purchase permit be issued to the applicant for an amount determined by CPA from the applicant's inventory and the amount authorized for delivery on Form CPA–4488 or Form CPA–4562. The Office of Rubber Reserve will issue purchase permits directly to the applicant after receiving requests therefor directly from the applicant.

§ 4600.05 Restrictions on making deliveries of raw materials—(a) Natural rubber, Butyl and GR–S. Any person may deliver to any other person, natural rubber, Butyl or GR–S without restriction.

§ 4600.06 Restrictions on inventories of raw materials. No person who consumes any of the following raw materials shall accept delivery of any of them if his inventory is or will by reason of such acceptance become in excess of the amount reasonably necessary to meet his requirements for the period designated below:

	Maximum Days
Natural rubber or natural rubber latex	90
Any type of synthetic rubber (including their latices)	60
Reclaimed rubber	45

Any person having an inventory in excess of the foregoing limits may ask for the assistance of the Rubber Division, Civilian Production Administration, in its disposal.

Column 3 shows the quantity expressed in percentage or as the minimum required, of natural rubber which may be used in the manufacture of the product indicated and for which the manufacturer has been authorized to accept delivery on Form CPA–4562. Column 4 shows the quantity expressed in percentage or as the minimum required, of natural rubber latex which may be used in the manufacture of the product indicated and for which the manufacturer has been authorized to accept delivery and to consume on Form CPA–4562. Column 5 shows special restrictions or provisions applicable to the manufacture of the product. For example, in those products such as pneumatic tires, or tire tubes (Code No. 1 and 3), where either or both column 3 or 4 is blank, a reference will be found in column 5 to the appropriate list in Appendix II in which the manufacturing regulations for the product are specified.

"X" indicates that the use of the raw materials, either natural rubber or natural rubber latex, is prohibited subject to any special restrictions or provisions applicable to the particular product. Percentage figures in column 3 or 4 indicate maximum percentage to total volume of compound, unless otherwise specified.

"RHC" appearing in column 5 indicates rubber hydrocarbon. This is the sum of natural rubber, natural rubber latex, synthetic rubber, the rubber hydrocarbon value of reclaimed rubber or hard rubber dust, and the rubber hydrocarbon value of master-batches or compounds of natural rubber or natural rubber latex. The rubber hydrocarbon value of reclaimed rubber or hard rubber dust shall be calculated from the rubber value of reclaimed rubber or hard rubber dust as certified by the manufacturer of the reclaimed rubber or hard rubber dust and shall be determined by the "difference" or "indirect" method. Natural rubber includes the rubber hydrocarbon value of natural rubber or natural rubber latex master-batches or compounds as certified by the manufacturer of master-batches or compounds which include natural rubber or natural rubber latex.

PART 3293—CHEMICALS

[Allocation Order M-393, as Amended May 2, 1947]

STREPTOMYCIN

The fulfillment of the requirements for the defense of the United States has created a shortage in the supply of streptomycin, for defense, for private account, and for export, and the following order is deemed necessary and appropriate in the public interest and to promote the national defense:

§ 3293.113c Allocation Order M-393.

DEFINITIONS

(a) Definitions. For the purposes of this order:

(1) "Streptomycin" means a chemotherapeutic agent isolated from actinomyces griseus and variants. The term includes streptomycin in any medicinal tablet, ampoule or other dosage form, as well as crude streptomycin.

(2) "Primary supplier" means any person who produces or imports streptomycin. However, the term shall not include any retail pharmacist, hospital or physician.

(3) "Primary distributor" means any person who buys streptomycin from a producer or importer for distribution with his (primary distributor's) name on the label. However, the term shall not include any retail pharmacist, hospital or physician.

ALLOCATION RESTRICTIONS

(b) General provisions—(1) Allocation. The Civilian Production Administration will allocate the use and delivery of streptomycin by primary suppliers and primary distributors. Allocations will be on a calendar-month basis. The purposes for which allocations may be made include the following: (i) governmental agencies, (ii) research, (iii) primary distributors, (iv) other domestic civilian needs and licensed exports. (For purposes of these allocations, shipments to Canada will be treated as "domestic civilian" and not "export".)

(2) Use and delivery restrictions. No primary supplier or primary distributor shall use or deliver streptomycin to any person except as specifically authorized in writing by the Civilian Production Administration upon application under this order.

(3) Allocations under Schedule 119 to Order M-300. Each primary supplier or primary distributor holding authorizations to use or deliver streptomycin under Schedule 119 to M-300, may use and deliver streptomycin to the extent permitted by such authorizations. All stocks of streptomycin not allocated under authorizations issued under Schedule 119 to Order M-300 are subject to allocation under this order.

(c) Exemptions. Application and specific authorization are not required for the following use or delivery of streptomycin:

(1) Use and delivery by any person who is not a primary supplier or primary distributor as defined in this schedule.

(2) Deliveries of samples to the Food and Drug Administration, Washington 25, D. C.

(3) Use by any primary supplier or primary distributor of samples of his own production or stock for making production control and standardization tests solely for potency, sterility, toxicity, pyrogens, moisture or stability.

(d) Suppliers' applications on CPA-2947. Each primary supplier or primary distributor seeking authorization to use or deliver streptomycin shall file application on Form CPA-2947. Filing date is the 17th day of the month before the proposed delivery month. Send three certified copies to the Civilian Production Administration, Washington 25, D. C., Ref.: M-393. The unit of measure is grams of streptomycin activity in terms of streptomycin base.

In section I, first list Army and Navy orders, specifying in Column 1 Army or Navy, in Column 1a the contract or requisition number, in Column 4 the quantity ordered and in Column 5 the proposed delivery. Second, list orders placed by the Veterans' Administration, and U. S. Public Health Service, specifying in Column 1 Veterans' Administration, and U. S. Public Health Service, leaving Column 1a blank, in Column 4 the quantity ordered and in Column 5 the proposed delivery. Quantities desired for other purposes may be stated. In addition the Civilian Production Administration may allocate quantities for delivery to specific customers for civilian purposes. In the case of proposed delivery to a primary distributor the applicant shall list specifically the name of the primary distributor and the quantity proposed to be delivered to him.

In section II, fill in as indicated leaving Columns 8, 9 and 10 blank and reporting only unallocated stocks in Column 13. An applicant who is both a primary supplier and a primary distributor shall report the required information in section II relating to his own production separately from that relating to his purchased material.

TESTING AND PREPARATION RESTRICTIONS

(e) FDA approval. Requirements for submitting test samples to the Food and Drug Administration, preparation, packaging, etc., are now contained in regulations issued by that agency.

REPORTS

(f) Reports. Reports of production, stocks and shipments shall be filed within 5 days after the close of each calendar month by every primary supplier and primary distributor of streptomycin.

These reports shall be filed on Form CPA-2947 in the following manner:

Specify in the blocks provided the name and address of the company reporting, name of materials, month, unit of measure, grams of streptomycin activity in terms of streptomycin base.

In section I report deliveries made against individual allocations. In Column 4 change heading to read "quantity shipped", showing the amount shipped. Leave Columns 1a, 5, 5a, 6 and 7 blank.

In section II leave Column 8 blank and list in Column 9 production during the month for which the report is filed and in Column 10 unallocated stocks as of the first day of the current month. Leave other columns blank.

A primary supplier who is also a primary distributor shall report the required information in section II relating to his own production separately from that relating to his purchased material.

(g) Budget Bureau approval. The above reporting requirements have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

TERRITORIAL SCOPE

(h) Territorial scope. This order applies to acts occurring within the continental United States (the 48 States and the District of Columbia), its territories and possessions.

IMPORTS AND EXPORTS

(i) Imports. (1) Imports of streptomycin may be accepted by the original consignee without application or authorization under this order. The consignee as an importer shall be subject to the requirements regarding primary suppliers and primary distributors.

(j) Exports. From time to time, the Civilian Production Administration will establish industry-wide quotas for the export of streptomycin to countries other than Canada. Persons desiring to export under those quotas should apply to the Office of International Trade, Department of Commerce, Washington 25, D. C., for export licenses.

DURATION OF AUTHORIZATIONS

(k) Duration of authorization for delivery. If it is not practical for a primary supplier or a primary distributor to make all deliveries in the allocation period for which authorized, he may complete them as early as practicable thereafter. NOTICE OF FILING OF SUPPLEMENTAL PLAN, NOTICE OF AND ORDER RECONVENING HEARING

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission, held at its office in the City of Philadelphia, Pa., on the 25th day of April A. D. 1947.

In the matter of Electric Bond and Share Company, File No. 54-127; Electric Bond and Share Company and its subsidiary companies, respondents, File No. 59-3; Electric Bond and Share Company, American Power & Light Company, National Power & Light Company, Electric Power & Light Corporation, et al., respondents, File No. 59-12.

Notice is hereby given that Electric Bond and Share Company ("Bond and Share"), a registered holding company, has filed an application for approval of a supplemental plan, designated as Plan II-B, pursuant to section 11 (e) of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935.

Said Plan II-B has been filed in accordance with certain provisions contained in Bond and Share's Plan II-A, approved by the Commission on September 6, 1946 (Holding Company Act Release No. 6879-1) and approved and enforced by order of the United States District Court for the Southern District of New York dated December 30, 1946. Said Plan II-A provided, among other things, that, in addition to the $30 per share paid by Bond and Share to each of the holders of its $5 and $6 Preferred Stocks pursuant to the provisions of Bond and Share's Plan I, the company would (a) pay to each of the holders of such preferred stocks $70 per share in cash plus the amount of any accumulated dividends, (b) deliver to each of such holders a certificate evidencing the right of such holders to receive any additional amounts of cash and/or other assets of the company which the Commission or any appropriate court might approve or direct, and (c) within four months after the effective date of Plan II–A (March 6, 1947) file with the Commission under section 11 (e) of the act a further plan specifying the additional amount of cash and/or other assets of the company, if any, that Bond and Share proposes to pay and/or distribute in connection with the retirement of its preferred stocks, which amount (together with distribution of capital provided in Plans I and II–A) will constitute the equivalent of all the rights of such stockholders.

All interested persons are referred to said Plan II–B, which is on file in the offices of the Commission, for a full statement of the transactions therein proposed, which may be summarized as follows:

Bond and Share proposes to pay no further amount of cash or other assets of the company to the holders of the certificates issued to the $5 and $6 preferred stockholders of Bond and Share in accordance with the provisions of Plan II–A and requests that, in the event of final approval of Plan II–B by the Commission and an appropriate court (after disposal of all appeals), the foregoing certificates become null and void.

Such proposal by Bond and Share is subject, however, to the provision contained in Plan II–A to the effect that in the event Plan II–B is not approved by the commission and an appropriate court having jurisdiction, Bond and Share will pay and/or distribute to its preferred stockholders such an amount, if any, of additional cash and/or other assets of the company as may be finally determined by an appropriate court.

The Commission having heretofore consolidated for the purpose of consideration proceedings with respect to the section 11 (e) plans filed by Bond and Share (File No. 54–127) with the proceedings previously instituted by the Commission pursuant to section 11 (b) of the act (File Nos. 59–3 and 59–12) directed to Bond and Share and certain of its subsidiaries, and having further ordered that any relevant evidence adduced in the said proceedings instituted by the Commission pursuant to section 11 (b) of the act shall be incorporated in and deemed to be part of the record in the proceedings on the said plans filed pursuant to section 11 (e) of the act, without prejudice, however, to the Commission's right, upon its own motion or the motion of any interested party, to strike such portions of the record in the proceedings pursuant to section 11 (b) as may be deemed irrelevant to the issues raised with respect to the proposed plans;

It is hereby ordered, That the hearings in these consolidated proceedings be reconvened and that a hearing be held with respect to Plan II–B at 10:00 a. m., e. d. s. t. on June 9, 1947 at the offices of the Securities and Exchange Commission, 18th and Locust Streets, Philadelphia 3, Pennsylvania in such room as may be designated at that time by the hearing room clerk in Room 318. All persons desiring to be heard or otherwise wishing to participate in such proceedings shall file with the Secretary of the Commission on or before May 30, 1947, a written request in the manner prescribed by Rule XVII of the Commission's rules of practice.

It is further ordered, That Robert P. Reeder or any other officer or officers of the Commission designated by it for that purpose shall preside at the hearing in such matter. The officer so designated to preside at such hearing is hereby authorized to exercise all powers granted to the Commission under section 18 (c) of the act and to a hearing officer under the Commission's rules of practice.

The Public Utilities Division of the Commission having advised the Commission that it has made a preliminary examination of the application and that, upon the basis thereof, the following matters and questions are presented for consideration by the Commission without prejudice, however, to the presentation of additional matters and questions upon further examination:

1. Whether Plan II–B, as submitted, or as it may be hereafter modified, is fair and equitable to the persons affected thereby, more particularly whether the proposal by Bond and Share to pay no further amount of cash or other assets of the company to the holders of the certificates issued to the $5 and $6 preferred stockholders of Bond and Share in accordance with the provisions of Plan II–A is fair and equitable.

2. Whether Plan II–B, as submitted, or as it may be hereafter modified, is necessary to effectuate the provisions of section 11 (b) of the act and is a proper step toward compliance with the order of the Commission dated September 6, 1946.

3. What amount of additional cash and/or other assets of the company should be ordered by the Commission to be paid to the holders of the certificates issued to the $5 and $6 preferred stockholders of Bond and Share, in the event the Commission disapproves Plan II–B.

4. Whether Plan II–B, as filed, or as it may be modified, makes appropriate provision for the payment of fees, expenses and other remuneration, and whether such fees, expenses or other remuneration are for necessary services.

5. Whether or not the accounting treatment of the proposed transactions is proper and in conformity with sound accounting principles.

6. Generally, whether the proposed transactions are in all respects in the public interest and in the interest of investors and consumers, and consistent with all applicable requirements of the Act and the Rules thereunder, and if not, what terms and conditions should be imposed to satisfy the applicable statutory standards.

It is further ordered, That particular attention be directed at said hearing to the foregoing matters and questions.

It is further ordered, That jurisdiction be reserved to separate, either for hearing, in whole or in part, or for disposition, in whole or in part, any of the issues, questions or matters herein set forth or which may arise in these proceedings or to consolidate with these proceedings other filings or matters pertaining to the subject matter of these proceedings, and to take such other action as may appear conducive to the orderly, prompt and economical disposition of matters involved.

It is further ordered, That notice of this hearing be given to Bond and Share and to all participants who have appeared in these proceedings and that notice of said hearing shall be given to all other persons by general release of this Commission which shall be distributed to the press and mailed to the mailing list for releases issued under the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935; and that further notice be given to all persons by publication of this notice and order in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

It is further ordered, That Bond and Share, at least 15 days prior to the date of this hearing, shall give notice of such hearing to all its security holders (insofar as the identity of such holders is known or available to it) by mailing to each holder of the certificates issued to the $5 and $6 preferred stock at his last known address a copy of Plan II–B together with a copy of this notice and order reconvening hearing, and by mailing to each common stockholder at his last known address a statement setting forth a summary of the plan and the time, date, and place of the hearing. The statement to be mailed to the common stockholders shall be submitted to the Commission for review prior to mailing.

By the Commission.

ORDER GRANTING APPLICATION

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission held at its office in the City of Philadelphia, Pa. on the 28th day of April A. D. 1947.

Southern California Water Company ("Southern California"), a public utility subsidiary company of American States Utilities Corporation, a registered holding company, having filed an application and amendments thereto in which section 6 (b) of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 and Rule U-50 promulgated thereunder are designated as applicable with respect to the following transactions:

Southern California proposes to issue and sell, pursuant to the competitive bidding requirements of Rule U-50 promulgated under the act, $5,100,000 principal amount of First Mortgage Bonds, __% Series due May 1, 1977, to be issued under an Indenture with the Bank of America National Trust and Savings Association, as Trustee. The interest rate on said bonds (to be a multiple of ⅛ of 1%) and the price to be received by Southern California (to be not less than 100% and not more than 102¾% of the principal amount of said bonds) are to be determined by the competitive bidding. The applicant states that the proceeds from the sale of the new bonds will be used (1) to redeem, at their redemption prices of 105¼, the company's outstanding $3,465,000 principal amount of Series A, and $297,000 principal amount of Series B, First Mortgage Bonds, exclusive of $33,000 aggregate principal amount of Series A and B bonds to be redeemed out of treasury funds on May 1, 1947, through operation of the sinking fund, (2) to pay the fees and expenses of the proposed sale, and (3) to add the balance to the general funds of the company to defray, in part, the cost of property additions during the year 1947.

Said application having been filed on March 28, 1947, and an amendment thereto having been filed on April 28, 1947, and notice of such filing having been duly given in the form and manner prescribed by Rule U-23 promulgated pursuant to said act, and the Commission not having received a request for hearing with respect to said application, as amended, within the period specified in said notice, or otherwise, and not having ordered a hearing thereon; and

The applicant having requested that the Commission's order granting the application become effective immediately upon issuance, the Commission deeming it appropriate to grant such request; and

The Commission finding that Southern California is entitled to an exemption from the provisions of sections 6 (a) and 7 of the act pursuant to the provisions of section 6 (b) thereof, it appearing that the issuance and sale of the new bonds are solely for the purpose of financing the business of the applicant and that such issuance and sale has been expressly authorized by the Public Utilities Commission of the State of California which is the State Commission of the State in which the applicant is organized and doing business; it appearing that the record as to the fees and expenses in connection with the issuance and sale of said bonds is incomplete; and the Commission deeming it appropriate in the public interest and the interest of investors and consumers that subject to the condition and reservation of jurisdiction recited below said application, as amended, be granted:

It is hereby ordered, That pursuant to Rule U-23 said application, as amended, be, and the same is hereby, granted forthwith, subject to the terms and conditions prescribed in Rule U-24 and subject to the further condition that the proposed sale of new bonds by Southern California shall not be consummated until the results of competitive bidding pursuant to Rule U-50 have been made a matter of record herein and a further order shall have been entered with respect thereto, which order may contain such further terms and conditions as may then be deemed appropriate, for which purpose jurisdiction is hereby reserved.

It is further ordered, That jurisdiction be, and the same hereby is, reserved, with respect to the fees and expenses in connection with the issuance and sale of the new bonds.

By the Commission.

TITLE 7—AGRICULTURE

Chapter I—Production and Marketing Administration (Standards, Inspection, Marketing Practices)

PART 51—FRUITS, VEGETABLES, AND OTHER PRODUCTS (GRADING, CERTIFICATION AND STANDARDS)

STANDARDS FOR FRUITS AND VEGETABLES AND OTHER PRODUCTS [1]

On March 18, 1947, notice of proposed rule making was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (12 F. R. 1817) regarding the proposed issuance of United States Standards for Berries for Processing. After consideration of all relevant matters presented, including the proposals set forth in the aforesaid notice, the following United States Standards for Berries for Processing are hereby promulgated pursuant to the provisions of the Department of Agriculture Appropriation Act, 1947 (Pub. Law 422, 79th Cong., 2d Sess., approved June 22, 1946):

§ 51.213 Berries for processing—(a) Grades. (1) U. S. No. 1 shall consist of berries of similar varietal characteristics which are free from caps (calyxes), mold or decay, and from dried, undeveloped and distinctly immature berries and from damage caused by overmaturity, crushing, shriveling, dirt, or other foreign matter, hail, sunscald, moisture, birds, disease, insects, mechanical or other means. At least 85 percent, by weight, of the berries in the lot shall be well colored. (See Size.)

(i) In order to allow for variations incident to proper handling, not more than 10 percent, by weight, of the berries in any lot may fail to meet the requirements of this grade, including not more than 3 percent for distinctly immature berries. No part of any tolerance shall be allowed to reduce the percentage of well colored berries required in the grade, and no part of any tolerance shall be allowed for berries infested with worms.

(2) U. S. No. 2 shall consist of berries which meet the requirements for U. S. No. 1 grade except for color and except for the increased tolerance for defects specified below. At least 75 percent, by weight, of the berries in the lot shall be well colored. (See Size.)

(i) In order to allow for variations incident to proper handling, not more than 20 percent, by weight, of the berries in any lot may fail to meet the requirements of this grade, including not more than 5 percent for distinctly immature berries. No part of any tolerance shall be allowed to reduce the percentage of well colored berries required in the grade, and no part of any tolerance shall be allowed for berries infested with worms.

(b) Unclassified. Unclassified shall consist of berries which fail to meet the requirements of either of the foregoing grades. The term "unclassified" is not a grade within the meaning of these standards but is provided as a designation to show that no definite grade has been applied to the lot.

(c) Size. In view of the size variations in different producing sections and size variations of different types and varieties of berries, no size requirements are specified in these standards. However, the size may be specified in terms of minimum diameter or length.

(1) In order to allow for variations incident to proper sizing, not more than 5 percent, by weight, of the berries in any lot may fail to meet the size specified.

(d) Definitions. (1) "Dried" means appreciably lacking in juice. Dried berries are excessively seedy and often shriveled.

(2) "Undeveloped" means lack of development, due to frost or insect injury, lack of pollination or other means, which causes the berry to be dwarfed or badly misshapen.

(3) "Distinctly immature" means that the berries are light red, whitish, or green in the case of types or varieties which are characteristically blue or black when well ripened; and that the berries are whitish or green in the case of types or varieties which are characteristically red when well ripened.

(4) "Damage" means any injury or defect which materially affects the berries for processing purposes. The following shall be considered as damage:

(i) Overmaturity, when the druplets of the berry have lost their luster and are excessively soft. Such berries usually disintegrate when washed under pressure.

[1] These standards apply to berries of the genus rubus, such as blackberries, dewberries, Boysenberries, Loganberries, Youngberries and other similar types of berries, but not raspberries.

DORSEY GREENO

Dorsey Greeno, doing business as Dorsey Motor Sales, 260 E. Pine Street, Findlay, Ohio, without authorization, began on or about April 12, 1946, and thereafter carried on construction of a structure for use as a garage, at 260 E. Pine Street, Findlay, Ohio, the estimated cost of which was in excess of $1,000, in violation of Veterans' Housing Program Order 1. This violation has diverted critical materials to uses not authorized by the Office of the Housing Expediter. In view of the foregoing, it is hereby ordered that:

§ 807.30 Suspension Order No. S–30. (a) Neither Dorsey Greeno, doing business as Dorsey Motor Sales, his successors or assigns, nor any other person shall do any further construction on the structure located at 260 E. (b) Dorsey Greeno, doing business as Dorsey Motor Sales, shall refer to this order in any application or appeal which he may file with the Office of the Housing Expediter for authorization to carry on construction.

(c) Nothing contained in this order shall be deemed to relieve Dorsey Greeno, doing business as Dorsey Motor Sales, his successors or assigns, from any restriction, prohibition or provision contained in any other order or regulation of the Office of the Housing Expediter, except insofar as the same may be inconsistent with the provisions hereof.

§ 807.31 Suspension Order No. S–31. (a) Neither Ira N. Petersheim, his successors or assigns, nor any other person shall do any further construction on the premises located on Route 23, near Route 122, Morgantown, Pennsylvania, including the putting up, completing or altering of any of the structures located on said premises, unless hereafter specifically authorized in writing by the Office of the Housing Expediter.

(d) Men of doubtful physical condition who are not under treatment. An enlisted man not under treatment, but who has contracted illness or injury in line of duty (NGR 62) that may raise a question of physical eligibility for reenlistment, but not such as to prevent his performing the duties of a soldier, may be reenlisted by authority of the State adjutant general subject to approval by the Chief, National Guard Bureau, upon application made by letter through channels, including the examining surgeon. Such applications will be made in time to receive a decision before the date of discharge.

(e) Men in confinement. If a soldier sentenced by court martial to confinement for a period extending beyond the expiration of his term of enlistment received an honorable discharge, he will be reenlisted only upon the remission, by competent military authority, of the unexecuted portion of his sentence, unless the laws of the State authorize otherwise.

(f) Discharge and reenlistment of men detailed to schools. An enlisted man, to be detailed to a service school, must have at least 2 years to serve in his current enlistment upon the date on which the course he is to take is scheduled to end. If he does not have this much unexpired service, he will be discharged and reenlist for 3 years before attending the service school.

§ 201.17 Recognition of enlisted man—(a) Definition of recognition. Whenever the term "recognition" or "recognized" is used in §§ 201.14 to 201.20, it will be understood to mean "Federal recognition" or "federally recognized."

(b) Except that personnel who entered active Federal military service with the National Guard of a State on or subsequent to 16 September 1940 and who reenlist therein subsequent to release or discharge from active military service, may be reenlisted in their former National Guard grade.

(c) Where compatible with State law, qualified personnel may be enlisted in the National Guard of a State in the enlisted rating or grade held in the Army of the United States at time of release or discharge.

(d) When a noncommissioned officer or rated private is discharged and reenlists, his warrant or rating may be continued if the vacancy created by his discharge has not been filled and continues to exist at the time of his reenlistment.

(e) The appointment of noncommissioned officers, privates first class, and technicians of the National Guard, and reduction from such appointments are functions of the State military authorities.

§ 201.19 Separation from the National Guard—(a) General. The separation of enlisted men from the active National Guard is effected through discharge by proper authority. Unless otherwise stated in this section, enlisted men so discharged will be given a discharge certificate. See § 201.20.

(b) Date discharge is effective. The discharge of an enlisted man takes effect on the date of discharge shown on his discharge certificate.

Chapter XVIII—Office of Temporary Controls, Office of War Mobilization and Reconversion (Stabilization)

[Directive 41, Amdt. 12]

LIVESTOCK SLAUGHTER PAYMENTS

Directive 41 (§ 4004.1 Livestock slaughter payments) is amended in the following respects:

1. Paragraph (a) of section 7 is amended to read as follows:

(a) Upon certification by the Price Administrator to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation that a slaughterer has refused or failed to furnish any information requested by the Office of Price Administration or has refused to permit the inspection and examination of his slaughtering operations by the Office of Price Administration, Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall withhold payment of all accrued and future payments to such slaughterer until the Price Administrator certifies to Reconstruction Finance Corporation that such slaughterer has furnished the information requested or permitted the inspection and examination of his slaughtering operations. Upon this latter certification, Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall then pay to such slaughterer the amount of subsidy to which such slaughterer would otherwise be entitled. No subsidy withheld under this section 7 (a) for refusal or failure to furnish information requested or required by the Office of Price Administration shall be released unless the requested or required information is provided on or before May 15, 1947.

2. Subparagraph (1) of section 7 (b) is amended to read as follows:

(1) (i) Reconstruction Finance Corporation is directed to continue its present procedure of declaring invalid, in whole or in part, any claim for subsidy payments filed by an applicant who, in the judgment of the Price Administrator or his successor in authority, has wilfully violated any meat or livestock regulation or order issued by the Price Administrator. Such a judgment shall be made only in the event the alleged violation is referred to the United States Attorney for prosecution.

(ii) As used in subdivision (i) of this section 7 (b) (1) the phrase "its present procedure" was intended to and does refer to the procedure whereby subsidy funds are withheld from subsidy applicants involved in criminal proceedings. This procedure was and is as follows:

Withholding of subsidy funds from a subsidy applicant involved in criminal proceedings is initially recommended to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation by the Price Administrator only when all three of these factors are present: (1) The Price Administrator (or his duly authorized representative) has investigated the alleged wilful violation and referred the case to the United States Attorney for the institution of criminal proceedings; (2) the grand jury has returned an indictment or the United States Attorney has filed an information against the subsidy applicant for the alleged wilful violations of any meat or livestock regulation or order issued by the Price Administrator; and (3) a responsible member of the applicant's management was chargeable with knowledge of the facts alleged to constitute the wilful violation.

The amount of subsidy money withheld is that allocable to the selling establishments involved in the criminal proceedings, and, as to each selling establishment, to the accounting periods during which the violations are alleged. The recommendation of the Price Administrator as to such withholding is in the form of a letter to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation notifying that agency of the pending criminal proceedings and the selling establishments and periods involved.

After receiving the Price Administrator's recommendation, the Reconstruction Finance Corporation then notifies the applicant as to the specific amount of subsidy funds that are thus to be withheld or recaptured, in the event the subsidy applicant has received the funds.

The recommendations of the Price Administrator as to permanent withholding automatically follow the judicial determinations as to criminal responsibility and may, therefore, be made despite the fact that there was no initial recommendation for withholding based upon the institution of criminal proceedings, due to the absence of either or both of factors (1) and (3). If the criminal proceedings terminate with a conviction of the subsidy applicant, the subsidy payments allocable to the selling establishments for the periods involved in the conviction are then permanently withheld or recaptured. In the event the subsidy applicant is found upon trial to be not guilty of all violations charged in the indictment or information with respect to any particular accounting period or periods, or in the event all counts in the indictment or information relating to any particular accounting period or periods are dismissed or nol prossed by the United States Attorney, the Administrator certifies such facts to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and thereupon the subsidy funds withheld or recaptured for such accounting period or periods are payable forthwith. However, the fact that all of the counts in the indictment or information relating to any particular accounting period or periods are dismissed or nol prossed by the United States Attorney, does not operate as a bar to an appropriate certification by the Price Administrator in accordance with section 7 (b) (2).

The Reconstruction Finance Corporation is directed to amend its Livestock Slaughter Payments Regulation No. 3 (subsequently redesignated Regulation No. 10) to make it clear that in any instance in which a subsidy applicant may have had subsidy funds withheld after termination of the criminal proceedings contrary to the procedure for such withholding described in this Amendment, the applicant may apply for and obtain release of such subsidy funds. The Price Administrator will review all recommendations for initial withholding, in cases in which criminal proceedings are still pending, to assure that such recommendations are in accordance with the procedure for such withholding described in this amendment.

3. Subparagraph (4) of section 7 (b) is amended to read as follows:

(4) (i) Effective as of April 1, 1946, Reconstruction Finance Corporation is also directed to withhold payment of subsidy claims upon a certification by a Regional Administrator of the Office of Price Administration or a District Director authorized by a Regional Administrator, that the slaughterer's report filed with the Office of Price Administration on a DS-T-55 or 636-2202 form pursuant to the provisions of Maximum Price Regulation 574, shows a cost of cattle in excess of his maximum permissible cost. The withholding shall apply to the net cattle subsidy (exclusive of extra-compensation payments) otherwise due the slaughterer on cattle slaughtered at the particular establishment during the accounting period involved and at the same rates as specified in paragraph (b) (3) above. In cases of slaughterers whose maximum permissible cattle costs are determined by section 11 of Maximum Price Regulation No. 574, or whose maximum permissible cattle costs are determined by section 9 of Maximum Price Regulation No. 574 but who do not file subsidy claims on DS-T-55 Forms, the appropriate Regional Administrator of the Office of Price Administration or the appropriate District Director authorized by him shall as promptly as possible certify to Reconstruction Finance Corporation (i) the name of any slaughterer whose filed report on a DS-T-55 or 636-2202 form, after correction for errors, shows a cost of cattle in excess of his maximum permissible costs; (ii) the address of the establishment and the accounting period for which the report is filed; and (iii) the percentage by which such slaughterer's excess in cattle cost exceeds his maximum permissible cost; and (iv) the percentage of subsidy to be withheld.

(ii) Any and all withholdings by Reconstruction Finance Corporation made in conformity with the foregoing provisions of subdivision (i) of this section 7 (b) (4) during the period April 1, 1946, through May 1, 1947, inclusive, and any and all certifications by a Regional Administrator of the Office of Price Administration, or a District Director authorized by a Regional Administrator, made in conformity with the foregoing provisions of subdivision (i) of this section 7 (b) (4) during the period April 1, 1946, through May 1, 1947, inclusive, shall be deemed to have been made pursuant to section 7 (b) (4) (i), and all such actions hereby are acknowledged, approved, ratified, adopted and confirmed, and shall have the same full force and effect which would have been accorded such withholdings and certifications if the provisions set forth in foregoing subdivision (i) of this section 7 (b) (4) had been incorporated in Directive 41 as section 7 (b) (4) during and throughout the entire period April 1, 1946, through May 1, 1947, inclusive.

4. Subparagraph (5) of section 7 (b) is amended to read as follows:

(5) (i) Upon a finding by the Price Administrator on application by a slaughterer that the slaughterer's overpayment for cattle slaughtered after March 31, 1946, was due to extenuating circumstances and that the release of the subsidy withheld, or a portion thereof, would not be inconsistent with the stabilization program, he may so certify, to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, setting forth the amount of the subsidy to be released and thereupon the Reconstruction Finance Corporation shall release such amount of subsidy. Only slaughterers, whose subsidy payments have been withheld pursuant to subparagraphs (3) or (4) of this section 7 (b) may apply to the Price Administrator at Washington, D. C., for such a certification. Applications for release of subsidy made pursuant to this section 7 (b) (5) must be made on or before May 15, 1947.

(ii) Any and all findings and certifications of the Price Administrator or his successor in authority made in conformity with the provisions of subdivision (i) of this section 7 (b) (5) prior to May 2, 1947, and any and all releases of subsidy by Reconstruction Finance Corporation made in conformity with the provisions of subdivision (i) of this section 7 (b) (5) prior to May 2, 1947, shall be deemed to have been made pursuant to section 7 (b) (5) (i), and all such actions hereby are acknowledged, approved, ratified, adopted and confirmed, and shall have the same full force and effect which would have been accorded such findings, certifications and releases if the provisions set forth in foregoing subdivision (i) of this section 7 (b) (5) had been incorporated in Directive 41 as section 7 (b) (5) during and throughout the entire period April 1, 1946 through May 1, 1947, inclusive.

5. Subparagraph (6) of section 7 (b) is amended to read as follows:

(6) On and after April 1, 1946, the provisions of section 7 (b) (2) shall not apply to those violations of Maximum Price Regulation No. 574—Live Bovine Animals (cattle and calves)—which on and after the same date provided the basis or bases for withholdings of subsidy pursuant to the provisions of section 7 (b) (3) or (4), as the latter may have provided at any time on or after April 1, 1946.

6. Subparagraphs (7) and (8) of section 7 (b) are added, in the event they were not issued properly on November 18, 1946, or, in the event they properly were issued on such date, they hereby are amended to read as follows:

(7) Effective as of the first day of any slaughterer's accounting period scheduled to end after October 14, 1946, but which was terminated automatically prior to such scheduled ending date by operation of law at 12:01 a. m. on October 15, 1946, the provisions of subparagraphs (1) and (2) of this section 7 (b) shall not apply to any violation of the maximum permissible cost provisions of section 9 or section 11 of Maximum Price Regulation No. 574—Live Bovine Animals (cattle and calves)—that occurred during such shortened accounting period.

(8) Effective as of the first day of any slaughterer's accounting period scheduled to end after October 14, 1946, but which was terminated automatically prior to such scheduled ending date by operations of law at 12:01 a. m. on October 15, 1946, the provisions of subparagraphs (3) and (4) of this section 7 (b) shall not apply to subsidy claims filed for such shortened accounting period.

7. Subparagraph (6) of section 7 (e) is amended to read as follows:

(6) If a slaughterer has exceeded his authorized quota by an amount which is not in excess of 3 percent of such quota or 2,000 pounds, liveweight, whichever is larger, or if a slaughterer has failed to set aside or deliver meat or meat products by an amount which is not in excess of 3 percent of the quantity of meat or meat products required to be set aside and delivered, he may apply to the Secretary of Agriculture, or the Price Administrator at Washington, D. C., depending upon whether his report was filed with the Department of Agriculture or the Office of Price Administration, for a release of the subsidy withheld pursuant to this paragraph (e). Upon a finding by the Secretary of Agriculture (or his duly authorized representative) or the Price Administrator, that the slaughterer's excess slaughter or failure to set aside or deliver was due to extenuating circumstances and that the release of the subsidy withheld will not be inconsistent with the stabilization program or the Government procurement program, the Secretary of Agriculture or his duly authorized representative, or the Price Administrator, may so certify to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, and thereupon the subsidy withheld shall be payable forthwith. Applications for release of subsidy made pursuant to this section 7 (e) (6) must be made on or before May 15, 1947.

8. Subparagraph (7) of section 7 (e) is added, in the event it was not issued properly on March 12, 1947, or in the event it properly was issued on such date, it hereby is reissued to read as follows:

(7) As used in this section 7 (e), the phrase "authorized quota" was intended to and does mean the total live weight of livestock, by species, authorized to be slaughtered during an entire "quota period" or "interim quota period" as such periods are defined in Control Order 2—"Livestock Slaughter", issued by the Office of Price Administration; but was not intended to and does not apply to additional restrictions and limitations made on the quantity of livestock, by species, within the "authorized quota" that are authorized to be slaughtered during a part of a "quota period."

9. Section 11 is added to read as follows:

SEC. 11. (a) as used herein the terms "Price Administrator", "Regional Administrator of the Office of Price Administration", "District Director" (of the Office of Price Administration), and "Secretary of Agriculture (or his duly authorized representative)" include the duly qualified legal successors in authority to such officials to whom any of the duties, powers and functions herein involved may be or may have been delegated, or otherwise lawfully transferred.

(b) As used herein the terms "Office of Price Administration" and "Department of Agriculture" include the duly qualified legal successors in authority to such offices to which any of the duties, powers and functions herein involved may be or may have been delegated or otherwise lawfully transferred.

10. Secion 12 is added, in the event it was not issued properly on October 17, 1946, or, in the event it properly was issued on such date, it hereby is amended to read as follows:

SEC. 12. (a) Effective as of October 17, 1946, the amount of subsidy withheld for each period after March 31, 1946, pursuant to section 7 (b) (4) as it read prior to October 17, 1946, which would not have been withheld in accordance with Directive 41 had section 7 (b) (4), as amended this 2nd day of May, 1947, been in effect from April 1, 1946, is hereby released.

(b) On and after October 17, 1946, and upon application by the slaughterer to the Washington Office of the Office of Price Administration, the Price Administrator shall certify to Reconstruction Finance Corporation the amount of subsidy so released and thereupon such amount of subsidy shall be payable forthwith. The Price Administrator may issue regulations prescribing the contents of the applications and including such other provisions as the Price Administrator deems necessary to effectuate the provisions of this section. Applications for releases of subsidy made pursuant to this section 12 (b) must be made on or before May 15, 1947.

(c) Any and all certifications by the Price Administrator made in conformity with the provisions of paragraph (b) of this section 12 during the period October 17, 1946, through May 1, 1947, inclusive, and any and all releases of subsidies by Reconstruction Finance Corporation made in conformity with the provisions of paragraph (b) of this section 12 during the period October 17, 1946, through May 1, 1947, inclusive, shall be deemed to have been made pursuant to said paragraph (b) of this section 12, and all such actions hereby are acknowledged, approved, ratified, adopted and confirmed, and shall have the same full force and effect which would have been accorded such certifications and releases of subsidy if the provisions set forth in foregoing paragraph (b) of this section 12 had been incorporated in Directive 41 as section 12 (b) during and throughout the period October 17, 1946 through May 1, 1947, inclusive.

This amendment shall become effective as of the date of issuance. The provisions of Directive 41 incorporated in such directive by previous amendments No. 7 through No. 11 thereto, and which either are restated or are amended in this amendment became effective as of the respective effective dates indicated in the said previous incorporating amendments, and remain effective as of those dates.

TITLE 47—TELECOMMUNICATION

Chapter I—Federal Communications Commission

PART 1—ORGANIZATION, PRACTICE AND PROCEDURE

AMENDMENTS OF APPLICATIONS

APRIL 25, 1947.

At a session of the Federal Communications Commission held at its offices in Washington, D. C. on the 23d day of April 1947;

It appearing, that § 1.365 (a) of the Commission's rules requires that after an application has been designated for hearing, every petition requesting leave to amend that application must be accompanied by an affidavit stating whether consideration has been promised to or received by petitioner in connection with the filing of such petition for amendment; and

It further appearing, that it would be conducive to the dispatch of the Commission's business and the ends of justice to relax the said rule so that the necessity for filing an affidavit regarding consideration would only apply to petitions to amend wherein a change in frequency or power is requested; and

It further appearing, that general notice of proposed rule making and procedure required by section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act is not required herein for the reason that the proposed amendment is procedural and is designed to relieve certain restrictions which now exist in connection with the filing of petitions for amendment of applications for station licenses;

It is therefore ordered, That § 1.365 (a) of the Commission's rules and regulations be, and it is hereby, amended, effective immediately, to read as follows:

§ 1.365 Amendments of applications. (a) Any application may be amended as a matter of right prior to the designation of such application for hearing merely by filing the appropriate number of copies of the amendments in question duly executed. Requests to amend an application after it has been designated for hearing will be considered only upon written petition properly served upon the parties of record, and will be granted only for good cause shown. Such a petition which requests either a change in frequency or power must be accompanied by the affidavit of a person with knowledge of facts as to whether or not consideration has been promised to or received by petitioner, directly or indirectly, in connection with the filing of such petition for amendment. If such consideration has been promised or received, the affidavit shall set forth in full detail all the relevant facts. After a proposed decision has been rendered with respect to an application, petitions to amend such applications will not be considered if they are not filed within 20 days after public notice is given of the proposed decision unless good cause is shown as to why it was not possible to file such petition within the period specified. PART 95—CAR SERVICE

BULKHEADS PROHIBITED IN CARS OF WATERMELONS

At a session of the Interstate Commerce Commission, Division 3, held at its office in Washington, D. C., on the 30th day of April A. D. 1947.

It appearing, that in southern territory certain tariffs provide the minimum weight for cars 36 feet 6 inches or less in length will be applied to cars 40 feet 7 inches in length, when such cars are equipped with bulkheads so that the available loading space does not exceed 36 feet 6 inches; that such use of bulkheads is wasteful and contributes to the shortage of equipment; the Commission is of opinion an emergency requiring immediate action exists in the southern section of the country. It is ordered, that:

§ 95.725 Bulkheads prohibited in cars of watermelons—(a) Bulkheads prohibited in watermelon cars. No common carrier by railroad, subject to the Interstate Commerce Act, shall install or allow or permit to be installed in any freight car, loaded or to be loaded with watermelons, a bulkhead which will reduce or restrict the capacity of the car; nor transport a car in which a bulkhead has been installed in violation of this section.

(b) Distribution of cars. That common carriers by railroad shall distribute and furnish to shippers of watermelons cars suitable for the transportation of watermelons without regard to ownership and in such manner as to afford a fair and equitable distribution of cars of lengths (inside measurement) ranging from 36 feet 6 inches to 40 feet 7 inches.

(c) Application. The provisions of this section shall apply to interstate traffic originating in southern territory east of the Mississippi River and south of the Ohio and Potomac Rivers.

(d) Regulations suspended; announcement required. The operation of all rules and regulations insofar as they conflict with the provisions of this section is hereby suspended and each railroad subject to this section, or its agent, shall publish, file, and post a supplement to each of its tariffs affected hereby, in substantial accordance with the provisions of Rule 9 (k) of the Commission's Tariff Circular No. 20 (§ 141.9 (k) of this chapter) announcing such suspension.

(e) Effective date. This section shall become effective at 12:01 a. m., May 15, 1947.

(f) Expiration date. This section shall expire at 11:59 p. m., September 30, 1947, unless otherwise modified, changed, suspended or annulled by order of this Commission.

It is further ordered, that a copy of this order and direction shall be served upon the Association of American Railroads, Car Service Division, as agent of the railroads subscribing to the car service and per diem agreement under the terms of that agreement and that notice of this order be given to the general public by depositing a copy in the office of the Secretary of the Commission at Washington, D. C., and by filing it with the Director, Division of the Federal Register.

NOTICE OF PROPOSED RULE MAKING

Notice is hereby given, pursuant to the Administrative Procedure Act, approved June 11, 1946, that the regulations set forth in tentative form herein are proposed to be prescribed by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, with the approval of the Secretary of the Treasury. Prior to the final adoption of such regulations, consideration will be given to any data, views, or arguments pertaining thereto which are submitted in writing in duplicate to the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, Washington 25, D. C., within the period of 30 days from the date of publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER. The proposed regulations are to be issued under the authority of sections 2857, 2858, 3254 and 3791 of the Internal Revenue Code (26 U. S. C. A. 2857, 2858, 3254, and 3791).

1. Sections 194.27 (a), 194.75 (a), and (b), 194.76, and 194.78 (a) of Regulations 20 (Part 194, 26 CFR) are hereby amended as follows:

§ 194.27 Warehouse receipts covering spirits. (a) Since the sale of warehouse receipts for spirits is equivalent to the sale of spirits, a person engaged in the business of selling, or offering for sale, warehouse receipts for spirits stored in Government bonded warehouses, or elsewhere, incurs liability to special tax as a dealer in liquors, unless exempted by the provisions of §§ 194.62 to 196.73, inclusive.

§ 194.75 Records to be kept by wholesale liquor dealers. (a) Every wholesale dealer in liquors who sells distilled spirits (by warehouse receipt or otherwise) in quantities of 5 wine gallons or more to the same person at the same time shall keep Record 52, "Wholesale Liquor Dealer's Record," and render monthly transcripts, Forms 52A and 52B, "Wholesale Liquor Dealer's Monthly Report," and Form 338 "Wholesale Liquor Dealer's Monthly Report (Summary of Forms 52A and 52B)." Separate Records 52 shall be maintained for (1) the recording of transactions in warehouse receipts and (2) the recording of receipts and removal of spirits. The record covering transactions in warehouse receipts shall be so identified.

(b) Daily entries shall be made on Record 52 of all distilled spirits received and disposed of (by warehouse receipt or otherwise), as indicated by the headings of the various columns; and in accordance with the instructions printed thereon and contained in pertinent regulations, not later than the close of business of the day on which the transactions occur: Provided, That if the keeping of such separate record is approved by the district supervisor, a wholesale liquor dealer may keep a separate record of the disposal of distilled spirits, showing the data required to be entered on Record 52, but the daily entries of the disposal of distilled spirits shall be made on Record 52 not later than the close of business of the following business day.

§ 194.76 Separate record of serial numbers of cases. Serial numbers of cases of distilled spirits disposed of need not be entered on Record 52: Provided, That the proprietor keeps at his place of business a separate record, showing such serial numbers, with necessary identifying data, including the date of removal (or the date of disposal in the case of warehouse receipts) and the name and address of the person or persons to whom sold and consigned: Provided further, That the keeping of such record is approved by the district supervisor. Such separate record may be kept in book form (including loose-leaf books) or may consist of commercial papers, such as invoices or bills. Such books, invoices, and bills shall be preserved for a period of four years and in such manner that the required information may be ascertained readily therefrom, and, during such period, shall be available during business hours for inspection and the taking of abstracts therefrom by revenue officers. If a record in book form is kept, entries shall be made on such separate approved record not later than the close of business of the day on which the transactions occur. The dealer shall note on Record 52, in the column for reporting serial numbers of cases of spirits disposed of, "Serial numbers shown on commercial records per authority, dated ----------." (Sec. 2857, I. R. C.)

§ 194.78 Place where Record 52 shall be kept. (a) Every wholesale dealer in liquors shall keep the Record 52 covering transactions in warehouse receipts at the place of business covered by the wholesale liquor dealer special tax stamp, and, except as provided in paragraph (b) of this section shall keep Records 52 covering the receipt and removal of spirits at such premises.

2. This Treasury decision shall be effective on the 31st day after the date of its publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION

[47 CFR, Ch. I]

[Docket No. 8288]

OPERATION OF CERTAIN LICENSED RADIO STATIONS BY UNLICENSED PERSONNEL

NOTICE OF PROPOSED RULE MAKING

APRIL 25, 1947.

1. Notice is hereby given of proposed rule making in the above-entitled matter.

2. On May 10, 1946, the Commission adopted its Order 133 providing for the operation under certain circumstances of certain mobile and portable radio transmitting equipment in certain radio services by unlicensed personnel. Among other things, this order provides that it shall not be construed "to authorize any person not holding a proper operator license issued by this Commission to make adjustments to any radio transmitter."

3. The Commission has been requested to modify Order 133 to permit certain adjustments to be made to mobile radio transmitters by unlicensed personnel. After consideration of this request, the Commission has concluded that the public interest, convenience, or necessity would be served if specially trained unlicensed maintenance personnel were permitted to make certain minor adjustments to antenna tuning and coupling controls of certain mobile radio transmitters under limited circumstances. In brief, the conclusion reached is that such adjustments may be permitted if the equipment is of certain general design and if the station licensee determines in advance that the adjustments throughout their possible range cannot cause any off-frequency operation or result in any other unauthorized emissions.

4. The proposal herein, which is set forth herein is authorized by sections 303 (f), (l), and (r) and section 318 of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended. If comprises certain proposed amendments to order 133, which amendments, if adopted, will both accomplish the aforesaid purpose and also clarify the scope and application of the entire order.

5. Any interested party who is of the opinion that the proposed amendments should not be adopted or should not be adopted in the form set forth herein may file with the Commission on or before May 25, 1947, a written statement or brief setting forth his comments. Before final action is taken, all comments received will be considered, and if any comments are received which appear to warrant the Commission in holding an oral argument, notice of the time and place of such oral argument will be given.

It is proposed that Order 133–A be adopted, amending Commission Order 133 by cancelling its ordering provisions and substituting therefor the following:

That, until further order of the Commission and subject to the conditions hereinafter stated, the provisions contained in section 318 of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, be and they are hereby waived insofar as such provisions require any person to hold a radio operator license in order to operate the various classes of mobile or portable radio transmitting equipment authorized for use in the Experimental, Emergency, Miscellaneous, Railroad, and Utility Services (Parts 5, 10, 11, 16, and 17 of the Commission's rules): Provided, however:

1. This order shall not apply to any portable or mobile radio station engaging in communications in the international service (i. e., communications originating at or directed to any location beyond the territorial limits of the continental United States or of its territories or possessions, or communications with any foreign station wherever located): Provided, however, That this order shall apply to radar stations licensed in the Experimental Service and installed on ships or aircraft.

2. This order shall not apply to any portable or mobile station using radiotelegraphy employing manual operation.

3. This order shall not apply to any portable or mobile station operating on frequencies below 25 megacycles unless such operation is subject to control by a licensed operator of an associated land station licensed to the same licensee.

4. This order shall not apply to any portable or mobile station being operated as a common carrier on frequencies below 30 megacycles.

5. This order shall not apply to any portable or mobile station licensed in the Experimental Service looking to common carrier operation on a regular basis other than in the General Mobile Radio Service.

6. This order shall not be construed to authorize any person who does not hold a valid first or second class radio operator license to make adjustments to any radio transmitting equipment except as provided in the following paragraph numbered 7.

7. Pursuant to paragraph numbered 6 above, antenna tuning and coupling adjustments of radio transmitting equipment of mobile stations (except stations licensed in the Experimental Service on board ships or aircraft) licensed in the above enumerated services may be made by persons (including unlicensed personnel) who do not hold valid first or second class radio operator licenses who have been specially trained and designated by the station licensee to make such adjustments, Provided, That:

(a) The station licensee shall determine prior to each installation of a transmitter that the transmitter antenna tuning and coupling controls can be adjusted throughout their range without causing any off-frequency operation or resulting in any other unauthorized emissions when the particular transmitter is attached to an antenna having the same over-all characteristics as the one to be used in regular service.

(b) The station licensee, shall, in addition to making the determination specified in paragraph (a) above, insure that the particular transmitter shall have been completely and properly adjusted and checked (except for the final post-installation adjustment of the antenna circuit) by, or in the presence of, a first or second class licensed radio operator.

(c) The transmitter shall be so designed that the controls intended to be used in adjusting the transmitter antenna tuning and coupling are readily identifiable.

(d) Immediately upon completion of the antenna circuit adjustments of the transmitter following the transmitter's installation in a mobile unit, and prior to placing the mobile unit in service, the operating frequency of the transmitter shall be measured to determine that such frequency is within the allowable tolerance for the particular service and class of station and that there are no unauthorized emissions.

(Sec. 303 (f), 303 (l), 303(r), 318, 48 Stat. 1082, 1089, as amended by 50 Stat. 56, 47 U. S. C. 303 (f), 303 (l), 303(r), 318)

CANNED TOMATOES; DEFINITION AND STANDARD OF IDENTITY

NOTICE OF PROPOSED RULE MAKING

It is proposed that by virtue of the authority vested in the Federal Security Administrator by the provisions of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (secs. 401, 701, 52 Stat. 1046, 1055; 21 U. S. C. 341, 371); and on the basis of the evidence received at the above-entitled hearing duly held pursuant to notice issued on February 15, 1947 (12 F. R. 1090), the following order be made:

Findings of fact.[1] 1. By order dated June 18, 1940, and published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on June 19, 1940 (5 F. R. 2282) the definition and standard of identity for canned tomatoes was amended to provide for the use of, as an additional optional ingredient in canned tomatoes, purified calcium chloride, in a quantity reasonably necessary to firm the tomatoes, but in no case more than 0.07 percent (calculated as anhydrous calcium chloride) of the weight of the finished canned tomatoes.

The amended definition and standard of identity provided that when the optional ingredient, calcium chloride, was present the label should bear the statement "Trace of Calcium Chloride Added" or "With Added Trace of Calcium Chloride." R. 4–5; Exh. 2.

2. On the basis of the evidence received at a public hearing held prior to the promulgation of the order dated June 18, 1940 (see finding one) it was determined that the addition of calcium salts in the canning of tomatoes resulted in protecting the tomatoes against softening. At the time of that order a finding was made that, on the basis of the reported experiments with calcium salts, only calcium chloride had been demonstrated to be satisfactory for the purpose of retaining the tomatoes in a firm state. R. 4–5, 58–60; Exh. 2, 4, 5.

3. Since promulgation of the order dated June 18, 1940 (see finding one) further information has shown that in addition to calcium chloride, there are other calcium salts which are suitable optional ingredients for firming canned tomatoes. These additional calcium salts are calcium sulphate, calcium citrate, and monocalcium phosphate. R. 11, 14, 16, 38, 51, 53, 59–61, 63, 65, 72–77, 83; Exh. 3, 4, 5, 6, 7.

[1] The page references to certain relevant portions of the record are for the convenience of the reader. However, the findings are based upon a consideration of all the evidence of record at the hearing and not solely on that portion of the record to which reference is made.

4. The firming effect of calcium chloride, calcium sulphate, calcium citrate, and monocalcium phosphate upon canned tomatoes is attributable in each instance to the calcium ion, and equivalent quantities of calcium ions produce substantially equivalent firming effect. The evidence of record at the hearing did not indicate that the present limit on the amount of calcium derived from the calcium salt (see finding one) should be changed. R. 16, 24, 25, 38–41, 44–45, 47–48, 53, 58–60, 64, 73, 81; Exh. 3, 4.

5. It is advantageous and practicable to limit the amount of any calcium chloride, calcium sulfate, calcium citrate, or monocalcium phosphate added as an optional ingredient to canned tomatoes in terms of the calcium content of these salts. The limit of not more than 0.07 percent calcium chloride which is specified in the present definition and standard of identity for canned tomatoes (see finding one) corresponds in terms of calcium content to 0.026 percent. R. 27, 42, 56, 61–62, 63; Exh. 4.

6. Since the effect of the addition of the calcium salts designated in finding 3 is essentially dependent on the calcium ions furnished and the acidic radical is unimportant a reasonably informative label statement for canned tomatoes to which one or more such calcium salts have been added is "Trace of _____ Added", or "With Added Trace of _____", the blank being filled in with the words "Calcium Salt" or "Calcium Salts", as the case may be, or with the name or names of the particular calcium salt or salts added. R. 22, 40, 62, 82; Exh. 3, 5, 6.

Conclusion. On the basis of the foregoing findings of fact it is concluded that the following amendments to the regulations fixing and establishing a definition and standard of identity for canned tomatoes (21 CFR Cum. Supp. 53.40) will promote honesty and fair dealing in the interest of consumers and it is proposed to amend § 53.40 Canned tomatoes; identity; label statement of optional ingredients as follows:

1. That subparagraph (4) of paragraph (a) be deleted and the following substituted therefor:

(4) Purified calcium chloride, calcium sulphate, calcium citrate, monocalcium phosphate, or any two or more of these calcium salts, in a quantity reasonably necessary to firm the tomatoes, but in no case such that the amount of the calcium contained in such salts is more than 0.026 percent of the weight of the finished canned tomatoes.

2. That the third sentence in paragraph (b) be deleted and the following substituted therefor: "When one or more of the optional ingredients designated in paragraph (a) (4) of this section is present, the label shall bear the statement "Trace of _____ Added" or "With Added Trace of _____", the blank being filled in with the words "Calcium Salt" or "Calcium Salts" as the case may be or with the name or names of the particular calcium salt or salts added.

Any interested person whose appearance was filed at the hearing may, within 20 days from the date of publication of this proposed order in the FEDERAL REGISTER, file with the Hearing Clerk of the Federal Security Agency, Office of the General Counsel, Room 3255 Social Security Building, 4th Street and Independence Avenue SW., Washington, D. C., written exceptions thereto. Exceptions shall point out with particularity the alleged errors in the proposed order, and shall contain specific references to the pages of the transcript of the testimony or to the exhibits on which each exception is based. Such exceptions may be accompanied with a memorandum or brief in support thereof. Exceptions and accompanying memoranda or briefs should be submitted in quintuplicate.

NOTICE OF FILING AND ORDER FOR HEARING

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission held at its office in the City of Philadelphia, Pa., on the 29th day of April 1947.

Notice is hereby given that a declaration has been filed with this Commission pursuant to sections 6 and 7 of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 by Standard Gas and Electric Company ("Standard Gas"), a registered holding company. All interested persons are referred to said declaration which is on file in the offices of this Commission for a statement of the transactions therein proposed, which are summarized as follows:

Standard Gas proposes, with the consent of the holders of its outstanding bank loan notes, to extend the maturity of such of its bank loan notes as now mature on May 10, 1947 (which notes previously matured April 10, 1947 and an extension of which was previously authorized), from that date to July 10, 1947. The principal amount of such notes now outstanding which mature on May 10, 1947 and which it is proposed should be extended as aforesaid, aggregates $8,010,826.95. Said notes are a portion of an issue originally made on April 10, 1946 in the sum of $51,000,000, of which the total amount now outstanding aggregates $33,510,826.95.

Standard Gas has designated section 6 of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 as being applicable to the proposed transaction, and has requested that the Commission act on the declaration at as early a date as possible.

It appearing to the Commission that it is appropriate in the public interest and in the interest of investors and consumers that a hearing be held with respect to the matters set forth in said declaration and that said declaration should not be permitted to become effective except pursuant to further order of this Commission; and it appearing that in view of the approaching maturity of said notes the hearing on said declaration should be expedited;

It is ordered, That a hearing on said declaration, pursuant to the applicable provisions of the act and the rules and regulations thereunder, be held on May 5, 1947, at 10:00 a. m., e. d. s. t., at the offices of this Commission, 18th and Locust Streets, Philadelphia 3, Pennsylvania. On such date the hearing room clerk in Room 318 will advise as to the room in which such hearing shall be held. Any persons desiring to be heard or otherwise wishing to participate in this proceeding shall file with the Secretary of this Commission, on or before May 2, 1947, a written request relative thereto as provided by Rule XVII of the Commission's rules of practice.

It is further ordered, That William W. Swift or any other officer or officers of this Commission designated by it for that purpose, shall preside at such hearing. The officer so designated to preside at such hearing is hereby authorized to exercise all powers granted to the Commission under section 18 (c) of the act and to a hearing officer under the Commission's rules of practice.

The Public Utilities Division of the Commission having advised the Commission that it has made a preliminary examination of the declaration and that, upon the basis thereof, the following matters and questions are presented for consideration without prejudice to its specifying additional matters or questions upon further examination:

1. Whether the proposed extension of the maturity date of the notes meets the requirements of sections 6 and 7 of the act and the rules and regulations thereunder.

2. Whether the bank loan notes which would be outstanding in the event of the proposed extension of the maturity date thereof would be reasonably adapted to the security structure and earning capacity of Standard Gas and the other companies in this holding company system.

3. Whether the proposed extension of the maturity date of said notes is detrimental to the public interest or the interest of investors or consumers or to the carrying out of section 11.

4. Whether it is necessary or appropriate in the public interest and in the interests of investors and consumers that such extension of maturity be permitted.

5. Whether the Commission should permit said declaration to become effective only to the limited extent of permitting an extension for a period of time less than the sixty-day period proposed by Standard Gas.

6. Generally, whether the proposed transactions are in all respects in the public interest and the interest of investors or consumers and consistent with all applicable requirements of the act and the rules thereunder, and, if not, whether and what modifications or terms and conditions should be required or imposed to satisfy the standards of the act.

It is further ordered, That at said hearing evidence shall be adduced with respect to the foregoing matters and questions.

It is further ordered, That the Secretary of the Commission shall serve a copy of this order by registered mail on the Standard Gas and Electric Company; and that notice of said hearing shall be given to all other persons by general release of this Commission which shall be distributed to the press and mailed to the mailing list for releases issued under the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 and by publication of this order in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

By the Commission.

PART 33—FLIGHT RADIO OPERATOR CERTIFICATES

FLIGHT RADIO OPERATOR CERTIFICATES

At a session of the Civil Aeronautics Board held at its office in Washington, D. C., on the 29th day of April 1947.

It appearing that: The proposal to adopt a new Part 33 of the Civil Air Regulations to provide certification standards for the issuance of flight radio operator certificates was circulated to the air carrier industry and to the interested aviation organizations on February 15, 1946, with the request for the submission of any comments and suggestions not later than May 1, 1946; the comments submitted by interested parties have been considered by the Board and the oral comment submitted at various discussion meetings by interested persons has also been considered by the Board; it is desirable to provide for the certification of flight radio operators who will serve in connection with civil aircraft as provided by the aircraft operation rules of the Civil Air Regulations.

The Civil Aeronautics Board finds that the notice and public procedure provided for in paragraphs (a) and (b) of section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act are unnecessary and that this regulation should become effective 90 days after the adoption date.

Now, therefore: Effective August 1, 1947, the Civil Air Regulations are amended by adopting a new Part 33, Flight Radio Operator Certificates, to read as follows:

PART 33—FLIGHT RADIO OPERATOR CERTIFICATES

Explanatory statement of Part 33. In accordance with the provisions of Title VI of the Civil Aeronautics Acts of 1938 it is unlawful for any person to serve in any capacity as an airman in connection with any civil aircraft used in air commerce without an airman certificate authorizing him to serve in such capacity, or in violation of the terms of any such certificate. A flight radio operator falls within the definition of airman as defined in that act.

The purpose of this part is to provide a means for compliance with the airman requirements of Title VI of the act with respect to the use in air commerce of those types of aircraft which require the services of flight radio operators by providing the standards by which flight radio operators may be certificated as airmen.

§ 33.0 Requirements for certificate.

§ 33.00 Issuance. A flight radio operator certificate will be issued to an applicant who meets the following requirements:

§ 33.01 Age. Applicant shall be at least 18 years of age.

§ 33.02 Citizenship. Applicant shall be a citizen of the United States or of a foreign government which grants reciprocal flight radio operator privileges to citizens of the United States on equal terms and conditions with citizens of such foreign government.

NOTE: At the present time Federal Communications Commission radio operator licenses are issued only to citizens of the United States.

§ 33.03 Education. Applicant shall be able to read, write, and understand the English language and speak the same without accent or impediment of speech which would interfere with two-way radio conversation.

§ 33.04 Physical standards. Applicant shall meet the physical standards of the third class prescribed in Part 29 of this chapter.

§ 33.05 Experience. (a) Applicant shall hold a Federal Communications Commission radiotelegraph operator license of not less than second class.

(b) Applicant shall:

(1) Have had at least 12 months of satisfactory experience as a radio operator in aircraft, maritime, or ground stations, commercial or military, including at least four months of experience as a radiotelegraph operator; and have had at least 50 hours of experience in the operation of aircraft radio during flight; or

(2) Be a graduate of a flight radio operator course approved by the Administrator.

§ 33.06 Knowledge. Applicant shall pass a written examination on the following subjects:

(a) Such provisions of the Civil Air Regulations as are pertinent to the operation of aircraft radio systems;

(b) Theory and operation of radio communication and radio navigational systems in general use on aircraft;

(c) Radio navigation of aircraft;

(d) Aircraft radio operating procedures.

§ 33.07 Skill. Applicant shall:

(a) Pass a practical examination on the operation, adjustment, and routine repair of aircraft radio communication and radio navigational equipment;

(b) Demonstrate his ability to send and receive International Morse Code at a speed of 20 words per minute code groups, and 25 words per minute plain language.

§ 33.1 Certification rules.

§ 33.10 Application. Application shall be made on a form and in the manner prescribed by the Administrator.

§ 33.11 Duration. A flight radio operator certificate shall remain in effect unless it is suspended, or revoked, or a general termination date for such certificate is fixed by the Board.

§ 33.110 Temporary certificates. The Administrator or his authorized representative may issue a temporary flight radio operator certificate for a period of not to exceed 90 days, subject to the terms and conditions specified therein by the Administrator.

§ 33.12 Reexamination. Applicants who have failed in any examination may apply for reexamination on the part failed after 30 days from the date of such failure.

At a session of the Civil Aeronautics Board held at its office in Washington, D. C., on the 29th day of April 1947.

Section 41.311 of the Civil Air Regulations requires that "each flight radio operator shall hold a valid flight radio operator certificate issued in accordance with the provisions of Part —. (In preparation)". New Part 33, providing for the certification of flight radio operators will become effective August 1, 1947.

The Civil Aeronautics Board finds that it will require a period of several months for the preparation of necessary examinations by the Administrator and for interested flight radio operators in the various parts of the world to be given an opportunity to accomplish the examinations necessary for the issuance of flight radio operator certificates under Part 33; that notice and procedures provided for in sections 4 (a) and (b) of the Administrative Procedure Act are unnecessary.

Now, therefore: Effective August 1, 1947, § 41.311 of the Civil Air Regulations is amended to read as follows:

PART 61—SCHEDULED AIR CARRIER RULES

FLIGHT RADIO OPERATOR CERTIFICATES

At a session of the Civil Aeronautics Board held at its office in Washington, D. C., on the 29th day of April 1947.

Part 61 of the Civil Air Regulations makes no provision requiring flight radio operators. It is contemplated that such provision will be made in the proposed revision of this part.

The new Part 33 covering rules for the certification of flight radio operators will become effective August 1, 1947. The Civil Aeronautics Board finds that it will require a period of several months after the effective date for the preparation of necessary examinations by the Administrator and for interested flight radio operators to be given an opportunity to accomplish the examinations necessary for the issuance of flight radio operator certificates under Part 33; that an amendment to Part 61 of the Civil Air Regulations should be promulgated to be consistent with Part 41; that notice and procedures provided for in sections 4 (a) and (b) of the Administrative Procedure Act are unnecessary.

Now, therefore: Effective August 1, 1947, § 61.540 of the Civil Air Regulations is amended to read as follows:

§ 61.540 Certificate. Effective November 15, 1947, each flight radio operator shall hold a valid flight radio operator certificate issued in accordance with the provisions of Part 33 of this chapter: Provided, That a first or second pilot, holding an appropriate Federal Communications license, may serve in the capacity of a radio operator where a certificated flight radio operator is not specifically required. (52 Stat. 984, 1007; 49 U. S. C. 425, 551)

By the Civil Aeronautics Board.

Secretary.

PART 17—PROTESTS AND REAPPRAISEMENTS

POWER OF ATTORNEY TO FILE PROTEST

Section 17.2 (a), Customs Regulations of 1943 (19 CFR, Cum. Supp., 17.2 (a)), as amended by T. D. 51442 (11 F. R. 4651), is further amended to read as follows:

§ 17.2 Power of attorney to file protest. (a) Except as hereinafter provided in this paragraph, no protest signed by an agent or attorney shall be granted or denied by the collector unless there has been filed, or is filed with the protest, in the collector's office a power of attorney on customs Form 5295 or 5295-A or other form as explicit in its terms as is the prescribed customs form, authorizing such agent or attorney to make, sign, and file the protest. Such power of attorney, shall be limited to a period not to exceed 2 years from the date of receipt by the collector and shall be acknowledged. When a protest is filed by an agent or attorney not named in a power of attorney as required by this section, it shall be numbered and stamped with the date of receipt in order to establish whether it was filed within the period prescribed by section 514, Tariff Act of 1930, and the collector shall cause an investigation to be made to ascertain whether the agent or attorney was duly authorized to file the protest. If it is found upon such investigation that the agent or attorney was so authorized, the protest shall be reviewed by the collector and granted or denied and referred to the customs court as in cases where a proper power of attorney has been filed. If it is found upon such investigation that the agent or attorney was not duly authorized to file the protest, the purported protest shall not be granted or denied by the collector but shall be transmitted, together with the entry and accompanying papers and all exhibits connected therewith, to the United States Customs Court, with a communication explaining to the court that the agent or attorney who filed the purported protest was not named in a power of attorney, that it was found upon investigation that the agent or attorney was not authorized to file the protest, and that the collector has been prevented from complying with section 515 of the tariff act by the lack of authority of the agent or attorney to file the protest, inasmuch as section 514 specifies the only persons by or on whose behalf protests may be filed with the collector and section 515 does not authorize the collector to grant any purported protest or (if he does not agree with the claim) to deny it and refer it to the court for litigation on the merits, until the statutory prerequisite that it has been filed by an authorized person has been established.

Frank A. Weddell, 1515 Beach Street, San Luis Obispo, California, as co-owner and builder, and Westeley Baker, 839 Marsh Street, San Luis Obispo, California, as co-owner, began construction on or about December 4, 1946 of a commercial building located at the northeast corner of North Broad and Lincoln Streets, San Luis Obispo, California, at an estimated cost of $12,000, without first having secured authorization therefor from the Civilian Production Administration or the Office of the Housing Expediter. Weddell nor Westeley Baker, their successors or assigns, nor any other person shall do any further construction on the premises located at the northeast corner of North Broad and Lincoln Streets, San Luis Obispo, California, including completing, putting up or altering of any structure located thereon, unless specifically authorized in writing by the Office of the Housing Expediter.

(b) Frank A. Weddell and Westeley Baker shall refer to this order in any application or appeal which they may file with the Office of the Housing Expediter for authorization to carry on construction.

(c) Nothing contained in this order shall be deemed to relieve Frank A. Weddell or Westeley Baker, their successors or assigns, from any restriction, prohibition or provision contained in any other order or regulation of the Office of the Housing Expediter, except insofar as the same may be inconsistent with the provisions hereof.

[46 CFR, Ch. II]

[Docket No. 658]

BILLS OF LADING; INCORPORATION OF FREIGHT CHARGES

NOTICE OF HEARING ON PROPOSED RULE MAKING

On December 5, 1946, the United States Maritime Commission published in the FEDERAL REGISTER a notice of proposed rule making dated November 27, 1946, entitled "In the Matter of the Proposal to Incorporate Rates and Charges in Ocean Bills of Lading" (11 F. R. 14132). The proposed rule set forth in the notice was as follows: "Every common carrier by water engaged in the transportation of property from points in continental United States, Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico, and the Virgin Islands to foreign points, shall incorporate in the original and all copies of bills of lading or other shipping documents the rates and charges for or in connection with such transportation, except for cargo loaded and carried in bulk without mark or count, irrespective of whether such bills of lading or other shipping documents are prepared by the carrier or by any other person for the signature of the carrier."

Pursuant to that notice, carriers, shippers, forwarders and others have submitted their views on the proposed rule in written communications to the Commission. After considering such communications, the Commission is of opinion that it should take no action with respect to the proposed rule except after public hearings.

Accordingly, pursuant to sections 17 and 22 of the Shipping Act, 1916, and section 4 (a) of the Administrative Procedure Act; It is ordered, That the Commission institute public hearings for the purpose of obtaining the views of interested persons (including individuals, corporations, associations, firms, partnerships and public bodies) with respect to the proposed rule above quoted; And it is further ordered, That all persons desiring to be heard at such hearings file with the Commission within twenty days from the publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER written request to appear and be heard; And it is further ordered, That this notice be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER and that the matter be assigned for hearing at such times and places as the Commission may hereafter direct, and that such hearings be conducted in accordance with the rules of procedure of the Commission.

2. These lands are located in San Bernardino County, from 10 to 16 miles east of Twentynine Palms, and are accessible by two graded county roads which pass from east to west along the center of the township and along the southern boundary. The lands lie at about 1,250 feet in the eastern part of the township and rise to approximately 1,500 feet in the extreme southwest corner.

3. The arid climate prevailing in this area is a valuable aid to the treatment of bronchial, pulmonary and other disorders. The area is especially attractive to disabled veterans and others with some income, who require a dry climate for health purposes. The water supply for this area may be obtained from underground sources. It is the common practice in this vicinity to sell and deliver water locally. The development of ground water in supplies adequate for domestic purposes should be entirely feasible with proper pumping equipment, if undertaken as group projects. Electric power, telephone service, various kinds of business as well as recreational, educational and religious facilities exist at Twentynine Palms.

4. Pursuant to § 257.8 of the Code of Federal Regulations (43 CFR, Part 257, Cum. Supp., as amended by Circ. 1613, February 27, 1946), a preference right to a lease is accorded to those applicants whose applications (a) were regularly filed, under the regulations issued pursuant to the act, prior to 12:45 p. m. on April 5, 1946, and (b) are for the type of site for which the land subject thereunder has been classified. As to such applications, this order shall become effective upon the date on which it is signed.

5. As to the land not covered by the applications referred to in paragraph 4, this order shall not become effective to permit the leasing of such land under the small tract act of June 1, 1938, cited above, until 10:00 a. m. on June 25, 1947. At that time such land shall, subject to valid existing rights and the provisions of existing withdrawals, become subject to application, petition, location, or selection as follows:

(a) Ninety-day period for other preference right filings. For a period of 90 days from 10:00 a. m. on June 25, 1947, to close of business on September 23, 1947, inclusive, to (1) application under the small tract act of June 1, 1938, by qualified veterans of World War II, for whose service recognition is granted by the act of September 27, 1944 (58 Stat. 747, 43 U. S. C. secs. 279–283), subject to the requirements of applicable law, and (2) application under any applicable public land law, based on prior existing valid settlement rights and preference rights conferred by existing laws or equitable claims subject to allowance and confirmation. Applications by such veterans shall be subject to claims of the classes described in subdivision (2).

(b) Advance period for simultaneous preference-right filings. All applications by such veterans and persons claiming preference rights superior to those of such veterans filed at or after 12:45 p. m. on April 5, 1946, together with those presented at 10:00 a. m. on September 3, 1947, shall be treated as simultaneously filed.

(c) Date for nonpreference-right filings authorized by the public land laws. Commencing at 10:00 a. m. on September 24, 1947, any of the land remaining unappropriated shall become subject to application under the small tract act by the public generally.

(d) Advance period for simultaneous nonpreference-right filings. Applications under the small tract act by the general public filed at or after 12:45 p. m. on April 5, 1946, together with those presented at 10:00 a. m. on September 4, 1947, shall be treated as simultaneously filed.

6. Veterans shall accompany their application with certified copies of their certificates of discharge, or other satisfactory evidence of their military or naval service. Persons asserting preference rights, through settlement or otherwise, and those having equitable claims, shall accompany their applications by duly corroborated affidavits in support thereof, setting forth in detail all facts relevant to their claims.

7. All applications for the lands referred to in paragraphs 4 and 5, which shall be filed in the District Land Office at Los Angeles, California, shall be acted upon in accordance with the regulations contained in § 295.8 of Title 43 of the Code of Federal Regulations (Circ. 324, May 22, 1914, 43 L. D. 254), to the extent that such regulations are applicable. Applications under the small tract act of June 1, 1938, shall be governed by the regulations contained in Part 257 of Title 43 of the Code of Federal Regulations.

8. Lessees under the small tract act of June 1, 1938, will be required, within a reasonable time after execution of the lease, to construct upon the leased land, to the satisfaction of the Director, Bureau of Land Management, improvements which under the circumstances are presentable, substantial and appropriate for the use for which the lease is issued. Leases will be for a period of five years, at an annual rental of $5 payable yearly in advance.

9. The land will be leased in tracts of approximately 5 acres, or aliquot parts thereof, each being approximately 330 by 660 feet, or aliquot dimensions thereof. The tracts should conform in description with the rectangular system of surveys as one compact unit, the lands covered by applications referred to in paragraph 5 having the longest dimension extending north and south.

10. Preference right leases referred to in paragraph 4 will be issued for the land described in the application, irrespective of the direction of the tract, provided the tract is made to conform to the areas and dimensions specified above.

11. Where only one 5-acre tract in a 10-acre subdivision is embraced in a preference right application, however, the Acting Manager is authorized to accept applications for the remaining 5-acre tract or aliquot parts thereof extending in the same direction so as to fill out the subdivision, notwithstanding the direction of the tract may be contrary to that specified above.

12. All inquiries relating to these lands shall be addressed to the Acting Manager, District Land Office, Los Angeles 12, California.

Director.

NORTHSIDE BROADCASTING CORP. (WGRC)

ORDER DESIGNATING APPLICATION FOR CONSOLIDATED HEARING ON STATED ISSUES

In re application of Northside Broadcasting Corporation (WGRC), Louisville, Kentucky, Docket No. 6052, File No. BP-2782; for construction permit.

The Commission having under consideration a petition filed April 3, 1947 by Memphis Publishing Company (WMC), Memphis, Tennessee, requesting the Commission to reopen the record in the proceeding upon the application of Northside Broadcasting Corporation (WGRC), Louisville, Kentucky (File No. BP-2782, Docket No. 6052), to order a further hearing therein and to allow petitioner to intervene in the further hearing; and an opposition thereto filed April 8, 1947, by Northside Broadcasting Corporation; and

It appearing that the above-entitled application was heard in May 1946 upon the following issues:

1. To determine the technical, financial, and other qualifications of the applicant corporation, its officers, directors and stockholders to construct and operate Station WGRC as proposed.

2. To determine the areas and populations which may be expected to gain or lose primary service from the operation of Station WGRC as proposed and the character of other broadcast service available to those areas and populations.

3. To determine the type and character of program service proposed to be rendered and whether it would meet the requirements of the populations and areas proposed to be served.

4. To determine whether the operation of Station WGRC as proposed would involve objectionable interference with Stations WKPT, as proposed, WBBM, or with any other existing or proposed broadcast services and, if so, the nature and extent thereof, the areas and populations affected thereby, and the availability of other broadcast service to such areas and populations.

5. To determine whether the operation of Station WGRC as proposed would involve objectionable interference with Stations CKSO, Sudbury, Ontario, CMCH, Havana, Cuba, or any other existing foreign broadcast station within the meaning of the North American Regional Broadcast Agreement.

6. To determine whether the installation and operation of Station WGRC as proposed would be in compliance with the Commission's rules and Standards of Good Engineering Practice Concerning Standard Broadcast Stations.

7. To determine whether the erection of the antenna system proposed herein would be consistent with Civil Aeronautics Administration requirements.

and that the record therein was subsequently closed; and

It appearing, further that on December 20, 1946, the application of Northside Broadcasting Company was amended so as to specify a different transmitter site; that said amendment produced changes in the operating characteristics of the proposed directional antenna; that as a result of these changes the proposed WGRC operation would apparently now cause objectionable interference within the normally protected contours of Station WMC and would have operating characteristics different from those which were the subject of the hearing heretofore held;

It is ordered, This 25th day of April, 1947, that the petition of Memphis Publishing Company (WMC) be, and it is hereby, granted; the record in the above-entitled proceeding be, and it is hereby, reopened for the purpose of holding a further hearing on Issues 2–6, inclusive, as listed above; and the further hearing be, and it is hereby, scheduled for 10:00 a. m., Thursday, May 22, 1947, at Washington, D. C.;

Further information as to the arrangements may be found with the application and associated papers which are on file at the offices of the Commission in Washington, D. C.

Pursuant to § 1.388 which sets out the procedure to be followed in such cases including the requirement for public notice concerning the filing of the application, the Commission was advised by applicants on April 21, 1947, that starting on April 19, 1947, notice of the filing of the application would be inserted in "The Orlando Star", a newspaper of general circulation at Orlando, Florida, in conformity with the above rule.

In accordance with the procedure set out in said rule, no action will be had upon the application for a period of 60 days from April 19, 1947, within which time other persons desiring to apply for the facilities involved may do so upon the same terms and conditions as set forth in the above described contract.

AIRCRAFT RADIO STATIONS[1]

USE OF NON-CRYSTAL-CONTROLLED TRANSMITTERS

APRIL 28, 1947.

In recent months, the Commission has had numerous inquiries concerning the suitability of surplus military transmitting equipment for utilization in aircraft radio stations. A large proportion of such inquiries were with regard to the ART-13 equipment (ATC or 17H2) which was used widely in the military service and has been readily available through surplus outlets. It is believed that this particular transmitter has been mentioned more frequently than others because of the fact that it is obviously one of the best of the non-crystal-controlled transmitters, in terms of engineering design, for application to civil airborne requirements. Numerous reports, as well as tests by various agencies, have indicated that some question exists as to whether or not this equipment is capable of meeting both practical and regulatory requirements as to its technical operation. Because of this question, the Commission has investigated this particular piece of equipment, and the results of this investigation indicate that the equipment is not capable of meeting the Commission's requirements with regard to the stability of the emitted frequency under all normal operating conditions.

Both the radio industry and the commission recognize that a real equipment problem exists, in that suitable equipment for many of the aspects of the aviation service is not now readily available. A particularly severe problem exists with respect to long distance overseas flights in that many frequencies must be available to satisfy the communications problem involved in such flights. Transmitters similar to the ART-13 are the most readily available solution to the problem, since the transmitter can be set on any frequency within its range. Therefore, the Commission, in recognition of the problem and the need for an immediate solution, has permitted operation with this transmitter for flights of the above nature (long distance overseas flights) under such conditions as to insure its maintenance as closely as possible in accordance with regulations; namely, that the transmitter, when in operation, must be under the supervision of an appropriate operator. At the present time, this would require an operator holding a second class or higher grade license, who has the equipment and the technical ability to make certain that all transmissions substantially meet the technical requirements.

The Commission is taking this opportunity to address the attention of the industry to the need for immediate activity toward the end of procurement and installation of airborne transmitting equipment designed to fulfill the need expressed above, and further, to call the attention of the industry to the fact that operation with this transmitter is presently being authorized only as an interim measure and must be discontinued at the earliest practicable date. All possible expedition is urged in the solution of the problem.

The Commission will continue to permit the operation of this transmitter on long distance overseas flights under the specific conditions expressed above, but only until suitable equipment which will meet the Commission's requirements is generally available.

With further reference to the general problem of frequency tolerance, many inquiries have been received by the Commission with regard to the utilization of transmitters lacking crystal control. Therefore, this opportunity is being taken to clarify the Commission's policy. The matter can be stated simply. With the greatly increased utilization of the radio frequency spectrum, all means at hand must be used to crowd more and more stations into the same radio frequency space. This represents a considerably increased requirement in terms of frequency stability and band width occupancy. In order to accomplish the necessary degree of frequency stability, it becomes obvious that dependence cannot be placed upon manual control of the frequency, or in any other means requiring personal attention. The control must be continuous and automatic. It is generally accepted that the most economical and practical means of accomplishing such control is by the use of suitable direct crystal control arrangements. This statement is not intended to indicate that means other than direct crystal control for automatic control of the emitted frequency cannot be utilized or will not be accepted, but it is intended to imply that systems using other means than direct crystal control will not be authorized by the Commission in advance of a demonstration that they will in fact meet all stability requirements.

It is urged that the prospective purchasers of aircraft radio transmitters consider this feature prior to the purchase of any equipment not including direct crystal control.

SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION

[File Nos. 59-70, 54-138 and 54-48]

EASTERN MINNESOTA POWER CORP. ET AL.

ORDER RECONVENING HEARINGS AND NOTICE OF AND ORDER FOR HEARING ON PLAN

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission, held at its office in the City of Philadelphia, Pa., on the 30th day of April A. D. 1947.

In the matter of Eastern Minnesota Power Corp., Wisconsin Hydro Electric Co., and Manufacturers Trust Co., respondents, File No. 59-70; Eastern Minnesota Power Corp., and Wisconsin Hydro Electric Co., applicants, File Nos. 54-138 and 54-48.

Notice is hereby given that Eastern Minnesota Power Corporation ("Eastern Minnesota"), a registered holding company, and its subsidiary company, Wisconsin Hydro Electric Company ("Wisconsin Hydro") have filed an application and amendments thereto, concerning a plan under section 11 (e) of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 ("the act").

All interested persons are referred to said application, as amended, which is on file in the offices of this Commission for a statement of the transactions proposed by such plan, which are summarized as follows:

1. The physical assets of Eastern Minnesota will be sold to certain electric cooperative associations in the State of Minnesota for a basic price of $1,530,000, subject to certain adjustments.

2. From the proceeds of such sale the holders of The First Mortgage 5½% Gold Bonds of Eastern Minnesota will be paid in cash. Such payment shall include principal and interest, but shall not include redemption premium.

3. Wisconsin Hydro proposes to provide for a new capitalization by the issuance of $1,750,000 3⅛% First Mortgage Bonds, due 25 years from date, $250,000 3% Serial Notes, due $25,000 semi-annually, and 132,800 shares of $12 par value common stock. This Commission, by order dated March 25, 1947 (Holding Company Act Release No. 7305) approved the issuance and sale of the debt securities, the proceeds of which were used to retire Wisconsin Hydro's then outstanding $2,077,000 principal amount of 5% First Mortgage Bonds, due 1947. The 132,800 shares of common stock will be distributed to the stockholders of Wisconsin Hydro as follows: (a) 119,520 shares or 90% of said stock to the holders of the presently outstanding preferred stock in exchange for said preferred stock at the rate of ten to one and (b) 13,280 shares or 10% of said stock to Eastern Minnesota in exchange for 10,552 shares of common stock consisting of all of the outstanding shares of such stock.

4. Eastern Minnesota, after the exchange referred to in paragraph 3 above, and the sale of its assets, the discharge of its bonded indebtedness and the payment of other creditors, will distribute its remaining assets, consisting of cash and the 13,280 shares of common stock of Wisconsin Hydro, to its preferred stockholders on a pro rata basis. No fractional shares will be distributed.

5. It is proposed that F. J. Derge of Loretta, Wisconsin, be paid $15,000 by Eastern Minnesota for services stated to have been rendered in connection with the sale of the physical assets of that company.
